News Notes

The Martin County courthouse will be closed Friday, July 5.

Fire Chief Randolph Spinney says he is happy to report there were no fires in the area during the month of June. Spinney said this is the first time a full month has passed without fire, as far as he can recall. He thanks the residents of Jensen Beach for their caution, and gives a bit of credit to the abundant showers, too.

The letting of bids on Cove Road in Fort Salerno will be on July 16, according to County Commissioner Jack Saunderson.

Schools hit by Peabody

The long-awaited Peabody Survey was presented Monday night at a sparsely-attended meeting held at Martin County High School. The information was presented by Dr. W. D. McClurkin, director of surveys for the Nashville, Tenn., college.

The study, which was recently completed, cost $12,500.

The lack of a vocational program in the school system was noted in the 203-page survey which included salary schedule, size of schools, instruction and curricula and politics.

The survey team strongly endorsed taking politics out of the school system by the appointment of the superintendent and the election of board members on a non-partisan basis. Board members were advised to abolish their $150 per month salaries, were told they worked too hard, should have more help and should have only one board meeting each month.

Elementary education was discussed at length. The survey recommended that elementary schools be larger and office space for school personnel be expanded.

It was noted that Martin County's teachers receive starting salaries which compare favorably with other counties of equal size, but the survey suggested reducing the steps required to get to the top of the salary schedule.

Other survey members included Joseph L. Jackson, James W. Whitlock, W. D. Pickel and Fred Sloan.

Chamber revives PO hill

Investigation into the stalled processes of changing the dangerous hill parking lot at the U.S. Post Office in Jensen Beach was a topic of resolution by the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Monday. The board of directors agreed to send letters to Washington for inquiry into the progress being made by the Post Office Department.

The slanted hill has been the topic of conversation by residents since the post office was opened just over a year ago. Residents park on the slope, cars have rolled back down the hill, endangering lives, and the maneuvering of cars on the slope is difficult.

At the dedication of the Jensen Beach Post Office as a first class designated until last Sunday, Postmaster Ray Lorenz presented a hammer to the representative of the Atlanta district office of the post office... "to get back, find the man who designed the parking lot, take all the pencils out of his desk, and beat him all out of them..." Lorenz said.

The Chamber of Commerce will write letters to Congressman Paul Rogers and to Senators George Smathers and Spessard Holland, urging action on the sloped parking lot.

One year ago Rep. Rogers received pictorial evidence of the condition of the parking lot, showing the grade and the danger involved. He forwarded the pictures to the post office, and since has had no response from the department. The photos were taken by Mirror editor Dick Campbell to Washington and delivered to Rogers.

Chamber directors described the parking lot as "deplorable".

LETTER RECEIVED - The residents of Jensen Beach Elementary School took part recently in the poster contest directed at a viewing campaign in the month, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. In appreciation of their efforts, a letter was received from Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson in The White House, Washington, D.C., lauding their good energies and praising the fine posters. Dale Clark, principal of the school, proudly displays the letter.

The "garbologist" viewpoint

Free enterprize with controls is asked by local garbage agency

by Dick Campbell

Local garbage collector Edward Rastrelli asked for a free enterprise viewpoint in garbage collection, with control of method of operation and rate by the county commission "if necessary", in an exclusive interview with The Mirror this week.

Answering criticism of recent rate increases by one local collection firm, Rastrelli said, "I think the rate increase is far high. It is too much. Our business has increased by over 100 customers in the Jensen Beach area in the past week, and competitive rates has done it."

Last week the 50% rate increase by the Dalton Henry collection service brought prompt action by the county commission. Commissioner Frank Wacha asked for removal of franchising of garbage collection. "If private enterprise cannot do it, then we must step in and regulate the collection of garbage in the county," Wacha said.

A special garbage committee of the county, headed by Bill Hussey, is looking into the franchise situation and drawing up a possible franchise for submission at the regular meeting of the commission next Tuesday. A special act of the legislature, passed in 1967, permits the county to franchise garbage collection.

Rastrelli, with his brother, and partner in the garbage collection business, Richard Rastrelli, said he felt that private collection of garbage, even under county direction, was better than county collection of garbage.

"Our business, Community Sanitation, started four years ago. We had one truck, and I worked four days a week hauling." Ed Rastrelli said. "Our business has tripled over those four years. We now operate two trucks and work six days a week to give our customers the service we feel they need. We even pick up grass and trash, something other garbage firms refuse to do," he added.

"At present our routes cover areas of Jensen Beach, Rio, Sewall's Point, North River Shores, Palm City, Lighthouse Point and Fort Salerno. We would prefer to continue with the competitive system of garbage collection," he said.

In answer to a question about the possible increase in rates, following the increase by Dalton Henry, Rastrelli said "Usually a cost increase of about 10%, or about fifty cents on the $5.00 or $7.00 now being charged, is adequate when costs increase we need a raise in rate. At present we do not believe that we are ready to have a rate increase."

"If we can operate our dump, continue our operations on a competitive basis, and do this without fear of taxing dollars, we have no reason for increasing our rates," he added.

Rastrelli has been doing some homework, for the county, on the feasibility of garbage collection. He plans to present information to the county commission this week on the possibilities of collective and non-collective franchising of garbage.

The exclusive franchise for garbage collection would limit a collector to one area, possibly to a taxing district. The franchisee, in the area would have to take the service in the area, or be fined, or a rate governed by the county commission. The collector would have to collect from every home in the area, or pay the expense of garbage pick-up each week and the trash packers, and the method of collection are to be governed by the county commission.

A non-exclusive franchise would allow the collector to collect in the area, provided he met the requirements of the county commission, but would allow more than one collector in one area.

"We would prefer the non-exclusive franchise," Rastrelli said, "We have to provide service to our customers, and we have to have the freedom to do so."

Rastrelli said he would be willing to submit to a franchise, if the county so desires.

County is to busy for garbage

County Commissioner Bill Hussey told The Mirror Tuesday that the commission to look into the franchising of garbage in Martin County, due to report at the commission meeting next Tuesday, on request of the commission, and at the direction of the commission chairman, was too busy for the past week to meet and discuss the problem.

Problems with Rotunda zoning, the equalization board and the Melvin suit against the county were blamed for the failure of the commission to meet.

Hussey said that letters were sent to "five or six" counties asking for copies of franchises used by those counties, "but they didn't go out until Monday".

Auto check opens

The Martin County auto inspection station open on Monday, just one month after it should have. Service in the station was reported to be "not good as can be expected under a peak load of autos", according to county commissioner Jack Saunderson.

Inspection facilities came under the weight of production as local auto owners tried to battle it out with the state deadlines on inspection, lanes with license plates ending in 4 or 5 must be inspected by the end of this month.

Local garages were asked to check their equipment with county testing facilities when several complaints arose from motorists who had had their automobiles checked locally before being inspected.

GETTING MOVING - Joe Klein, right, president of Martin County's newest land development, Rotunda, and Fred Ihell, vice-president of the firm, begin planning of the first segment of the grassed city-in-the-round, following the approval of the first plat of the pie-shaped segment Tuesday at a special county commission meeting. Ihell's engineering offices are in the Tiger Federal building in Stuart, where all developments of the property will be constructed and planned.

They did it!

County approves Rotunda's plat

"We would like to get started right away," said Joe Klein, president of Rotunda, following action of the county commission in approving the first pie-shaped plat of the "city-in-the-round" on Tuesday. Klein outlined a four-month program of cutting a drainage ditch into the circular area of the Rotunda project, with an outfall into the St. Lucie Canal.

Once the drainage ditch is completed, and two settlement basins, on the canal side, and on the higher side, are completed, the project will begin. At present, due to the heavy rains of the early summer, the land is too wet to be ditched.

The county accepted the plat of the first section of plat of the first section of eight in the planned city of 50,000 people at a special meeting. Agreement between the county and Rotunda officials on a $5,000,000 bond (per segment), a corporate bond of 115% of improvements schedules and access to accounts receivables of the company for protection of future roads development paved the way for acceptance of the first plat.

All agreements were accepted on condition that the exhibits of the contracts meet with the approval of the county engineer, attorney and the commission.

The gigantic scope of the project, featuring eight pie-shaped golf course or waterway communities of 6,000 population each, around a center development of business district in a four-mile square area in southeastern Martin County, made the commission take its time in approving the plat. Meetings were held with other Florida counties with experience in handling such developments and many meetings over almost a six-month period went into the moment of acceptance.

Commission Chairman Tim Powers opposed the project to the end, stating that he would not vote because he was opposed to the concept of the sale of land by metes and bounds in another area of the project, called Palm Beach Heights.

Former Martin and St. Lucie County engineer Fred Ihell, now vice-president in charge of engineering for the developers, said that he was happy with the passage of the plat and was ready to go to work on the city-in-the-round.

An international sales organization is now set up, awaiting the approval of Rotunda advertising plans by the Florida Land Sales Board.

A LITTLE LAKE--Clearing is all but completed on an annex to Ocean Breeze Mobile Home Park in Eden. Harry Hoke showed The Mirror the small lake in the center of the property which was formerly Holiday Camp Grounds, which will be the center of attraction in a Japanese motif trailer park. Sixty-four "very large" mobile home units will be situated there, according to Hoke. He said that a name has not yet been chosen for the oriental-atmosphere trailer park. He also mentioned that negotiations are under way for additional property in the area in St. Lucie County.

School superintendents salary is under discussion

An item under discussion at Tallahassee is the salary of Martin County's Superintendent of Schools, V. James Navitsky.

FOR ONLY $1,350.00 you can add a 15' x 15' CBS Florida room to your home. For information call Sam Rhodes, Bldg. Contractor. 287-0366 or 287-4710.

At present the pay for school superintendent is limited to $12,500 annually. However, the statutes state that the school superintendent is to make more than any other person in the system, according to Rep. Don Reed, R.-Boca Raton, who is handling the measure in the House.

An assistant superintendent is making $1,000 more than the superintendent, and a principal is making as much, Rep. Reed said.

The legislative delegation representing Martin County has agreed on a salary of $16,000 per year. St. Lucie County superintendent receives $18,000; Indian River County's superintendent makes $21,000.

As part of the tenth anniversary celebration of Redeemer Lutheran Church in Stuart, Rev. Dr. August Brustat of Scarsdale, N.Y., will present an illustrated lecture on "The Life of Christ" on Sunday, July 7 at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Brustat is a lecturer, author, researcher and traveler. The public is invited.

JBWA plan farewell dessert-card party

A farewell dessert-card party will be held Monday, July 15, by the Jensen Beach Women's Association. The new owner of the clubhouse will take title on August 1, so this may be the last social get-together of the group in its present headquarters.

Reservations for the card party, which will start at 12:30, may be made by calling Jean Pendleton at 287-6372.

Two new members, Ruth Blaisdell and Vinele Scammerhorn, were welcomed at Monday's meeting, attended by 33 members. Hostesses were Alice Price, chairman; Myrtle Whitman, Peggy Bean and Eva Eckstrom.

The special prize was won again by Mrs. Hazel Forsberg, president, who conducted the meeting.

Lake 'Chobee continues draining

The draining of excess water from Lake Okeechobee continues. The huge lake is being lowered in an effort to maintain a safe level of 13.5 feet above mean sea level, according to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers at the Clewiston office.

Water is being released through St. Lucie Canal at an approximate rate of 5,000 cubic feet per second, with about the same amount being released through the Caloosahatchee River. However, inflow still exceeds the outflow by about 1,000 cubic feet per second.

Heavy rainfall recently has created flood stages at the lake and water conservation areas covering about 1,345 square miles north of Everglades Park. A safe level must be maintained during the hurricane season.

Facilities to open soon

During the April drought, Stuart water pumps distributed up to 1.4 million gallons daily into the system. At present the pumps average about 800,000 gallons a day, according to the utility operators.

New facilities of a million gallon ground-level reservoir and a pumping station, will be operating soon, according to Ed Glasscock, assistant city manager. The new facilities will cost about $159,000.

Good water pressure will be maintained by use of the overhead tank, with water pumped into it at the rate of 4,100 gallons per minute. The big reservoir will be filled at night, when the demand for water is low.

Navitsky invited to council

An invitation to become a member of the Florida School Desegregation Consulting Center Advisory Council has been received by V. James Navitsky, Martin County Superintendent of Schools. The term of office will be from July 1, 1968, to June 30, 1969.

The invitation was made by Michael J. Stolee, director of the center, and recommended by the State-wide Advisory Council. The Council consists of superintendents, principals, state educational leaders and university personnel. The duties of the Council members are in an advisory capacity to the Consulting Center staff on services needed by public schools in Florida.

Kuhn replace Yoxall as CAP Commander

Dr. Robert Kuhn will move into the slot of commander of the senior squadron of Civil Air Patrol, replacing Lt. Robert E. Yoxall, who is moving to California, it has been announced by Major Evans Crary, senior commander.

Ralph Randall will serve as executive officer; Dorothy Sommers as senior squadron adjutant; Jose Hernandes will replace Philip Baker, Sr., as deputy commander for the Cadet Squadron, and Lt. Baker will act as liaison officer to Major Crary for the Cadet Squadron.

The Cadets meet Mondays at 7 p.m., and the Seniors meet Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m. at the CAP headquarters at Stuart Airport off 10th St.

A POND?--Rick Campbell wades knee-deep in rainwater which looks like a small pond. This picture was taken in front of the bowling alley looking south across SR-707 in Jensen Beach, last Saturday afternoon. County Commissioner Frank A. Wacha, when he learned no State Road Department pumps were available, called members of the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department. Two Hale pumps were used to pump approximately 25,000 gallons of the rainwater in about 105 minutes, according to Chief Randolph Spinney. One of the pumps can be seen in the foreground.

Vocational program

Martin County High School has received notification that $36,000 will be available for vocational education during the 1968-69 school year.

James V. Navitsky, School Superintendent, has been notified by Thurman J. Bailey of the office of the Director of Industrial Education that the school is eligible to present a project in auto mechanics for $16,000, and one in radio and television electronics for $20,000.

DRAINAGE PROBLEM--There are puddles, and then there are puddles....This accumulation of rainwater slowed traffic on SR-707 near the bowling alley over the weekend. The State Road Department had no pumps available in this area, so a call went out for pumping equipment from the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department, which cleared the area Saturday afternoon.

FLOODED--A car swishes through the rainwater which accumulated in front of the bowling alley last weekend, following daily 'showers' in the area over a period of weeks.

An electric dishwasher can save you 90 minutes a day for nicer things. You can stack dishes between meals and do a full day's load with push-button ease.

Everything's washed and sanitized really clean with water much hotter than hands can stand . . . then dried in electrically heated air. Safeguards family health. Lets you relax when mealtime is over.

Also an electric food waste disposer is the quick, clean, easy way to end messy garbage handling.

See your appliance dealer or plumbing contractor today.

Make a clean break with the past. Graduate to electric dishwashing.

RIVER SCENE—Martin County is a land of water...ocean, rivers, cross-state waterway, canals and the fresh-water Jensen Savanna. Here is a pastoral scene across the St. Lucie River, taken from a hillsite. The Jensen Beach-Rio area is quite hilly, a fact which amazes many persons who are inclined to think of Florida as level country).

Original intergration plan to be followed by board

Martin County School Board will stand by its original desegregation plan, according to a move made at its meeting on Thursday. A letter will be sent to Elridge McMillan, education branch of the Civil Rights office in Atlanta, to this effect.

The plan had previously been questioned by McMillan who said it would not achieve a desegregated system by 1968. School Board chairman Joseph Greenlees and V. James Navitsky, superintendent of schools, agreed that the board felt it had developed the best possible plan which was educationally sound.

They pointed to the planned building program as the answer to the Booker Park and East Stuart school problems. The population of these schools is all negro, but both will be eliminated by September, 1970, when they will be phased out for new construction or transfer of pupils.

According to the National Forest Products Association, total lumber production, shipments and consumption in 287 registered dealings from 1966 levels. The decreases were caused primarily by the slow rate of housing starts in the early part of the year. Lumber production in 1967 was 34.6 billion board feet, a decline of 5.1 per cent from 1966 production.

Living Memorial planned for Mrs. Hugh Willoughby

Friends of Mrs. Hugh L. Willoughby, who died this week at her summer home in Connecticut, plan a living memorial to her in the form of plantings on the ocean side of Elliott Museum grounds on Hutchinson Island. She was a past president of the Garden Club of Stuart.

Mrs. John W. Hussey, of the Garden Club, and Ross Philbrick, president of the Martin County Historical Society, are co-chairmen of the memorial fund, for which a depository has been arranged at the Jensen Beach Bank. Mrs. Patricia Murphy Kiernan, of Fort Sewall, will serve in an advisory capacity in designing the planting.

Friends and associates of Mrs. Willoughby are invited to contribute to this expression of appreciation for one who served her community.

Known as "Poke" to her friends (a favorite nickname used by her husband, derived from Pocahontas, because she frequently wore her hair in braids), Indian was a member of the executive board of the Garden Club for many years. She was a member of the board of trustees of the Martin County Historical Society, and a member of the Museum Commission for the Society's House of Refuge. Her interest was long and devoted and her efforts tireless. Checks made payable to the Willoughby Fund may be forwarded to Philbrick, Rt. 2, Box 56, Stuart.

A memorial prayer service for Mrs. Willoughby will be held Tuesday, July 9, at 11 a.m. at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, of which she was a member.

Approve nuclear zoning

The St. Lucie County Commission Tuesday approved the application of Florida Power and Light Company for a zoning change that will permit the construction of a nuclear power plant on Hutchinson Island.

FP&L has options to purchase about two miles of ocean-to-river Hutchinson Island property, 1200 acres, that will now probably be exercised. The land is about eight miles north of the Martin County line in St. Lucie County, just across from Ankona on the mainland.

The land, now zoned "public service" will be the future site of two 850,000 watt nuclear generators, according to unofficial sources. Using a minimal number of acres in the project, Florida Power and Light Company has offered the beach area, two miles long, for the use of the public, and plans a park-type development that would contain campsites, nature trails and recreation areas.

A Tournament of Books, a summer reading program for boys and girls of Martin County, got under way on Monday at Jartin County Public Library. The program will continue until Saturday, August 24.

$33 million tax roll approved by city

The Stuart City Commission, sitting as the Board of Equalization, approved a 1968 gross tax roll in excess of $33 million on Monday, as presented by City Tax Assessor Ed Glasscock.

The $33 million showed an increase of $1,129,980 over the 1967 roll.

After exemptions, the 1968 net roll for operation is $29,261,290, an increase of $996,810 over last year's figure of $28,264,480.

Real estate assessment this year totaled $30,351,750 compared to $10,297,190 last year. Building assessments were $19,196,210 compared to last year's $18,306,990, and personal property assessment this year was $4,331,970 compared to last year's $4,125,770.

Homestead exemptions totaled $4,506,140, and widow and disability exemptions totaled $93,500.

Rotunda zoning is tabled again

The zoning of the first section of Rotunda, controversial city-in-the-round planned for southwestern Martin County, was tabled again Tuesday at the meeting of the county commission. Commissioners cited the lack of "proper steps" as the reason, and most of the discussion on the subject involved drainage.

A recent letter from the Central and South Florida Flood Control District informed the county and Fred Bell, vice-president of the developing firm, Palm Beach Investments, gave the information that the FCD did not have jurisdiction in the proposed drainage plan. FCD referred the plan to the U.S. Corps of Engineers.

Bell told the commissioners that he had to make the first presentation to the FCD and could not make that until the drainage district was a legal entity. He added that every step in the approval of the plan was taking time, and time was a problem to his company.

"It has taken the FCD 14 days to determine that it is not their problem," Bell said. He asked the county for cooperation and consideration for the developers of Rotunda.

Commissioner Jack Saunderson said, "First things first. If you can't drain this property, you can't live on it."

Commissioner Frank Wacha told Bell, "Zoning is our only control over Rotunda." The vote to table was unanimous.

The zoning was tabled after the county had refused to take action on a proposal to add new classifications to the R-1-B zoning of the county plan. Both matters were rescheduled to August 13.

Special election planned

A special election to seek a Republican candidate to oppose Democratic County Commissioner Jack Saunderson in the November general election will be announced "about this Friday", according to Nathaniel Reed, conservation advisor to Governor Claude Kirk.

Candidates for the District 4 seat will run in a special election. The election will be called due to the withdrawal of Howard Morgan, who was unopposed in the Republican primary for the seat. He withdrew for personal reasons.

According to Republican circles, Dr. William Myers, chairman of the Martin County Republican Executive Committee, will be a candidate for the seat. Myers was defeated for the seat four years ago when he was a substitute candidate at the last minute in the election.

Boutique to display

Cooking show adds fashions to long list

Summer fashions of sportswear and casual attire will be blended into the format of The Jensen Beach Mirror's fifth annual cooking show, to be held at St. Lucie Country Club's convention hall on Friday, July 19, according to agreement reached Tuesday with Frances Langford's Boutique. There will be two sessions of the show, 2:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

The exclusive women's wear will be shown before, at intermission and after the cooking show.

Wayne Witt, manager of Harris Music Company of Sewartown, Fort Pierce, will provide music for the cooking show and will have a display in the Appliance Fair planned for the lobby.

The lobby of the convention hall will be the scene of the growing Appliance Fair. Begun two years ago, the Appliance Fair gives local appliance dealers the opportunity to show their wares to the public, and several have indicated that new ideas in cooking appliances will be shown.

The show is free and open to the public. Many prizes will be offered to the ladies who attend. There will be a $100 food gift certificate awarded by Publix Markets plus many $10 food certificates. There will be many food gifts and small appliances presented by the participating dealers.

Recipe books and other hand-carrying items helpful to homemakers will be door prizes to the cooking show.

The cooking demonstrations of the latest ideas of culinary arts will be handled by home economists of Florida Power and Light and General Development Corporation.

RECORD CREVALLE--How would you like to have this on the end of your fishing line? This whopping record-size 48-pound, 8-ounce jack crevalle was caught July 6 by Dewey Richardson, 1711 N.W. 170th Terrace, Miami, on a 50-pound test monofilament line, using a live mullet for bait. It took Richards 25 minutes to whip and land his catch while wading in water up to his chest. The record for jack crevalles was 36 pounds, according to the Stuart Sailfish Club officials, until this huge fish was entered.

Bad money after bad

Engineers protest P-W Road condition

A local group of concerned engineers heard Clark Gibson, a fellow Pratt-Whitney employee, tell the county commission that if they didn't do something about the condition of the last mile of the Pratt-Whitney Road, "You'll end up throwing bad money after bad."

Gibson and his friends protested the water-logged, pot-holed roadbed which the county has been trying to get paved by secondary road funds for 6 years.

Bringing politics into the appeal, Gibson said, "(Commissioner) Saunderson said, 'We don't want to stand election again unless that road is completed.' You're going to spend a lot of money maintaining that road. You're going to lose that grade."

Gibson asked that the county find funds, or transfer funds from somewhere to pave the road. The most he got was a promise from the county fathers to put some shell on the road to make it more passable.

The county has been working to get the access road to Pratt-Whitney Aircraft Engineering for approximately ten years, in hopes of attracting employees of the plant to live in Martin County. All but one mile of the road is paved and graded. That mile of road is in Palm Beach County.

Commissioner Frank Wacha told Gibson, "We had a commitment from Palm Beach County to pave that last mile, but politics changed that. We can't do something illegal."

Wacha asked that the engineers write letters to their state representatives asking that the group work on the State Road Department to clarify a local bill passed in the last legislature for the express purpose of expending secondary road funds outside the county to pave the last mile. The SRD has judged that the bill covered only the 20% county money available for roads.

Wacha added that the county would include the paving in the county budget if it was not possible to get the SRD to spring for the necessary secondary road funds to do the job. The only problem would be the delay.

If the SRD does the job with secondary road funds, Wacha told the engineers, the road can be paved immediately, but if with county money, the paving would have to wait until January, when the funds are available.

Plan works in Africa

Will shark nets protect beaches?

by Dick Campbell

The frightened bathers in South Florida's sun-filled Gold Coast surf might begin to again enjoy a pleasant swim, without fear of being attacked by sharks, if the proposed plan of William G. Maclaren wins county approval.

The residents of Martin, Palm Beach, Dade and Broward Counties have been looking for ways to combat the ever-increasing threat of maurauding sharks. Attacks on swimmers in beach waters in Martin County alone in the past year have added to the threat and fear. Some communities have even held shark tournaments to rid the ocean beaches of the threat.

Maclaren, who arrived in this area just a year ago from South Africa, and is now executive director of the Martin County Resources and Development Board, has received information outlining the method of beach protection used by the town of Durban, on the east coast of South Africa.

Shark nets are used in Durban, a community of half-a-million, and Maclaren reported that the communnity has not had a case of shark attack in ten years, since the nets were installed. In unprotected beach areas on Africa's coast there have been "numerous shark attacks".

The method of operation of shark nets is simple. The net is fixed offshore and parallel to the beach. It is in about 25 feet of water. The nets are not a three-sided affair. There is a line of nets parallel only, and an opening allows maneuvering of navcraft inside to the nets. Swimmers in South Africa discovered that sharks swim directly into shore and directly back out again.

The nets themselves are made of Polyethylene braided triad twine. The mesh is 10 inches by 10 inches at a diagonal. They are suspended on floats 3" by 6", at eight-foot intervals. The ends of each net are anchored and there are buoys at each end.

A service boat clears the captured sharks from the nets each week, or each month, depending upon the shark catch. At that time the net is repaired if a tear exists.

Disposal of the dead sharks in South Africa is not by commercial methods. The disposal is handled by the city engineer.

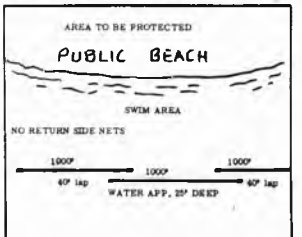
Floats adjust for the tides of the ocean, and the overlap protects the bathing beaches.

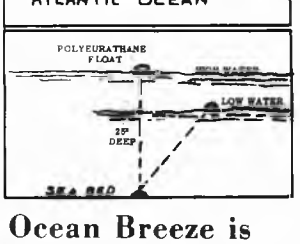
Drawings on this page show the extent of the netting, which would be longer in Durban than would be needed for Jensen Beach. Maclaren has submitted the information received from South Africa to Commissioner Frank Wacha for study.

In his cover letter to Wacha, Maclaren stated that he thought the nets should be tried in the Jensen Beach area, and if found successful, "publicized widely".

Wacha, who received the letter Tuesday, told The Jensen Beach Mirror that he was very interested in the project and would study it immediately.

It may be possible that this information might make the beaches of South Florida again safe for bathers, who now are forced to scurry for the sand when a lifeguard shouts "Shark".





Ocean Breeze is asking for light

The Town of Ocean Breeze Park has asked the Martin County Commission for a traffic light to be installed at the intersection of Lil' Bit Lane and SR-707, in the heart of the town. The commission forwarded the request to the State Road Department on Tuesday.

Town Mayor Harry Hoke cited the "concentration of people, cars and other vehicles" using the intersection, and added that a new expansion of the mobile home town will add 42 trailers by next season. The new section is on the river side of the road.

"The traffic on the State Road has been on a continuous increase with frequent violations, making it hazardous to use our intersections by vehicles and pedestrians," Hoke wrote.

The town is asking for a traffic light, with green, amber and red "in four directions, with the green light on the state road to be of longer durations than the red light," Hoke also asked that the double yellow line through the town be repainted, "and such lines should be broken at our intersections."

A dessert-card party will be held Monday, July 15, by the Jensen Beach Women's Association. The new owner of the clubhouse will take title Aug. 1, so this may be the last get-together of the group in its present building.

Reservations for the 12:30 party may be made by calling 287-6372.

SLABS SLIDE--And when the chain broke, the slabs they did fall....A truck traveling north on Indian River Drive had a mishap Thursday about 10:30 a.m., near Ocean Breeze Park office. Two sets of upright slabs, being delivered to Holiday Out, were chained in position. The chain on the river side broke, dumping its load into the roadway. A derrick was called, the slabs were lifted into position, and the truck continued.

AWAY WE GO- Spectators thrilled to the roar of the motors during Thursday's annual Independence Day boat races on Jensen Beach Causeway, watching as the family-type race, an hour-long marathon, was run. The 27-lap course was laid out on the north side of the causeway. The hills of Jensen Beach can be seen in the background.

Veterans receive $144,755

Martin County veterans received $144,755.22 for the fiscal year ending June 30, according to Melvin T. Dixon, state service officer in the Department of Veterans Affairs at St. Petersburg. The amount was recovered through efforts of John W. Keller, county veterans service officer.

Included were: service-connected, $41,661; death compensation and pensions, $29,287.10; $20,372.48, insurance; Public Law 550 training, $11,100.64; burial $6,250.

Robert Huff, assistant state service officer, will be available for consultation in Stuart on Wednesday, July 17, at 2:30 p.m., in the courthouse annex. Call Keller's office for an appointment.

Garbage collectors need guidance

The choices in the present garbage situation in Martin County are little to be envied. They are distasteful and offer few ways to become involved in troublesome environmental problems.

The fact that since the last garbage collectors to continue the present chaos of collection methods and transportation of the county quit Thursday the collection agencies that have been involved in the last decade, if the reports that five additional franchises in certain areas will be awarded, will be hard pressed and are willing to participate in reasonable rates.

We take issue with the county has created the increasingly serious problem of the garbage disposal problem in the first place. The present system of the county is inadequate in the face of the rapid growth of the population of the people. No one seems to know what we are doing.

Of course, the county does not want to step into the business of garbage collection, but there are alternatives to take that will not involve expenditures and at the same time will not involve the county in a long-term commitment to the business.

We believe that the solution is to involve the people. The first is the regulation of garbage collectors, with regulations that will take into consideration the needs of the people in the various districts for garbage collection, with franchises granted to the responsible bidder in each district.

This method of control of garbage collection would enable the county to follow a strategy with which to work. The county would also keep within bounds the rates that the collectors charge for their service in order to maintain his franchise. Also, he would have to be able to provide enough service to each area to warrant the franchise.

Division of the county into districts would allow established collection firms to continue serving in small areas without fear of being put out of business, and yet make them accountable to those districts for their quality of service.

Collection rates should be set by the county, based upon five-year franchises.

Still another method would be written into the franchises so that there would be areas in which the county stands in the collection business. Violations should be stopped immediately with a cancelling clause in the contract that would take the county to stop firms operating outside the law.

County health and sanitary and this should be established early in the five commissioner districts. They should follow the most stringent rules protecting the people from unhealthful ideas of pollution and unsightliness in the county.

Additional methods, not to be mentioned here, would result if residents of the administration department should not keep abreast of the problem with which the county is faced. Only then will the people be able to make intelligent decisions.

Citizens should be the right to be heard on matters of public interest. Public hearings should be held on the garbage problem and the people should be given the right to express their views and to make reasonable suggestions.

The garbage problem is not new and has been with us for many years. It is a problem that will not be solved overnight, but it can be solved with a little thought and cooperation.

Notes On The Veterans

by John Keller

Q. I am interested in the new Modified Life plan of government insurance I have been reading about. I sold $10,000 of government insurance. Where can I get more specific information about the Modified Life plan?

A. Write to the Veterans Administration Regional Office where your records are held or to the VA insurance office (Philadelphia or St. Paul) where your premiums are paid. Ask for a copy of VA Pamphlet 29-22, which discusses the benefits of this plan.

Q. I receive a monthly compensation check from the VA. I have recently had a change of address. Should I report the change to the VA or the Treasury Dept.?

A. Your change of address should always be reported to the VA Regional Office where your records are located.

Q. I read recently that the post-Korean GI Bill is for veterans who entered the service in 1965 after four years in the Army. Am I eligible for education and training benefits under this bill? If so, how long do I have before my entitlement expires?

A. First, and most important, you are eligible for education and training benefits under the post-Korean GI Bill. This third GI Bill was established for veterans who served for at least 180 days consecutively in the Armed Forces, some of which was after Jan. 31, 1955.

Since you were released from active duty between Jan. 31, 1955, and June 1966, your eligibility for education and training assistance runs until May 1974. Veterans discharged since June 1, 1966, under the post-Korean GI Bill education and training program have until 8 years after their separation from service to use their benefits.

Ice cream shop planned

A new addition for Jensen Beach, which promises to be a popular spot for all, will be the soft-serve ice cream shop to be built at the front entrance to Jensen Lanes on SR-707.

Two service windows will flank the nine-foot square extention planned for the existing building. A sidewalk will be installed around the new addition, according to Tony Priore, manager of Jensen Lanes.

Soft ice cream, sundaes, sodas, shakes and similar goodies will be served, Priore said.

FIRST BIRTHDAY--A fellow has to celebrate a birthday, and what better day than the Fourth of July, Independence Day. Kevin Wright, above, was born at Martin Memorial Hospital July 4, 1967, and celebrated his first birthday at the big annual picnic at Jensen Beach Causeway Thursday, decorated birthday cake and all. Guests included his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Wright of Palm City; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Kitching, also grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Decker, Jr., and great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bartku, plus many other friends and relatives. They all spent the day enjoying the activity climaxed by a spectacular fireworks exhibit.

Bohner graduates

Christopher H. Bohner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas S. Kennedy, Sewall's Point, Jensen Beach, received his diploma from St. Andrew's Boys' School with the 1968 class.

He is enrolled for the fall term at the University of Florida.

Artists to meet

A demonstration painting in acrylic by Joseph Kelleher of the Art Mart, Rio, will be featured at the July 12 meeting of the Martin County Art Associates.

The 7:30 p.m. meeting will be at the home of Reg. Shellenger, 108 S. St. Lucie Blvd., Stuart. Refreshments will be served.

Harry Wilkie was there in his '4-wheeler' and said Carrie is coming along nicely, but won't be home for a short time yet.

PARAKEETS SCRAMBLE--Visitors are always interested in the budgie bird cage. However, the birds are very camera shy and take refuge in the roosts near the ceiling of the cage when a camera comes too close.

Pioneering in British Columbia

Roy Daley's cousin, Walter Gibson, was here for ten days. But Josey and Roy are still talking of Walter's colorful life. These two cousins had not seen each other for 19 years, so Josey learned some of the happenings to him and his family.

Walter's parents, together with his sister, Vera, and another brother, went West in a 'covered wagon' and became pioneers in British Columbia, locating finally at Dawson Creek. Walter's father was a blacksmith and homesteaded 640 acres.

When he was older, Walter hunted and trapped. Eventually he had a 'pack train' of 30 horses and his own 'dude ranch'. He rode three times in the Calgary Stampede, his sister, Vera, trained horses and was noted for her prize-winning shooting.

One story that Josey and Roy told me was of a late January bear invasion in a cabin, while showing me snapshots of their former days and times. Walter had heard the story in a store --but didn't believe it until he was told to ask "the Mountie." Walter did--The Mountie directed him to the cabin and related the story.

Seems that three men had occupied this cabin. One day in late January, two of the men went to see what their traps held, while gone, the third man baked 12 loaves of bread and put them on top of tall poles outside (to freeze and keep). He also did other baking. A large grizzly appeared, knocked down the poles, ate the bread and entered the cabin. The man climbed into the small attic. He had a long .22 and watched while the bear made a shambles of the cabin, ripped large cans apart, apparently for more food. One pail held paint--this the bear ripped open, and getting the paint on his paws, left paint on the walls and 8-foot high ceiling. The man repeatedly shot at the bear--and when he heard his companions returning, shouted a warning to them. They tried many shots through the windows and finally the bear went out of the cabin. They trailed it for almost a mile and found it dead--from the 22's in its head. The bear was skinned and later sent to the trappers. Its measurement--8 feet.

From Walter's home they were able to watch the building of the Alcan Highway from its beginning to completion. Now that he is retired, he enjoys traveling to different places in the world.

Letters from our friends

Sally and Frank vonHalle had a letter from Bernice and Harry Covell enclosing the clipping of Mrs. Garnett Gorman's death.

Bernice's letter continues, "I can walk without the walker now and only use the cane when I am outside. My arm is bothering me and I have to get cortisone shots from my doctor here.

The McLaines and us are going to the lake for July 4 weekend. June in Michigan has been a cold one, July 1 warmed up to 89 degrees and we had one while day without rain. There have been several bad electrical storms. Both the rivers have flooded (near Lansing) and many people have had bad times battling flood waters. With the bad storms at the lake, trees were damaged and the electricity was off for some time."

Crystal Drummond has heard from Alice and Charles Cline- their motor trip to California and Albuquerque has counted up to 4700 miles on their speedometer. They are in their way home now and have had an enjoyable trip.

Smitty Hoyt has had word that Elsie' trip north was a very good one. When they arrived there Marie phoned her daughter, Phyllis, who arrived shortly after, to claim her mother, for their vacation together.

Tess Myers has arrived at her northern home safely.

A letter from Sally and Bill Kirkwara, dated June 28, brings word of the death of Mrs. T. R. Gillespie, after an illness of five-and-a-half years. Mrs. Gillespie was born at College Point, L.I., N.Y., Jan. 26, 1887, daughter of Rev. Merman and Mary Jane Rice Berg. She was married to Thomas R. Gillespie and they lived in Wellman for the past four years. While spending the winter seasons in the park, they had resided on Almond St.

She is survived by her husband, a daughter, two sons, 14 grandchildren, two great-grandchildren, also a brother and two sisters.

Bill's letter continues, "We are having mixed weather here, Rain, cloudy and some sunshine. It is Sally's birthday and she is going out to a luncheon."

A letter from Fran Gorden brings news of the death of Mrs. Garnett Gorman, Mrs. Gorman was a sister of Gracie Allen and had been a winter resident of CBP for several years. She died at Reed City Hospital, Reed City, Mich., June 26, 1966, If any friends would like to write to Gracie, her address is Lafayette Convalescent Home, 827 Bagole St., Flint, Mich. 48504.

Fran continues, "My plans for the winter are incomplete, I'm doing very well. No more coronaries so far. My mother still lives. She will be 87 in August. I don't want to leave her alone. I am all she has and she is wonderful.

From Bertha and Henry Edris, "Recently we were surprised by a call from Mable Schuman. She and Myron, Fran and Charles Pierce had arrived the night before and were having breakfast with Jon and Sam Koslow who also live in northwest Detroit. In true OB style we soon had a luncheon planned here with us. Maude and Maurice VanMarter came also and there was much fast talking, each contributing some bit of news of our OB friends.

We were sorry Jon and Sam couldn't join us, for they had plans for the day that could not be cancelled. All present are already looking forward to joining other OBP friends early in the fall."

A postal card to Jo and Henry Doring, from Bessie and Louie Klein. "Just a line to say we are home safe and sure like it. Mark and Bill (the boys) are good travelers and enjoyed the trip. It was very hot Thursday and Friday, very heavy traffic Friday. The children here had three-foot square signs on the front porch and garage, "Welcome Home--Glad you are Home."

Postal card from Evelyn Smith from Adams, Mass., "Had my six-months check-up and everything is good. Ray is fine."

From Beth and Ralph Orth: "Only four nice days since we have been at our cottage. Ralph has been out fishing four times, but poor luck--only three fish. Our swimming birds are here now.

Now that Lillian Tower is feeling so much better--she is preparing to celebrate their seventh wedding anniversary July 13. It will doubtless be a very quiet day for Lillian and Bill, but their happiness at being in the park, together, will be better than any other entertainment.

Lillian says she had so many cards, notes, gifts and flowers from friends and relatives that she is afraid she will never be able to thank each personally. The many prayers offered by her church folk were appreciated.

Ann and Fred Schonlau took Mae and John Baker, of Cypress, to West Palm to the railroad station, for their trip to Maryland. Their granddaughter was to be married July 6. They may go to Pennsylvania after that for a visit.

Al and Billie Knudsen had visitors on July 4, a brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Warner Jackson, of Coral Gardens, and their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Reiner and son Bradley, of North River Shores. Heard that their appetites were whetted with their conversations.

While coming home from church this Sunday morning, saw Jane Love, daughter of Frank Baldwin, and her husband, Charles. Dodging between the rains, asked how Dabs was. He is in the Riviera Health Resort at 6901 Yumuri, Coral Gables, Fla. 33155.

While going through some of Babs' things, they found his marriage license (to his wife, Vesta) dated 10 years ago, June. Frank has lived in this park for 20 years this August.

If it has to "eat out" at times, and when Dot and Al Davis were guests of Cecil-Harlow and Myrt Huntington at a local restaurant, it made a very pleasant outing for these four friends last Sunday afternoon.

To a gentleman who wishes no more birthdays--Happy Birthday to H. F. Christie of 5th Ave. on July 12. Best wishes fro your friends for your good health to enjoy many more years here.

Malsches begin vacation

A six-weeks to two-months vacation to the north began on Monday for Bernice and Fred Malsch. At Battle Creek, Mich., they will visit Fred's daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Dennstedt. Then to Milwaukee to see Minnie and Lester Warne, also Trudy and Dan Gordon. In Battle Creek once more to visit Bernice's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Bulloch, other relatives and friends, Anne and Mildred Fenwick, and the Everett Ashleys.

If time allows and they can route their travels, on their return trip to this park they will come by way of Virginia and have time to chat with the Luther Weeks, the Maxeys and the Saunders.

FORTY AND EIGHT SCHOLARSHIP--Miss Mary Peck, center, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Peck, Stuart, accepts a check for a three-year $450 nurses scholarship from William F. Middleton, Director of Nurses Training, Voiture 338, St. Lucie County Ferry and Eight, as William F. St.Clair, past Chef de Gare looks on. Miss Peck will enter Orange Memorial Hospital in Orlando in August as a student nurse. This is the third such scholarship given by this Voiture, comprised of members from Martin St. Lucie and Indian River Counties. Others were won by Cathie Heston, Jensen Beach, and Charlotte Wood, Ft. Pierce.

WON WITH THE STARS--It pays to play games, and Mrs. Hazel D. Orman of 116 S. Alamanda Ave., Stuart, is sure of that fact. Here she accepts a check for $500 from Ken Mitchell, assistant manager at Publix Market in Stuart. Mrs. Orman played "Win With The Stars", a contest sponsored by Publix Markets, and won one of the many prizes.

HONORED--Mrs. William F. Middleton, Jensen Beach, active in American Legion Auxiliary for many years, was elected Chaplain Department de Florida of the Eight and Forty during the recent annual March in Palm Beach. She has been traveling through the state installing the new officers of the 20 Salons in the Departemental of Florida.

To The Editor:

I want to personally thank all the wonderful people of this great area for helping me to make this the finest Independence Day Celebration we have ever experienced.

I especially would like to thank the members of the fireworks committee, who worked for a year in planning, constructing and financing the fireworks show. Also, K would like to thank all the organizations that took part in the eleven hours of activity.

And the kids, I would like to thank the kids who helped me keep track of the fireworks by counting the breaks.

Thank you all. This is what makes Jensen Beach a Wonderful Place In Which To Live.

Bill Yurilio, Chairman
Jensen Beach Independence Day Celebration Committee

Drought is thing of the past

Roads flooded; rain continues

The long drought of two months ago is long gone, drowned under 4.6 inches of rain since May 15.

Twelve inches fell the last two weeks in May, 21.1 inches in June; about 9 inches the first eight days of this month.

Sections of SR-707 in the Jensen Beach-Rio area were almost impassable Monday, following a heavy downpour.

Other roads are also under water throughout the county and county road superintendent Cliff Haulerson advises motorists to drive cautiously on county roads which are inundated.

Two major roads in the western part of Martin County are submerged, according to County Engineer Tom Slider. Fox Brown Road, although passable, was hidden by about three inches of water, as was Hale Dairy Road, both serving the agricultural areas near Indiantown.

The road leading to a boat ramp on C-23 Canal off SR-714 was also washed out.

An adequate drainage system is needed in the Indiantown area, according to County Commission Chairman Elmer Powers, which will require the cooperation of the county and private landowners.

The county is prohibited from draining privately-owned land, County Attorney Dewar Tooker pointed out, but both private owners and the county could cooperate for adequate drainage planning.

A report on the condition of county roads and bridge projects will be presented to the State Road Department in Fort Lauderdale later this week by Powers.

Holland and Weigel buy Deland agency

Henry Holland and Allyn Weigel have purchased the Deland Chrysler-Plymouth Dealership in Deland on July 2, it was announced this week in Stuart. Weigel and Holland are owners and operators of Stuart Chrysler-Plymouth Dealership.

Henry Holland, it was announced, will become manager of the Stuart dealership and Weigel will be manager of the Deland operation. Both will operate in the two cities.

Weigel told The Jensen Beach Mirror, "This new dealership will, in effect, give us the opportunity to have two dealerships to serve the people of Martin County, for all new car inventory in both dealerships will be available to our customers."

Weigel said he would have to move to Deland, "and I certainly will miss the civic and social activities of which my wife and I have been a part," but added that he will continue to be in Stuart on a regular basis, working with Holland.

The two young businessmen pioneered the Chrysler-Plymouth agency in Stuart. They opened their business in September, 1964, and have become strong contenders in the Stuart market in those four years.

Holland is vice-president of the Martin County Franchised Dealers' Association, is a member of the First Methodist Church of Stuart, the Martin County Golf Club and Kiwanis Club.

Stuart Chrysler-Plymouth has an eight-man service department, three salesmen and two in bookkeeping at their U.S. #1 location in Stuart.

School budget

The new Martin County School system budget is up about $1.1 million from last year's, according to the budget proposal presented Monday night to the school board by V. James Navitsky, Superintendent of Public Instruction. The proposal was $4,146,743.

All but $185,557 of the $1,1 is covered by state revenue. The budget involves a .77 of a mill increase to 9 mills.

A final budget proposal will be required for a July 30 public hearing.

The state's contribution toward the budget this year is $2,138,591, an increase of almost one million dollars. In Navitsky's proposal, $401,173 would come from the state's new educational improvement plan.

Navitsky pointed out that the big increase in state participation in the budget arises largely from salary increases granted by the state.

CHARRED RUBBLE--A portion of the back wall is all that remains of the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Hogan at Palm Lake Park. The rest is in rubble from the Sunday night fire.

Controversy still hot

Sunday night holocaust levels Hogan residence

by Dick Campbe.

Tuesday afternoon, at 4:30 p.m., a small lick of flame spurted out of the base of a burned timber, hanging crazily down from what had been a roof joist. The standing post that held it was all that was remaining of the side wal. of a frame building in Palm Lake Para, the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Hogan.

Though the fire had been dead for two days, since the Sunday night holocaust that leveled the Hogan home, the spurting flame was indicative of the continuing burning controversy over the fire itself. Trying to reconstruct the fire and the way it was fought is like trying to piece the house back together from the charred rubble that remained of the home of the Hogans and their two children, Jennifer, 6, and Mike, 4.

"Won't you come in?" she said, Mrs. Hogan walked ahead, into the living room of her mother's home in Stuart. Mrs. Sidney Jones had allowed the young couple and their children to live in the home while they looked for a place to stay.

Virginia Hogan is a blonde, thin, with a firm jaw. She introduced her husband who was talking with a jovial man. "He's the insurance adjuster. My husband is going over the loss now," she said. Her husband, looking concerned, sat on the edge of the seat as the insurance adjuster from Allstate Insurance wrote on a pad. He nodded.

"You had better talk to this gentlemen before I continue, because if you have to go over these papers again to make sure that everything is there," the adjuster said.

"No, this is more important. I'll call you later." The Jensen Beach Mirror reporter said.

Virginia Hogan walked to the front porch. "Thank you," she said.

* * * *

Bill Gass, fire chief of the Rio Volunteer Fire Department, was lying down when the telephone rang. "It was around 10:20 p.m.," he said. "I have been laid up with a back injury, and remembered the siren hadn't blown. I told them to blow the siren. The civil defense man said he was, but it wasn't blowing. A few seconds later it started blowing.

"I told the man to call Jensen. We would need help.

"My wife drove me to the fire station, two blocks away, and when we got there a truck with two men in it was already pulling out. It took us about ten minutes to get the truck to the fire. When we got there, there was no hope for the house. I don't think anyone could have saved the house.

"Rio was the first truck to the fire. Then Jensen came up a short time later. I called them on the radio, and they said they were on the way. We were there about ten minutes before they arrived.

"I have only one radio. Jensen has about fifteen. I put in for another for my home, but got turned down. I am having a rough time building the department in Rio, and we need help. We have no volunteers from Palm Lake Park or North River Shores, and we need help."

Gass said he had heard about the controversy over the time lapse. A neighbor had said he called Stuart at 10:03 p.m., and then called the Civil Defense, central fire call station. The CD volunteer on duty is trained to push the fire siren of the department in which the fire is located.

"Some people claim that the call came through at 10:00, I don't know. But I do know that we got there as fast as we could, and the call came through at 10:20," Gass said.

County Commissioner Frank Wachs looked around. He and Civil Defense Director Al Keaton stood in the planning and zoning office of the county courthouse, discussing a problem.

"You called me, I got your message," Wachs said. Keaton started to walk out the door. "No, stay here, we might need some information." Wachs said. Keaton turned back around.

Wachs said that the greatest problem he has encountered thus far has been in locating what happened between 10:03 p.m., when a neighbor of the Hogans, Charles Puck, had called the Stuart Fire Department, and 10:21 p.m., when the Stuart log book states that the fire department there called Civil Defense.

"I don't know about that," Keaton said, "I know that the log at Stuart reads a call in at 10:20, and a call to Civil Defense fire warning at 10:21. The fire departments were on the way. Bill Gass at Rio was the first to get a call and the first to get to the fire."

Asked if he wanted to pull the fire calls out of Civil Defense, Wachs said, "No. I believe that we must get the fire calls on an open line. The ambulance should be on the county network.

"When a man is fighting a blaze, and needs a piece of equipment, he needs it now, and shouldn't have to wait for other calls before he calls for it," Wachs said.

"The county radios are about 80% bought through Civil Defense," Keaton said. "We can handle the warning system."

Variety to be the spice of Mirror Cooking Show

A fashion show, cooking demonstrations, ideas with meats and new appliances for the home, and a music demonstration will be mixed with orange juice and prizes, prizes, prizes, as the fifth annual Jensen Beach Mirror Cooking Show and Appliance Fair gets under way Friday at St. Lucie Country Club's Convention Hall.

Over 1,000 ladies are expected to attend the show, which will have two sessions, at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m.

"This will be our largest show in the history of the event," said Mirror publisher Dick Campbell. "There are more and bigger prizes to be given away, and we have never had more variety."

Barbara Benson, chief home economist of Florida Power and Light Company, and Jari MacDonald, area home economist of FP&L, will describe latest methods, new ideas and exciting recipes in a cooking presentation, Jim Morgan, district supervisor of Publix Markets, will handle the meat preparation section of the program.

Master of ceremonies of the show will be The Jensen Beach Mirror editor, who will award over $500 in door prizes to visiting guests. The show is free and open to the public.

Orange juice, provided by Minute Maid, which has groves in Martin County, will be served at each session. In addition, an unique recipe book of citrus recipes is being furnished to all visitors to the cooking show.

Co-sponsors of the show with The Mirror are Florida Power and Light Company, Publix Markets and General Development Corporation.

The fashion show, featuring local models, will be presented by Frances Langford's Boutique and Miss Langford's Outrigger Fashion and Gift Shop. Sportswear will receive the greatest play during the three-part show. The fashions will be shown at the opening, during the intermission, and at the end of the show. The styles include those imported fashions by Italian designers that are a specialty of the fashion shops.

The gift list of the show is varied and plentiful. There is a "tentative" list of prizes on this page, "We have so many prizes, and so many more coming in, that we cannot possibly list all of them," Campbell said. "Our prize list will be outdated by the time of the show."

Persons arriving at the show will see an appliance display in the lobby of the convention hall at St. Lucie Country Club. The appliance show is being handled by various dealers in Martin and St. Lucie Counties.

The fifth annual Jensen Beach Mirror Cooking Show will probably be one of the highlights of a promotional year of The Mirror, and promises to be one of the most gifted and exciting, according to Campbell.

MISS BARBARA BENSON, Florida Power and Light Company chief home economist, will be a part of The Jensen Beach Mirror Cooking Show Friday at St. Lucie Country Club.

MISS JERI MacDONALD, Florida Power and Light Company district home economist, will be featured in the cooking demonstration at both sessions of The Jensen Beach Mirror Cooking Show, Friday at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m.

Dr. William Myers to oppose Saunderson

Dr. William G. Myers, 36, Hobe Sound physician, a Republican, will face incumbent County Commissioner Jack Saunderson in the November election. Both will seek the District Three County Commissioner seat.

Saunderson is from Port Salerno.

Dr. Myers was the only candidate to file for the Republican party, making it unnecessary for the special Republican primary election to be held July 30.

The District Three seat had no Republican candidate when Howard K. Morgan withdrew his nomination following the spring primaries.

Dr. Myers is chairman of the Martin County Republican Executive Committee.

Bridges lead list

Bid openings for the Palm City Bridge over St. Lucie River are expected Sept. 15, according to Arnold Ramos, State Road Department district engineer. He and Commission Chairman Powers conferred recently at a meeting in Fort Lauderdale with SRD officials. The span is expected to cost about $1.25 million.

Plans are continuing to permit Martin County to borrow $600,000 at 4.5 per cent interest from Florida secondary road trust funds for construction of a new Arundel Shop Bridge over the St. Lucie Canal, Powers reported. Approval of the loan is set for November, with the possibility of bidding in June of 1969.

The Arundel Shop Bridge is expected to cost about $800,000, with current secondary road funds being used to make up the difference.

The one-lane and proven dangerous Poppleton Creek Bridge, newly-marked "one-way", is also on the agenda for replacement. A bidding date in January is expected for this $60,000 project.

Planned for the end of July is the bidding on Cove Road for a mile east of A-1-A in the south part of the county, Powers said.

And in the Jensen Beach-Rio area, a traffic light study is being made at the entrance to Ocean Breeze Park on Indian River Drive in Jensen Beach, and the drainage of SR-707, Rio, is also being studied.

The four-laning of SR-76 between U.S 1 and Martin County High School will probably be bid in October.

In the central part of the county, alignment drawings have been completed for Citrus Blvd., he concluded.

Registration open for Jaycee Beauty Pageant

Local young ladies are invited to register for the annual Miss Martin County and Miss Jaycee Beauty Pageants, sponsored by the Stuart Jaycees. The pageant will be held on Labor Day.

The Miss Martin County contest is open to girls from age 17-1/2 to 25; those from 15 to 17-1/2 may register for the Miss Jaycee title.

Committee members in charge of arrangements are chairman Jack Steward, Mrs. Rosaleen Murray, and Karmit Tucker, president of the Jaycees. Registrations are being taken at the Stuart Chamber of Commerce

Boat yards to be zoned

Martin County boat builders will have a zoning classification for "boat yards" when members of the Planning and Zoning Board meet Thursday evening at 7:30 p.m. at the courthouse.

Present zoning allows "boat yards" in B-2 zoning areas, however there is no definition given for "boat yards", according to George Grimm, planning and zoning director.

A definition to include boat building will answer the problem, Grimm said.

Also at Thursday's meeting, Port Sewall zoning setbacks will be considered. Members of the board will personally inspect existing setbacks in the area.

Mobile home zoning applications for mobile homes are coming in constantly. The planners will take a long look at mobile home zoning before allowing more mobile homes in the area.

Embargo stops Canadian mail

"At the request of the Canadian Postal Service, there is an embargo on acceptance of all classes of mail, both surface and air mail, addressed for delivery to Canada.

"Mail currently on hand will be dispatched to destinations. No other Canadian mail will be accepted until further notice."

So read a directive received by Jensen Beach Post Office from Clyde Howard, director of transportation, Atlanta, Georgia. The notice was marked, "Effective at once".

School Board studies Peabody College survey

Two of the recommendations made recently in the Peabody College survey are being actively considered by member of Martin County School Board.

The survey suggested that board members serve without pay, and also recommended a $6,000 addition to the total outlay plan for a building program.

Frank Destefano, one of the board members, has proposed a bond issue to pay for the building program. Mrs. Jean Murfin, another board member, proposed the board serve without the $150 per month per member salary, but be recompensed for the expense of their services.

The administrative staff, now considering the proposals, will make a report later at a board meeting.

In other action at the July 11 meeting, the board:

Named Charles Helmer to succeed F. M. Boatright who has resigned as director of finance as of August 1. Helmer is a retired civil service worker, having here from Baltimore.

Approved the appointment of 21 teachers.

Accepted State Farm Ins. Co.'s bid for insurance on school owned vehicles.

Directed V. James Sanfilippo, superintendent of public instruction, to investigate request by Jupiter Inlet Colony to purchase two to four acres of school property near the county line in the Highlands Development, to be used as a water course.

Rev. Joe Dudley to preach Sunday

In the absence of Rev. Newton M. Tunnell, pastor of Jensen Beach Methodist Church, Rev. Joe Dudley will be guest preacher Sunday, July 21, 9:30 a.m., Dudley is a student minister, now in charge of his graduating at Indian River Community College.

On Monday, July 22, Rev. Dudley will meet with the First Baptist Church students at Jensen Beach.

Palm Beach County must maintain road

PW 'last mile' gets SRD approval

It looks as though the long-awaited completion of the "last mile" of the Pratt-Whitney Road in Palm Beach County is to become a reality. That is, if Palm Beach County will assure the State Road Department that it will maintain the road after it is built.

Approval to pave the one-mile stretch, using Martin County primary road funds, was given last week by SRD chairman Michael O'Neil, ending a delay of eight years.

The work will be done and charged against this county's priorities for primary roads, according to County Commission Chairman Tilmer Powers on Friday.

Ten miles of the road has been built by Martin County from SR-76 south to the county line. The one-mile stretch in Palm Beach County was graded recently by Dickinson, Inc., in order to complete the paving, this county asked for and received authority from the state legislature last year.

At that time Palm Beach County commissioners indicated they would maintain the road, if Martin County would build it, Powers said.

The rights-of-way, held by Palm Beach County eight years ago, were returned to the owners during the controversy over the division of Lake Okeechobee, at that time a portion of the lake was assigned to this county.

The one-mile link, which connects SR-76 and SR-706, will provide a shortcut to Martin County residents who work at Pratt-Whitney, and will also provide a new farm-to-market road.

Major Jerome H. Barnes, whose wife, Janet is the daughter of Clair R. Shipman, Fort Pierce, recently took part in a successful strike mission over Vietnam.

The major and fellow F-4 Phantom pilots hit an enemy position 7 miles southwest of Saigon. He is a member of the 12th Tactical Fighter Wing based at Cam Ranh Bay AB.

Desegregation plan is accepted

Martin County's plan for desegregation has been accepted as submitted, So said a letter received July 2 from Paul M. Rilling, Regional Civil Rights Director, to V. James Navitsky, Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Rilling lists the following for 1968-69:

1. Dunbar Elementary School will be phased out and students now attending will be assigned to the Hobe Sound Elementary School.

2. Both Stuart and Indian Fork Elementary Schools will have majority white faculties. Faculty desegregation will be 100% and will be effected in all schools.

The final stage, because of completion of a new Middle School, will be completed before September, 1970, and will include the following changes:

1. All students formerly attending Dunbar Elementary School will attend Felix Williams Elementary School.

2. All students formerly attending Stuart Elementary School will attend Parkway Elementary School.

3. All students formerly attending Hobe Sound Elementary School will attend Parkway Elementary School.

4. All students formerly attending Stuart Elementary School will attend Felix Williams Elementary School.

5. All students formerly attending Indian Fork Elementary School will attend Parkway Elementary School.

Martin County schools will be phased out and used for a center, and as a part of the County Administration Building Complex, in the Vale of East Stuart.

The concluding paragraph reads: "The plan for the reorganization of Martin County schools calls also for a joint school district interim to eliminate the dual school system by September, 1970. If this plan is implemented, and it is believed the provisions in Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, your district will continue to be eligible for participation in Federal programs."

Cracker cookbook

Considering how many different cookbooks there are in the world one might imagine that we need another cookbook like we need a hole in the head.

But after looking over an advance copy of a new one painstakingly compiled by a three-generation Florida Cracker gal friend of mine, I'm not so sure.

Anyhow, she got an idea and followed through by publishing "Louise's Florida Cookbook". The author is Louise Lavinne, who operates a gift shop at Boynton Beach.

Her customers, tourists and homefolks were continually asking her about Florida dishes they had heard about, especially old-times dishes, Indian recipes for preparing a variety of Florida foods.

They were interested in a dish the Indians called Sofkee, Swamp Cabbage, Dasheens, Gopher Turtle and other Indian delicacies.

They were also interested in old-time Cracker recipes for dishes that have graced the Cracker table for a hundred years or more.

In addition to old-time Florida recipes and Indian dishes, Louise has included the latest modern Florida dishes such as turtle steak, Key Lime Pie and others.

Although I am not a Cracker, I am more a Floridian than anything else. I came here in 1914 and over the years I have watched this state grow and develop from a backwoods country to a modern metropolitan area.

I have traveled from one end of the state to the other and visited just about every community from Sopchoppy to Key West. Many a time I have been a guest at a Florida Cracker table and my mouth still waters as I recall the amount and variety of food I was privileged to enjoy.

As George Gobel would say, "You don't hardly find food like that no more." While the average Cracker family of 50 or more years ago was poorer than most of the so-called poor people who marched on Washington, they knew how to work and how to live and for the most part were comfortable and happy.

A Cracker meal was something to write home about, and the secret was in the cooking. No matter what they served you, it was delicious. You came to the table with a healthy appetite and dishes, a half-dozen or more tables, fowl or fish or meat, salads that were out of this world. And what puddings! Those cooks could do wonders with a slat of salt pork in cooking food also was not to be sneezed at. And they knew how they handled corn and a corn meal was a marvel. I [illegible] one ever left a Florida Cracker table hungry. It was their own fault.

Wolfs entertain friends in Chicago

Itis a small world when good friends from this area get together in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wolf of North River Shores, former owners of The Anchorage, held a steak cookout at their Chicago apartment. The party, on Friday, July 12, was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bauman of Palm City, who were returning from a fishing trip in Canada; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Addy of Jensen Beach, vacationing in Prospect, Ill.; Jim Whipple of Vero Beach, who just returned from a four-months' trip to the Yucatan; Mr. and Mrs. Brent Webb of Prospect, Ill., who have been guests at The Anchorage for several years.

Also John and Rae Carroll of Chicago, who are building in this area; Roberta Bickford, daughter of the Wolfs; their niece Miss Edythe Thema of Chicago, and Ken York of Andover, Ohio, former club stewart at The Anchorage.

The Wolf's grandson, Ricky, is working as a junior life guard at a Chicago high school during the summer.

Duplicate bridge

5 tons limit on Arundel Bridge

There is a five-ton load limit on the Arundel Shop Bridge over St. Lucie Canal, according to County Engineer Tom Slider and County Road Superintendent Cliff Rauleson. The two inspected the old bridge Thursday.

A sign will be posted to this effect at the bridge which is to be replaced next year.

The five-ton limit will prevent large citrus and vegetable loads from going over the bridge. The will be rerouted to the Martin Grade Road, Slider said.

DeBartolo - Uhl engagement announced

Frank G. DeBartolo, of Youngstown, Ohio, and Mrs. Marie Daily, of Stuart, announce the engagement of their daughter, Cynthia Gay, to Ferdinand Frank Uhl, Jr. of Stuart.

Miss DeBartolo is a 1965 graduate of Martin County High School and Tanner's Beauty Academy, West Palm Beach, in 1967. She is employed by Sally's Beaut. Shop in Port Salerno.

Uhl is a graduate of Martin County High School, Class of 1965, and California Technical Institute in 1967. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Frank Uhl, Sr., of Stuart, and is employed at Bartlett Brothers, Stuart.

The wedding is planned for September 21 at First Baptist Church of Stuart at 7 p.m. A reception will follow.

Romano has incorporated

Notice of the incorporation of Romano Restaurants, Inc. in Martin County has been received from the office of Secretary of State Tom Adams.

Though legal secretaries and a lawyer signed the incorporation, the company is formed by Tony Romano, singing-guitarist and entertainer at Frances Langford's Outrigger Restaurant.

Contacted by The Jensen Beach Mirror, Romano said that there was no truth to the rumor that he planned to reopen the former "Trapshack Restaurant" in Stuart. "There are too many people to work with," Romano said. He added that he might put his music publishing company into the corporation, and said he had no definite plans for the future of it.

Other corporations filed included that of Langford's Flower Farm and The Country Club of Stuart.

Bell to open engineering and planning offices here

Fred Bell, vice-president of Palm Beach Investment Properties, Inc., developers of Rotonda and Palm Beach Heights, has announced the opening of engineering and planning offices for the company in the First Federal Savings and Loan Association Building, U.S. 1 South, in Stuart.

An open house for public inspection of the facility is planned for Friday, July 19, in the second floor suite. Hours of the open house will be from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Bell said that applications for an executive secretary and two design draftsmen are now being taken in staff the new office.

Office hours will be from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., according to Bell.

"Our Stuart offices will be primarily for the negotiation of contracts, the planning and design of the various developments in the Rotonda and Palm Beach Heights plan, and a local representation of the project to the public," Bell said, adding, "I hope that all our friends in Martin County will visit us during our open house to see the new offices and say hello. It is really fine to be back in Martin County to stay, and my company looks for a very bright future in business and doing business in Martin County."

Bell is in charge of engineering for Palm Beach Investment Properties, Inc.

An eight-day pilgrimage excursion to the Eucharistic Congress in Bogota, Columbia, South America, will be made from August 18 to 26, under the Sponsorship of his Excellency The Most Rev. Coleman F. Carroll, Archbishop of Miami.

Those taking the trip will have an opportunity to see Pope Paul VI in person.

The pilgrimage will leave Miami on Mar. 15. Deadline for reservations is July 30.

JBWA hosts 46 attend JBWA party

Forty-three members and three guests of the Jensen Beach Women's Association attended Monday's dessert-card party held at the clubhouse on SR-707. It was thought that this would be the last event in the old building. However, it was announced that the next meeting of the organization will be held at the clubhouse on Monday, August 5. This will be a business meeting followed by cards.

The building has recently been sold.

Hostesses for the party were Mesdames Alice Price, Myrtle Whitman, Peggy Bean and Eve Eckstrom.

The special prize was won by Mrs. Hazel Houghton.

Members were urged by President Mrs. Hazel Forsberg to attend The Jensen Beach Mirror Cooking Show and Appliance Fair this Friday, July 19, at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m., held at St. Lucie Country Club. Fashions by Frances Langford's Boutique will be shown.

Bus fleet is inspected

The annual inspection check of the bus fleet of Martin County schools is under way, according to William Lanier, transportation supervisor.

As required by state law, school vehicles must be inspected by Lanier and his crew, rather than the county. This year inspection stickers will be put on the vehicles.

The school system has 54 vehicles, Lanier said.

PSL bridge news

A close finish marked the Duplicate Bridge game at St. Lucie Country Club on Friday afternoon. Tied for first place, at 58 points each, were Mrs. T. D. Kelly and Betty Mans, with Mrs. Newsome and Mrs. Brodeur; 3rd, Mrs. Cayll and Mrs. Monroe, 27 pts., and 4th, John and Vergie Watson, 25-1/2 pts.

The next regular game will be played Friday, July 19, at 1:30 p.m., preceded by a lecture at 12:45 by Jay Mans. You are assured of a playing partner if you come alone.

B of S earnings up 52%

In the first six months of 1968, earnings at the Bank of Stuart increased approximately 52 per cent over the corresponding period of last year, according to president Jack Williams.

Cash dividends in the amount of $14,000 have been paid to date this year. The regular 15 per cent quarterly dividend will be paid Aug. 1, as usual, he said. The first quarterly divident, 15 cents, was paid in May. Previously, the bank had paid semi-annual dividends.

As of June 30, deposits were $6,541,808, compared to $5,147,257 of last year.

Other directors are: Roy W. Talmo, chairman of the board; vice-president Arnold M. Bauer, Robert F. McRoberts, Jr., James H. Reardon, Jr., Harry B. Donley, Paul Simpson, Duane K. Luce, Albert W. Lind and Robert A. Melrose.

Knowles joins library board

Francis Knowles, 68, former chairman of the board of governors of Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N.J., has been named by Gov. Claude Kirk to the Martin County Library Board.

He will succeed Bunny Abbott, who resigned recently.

Knowles, who moved to this area in 1965 from Penns Grove, N. J., was manager of a Du-Pont plant there until he retired in 1961 after 35 years service with the firm. He had been a member of the N.J. Board of Education until 1958 when he became a member of the Rutgers board, serving until 1965.

Congratulations, ground rescue and aerospace are only three areas being taught in the Civil Air Patrol Cadet Program. Boys and girls between 13 and 18 may be eligible to become a part of the Stuart Squadron which meets Mondays at 7 p.m. at Witham Field, Stuart.

Mrs. Sadie Hess, 72, of Hidden Harbor, Stuart, died at her home Saturday, July 13. A native of Milwaukee, Wis., she had lived here for ten years.

She is survived by her husband, George J.; three sisters, all of Milwaukee.

Services and burial will be in Milwaukee.

THANK YOU

We wish to thank all our friends, neighbors, the Christian Church and Rev. Fronsee for their cards, letters and kind expressions of sympathy during the illness and passing of our brother, Alvie Low.

"It's raining dollars!

Electrically-pumped IRRIGATION is profitable"

There's no denying proper irrigation can make every acre a bigger profit maker. It's a routine production practice on thousands of Florida farms and groves where electrically-powered pumps have proved their dependability and economy.

Electric motors give years of carefree service. They start instantly. No refueling is necessary and no priming. Easily controlled by time-clocks or float switches. These controls can make irrigation automatic, labor-saving, and conserves water, too.

and ran out the door," Gene Oliver said. Oliver, acting chief while fire chief Randolph Spinney is on vacation, said that Civil Defense had called his home, but that he had already gone.

"I arrived at the firehouse and Mike Quinn was there. Willard Bowman arrived at the same time and in two or three minutes two trucks were gone. I was with fire company president Ed Sprague.

"Both trucks arrived at the fire at the same time. From the time the siren blew there was no delay. I am not sure if Rio was there. We came in the back of the house. Someone said to watch out for the propane gas tank, so we pulled around the side of the house. Ed got water on the tank right away," Oliver said.

Asked about the time, Oliver said, "Time... I didn't think to look at the watch. We didn't record it. We were back at the firehouse between 11:30 and 11:45 p.m."

"I don't remember an explosion. The roof was in and the house was practically gone when we got there. When I think of how far that house was gone... driving across the Jensen Cutoff Road you could see the flame and smoke going up 200 feet in the air. It was going to be gone... we knew it," Oliver concluded.

Virginia Hogan's voice was calm over the telephone. "We were called at my mother's house between five minutes and fifteen minutes after ten. We were at the house in two minutes, believe me. It was quite burned to the ground," Mrs. Hogan's sigh was deep.

"The insurance coverage will help us out a little bit. We didn't have full coverage. After putting in all that work on the house... we put on the roof and painted, and everything... we have just about decided to buy a house ...not a frame house. We don't know how much we'll get. The papers have to be sent to the main office of the insurance company. As soon as they get word back they will let us know," she said.

Hogan is employed by Outboard Marine Corporation as a mechanic. He came here from Alabama. "Just as we were getting on our feet, this happened," she said. The entire home, including a new color television set purchased last Saturday, was destroyed. The Hogans were left with "just the clothes on our backs and my pocketbook," she said.

"I just wondered what caused it. Nobody knew. I didn't think it was right that Stuart didn't go out there... and refused to go. They should have gone out with one truck, anyway. I'm sure it was after 10:30 when the siren went off... five minutes ...or close to it. Now we'll have to start all over again," she said.

The Civil Defense attendant called Mike Quinn, a volunteer fireman in Jensen Beach to notify him of the fire. CD procedure calls for the attendant to push the fire siren and then make the call. Quinn was on his way as the siren wailed. Willard Bowman was watching television when the wailing siren began. He grabbed his shoes and took the keys from his wife, who brought them to the door.

"It was past 10:30 p.m. We could see the fire from the top of the hill in Jensen Beach. As we drove south on U.S. 1, carloads of sightseers and runpernecks were converging on Palm Lake Park," Bowman said.

"The cars parked on both sides of the narrow streets, and people were walking down the middle of the streets, dragging little children behind them. Despite the stress, they did not clear a path for the engines trying to reach the fire."

Bowman was angry, like any fireman who sees people hinder the department from doing the best job it can.

"By the time the trucks reached the fire," Bowman continued, "the windows had blown out of the house, and everything, literally everything, was in flames. We were the first to put water on the fire.

"I tried to break a hole in the roof with my pole. Hot pitch fell off the roof, burning my arm," he concluded.

The tiny lick of flame spurted again from the burned out timber. A wisp of smoke rolled from the black ash covering what wood was left in what was once a proud, middle income, frame dwelling. A family once lived there. Their name is Hogan. All around was ruin.

The Jensen Beach Mirror reporter looked around the desolation. A bicycle, rubber tires and paint burned completely off, rested in the wreckage, training wheels at the rear twisted by the heat.

A garden hose from the home on the next lot was coiled, half of its length lying on the charred lawn, pointed toward the burned out home. The reporter looked at the hose, then the slip of flame trying to find one last piece of wood to keep its life. He turned away.

OBITUARIES

Word from Betty Thompson, dated Sunday, July 7: "Bad news - George has been hospitalized to Hawaii Memorial Hospital since last Monday. This is our address: 1515 S. Allebus Ave., Spencer, N.C. 28159.

Bea Barritt wrote to Lillian and Bill Tower that she had had a card from Gladys and John Gilbert, and they plan to stay in Cal. this summer. Bea is in Boston until Sept., staying with Gertie and her sister, Mollie Butterfield. Bea will visit her sons-unfortunately his wife broke her ankle. Bea writes of visiting old friends.

Ellen and Harry Oakes of Skipper, wrote Lillian from North Adams, Mass. "Have had cool weather, rain every day for two weeks. The wind nearly ruined my flowers, which were wonderful. Our vegetable garden has been exceptionally good. Rain did not improve our strawberries, as we have to keep them covered because of the birds.

A postal card from Avis and Al Culbreth: "We came to Keene, N.H., from our cottage in Maine, yesterday. We are staying with the Sturgises, but visited with Dot and Elmer MacKenzie this morning, July 3. They are both fine--but working hard to feed their public."

A letter to Max Smith and "Rusty" from Clarence Garns and his wife: "Clarence was admitted to emergency at St. Charles June 17. After many tests, X-rays, the diagnosis was acute aortic aneurysm. Surgery was on June 22, and on July 6 the doctors promised to release Clarence tomorrow.

All's fine with us in Ohio now. We are having a cool 4th of July holiday. Temperatures have run hot and cool since we arrived in the north.

The Lloyd Osbornes stopped by Monday on their way back to N.C. They had been in Detroit for the graduation of a grandaughter, My brother and wife (Hushpuhis) in Ohio for a couple of weeks before going west for a trip. Our summer will be spent here, to recuperate and be in shape for our annual trek to Fla. in the early fall. Tell our other friends at the park Clarence says "Hello."

A letter to Mary Allread, from Minnie Brainnerd: "Am enclosing a letter about the Sawtells from their daughter, Helen Hoheisen. It will be some time before we know how the bone graft (for Dad) is doing--but there is no reason to believe that it will not take; just a waiting game. He has had many complications, but flights then all.

Mother was doing nicely until about 9 weeks ago when her back and rib cage acted up. Some days she was in such pain she couldn't get up. So after medication, which didn't seem to help, we put her in the Genesse Hospital, where Dad is, on July 2. We hope they can help her.

Last night took her in a wheel chair to visit Dad--first she had visited him in 10 weeks. They do enjoy hearing from you--a short line any time is greatly appreciated.

(Their daughter's address is: 47 Chelmsford Road, Rochester, N.Y. 14618)

From Bessie and Louis Klein: "Heavy rain when we left the park until we reached Daytona, so stayed there overnight. Took Mark and Bill for a ride on the beach then. The lads enjoyed swimming in the ocean there. We took in Marineland in the morning, then enjoyed it. Then St. Augustine so that they saw the historical places there. Our trip was 1320 miles here.

Called Sue Bessemer and she is feeling good. He had a good day and talked about Florida and the park. Talked with Alice Woodley, she is using her walker and hopes to get back to park in Dec. or Jan. Jul. 4 we enjoyed a picnic with our family at our daughter's, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lipps (they have visited the park many times).

Sunday we attended the baptism of our great-granddaughter, Elizabeth Gay Klein, daughter of our grandson in Vietnam, Capt. Robert L. Klein.

Cooks visit Idaho mint farm

During our two weeks stay in the extensive farming community north and west of Boise, Idaho, we had a good opportunity to study farm crops and crop conditions. This was our third visit in the past six years. Alfalfa is still the main crop, which is all fed locally to the nice herds of cattle we see. However, every so often we see a new crop growing in rows of a very dark green color. This is mint.

Two kinds of mint were pointed out to us by Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Stevens, whose entire crop this year is peppermint with the exception of a small patch of spearmint, which is of a lighter green color. Both Leroy and his wife, Zella, were glad to give me all the information about the new crop they were growing. I was quite interested and I will pass on the information.

Roy gathered all information possible before planting his first crop in the fall of 1966. He was fully aware it was no cheap venture for a complete distillation plant had to be purchased as there was none in the district. Besides, there are many much of the construction of the plant itself, many vital parts had to be purchased along with six truck tanks to hold the newly-cut green mint. His total expenses the first year were around $100,000, which was enough to discourage almost anyone but Roy Stevens.

To plant the roots which he had purchased, he used his manure spreader with an attachment to deliver the roots into shallow furrows 30 inches apart. These furrows were then filled in by another machine. The treading during winter months had no harmful effects.

The following spring, the roots begin to sprout little shoots and as the weather becomes warmer, so the growth increases. Irrigated land is essential, for mint requires frequent watering.

Every second day, we see the Stevens family all at work priming the hundreds of the little curved aluminum pipes to start the water running along the rows of mint, to waste the precious oil.

As the mint is dropped into the truck tank, two men tramp the load to make sure of no air pockets. The truck is then driven to the plant where it is weighed and dumped into the hopper. From there it is carried by conveyor belt into the steam chamber. Here it is said by August they would be three feet high and the whole field a solid mass ready to harvest.

The crop is cut by the regular swather and after lying for 24 to 36 hours is picked up by the regular alfalfa machine, except an elevator has to replace the blower as the blower tends to break the leaves off the mint.

trucks) job and is usually attended to by Mrs. Stevens. As the mint cooks, steam mixed with the valuable peppermint oil in the form of gas leaves through a hole in the cover and is conducted by pipes to the coil tank where the mixture is cooled. Another tank separates the oil from the water and the precious oil is stored in a locked galvanized tank.

When I say precious, I mean just that, for the expected price for oil of peppermint is at least $5.00 per pound. A good crop will yield 50 to 75 pounds of oil per acre- so a hundred acres will yield a "mint" of money.

To help pay for their equipment, the Stevens have contracted to process 600 acres for other farmers. With good luck Roy hopes to make sufficient money to pay for everything this fall.

After the first killing frosts have withered the foliage, the mint roots are dug with a beet digger and planted again as formerly described.

The Stevensens are enterprising citizens who are ever willing to take a chance. Such people are they that make our nation what it is today.

What? Me Sell Buick?

I would like all of you grown up people out there in Mirror-Land to buy a new Buick from me. Daddy, or my grandpa, or you can get one of our fine used cars.
I may be a little young to sell Buicks or Pontiacs, but I'm the third generation of Schnarrenberger to serve you.
If I do real good, I'll be able to sell you myself in just 15 years. In the meantime see my Daddy John Schnarrenberger, Jr., or Grandpa John Schnarrenberger, Sr.

William O. Maclaren, new director of the Martin County Resources and Development Board, will be guest speaker at the luncheon meeting of Stuart Retail Merchants Association. The meeting will be held Thursday, July 25, at 12:30 p.m. in Stuart.

Maclaren will set forth ideas for development of the Stuart downtown area.

The Fort Pierce Power Squadron and "The Towlines", the women's auxiliary, will have their monthly dinner meeting at the Elks Club, Ft. Pierce, Wed. (tonight), July 24. A steak dinner will be served at 7 p.m., the meeting will begin at 8 p.m.

Palm Beach County Commissioners have agreed to purchase the "last mile" of the Port Whitney Road, to be constructed with Martin County primary road funds.

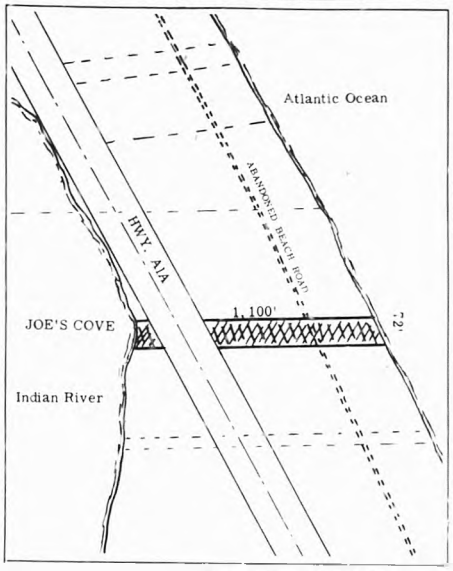
Post office to close Saturdays

Jensen Beach Post Office will be closed Saturdays starting July 27, as will Stuart, Hobe Sound and Port Salerno.

The action is taken as part of the economy move by the U.S. Postal Service.

Palm City and Osceola St. Station post offices will be open Saturday mornings.

Saturday's mail collection from boxes will be the same as the Sunday schedule.



LOCATION--The land purchased by the county commission this week is located between the Stuart and Jensen beaches, about midway, and will guarantee access to fishermen and swimmers. It is on Joe's Cove, one of the most scenic panoramas of Jensen Beach from Hutchinson Island.

Island frontage

Beachfront purchase adds land for public

The Martin County Commission took another giant step forward in the public acquisition of beachfront property Tuesday as the three members present passed unanimously a resolution to buy 72 feet of ocean to river property on Hutchinson Island.

The property is located between the present Jensen Beach and Stuart beaches in the narrow neck of property of Hutchinson Island. The purchase will give the county land almost half-way between the beaches, offering fishermen and others greater access to the beaches.

The property is 1,100 feet deep, with very little land on the Indian River side of Highway A-1-A, and is owned by B. B. Jordan and Mary Fisher. Realtor handling the deal is Ransom Tilton.

Purchase price of the land is $24,000. The property was appraised at $25,200 and $27,000 by two local Realtors.

The acquisition of the land was negotiated by Commissioner Herbert Bruner, now on vacation, Bruner turned the file of the purchase over to Commissioner Frank Wacha, who brought the recommendation before the board. Wacha moved for the purchase upon the proof of clear title and abstract by the county attorney.

The purchase is the first of beachfront by the county since the swap of land for beachfront in Hobe Sound last year. The county acquired some beachfront in a purchase last year of land on the narrow neck of Hutchinson Island, but the primary reason for the land purchase was for right-of-way for the beach road. The road is slowly being devoured by the encroachment of the Atlantic Ocean, and the county desires to move the road to the west in land filled into the Indian River.

A recent Jensen Beach Mirror exclusive feature showed the rapid closing of access to the ocean beaches for fishermen and bathers, access that had previously always been open due to the assumed permission of the owners of the land. As owners began to develop land, or feared the public ownership of the land due to constant public use, the access lanes and paths were closed by chains, fences and piles of dirt.

The fear of the public for future access has brought to the minds of the commissioners the need for substantial promotion of beachfront acquisition. Commissioner Wacha has said in the past that the county would have to begin setting aside money each year for beachfront acquisition.

1,296 participate in summer program

The summer school session at Martin County schools will terminate Friday, July 26. Several programs will be held during the week to highlight various activities.

A festival of inventions will be presented Friday at Jensen Elementary School, and a summer Playhouse production is slated for 10:15 a.m. Friday at Stuart School. It will feature a musical at 1:30 p.m. Thursday.

At Fort Salerno School, a diversified program has been planned for Thursday by John Carson, principal.

"Pinocchio" will be presented by the intermediate group, and each grade from one to six will give a one-act skit.

An assembly will be held Friday at 9:30 a.m., with Jesse Taylor, Stuart chief of police, speaking on "Crime Prevention and Juvenile Delinquency."

Recognition awards will be presented to outstanding students and teachers' aides.

A field trip to West Palm Beach to the planetarium and zoo will be made by Warfield students on Wednesday (today), with John Terrell as leader.

Terrance Hurrigan, Hobe Sound School, will conduct an assembly Friday at 10 a.m. The academic and musical program will be reviewed with short talks by each teacher. Parents are invited to meet with the teachers after assembly to discuss individually their children's progress during summer school in reading, language arts, mathematics and social studies.

Palm City School will have its concluding assembly on Friday at 1:30 p.m., according to Roger Chaney. A musical program will have a song featured by a rhythm bongo stick routine. Group singing will conclude the program.

Bill Miller, coordinator of the summer school program, said four children participated in the program.

Hurley took third place in overall trophies.

Commercial Street to bridge lighting is planned this year

by Dick Campbell

Mercury vapor lighting on SR 707 from Commercial Street to the Jensen Beach Causeway will be included in the 1968-69 budget of District 4, according to County Commissioner Frank A. Wacha. The lighting will be "the first step" in making the narrow, darkened road, safe for pedestrian and automobile traffic.

It was on February 8 of this year that The Jensen Beach Mirror called attention to the need for proper lighting of the state highway. Increased use and traffic by the greater number of persons now in Jensen Beach made the formerly adequate road unsafe for both foot and auto traffic.

Wacha said that the cost of the lighting was such that the installation of the around 100 poles and light fixtures would have to be done piecemeal so that the expense would not be too great in the one year.

It was on February 8 of this year that The Jensen Beach Mirror called attention to the need for proper lighting of the state highway. Increased use and traffic by the greater number of persons now in Jensen Beach made the formerly adequate road unsafe for both foot and auto traffic.

Wacha said that the cost of the lighting was such that the installation of the around 100 poles and light fixtures would have to be done piecemeal so that the expense would not be too great in the one year.

The Installation of poles along the route from Commercial street to the causeway will cover the greatest concentration of people in Jensen Beach, and part of its commercial area. Further extension of the lighting will be made in the road-get of the next year, according to Wacha.

Following the lead of Martin County, according to Wacha, is a call to private property owners for proper lighting along the roadway. Business establishments on the highway could go a long way toward helping the safety problem by installing adequate lighting on their property, Wacha said. The Jensen Beach Causeway is a good example of how the lighting can be done. The lights are mounted on the edge of the bridge railing, and do not obstruct the view of the bay. Bridge lighting is the most desirable type.

Reports from the Florida Department of Highways indicate that the number of traffic accidents on the highway have increased since the lighting was installed on the causeway. Wacha said that the lighting on the highway would be the same type as that on the causeway, and would get the lighting the same way as on the causeway, "little at a time."

Wacha also asked the State Road Department for a right-of-way search to determine the cost of widening the narrow road through the hearts of Rio and Jensen Beach business districts. Known as "Dixie Ave.", the state road is pinched with bushy trees and hide the meager lighting along the roadside.

Wacha has asked that the people who live along SR 707 begin to assist in the job of making the road safer by trimming the bushy trees.

Clearing brush from the roadside and ditch will enable cars to take it safer for pedestrians and auto drivers along the route.

"In the meantime," Wacha said, "we will begin tackling the job of getting more adequate lighting on the road as fast as our money will allow. And I get the lighting the same way as we get the causeway lighting--a little at a time."

Navitsky recommends kindergarten

The program for elementary schools will be considered by Martin County, according to A. James Navitsky, superintendent of Schools, he will recommend to the school board that the program be continued even though it was not approved by the State's Educational Improvement Program.

The school board included the building of seven kindergarten classrooms at an estimated cost of $750,000, in its $410,180 MIP budget submitted to the state.

Last week Navitsky was notified by the state that the classrooms, or any particular classrooms, would not be approved under the parks sites.

Kindergartens will be transferred to a different part of the budget, he said.

The State Department of Education will not approve the use of EIP money for capital outlay purposes, but will permit the other new programs initiated by the board to be funded through these sources, he said.

The board has given tentative approval of a $4,140,743.41 budget for 1968-69 with a nine-mill levy. The proposed budget has been advertised for a public hearing Jul. 30. Included in the budget was a capital outlay program in excess of $500,000.

Martin County's share in the legislature's educational act was $524,615, with $410,180 for the educational plan and the other for teachers' salaries.

Some categories in the program include assistant principal's salaries, vocational education salary difference, new secretarial positions, new maintenance positions, increased allotment toward employee retirement, and equipment for industrial and transportation.

Man gains in war on mosquitoes

The Aedes aegypti mosquito is having a difficult time trying to find a place to deposit eggs, breed and multiply since the Martin County homeowner has become so cooperative in eliminating unnecessary water-holding containers.

Heading the eradication project for Martin, St. Lucie, Okeechobee and Indian River Counties is Robert T. Hayes, with headquarters in Fort Pierce.

Crews are completing their four cycle of operation this season, but without the interest and assistance of property owners and residents the campaign cannot maintain the control that has been made since the program began in 1965.

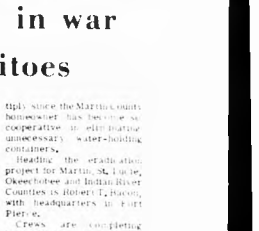
Oviposition traps will continue to be used in areas where this mosquito frequents. The trap consists of a small black jar with a wooden paddle suspended inside. Actually, the female Aedes aegypti mosquito likes to lay her eggs, consequently these traps have proved to be effective in detecting just where the mosquitoes breeding and will continue to be used in this.

Cleaning of abandoned autos, appliances, vacant lots, and especially old tires, is an absolute MUST, or else the mosquito problem in another county can start the breeding all over again.

School children have been especially helpful in taking this information home to parents and by keeping their neighborhoods free of water-holding containers.

The Project Office has several excellent films which can be shown to clubs or schools, a time lapse are also available to spread about man's war with the mosquito.

TOP PRIZE--Mrs. Byron Mingus of Port St. Lucie, won the top prize, a $100 gift certificate from Publix Markets, at last Friday's Jensen Beach Mirror Cooking Show and Appliance Fair held at St. Lucie Country Club. The prize was presented to Mrs. Mingus at the evening session by Bill Britton, advertising manager of The Jensen Beach Mirror.



TRAPPER--B. R. Walker is the new trapper of the Aedes aegypti mosquito in the Jensen Beach, Rio, Stuart and Fort Salerno areas. Walker, a native of Virginia, lives in Fort Pierce. He has worked in Florida since 1955, and is the Florida Board of Health, working on the Aedes aegypti project. He is a 20-year-man in the U.S. Army, and is a veteran of World War II service.

Not a happy experience

Simpkins asks 'another look' into solving inlet problems

William O. Simpkins, president of the Stuart Sailfish Club, told the Martin County Commission Tuesday [illegible] to invite strange [illegible] here to get information. It hasn't been a happy experience for the past [illegible] years," he was referring to the passage through trouble with, and shoaling of the St. Lucie Inlet.

The inlet has been a problem to the local boaters for years, but never so much as since the U.S. Corps of Engineers began dumping tons of silt into the St. Lucie River and erosion along the coast of Florida caused so much concern.

The Corps has been called upon time and time over the past few years to pump out the inlet, each time being a dire emergency. As soon as the dredge that pumps out the inlet leaves, the sand and silt begin shoaling the river immediately.

At present, according to County Commission Chairman Timer Powers, there is less than four feet of water in the inlet between the markers in some places. Powers said he had made the trip through the inlet in a small boat. He added that he had written his findings to Congressman Paul Rogers, asking for immediate action to solve the inlet problem, "for a safe and navigable inlet."

Simpkins told the commissioners that charter boats in the area were refusing charters on the grounds that they could not get out the inlet safely. "The inlet is worse than they (charter boat owners) have ever known," Simpkins said.

He asked that the county, "now that we have an engineer" take another look at the study of the inlet made by the Coastal Engineering Department of the University of Florida.

"The emergency help and relief we are getting is little," Simpkins said. "We appreciate the efforts of the commission, but the county is in no condition to take action financially."

Simpkins asked that the county take action on two points. The first held that dredging of the inlet have provisions to deposit the sand at least 2000 feet to the south so that it would be far enough south not to be pushed back into the inlet.

The second point held that if a sand transfer plant was not installed that a settlement basin be built to accumulate sand that could be dredged out and transferred south.

VA will pay $250 burial expenses

Up to $250 for burial expenses for eligible deceased veterans will be paid by the VA if the claim is filed within two years after the vet's burial or cremation, according to the VA.

Burial claims may be filed by the undertaker, if he has not been paid, or by the party who paid the undertaker. The VA will reimburse up to $250 in expenses for the permanent burial or cremation of any veteran who was discharged under conditions other than dishonorable, if the veteran served during wartime or after Jan. 31, 1955.

The VA pointed out that similar burial expenses are also paid by VA for veterans of peacetime service who were receiving service-connected disability compensation at the time of their death, or who had been released from service for disabilities incurred in line of duty.

Almost every deceased veteran is eligible for an American Flag for his casket, the VA said. Flags are furnished undertakers, on request, by any VA office, or County Service Office prior to burial.

Following the veteran burial, the Flag may be given to the next of kin, or there is no next of kin, the closest friend of the ceased veteran.

Further information be obtained from any VA County Service Office.

Trailer park zoning asked

Martin County homeowners do not want any trailer parks in their neighborhoods, they told the county commission at Thursday's meeting. Only a few residents of the Golden Gate area were present.

Three requests for rezoning land for trailer parks were considered. Two were tabled and one was denied. The denied request was for a 138-acre mobile home subdivision west of S. Land [illegible] Road.

The hearty voted to establish a special zoning category to permit trailer parks. A public hearing on this new classification will be held at the August meeting.

Also at the next meeting, the board will consider changing [illegible] zoning ordinance wording. It was learned at this meeting.

[illegible] approval was given to Gilbert Athletic Club for rezoning of a [illegible] from Florida Associates [illegible] Inc. with the approval being January.

by Florida Light Company, Markets and General Corporation. Cooking Show had 800 in attendance afternoon session, and evening session, opened by an hour-long downpour before the show began. Last year, both sessions of the show drew approximately 500 at Martin County High School auditorium.

The show began with a welcome by Port St. Lucie Mayor, Col. Eugene Cavanaugh, who encouraged the ladies of the two counties to utilize the facilities of the convention hall for their civic and social meetings. Local and regional personnel of Florida Power and Light Company and Publix Markets were introduced.

Then, a new highlight of the cooking show, a fashion show was held by models for Frances Langford's Outrigger Fashion-Gift Shop and the Boutique. Three showings were held during each program, with sportswear and imported knits being featured.

FP&L home demonstration experts, Miss Jeri MacDonald and Miss Barbara Benson, then presented cooking tips, using recipes from the cookbooks handed to the ladies when they arrived at the show. Publix district supervisor James Morgan presented a film on meats, and the new ideas in roasts and special meat cuts, and the program ended with the awarding of 45 door prizes at each session.

The lobby of St. Lucie Country Club's convention hall was converted into an appliance fair, with exhibits by Sears, Household Electric Co., Aulf's Appliance, and Harris Music. Many new appliances were exhibited and drew considerable interest from the viewers.

The Jensen Beach Women's Association won an attendance award presented by The Mirror.

The entire session was not a dry one... for the members of Girl Scout Troop 22, Jensen Beach, were present to serve Minute Maid orange juice throughout the sessions.

"The response and the excitement of those who attended, and the wonderful cooperation of the personnel at St. Lucie Country Club convention hall insures that we will hold the 1969 cooking show and appliance fair at that location," said Jensen Beach Mirror publisher Richard Campbell, following the show. "The people who worked on the show were overwhelmed by the attitude of the people who work at, and the complete facilities of the convention hall. We like it, and they seemed to enjoy making the show as great as they could."

MUG SHOTS--Bonnie and Clyde, infamous pilfer-protagonists of the Alice Shirey family, finally were captured, paw-printed and placed in sand-box confines last week. Drawing from their bag of tricks, the two kittenish-looking mobsters even tried to hide the instructions from the photographer, Jensen Beach Mirror photo editor Alice Hussey.

Eastmans write from Catskills

From Ruth and Leon Eastman to Freda: When we left the park last April, I promised to write an account of some of our activities during the summer months.

As the weather always seems to have an important part in our lives, I feel that a brief report of this area of the northeast (in Catskill Mountains, N.Y.) will be of interest. April weather was a dream come true, from sunrise to sunset, clear and warm, with very even temperature. Rainfall was, of course, very light--only 2.15 inches. May came in wet and cold, with below normal temperature. The wettest May in the northeast since the U.S. Weather Bureau started to keep records in 1868. Precipitation in May 6.6 inches. For our area, much more in lower altitude of the northeast. June was again cold and wet. Precipitation 5.44 inches for our area. July, as of this date, July 15, has been very warm and dry with no precipitation.

We enjoyed to the utmost a surprise visit from Bertie and Milton Sage of 6th Ave. They arrived in their Airstream Trailer after a tour of duty of six weeks in eastern Pennsylvania. They represent the Woodall Publishing Co. Their arrival seemed to have perfect timing, for over the Fourth of July, a Long Island Square Club was camping nearby, and all of us enjoyed three nights of square dancing.

Surprises, I guess, were in order for us, for in only a few days, along comes Naomi and Milton Parks and Ann and Harry Bardle (all of the Park) in the Airstream Trailers. It sure looked like an Airstream Rally.

When the boys were not helping to paint our house, Milton Sage was on tractor mowing our four acres of lawn. I never had it so easy or accomplished so much during their stay of nearly two weeks. One could look the world over and not find a more congenial crowd than these visitors. It was not easy to see them depart on their journey to Labrador. Following is their schedule:

July 20, Bar Harbor, Me. 04609. Mail will be held until our return; Aug. 3, North Sydney, Nova Scotia. We leave here and board the Wm. Carson for our trip to Newfoundland.

Aug. 4, 5, 6, 7, Hotel Newfoundland, St. John, Newfoundland. We plan to do some sightseeing here.

Aug. 8 to 17; aboard Coastal steamer from St. Johns, Newfoundland, to Nain, Labrador and return.

Aug. 18, Hotel Newfoundland, St. Johns, Nfld.

Aug. 20, North Sydney, Nova Scotia. Will pick up our trailers and head for Bar Harbor to pick up our mail.

Doris Brettle wrote to Pearl Wyse. Ernie's therapy sessions take a great deal of our time, for when we keep an appointment, often the doctor is busy with a former patient or delayed in the operating room. Ernie is doing a bit of shuffling each day, when he is able. My son came for his daughter and four children to go back to Jersey with him.

A phone call came from Houston Saturday evening. Phyllis told me that they had operated on David. Too soon to know the results.

The former residents of this park will remember the flower garden that was by the restroom building and near the shuffleboard courts from 1947-57. These gardens were planted and cared for by Mrs. Reynolds while they resided here. She was Jennie Beach Snyder, Clark's next-to-oldest.

Mrs. Lee Hall in Myrtle Manor on Hospital on Friday, took some time off and requested notes to try to locate, with the help of the Red Cross, her nephew and next relative in this country. He is with "Site Activation Officer" but is in Europe at present.

Thanks to the many letters from northern friends to their friends here, the Park news will not be too "outdated" this week.

We get letters...

Irene Williams has had word of Mary Richardson, who resides in Cocoa and 6th Ave., during the winter season. Mary has had surgery in the Home Hospital, Lafayette, Ind. Mary hopes to return to her trailer by Aug. 20.

A letter to Rose Miller of Bay Drive brought word of the death of Mrs. Bertha Wentworth, mother of Mrs. Jayne, on July 1. Her mother had been looking forward to another winter season in the park, for she had enjoyed it here. Friends may write to Mrs. A. Jaycox at 119 E-Cair Ave., Agawam, Mass., 01001.

Bernice and Fred Malsch have visited the Hirchfields, Lester and Minnie Warnes, The Warnes, plan to go and see the Lockes next week. We hope to go to South Bend and see Florence Bryant, before going to Bernice's sister. Traffic was very heavy coming north--never saw so much of it.

Hot here and many mosquitoes.

Postal card from Bessie Meader. Nice trip to Camden, N.J., by bus. Enjoyed Saturday evening dinner with my nephew and his wife after wandering through the Longwood Gardens. These gardens are beautifully planned and so colorful with their many blossoms.

Carrie Wilkie shared these following four notes to her, for park friends, Helen and John Herzig are in California at present. They were in the states of Mass., Maine and New York. While in N. Y. state, they visited Harry Barlow.

2. From: Clara and Erole Effington: We are home from our trip east with Margaret and Jack. It was hot while we were there, in the 90's each day and very humid. Enjoyed Atlantic City, altho it was very crowded. We would like to go to the shuffle-nationals at Lakeside, Ohio, the last of this month.

3. From Ann Holmes: My granddaughter is 8 years old and is a junior girl scout. She had her first overnight outing. Ann finishes with the comment -- "we are busy here."

4. Irene and Hugh Burgess write from Barlowell, Minn. Have had very good luck fishing, but came in with a good catch, Rainy and cool weather--but never through July 4th.

Last mention of our friend from Lone Tree and Claude Rainey. We are doing as well as can be expected. Have enjoyed all the cards from our many friends. They do make a bright spot in our days. The neighbors bring us real flowers and they are beautiful. Our lawn is not in too good shape, but we have mowed. My sister, Clara, put in our garden and it grew nicely. Claude waters it while sitting--and each box it grows.

Mrs. Val Wolfe fell and fractured her hip, while going to the hospital to visit her husband, who is a patient there. She is also hospitalized there. Friends may write them at that hospital.

Personals

Geneva Lewis has just returned from spending an enjoyable ten days with Laura Wright, Brevard. Laura has moved into a new apartment at Sevilleville, on the western coast of this state.

Margaret and Arthur Johnson have returned to their trailer on 7th Ave.

Mrs. Lawrence Williams, niece of Eva Donald of, was visiting here for a short time. With her were her husband and three daughters, Dianne, Gale and Sharon. The Williams family had been down in Miami visiting her father, Hugh Shaw, but didn't want to go north to their home in Estanula without seeing Eva and Dave Donaldsons.

Mr. and Mrs. James Smith from a suburb of Chicago dropped in last Sunday to surprise Clara and Andy Pickard. Jean, when a very young girl, often visited the Pickards when they lived near Rockfield, Ind.

With them was Jean's daughter. At present these visitors are in Vero Beach... but when Clara and Andy went to Vero Beach they were disappointed to not finding them at home--and supposed they were enjoying the beach and ocean.

Friday held another surprise visit for Clara and Andy Pickard, when E. J. Hobson and his son, Erwin, arrived here. They had flown from Chicago to Jacksonville. In Jacksonville, Hobson bought a 23-foot boat and planned to go north in it, with Erwin, traveling up the Mississippi River to Chicago.

This father and son enjoy these vacations together. Hobson told them that last summer, he and his son flew to Alaska. There they met a couple of friends who had a camper there. When their vacation ended, the friends flew back while Hobson and Erwin drove the camper to Chicago--a distance of 8,000 miles.

The Hobsons are friends of Clara and Andy's daughter, Mary Larson, and her husband, William.

Was very pleasantly surprised when Parker Hardgrove called me from Silver Springs to say that they would be seeing me the next day. Parker was on a two-week vacation trip with his wife, Hillie, and 7-year old son, Craig. From Columbus, Ohio, they drove to Inverness, leaving Billie's mother, Mrs. Ball Elender, with friends there.

A two-weeks trip does not leave much time to greet friends in the park, but Parker did see and chat with Harry and Gene. Parker noticed many changes in the park, since his service with the Marines in Vietnam.

From here they plan to go to St. Augustine, Daytona and Marineland before turning westward to Arizona to visit Parker's grandfather, A. P. Lee, and his other daughter, Patty Dill, with her young family of four.

Birds, flowers and thunder in Michigan

From: Elsie and Art Baynes to Pearl Wyse: We have a bird feeder here, too, with cardinals, jays and even sparrows. Our flowers are doing quite well, but we have had some of the worst electrical storms this year that have been in Michigan, and so much rain. We did have some bad floods here in June. So many people had water in their basements. In some areas the sewers just wouldn't carry it away.

Art is doing fine, living at almost normal life again, waiting for his permanent glasses. He watches TV, does some yard work and visited our sports club. He is a "Tiger" fan and thinks the Tigers will win every game.

Harold and Bea came to see us Tuesday. They looked us over, knew we looked--I wanted to take them to see some things of interest here, but before we finished our noon meal a cloud came up and I have never seen worse lightning, thunder and harder rain.

We had a wonderful July 4. Our family--13 by count, was up to the cottage. Our grandson is home, released after two trips to the Gulf of Tonki.. He looks so good and happy.

Cora Harrington fell July 14 and broke her hip--tripped on a rug. She is in room 301, Pontiac General Hospital, Pontiac, Mich. Her place was on Mango St. in the park.

We are planning our Ocean Breeze Park picnic (for those in Michigan) the second week in August. It is the one time that we do get together as one.

We had an unplanned and our "get here" group surprised us. We had such a lovely evening--all 12 of us.

Cooks visit friends in Canada

A letter from Nellie Cook to Jo Doring: Since coming to Sand Hills we have been to the city of Prince Albert twice, Saskatoon for a couple of days, once in a while shower, a wedding reception and visited three old friends in a veterans home.

This is a wheat-growing country and we see rows of wheat in every direction, all looking real healthy and that a good crop, barring a storm. Tom has golfed some with two grandsons, 14 and 16. Our weather has been pretty good since the spring rain--although it is cool by our standards. Have made no plans for leaving for the south yet but expect in two or three weeks we will start our migration south.

Nellie added: The folks who knew Virgil and Leona Myers will be interested to know we called on them July 3. Virgil seems well and has his usual beautiful vegetable and flower garden.

While in Saskatoon we visited with Carrie and George Schmidt--who lived on S. 7th at one time. We visited also with Nadine and Cecil Martin who vacationed on S.W. 7th. They said that although they have traveled extensively since 1961, they liked Ocean Breeze best and hope to spend three months there this winter. There are rape (plant of the cabbage family) crops here. Its seed oil is used in making cooking oil.

The FEC passenger train rumbled through Jensen Beach on Wednesday as service is discontinued after 72 years

A pioneer service rolls into oblivion

Tears and nostalgia follow the track of the last F.E.C. passenger train through Jensen Beach

By Dick Campbell
and Harry J. Schultz, Jr.

"My dad was one of the first passengers to ride in the first train into Miami. I think I'll take the train tomorrow to Miami." So-phis Fredriksen, pioneer Jensen Beach resident, shifted from one railroad tie to the one next to it. His foot kicked a rock, hitting up between the ties. He stood in the middle of the Florida East Coast railroad track waiting for one of the last passenger trains to come. It was due at 4:30, he had arrived at 3:30 p.m., fearing that the train might come early.

"It was in 1896 that my dad came down from New Mexico. He flipped a coin to see if he would stay here or go to Colorado. The coin kept him in Florida. Then the railroad came. My brother was born in that red-roof house up there on the hill."

It was lost standing in the sun. The once proud, now decaying, F.E.C. railroad station looked tired. It had seen the boom and bust of Jensen Beach, and its fall to almost obscurity, and another rise to prominence of today.

Jensen Beach was already an established pineapple growing center when Henry M. Flagler extended his railroad through Jensen Beach in 1896 to Palm Beach and Miami.

Miami was a little town and had 5,000 when, and after the line was completed there in 1896, Now Miami is also become a cultural resource, and the pineapple and railroad to automobile and airplane. Passenger train visits FEC. Last one was in '68, but the station is kept a railroad [illegible]

A large, elaborate frame passenger station was built on the east side of the tracks just west of the old two-story brick block post office structure on Commercial Street. At that time the old downtown business section of Jensen Beach was on Commercial Street, not A1A. The station is kept [illegible] freight station, located further north, [illegible]

John Sorensen, chief of Bellview pineapple plantation, a very good friend of Flagler and J. R. Parrott of the R.R., donated land for the site of a new pineapple station, with the promise that the new station would be better and different from the average F.E.C. station. The site included necessary steam connections. The F.E.C. now has the present passenger station building, of red-brick construction, with a Spanish tiled roof. The only use of it is as the mailroom of the P.O. 901. A new platform extended alongside the tracks. An express division and ticket agent of the station, just south of the [illegible] street crossing.

In those days, Jensen was the center of the pineapple, fishing and citrus industries. The P.O. station in Jensen was a very busy place. Many carloads of pineapples, sliced from the Jensen area, the surrounding Beach, shipped to [illegible] canned throughout the PEELING PAINT--Flakes of paint fall to the ground from beams of the strongly-built poured-concrete FEC Railroad station in Jensen Beach, once touted as the "finest on the east coast of Florida." Boarded-up windows and weeds growing through decaying concrete slabs show the effects of years of neglect.

NOSTALGIA- Sophis Fredriksen, pioneer Jensen Beach resident, whose father traveled the first Florida East Coast Railroad train to Miami in 1896, feels nostalgic about the passing of passenger service from the Florida east coast [illegible] the station by "the last train" to come along There-year, and green beans, grown on Hutchinson Island, were shipped during the winter.

L. L. Yellington was agent at the old Jensen station. Later on, Ray Robertson, (now retired), residing in Jensen Beach), was agent for a number of years. Also Joe Kling, Sr., who operates a filling station now in Jensen Beach, served as agent.

Harry Schultz, now retired in White City, served as freight station agent for a time, and also helped in the passenger station and express agency. Later he was transferred to the F.E.C. accounting department in St. Augustine.

The first daily passenger train of the F.E.C. RR was known as the Palm Beach Limited. It was a chair-car train, painted a bright, light orange-yellow, often called the "Yellow Streak". It stopped on occasions at Jensen to take on or let off prominent folks. Later on, also the F.E.C. brought out through passenger trains to and from New York City to Miami. Jensen enjoyed the privilege of regular and flag-stop service of the fast Pullman car specials.

Jensen's importance as a F.E.C. RR depot slowly vanished when the pineapple industry "died out", due to height, freezes and rough competition from the new passing of the fishing industry, and end of green bean production, due to growing competition from the green bean projects at Grand Lake Okeechobee.

Jensen Beach continued to have passenger and freight train service from the [illegible] until the strike in 1963 closed out all services....a sad ending to the glamorous history of the F.E.C. RR, the brain of the late Henry M. Flagler, the man who built the East Coast of Florida.

Although the railroad has promised that it was going [illegible], the public service commission required that it operate one passenger train a day each way from Jacksonville to Miami, 366 miles.

On Wednesday, July 31, a silver, streamlined coach traveled down the line, bringing to an end the passenger service on the line. The FEC had filed that the F.E.C. could terminate passenger service on that day. The passenger train that helped build Florida rolled out of sight, ending a colorful part of Florida history.

The train was coming. It was 3:40 p.m. The gates on Commercial Street closed. The bells rang. One automobile stopped, waiting for the three-car funeral to an era.

Just as quickly the train was gone. It was quiet, except for the rumble on the grade. The gates rose, and two autos crossed the grade. There were no crowds, no celebrations.

There was just a Jensen Beach pioneer, Sophis Fredriksen sniffed heavily, ran a ham-like fist over his nose, and began shuffling up the road toward the house with the red roof.

The sun was hot in the afternoon, and the heat swirled up from the tracks and roadbed. The empty tracks looked even more lonely.

News Notes

The second annual Martin County Invitational softball tournament, sponsored by the Jensen Beach Fireworks Committee, will start Friday, August 16. Games will be played at Langford Park in Jensen Beach, first game at 6 p.m., second at 7:30 p.m., and third at 9 p.m. Five games will be played Saturday, Aug. 17, starting at 3 p.m. Three games will be played Monday, Aug. 19. Prizes will be awarded. Call 287-2506 or 287-1227 for further information.

The Senior Squadron of Coast C.A.P., which usually meets Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m., is taking a summer break. Meetings will be discontinued until Sept. 3.

"Planet of the Apes", a 20th Century-Fox futuristic motion picture, is now playing at The Lyric Theatre in Stuart, starting Wednesday and continuing through Tuesday, Aug. 6. Charlton Heston, Roddy McDowall, Kim Hunter and Maurice Evans star.

The Jensen Beach Fireworks Committee sponsored a barbecue and cotton picking party last week, and Volunteer Firemen, as planned.

Ground was broken Tuesday morning for the new Rock Funeral Home at 705 Federal Highway, Stuart.

Any student planning to drop his schedule for the coming year must do so two weeks after school starts, according to [illegible]. In a news release to the Stuart Bulletin, principal of Martin County High School, [illegible] announced that changes will be made after school starts, [illegible] days in grades 10 or 11 wishing to take electronics next year should register at MCHS by Aug. 1. The course is limited as to [illegible]

Taxpayers oppose school bond issue

The Martin County Taxpayers' Association directors have gone on record in opposition to a bond issue to build schools at this time, Ray Sawtelle, president of the association, said Monday.

The association's directors formulated the proposal at a meeting and asked [illegible] to ask the county administration not to put a bond issue or a special referendum election for [illegible] such an issue.

Mr. Sawtelle, president of the association, said Monday that the proposal would circulate a petition to obtain signatures of [illegible] voters, asking that a referendum election be held [illegible] November after the general election.

To be asked of the freeholders would be approval of a $2 million bond issue. The school board has already obtained legislative approval to issue bonds based on the county's assessed valuation. The bonds would be sold in [illegible] funds.

There will be a meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. at Martin County High School at which Sawtelle will outline bond issue plans.

The Taxpayers' Association directors pointed out that the cost of money is too high now. Rates for bond monies are about 20 per cent higher than a year ago and the immediate future of rates is in doubt, board directors said.

If the bonds will not sell at high rates, the board could be more than 20 per cent higher than last year's rates, it was pointed out.

As an example of the cost of bond financing, the directors used a five per cent rate on a 25-year $2,000,000 issue which, they said, would cost $1,232,500 in payment of $3,232,500 of taxpayers money, a $2 million issue would cost $2,465,000 or about 50 per cent for the use of the money.

Annual payments would be about $140,000, or under the present county values, about 80 per cent of the value of this year's will each year for 20 years.

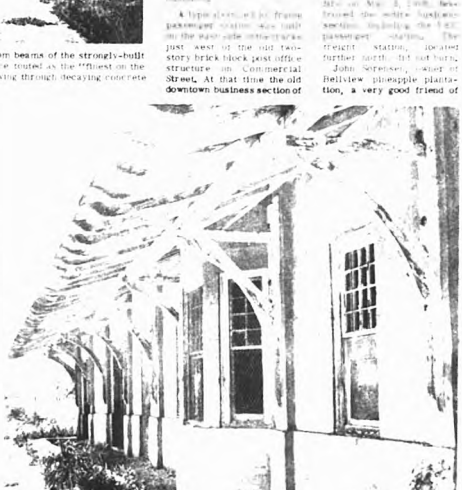
Rather than pay almost a full extra mill for each of 20 years, the directors said they felt it would be better to continue to pay-as-you-go, a plan under which, in years when there are special demands, a temporary higher rate of millage is levied.

The increase in rate for one year when one new high school was built was used as an example.

Also pointed out was a feeling by the association directors that the school department was not ready with any complete construction program. The No. 1 priority in the school board's list is a new Jensen Beach Elementary School, which has not yet been awarded to an architect. Some of the schools listed by the school board would not be built for three years.

The Taxpayers' Association directors, in an overall, joint statement, said they would rather see the $3.2 million cost-plus-return of a $2 million bond issue spent for schools rather than adoption of a plan in which only $2 million would go to schools, the additional $1.2 million in interest plus underwriter's fees, go to profit bond buyers.

TIME--Commander Russ Wiedow, right, was kept planning for Sunday's 11th District meeting of the V.F.W. Branford's in Jensen Beach. Wiedow, shown with Branford, left, heads the local V.F.W. Post #10066, Langberg, of Jensen Beach. This is the first meeting held in this area.



A TIMES BUILDING- Looking tired after withstanding years of hurricanes, vandalism and the decay of neglect, the FEC RR station in Jensen Beach, once "the finest on the east coast of Florida", shows signs of wear in the vandalism of broken windows and boarded-up spaces, heavy wire screening and paint peeling from exposed timbers. There is hope for the future in revitalizing the old FEC station, according to W. L. Thorston, President of the railroad, who told The Jensen Beach Mirror last week that the railroad was negotiating with a private concern for the leasing of the building.

Starratt will plan J.B. School

Ken Starratt, Fort Pierce architect, was a surprise guest at school meeting this week when he was introduced by Chairman of the Martin County School Board to plan the long-delayed Jensen Beach Elementary School. Board members approved the appointment of Starratt as architect at a Tuesday night meeting.

Starratt was praised by James Sanders, school superintendent, as being a person whose knowledge "will be very helpful", and added that he wanted a program of community participation in the planning of the plant. Location of the new school will be on recently purchased land on South Savanna Road, just south of Legion Heights.

In other business the board adopted the school board budget with no comment by the public or the board members. A mill was described as being worth $109,863. The general fund of eight mills, and District One fund of one mill was approved.

HAPPINESS IS SATISFACTION--George A. White of Port St. Lucie, happy with the good service at Amity Buick in Stuart, wanted to do something for the personnel in the shop. Saturday he brought this cake, colorfully inscribed "Able Men Insure To You Safety". AMITY, Proud!) displaying the cake is Johnny Santarstero, Jr., partner in the business, and Paul Kogel, service manager, at right.

Southern Bell plans to expand next year

Approximately $300,000 will be spent by Southern Bell Telephone Company next year on new local facilities, according to W. R. Burson, manager of the Stuart office.

Cables will be extended north and south of Stuart to take care of the growing demand for service, he said. Burson also indicated there would either be an expansion of the present office here or a new plant will be built.

In order to keep up with the growth in the area, the company has expended large sums of money on equipment and expansion of the central office during the past two years, he pointed out.

In 1949 Southern Bell had only 888 telephones in Martin County. Recently Burson presented the county commission with an engraved telephone denoting the 10,000th telephone installed in the county.

Weather makes news in letters from friends

From Marcia Morash, July 22: We are getting some good weather at long last. Had some very hot days last week, the likes of which I have never seen in the 27 years that I have been coming here (West Southport, Maine.)

From the Victor Sackets: We are pleasantly located at Windy Hill Beach, S.C. We enjoyed our one night stay at the Willis Tanners here. Also a brief visit with Luther and Mary Weeks. We were happy to meet the Muldoons of Indian River Drive, OBP.

We are expecting our son and family from Cleveland, Ohio, in August. We read The Mirror with interest of our friends' activities and pass it on to Eldenge Reynolds and other friends here.

From Harriett Everett in Watertown, N.Y., July 22: The weather here is in the 90's, not much different from Florida. Watertown is the scene of much activity these days. The main roads are lines of campers, vacation trailers and boats on their way to the St. Lawrence River and Lake Ontario, across the International Bridge into Canada. The old city, Watertown, is much the same, except for changes in urban renewal. Can't be sure whether I like it better or not.

Jefferson County is a farming section and the fair crops are unusually fine. Sheep are there in plenty of evidence. This county is also one of the four largest milk-producing sections of New York state.

On June 19 I attended the picnic of New York States' 25-year club in Poughkeepsie, N.Y. There I met Anne and Gus LaBoda. We had a very memorable time because many gather every year to meet the members. We always will see them here again for many years.

It is time to come to Florida, but it is much nicer up north.

The wedding that had been planned for this month has been postponed due to the 2-year old couple has decided to wait till the first of the year for a full moon ceremony.

Heard from Jessie Bell that Bessie Fowler is quite well and is at present visiting friends in Hilton, N.Y.

From Anne Bunn, Spencer Hill, Pine Hills, Orchard Park, Erie Co., N.Y.: The Fred Eppler's have arrived and are home for the summer. That is good to hear from the Eastern coast.

From Anne Bunn, Spencer Hill, Pine Hills, Orchard Park, Erie Co., N.Y.: We have had a heavy shower of rain this afternoon. We had a heavy shower of rain last night, and the night before, and just about half a dozen times in the week. Lots of showers, thunder and even one wind, which blew down a good many trees. Actually, we were not in the path of the wind at all, but it was strong enough to uproot trees in our neighborhood. Middle age has had to be careful not to overdo, but I am glad to say that I have not had to call on the doctor for help. Hope you have had enough rain to help your garden. We have had enough for ours, but not enough to do any harm. Our lawn is looking very green and pretty. Our flowers are doing well, too. Our garden is not very good this year. We have had so much rain that the soil has been too wet to work. We have had a few vegetables, but not many. Our tomatoes are doing very well, and we have had a few ripe ones. Our corn is about knee high, but I am afraid it will not do very well. Our beans are doing fairly well, but not as well as the tomatoes. We have had a few cucumbers, but not many. Our squash is doing very well, and we have had a few squash. Our peppers are doing very well, and we have had a few peppers. Our onions are doing very well, and we have had a few onions. Our lettuce is doing very well, and we have had a few lettuce. Our radishes are doing very well, and we have had a few radishes. Our carrots are doing very well, and we have had a few carrots. Our beets are doing very well, and we have had a few beets. Our turnips are doing very well, and we have had a few turnips. Our parsnips are doing very well, and we have had a few parsnips. Our rutabagas are doing very well, and we have had a few rutabagas. Our kohlrabi are doing very well, and we have had a few kohlrabi. Our cauliflower are doing very well, and we have had a few cauliflower. Our broccoli are doing very well, and we have had a few broccoli. Our Brussels sprouts are doing very well, and we have had a few Brussels sprouts. Our cabbage are doing very well, and we have had a few cabbage. Our kale are doing very well, and we have had a few kale. Our collards are doing very well, and we have had a few collards. Our mustard greens are doing very well, and we have had a few mustard greens. Our turnip greens are doing very well, and we have had a few turnip greens. Our beet greens are doing very well, and we have had a few beet greens. Our chard are doing very well, and we have had a few chard. Our spinach are doing very well, and we have had a few spinach. Our lettuce are doing very well, and we have had a few lettuce. Our endive are doing very well, and we have had a few endive. Our escarole are doing very well, and we have had a few escarole. Our chicory are doing very well, and we have had a few chicory. Our dandelion are doing very well, and we have had a few dandelion. Our watercress are doing very well, and we have had a few watercress. Our parsley are doing very well, and we have had a few parsley. Our chives are doing very well, and we have had a few chives. Our garlic are doing very well, and we have had a few garlic. Our shallots are doing very well, and we have had a few shallots. Our leeks are doing very well, and we have had a few leeks. Our scallions are doing very well, and we have had a few scallions. Our onions are doing very well, and we have had a few onions. Our garlic are doing very well, and we have had a few garlic. Our shallots are doing very well, and we have had a few shallots. Our leeks are doing very well, and we have had a few leeks. Our scallions are doing very well, and we have had a few scallions.

Baptist Church begins Bible School Monday

The annual Vacation Bible School of the First Baptist Church in Jensen Beach will begin Monday, August 5.

The school will be held Monday through Friday for two weeks from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Children 3 to 12 years old are invited to attend.

The Bible school is divided into four departments: Nursery - 3 years old; Beginner - 4 and 5 years old; Primary - 6 through 8; and Junior, 9 through 12.

The program includes recreation, crafts, Bible stories, music, mission study, character stories and refreshments.

Preparation Day for the school will be Friday, Aug. 2, from 9 to 11 a.m. Children will register at that time and take part in some of the activities to be held during the following two weeks, according to Rev. Jack Fernandez, pastor of the church now located on west commercial street in Jensen Beach.

SRD to hold hearings

Public hearings will be held by the State Road Department on August 28 for two bridge projects in Martin County and for completion of the nine-mile stretch of the Pratt-Whitney Road in Palm Beach County.

The hearing for the Poppolo Creek Bridge will be held at 9 a.m., and at 10:30 a.m. the hearing on the Palm City bridge will be held, both at the courthouse in Stuart.

The Pratt-Whitney Road hearing will be held at 2:30 p.m. in Jupiter, with the location to be named soon, according to County Commissioner Chairman Timer Powers.

Public hearings, which give citizens a chance to express their views on a project are required of the State Road Department on projects involving federal funds.

The Palm City bridge project is expected to cost about $1.2 million, with bidding slated for mid-September.

The high-level Poppolo Creek bridge, located on Federal Highway, has a January 1969 starting date for the $1.356 project.

The nine-mile stretch of Pratt-Whitney Road is located in Palm Beach County to be built with private funds by the State Road Department. Palm Beach County will maintain the road after it connects SR 710 and SR 706.

A report on conditions

Overcrowded beaches will present problems to county development

by Dick Campbell

Martin County's beaches are becoming overcrowded. The conditions at the beaches are straining present facilities to the point of mass confusion.

A Jensen Beach Mirror survey of Jensen Beach Tuesday showed that there was a lack of parking facilities, inaccessible rest room facilities, a need for improvement of shelters and a heavy use of the county owned park by the public.

The survey came on the heels of several complaining telephone calls to The Mirror concerning the beaches. Complaints mainly covered the parking, shelter and rest room facilities.

The parking showed no direction, many just rolled in the road and parking area, helter-skelter parking along trees in the park, off sand roads and along the sides of roads, blocking of traffic by parked cars and the possibility of future problems with parking as the area develops and as the season this fall draws more and more tourists to the beaches.

The rest rooms were clean, there was toilet tissue in all facilities and some paper towels in all wash areas. The rest rooms looked well maintained and not in need of repairs, except for the need for a coat of paint. Latrine writers (words of parody the right from the wall) covered vulgar writings of vandals. There was no system to walkway from the beach to the rest rooms, and bathers have to walk across sand-spur laden weeds to reach the bath house area.

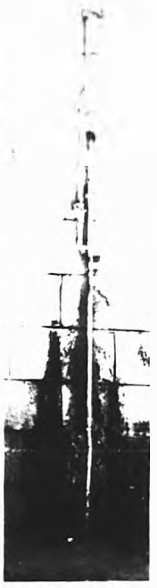
The shelters at Jensen Beach were in need of paint, and there were more shelters needed. The present two could not possibly handle the crowd that was at the beach Tuesday, and less the more heavily trafficked days. Many bathers used the facilities of the nearby commercial restaurant for picnicking.

The beach area was fairly clean of total trash, and parking lot and walk areas were clean and tidy, with little debris.

"SLOW" DAY- This photo, taken Tuesday afternoon on a typically "slow" day, shows the concentration of automobiles in Jensen Beach parking lot at the park in Jensen Beach, and the wasted space available for planned parking in the paved area.

ALONG THE BEACH--Cars park along the beach line, half in the road due to the lack of parking spaces at Jensen's beach.

NEW LIFEGUARD STANDS- Lifeguards get a better view of the beach from the eight-foot lifeguard stands recently constructed at Jensen Beach by the lifeguards. The stands are located on the presently developed beach area.



SHOWER--Rusted area of the Jensen Beach bathhouse showers offer little convenience to bathers who must wade through sand-spurs to get to the bath area.

Up $23,541

County Commission approves budget

A public hearing will be held August 20 at 9:30 a.m. on this year's budget of $1,995,910, approved by the Martin County Commission on Monday.

The budget is up $23,541 over last year's, with the increase coming from the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District. Its levy has risen from .330 of a mill to .410.

The commission's share of the levy is decreasing .005 of a mill to 6.48 mills. The increase in county tax will also come from school levies and in some special taxing districts.

A new courthouse addition is included in the capital improvements planned in the budget. Also included is road construction in the amount of $120,000, purchase of land in the western part of the county for a vehicle inspection station, and construction of bath houses and centers.

There is an increase of $57,385 in the general fund revenues, now up to $896,423.13. This item of the budget was increased by the state cigarette taxes, in the amount of $36,000. Vehicle inspection revenue and other fees are also included in the general fund revenue.

Rights-of-way will be purchased, some additions will be made to the payroll, some salaries will be increased and equipment will be purchased from the general fund. This year 3.35 mills are for the general fund. Last year it was 3.28.

Tentative budget for mosquito control is $55,914.41, an increase over last year's figure of $48,013.21. This covers more equipment and salary increases. This is the fund from local tax sources, .28 of a mill this year, .24 of a mill last year.

Last year's fine and forfeiture fund figure was $401,470; this year it is $390,036.60, with a reduction in the millage to 1.21 this year from 1.33 last year. This fund is for the expenses connected with law enforcement, the sheriff's department, and staffing the courts. The contingency reserve was reduced this year.

HELTER-SKELTER- With no planned parking at Jensen's public beach, cars find space to park helter-skelter among the pine tree area, showing the overcrowded conditions of the beach.

Tax increase seen this year

Taxes in Martin County will increase slightly this year, according to the county commission on Monday. Members pointed out that they have cut their part of the levy to 6.48 mills this year, a reduction of .005 of a mill from last year.

This year's increase in the county levy comes from the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District which has increased to .410 of a mill from .330.

The total county levy, not including schools, is 6.945 mills. The school levy will be increased this year to nine mills, an increase of .77 of a mill.

The Florida Inland Navigation District cut its levy from .065 of a mill to .050 of a mill this year.

The following levies are proposed on special taxing districts, not included in the 6.945 figure:

District B, Port Sewall, 1.0 mills, up from last year's .47 of a mill.

District C, Palm City, same as last year, 1.5 mills.

District D, Port Salerno, same as last year, 1.0 mills.

District E, Hobe Sound, same as last year, .70 mill.

District F, Indiantown, .70 of a mill, same as last year.

District G, Tropical Farms, .70 of a mill, an increase over last year when funds on hand made a levy unnecessary.

Town district levy in Salerno will be the same as last year, .41 of a mill.

Jupiter tax is unchanged

Martin County Commissioners, acting as the County Board of Equalization, unanimously voted to keep its original assessment and refused to trim a half-million dollars from tax roll valuations on 435 acres of Jupiter Island property.

The property is owned by St. Lucie-Jupiter Company, represented by Wm. H. Scott, attorney, and William Melvin, represented by Ralph J. Blank, Jr., attorney.

The commissioners had re-established a valuation of $1,383,450 on the property a month ago at an equalization board meeting.

SPLOTCHED PAINT- Well-built bathhouses reflect the splotched paint which covers vandalism's vulgarities, and show efforts at repair without proper colored paint. The bathhouses are located at Jensen Beach.

NEW BOOTH- A new announcer's booth for Langford Park was completed recently in time for the coming invitational softball tournament planned by the Jensen Beach Fireworks Committee. The booth will offer protection from the elements for the game announcers and score keepers.

Jaycees support school bond issue

The Stuart Jaycees have announced plans to obtain 3,000 signatures of registered voters in Martin County for the purpose of putting the school bond issue on the ballot in November, according to Richard Campbell, neighborhood commissioner of Boy Scouts.

The group is being organized by Rick Carroll, Jensen Beach insurance man, who will be the post advisor. Carroll was one of the organizers of the Jensen Beach Boy Scout Troop.

Attending the first organizational meeting of the group Monday night were Curtis Coulter, Curtis Sprague, Tim Schreck and Chuck Yankovich.

Post is formed

A new Explorer Troop of the Boy Scouts of America has been formed in Jensen Beach, the first such troop in Martin County, according to Richard Campbell, neighborhood commissioner of Boy Scouts.

The troop is being organized by Rick Carroll, Jensen Beach insurance man, who will be the post advisor. Carroll was one of the organizers of the Jensen Beach Boy Scout Troop.

Attending the first organizational meeting of the group Monday night were Curtis Coulter, Curtis Sprague, Tim Schreck and Chuck Yankovich.

The school bond issue on the ballot in November, according to Richard Campbell, neighborhood commissioner of Boy Scouts.

"Operation Sign-Up" got underway this week when petitions were mailed to civic organizations, merchants and churches. Jaycees will be on hand at all Stuart supermarkets next Friday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Petitions will be circulated beginning as follows:

August 9, North River Shores, 12, St. Lucie Estates, 14, Jensen Beach; 19, Coral Gardens and Salerno, 21, Indiantown, and August 22, Palm City.

Anyone interested in soliciting signatures for the petitions is asked to call 287-1287 or 287-3790.

To be eligible for registration, one must be a Florida resident for one year and a resident of Martin County for six months. Registration books are open at the registrar's office in the courthouse, through Oct. 7.

His mother, Mrs. Frances E. Turner, of 919 Dixie Lane, Stuart, was notified of this action by letter from Major General Kenneth G. Wickham. Arrangements are being made to have all of her son's awards presented to her by the U.S. Army.

Turner also held the National Defense Service Medal, Vietnam Service Medal, Vietnam Campaign Ribbon, Combat Infantryman Badge, Sharpshooter Badge with rifle bar, and Marksman Badge with machine gun bar.

Youth seminar set at St. Joseph College

Two local young students have been chosen by the Civitans Club to represent this area in the youth seminar scheduled for August 25-28 at St. Joseph College in Jensen Beach.

Janice Taylor, daughter of Police Chief and Mrs. Jesse J. Taylor, and Michael Paul, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Paul, all of Stuart, were chosen by the officers and directors of the Stuart Civitans Club, according to Lee Cason, president.

"Better Citizenship" is the theme of the project, sponsored by Civitans International. The program is planned to give the state new youth leaders. Participation from about 150 students representing Civitan Clubs throughout the state is expected. All will be from 11th or 12th grade.

The group will meet at 2 p.m. Sunday, August 25, for the seminar which will continue through Wednesday. The students will be quartered in two wings of St. Joseph College's new main dormitory.

Major Barnes flies missions

Major Jerome R. Barnes, whose wife, Janet, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clair B. Simpson, Stuart, recently took part in a successful strike mission over North Vietnam.

Major Barnes and fellow F-4 Phantom pilots from the 12th Tactical Fighter Wing at Cam Ranh Bay AB, Vietnam, flew into the southern panhandle of North Vietnam, heavily damaging four of six large barges laden with supplies and destroying a 37 mm antiaircraft weapon position.

Art Associates to meet Friday

Martin County Art Associates will meet at 8 p.m. Friday, Aug. 9, at Hidden Harbour Mobile Home Park on South St. Lucie Blvd., Stuart.

Slides of paintings of American artists from the 14th to 20th century will be shown and briefly commented upon by Mrs. Charles Smith. The second part of the program will be the viewing and discussion of paintings executed by members of the Association, each of whom is asked to bring, for this purpose, two paintings in any medium.

All residents of Hidden Harbour who are interested in art are welcome to attend this meeting.

Duplicate bridge

Jackie Hartsell and Jim Clark, Jr., won the North-South division with a 102-1/2 point score at last Wednesday's session of the Stuart Duplicate Bridge Club.

Second were Dr. J. W. Grossnickle and Jay Mans, 91-1/2 pts., 3rd, Shirley Hatzkapf and Barbara Grossnickle, 88 pts.

East-West, Inez Merrill and Florence Haskell, 104-1/2 pts., 2nd, Inez Clamon and Sylvia Barnes, 93 pts., 3rd, Mrs. and Mrs. Barnard Sandifer, 87 pts.

The game scheduled for 7:45 p.m. Aug. 5 will be a Master Point game.

Florida Department of Public Welfare granted financial assistance to 863,805 aged and handicapped persons in July. Grants totaled $8,038,563 with the State paying $1,731,480.10 and the remaining $6,301,073.30 paid by matching Federal funds.

In Martin County, a total of $27,207 was paid to 958 persons.

is coming along nicely, her husband reports. She is in room E-123 at Martin Memorial Hospital.

The Bowmans' niece and family, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Neer and three children of Belleview, Ohio, are visiting here at the present time.

Another couple has deserted us for the mountain area of North Carolina. Peggy and Walter Dreyer, with their dog, Ferrie, are in Franklin and will be hearing from Ruth and Joe Reid, personally, of their plans for their coming winter season in Arizona with Joe's son and family.

While in Franklin, Peggy thinks that she might try her luck and dig for 'rubies' in those mines.

Three young lads were admiring the birds and monkey in their respective cages on Broad, as I searched for news near the front of the park. Learned that they were Billie, Robert and 'Babe' White and are here with their parents, Dr. and Mrs. White, for a week.

PRELIMINARY GRADING... Preliminary grading of the property on which the new clubhouse of the Jensen Beach Woman's Association will be built was started last week. The property is located on Sugar Hill Road, off Jensen Beach Cut-off Road, and was deeded to the Association by Kiplinger Corp. At left is Frank Forsberg, Jensen Beach contractor. Center are Mrs. Marie Miller, trustee of the building fund and past-president of the association, and Mrs. Frank Forsberg, president.

OCEAN BREEZE NEWS

by Freda Peterkin Phone 287-1966

A visit with former neighbors and friends can span many years in a short time. So Geneva Dieat was surprised when the Sam Bratts, now of Hollywood, drove up here. They had kept in touch, via letters, so this unexpected visit was a very happy one.

Sometimes the saying, "where there's a will, there's a way", still holds true. The latest example, a park resident, visiting in Canada at present, was puzzled as to how he would get his check into the States, now that there is an embargo on Canadian mail. Another friend, visiting him and coming back to the States, brought the letter, plus check, over the border and dropped it into the first mail box that was in the States.

Geneva Dieat letters: From Ruth Griffith: My daughter, Jo Ann Warden, of Dunedin, has had eye surgery and it was quite successful.

From Phoebe Gardener: Am going up to be with Doreen Peet.

Sorry to report that Lillian Tower is in Room 212, St. Mary's Hospital, West Palm Beach, 33401, for tests.

Lorene Smith is still having tests and X-rays in Shands Teaching Hospital and Clinic, at Gainesville. Lorene is responding to treatment, but her stay there is indefinite.

Traveling found easy in compact camper

A compact bus camper parked on 7th Ave. caught my eye, while in the 7th laundry. Mrs. Robert McConeghy and her husband have traveled in it from their home in Tucson, Ariz. to be with her parents, Jessie and Matt Hammond of Broad Ave. She was pleased to find her mother better after her recent hospitalization of a few weeks ago.

They visited the Hemisphere Exhibition in Texas, and about noon wondered in which restaurant they would find the best eating. An 'Indian' menu on the door looked good. Just then a waitress suggested they go inside and try their foods... If they liked the samples, then they could order those, if not, it was not necessary to dine there. They did and found the curried meat and rice most delicious. On their return trip, they hope to visit this spot again.

Their vehicle was indeed compact. At night about two-thirds of the front part of the camper's ceiling lifted and gave more head room for their sleeping comfort. This type of traveling allows them freedom of street parking while shopping, and yet all the advantages of a trailer park accomodation at night or longer.

Scotts travel 3,000 miles

Alva and Walter Scott of Melaleuca Drive have just returned from a 3,000 mile trip. While on their vacation, three wedding anniversaries were celebrated.

July 2 was the anniversary of their daughter, Carol, and her husband, Warren Slavin, in Sommerville, N.J. The second one was July 8, for Walter's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lenox, at Morrisville, Pa. The third was their own on July 15.

After visiting 10 days with their daughter, Carol, they went to Cape May, N.J., their former home. While there they called upon Alcyon and Joe Cook of Cape May Point. Walter showed me a small glass jar almost filled with small, smooth, colored stones including a few 'Cape Diamond' stones that are very clear crystal, holding many glints of light in them.

They took a trip in the Pocono Mountains with Walter's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stoner, of Point Pleasant, N.J.

Their daughter, Barbara Schuler and family, in Silver Springs, Md., was their next stop. While there, Barbara had 'open house' for them, attended by 40 guests.

On to Knoxville, Tenn., and called on Audrey and Ralph Halderman of Hibiscus Ave. From there to Franklin, N.C. to visit Ruth and Carl Houg, who have a very nice trailer on the side of the mountain, near Sylvia Sandburn.

This couple found the weather so warm while traveling that they thought it more comfortable in Jensen Beach and their trailer home in the park.

Getawayfromitall place on the ocean just 30 miles north of Palm Beach

Nowadays the road-rich of the city is driving many families to a get-away-from-it-all place wherever they can on week-ends or for sustained periods at various times during the year. The popular name for such places is second homes.

It was just such an urge that inspired a few Fort Lauderdale businessmen to search for the right spot on the ocean to go and unwind and soak up the sun. The place they found was Hutchinson Island in Stuart, Florida.

It must have been the right kind of place. When friends heard about it they asked to join in, and what started out to be a couple of cottages on the beach turned out to be a 14-unit condominium with swimming pool on the ocean.

Now 26 somewhat larger units are going to be built for families who would like to share the peaceful delights of this virgin oceanfront vacationland – unspoiled yet where along the southeast coast of Florida.

Here are a few reasons why:

1. Hutchinson Island offers you the where-withall to get away from it all. With all its beauty and attraction, Stuart is within commuting distance from Miami, Fort Lauderdale, Palm Beach, Vero Beach, Melbourne, Cocoa and even Orlando via super highways.

Although just 30 miles north of Palm Beach and about 45 miles from Hobe Sound Stuart has yet to be invaded by tourists. It is as yet unspoiled in spite of the warm winters and the pleasant summers – air conditioned by the southeast trade winds.

One would be hard pressed to find a place on Florida's lower southeast coast with more natural amenities for recreation. The magnificent beach stretches unbroken for miles. Stuart is known as the Sailfish Capital of the World, and the beaches of the Indian and St. Lucie rivers, which separate Hutchinson Island from the mainland, yield catches of big Florida bass.

The bays and wide waterways are unexcelled for boating and water sports. The Indian River is more than a mile wide at the point where the condominiums will be built.

2. For all its quiet charm and small-town friendliness, Stuart is not a pioneering community. That's the nice thing about it. If you want to play golf, drive just three miles to a championship course. Want to go out for dinner? There are good restaurants in the immediate area. Also modern shopping centers, theaters, motels and a hospital.

If you get the urge to shop or take in a little night life you can have your fill in Palm Beach. The smart shops on Worth Avenue are known world-wide. There's legitimate theater at the Royal Poinciana Playhouse and numerous night clubs frequented by the socially elite. Just 30 miles away.

In Stuart, or within a few minutes drive, you have all the conveniences of the big city. They won't intrude on your privacy, but they're there if you want them.

3. Little Ocean Club is an investment that makes good sense financially. Even though you may buy in Little Ocean Club primarily for your family's pleasure, it's reassuring to know that you're investing in property in a growth area.

Oceanfront property in Stuart is just beginning to thrive. It is really the last stretch of virgin beach in the good weather zone of Florida available for development. There's practically nothing left to the south where prices for prime oceanfront run $1000 per front foot and up.

The tax rate is low – about $40 per month on a two-bedroom, two-bath villa. And Little Ocean Club is a pure condominium. There are no land leases involved.

Applications for purchase are being accepted now. If you're interested we suggest that you send in the coupon below or call 287-2244 in Stuart or 586-5464 in Fort Lauderdale.

Twenty teams begin play in softball tourney Friday

Twenty teams to begin play in softball tourney Friday

Slow-pitch softball teams from as far away as Sebastian, Okeechobee and West Palm Beach will compete in the second annual slow-pitch softball tournament sponsored by the Jensen Beach Fireworks Committee. The tournament will last for two weeks, getting under way Friday night at Langford Park, according to Vince Bocchino, chairman. There is no admission to attend the games.

The first game will pit last year's champions, Krauss and Crane, against the Salerno Crane at 6 p.m. Other games Friday night will include Park Pharmacy versus Coast Guard at 7:30 p.m., and Pratt Whitney versus Perma Plag at 9 p.m.

On Saturday the games will begin at 3 p.m. with Hobe Sound versus County Line, Jupiter versus Palm City at 4:30, Grumman versus First Baptist at 6 p.m. Witter versus Solitron at 7:30, and Vero Beach versus Brodell at 9 p.m.

Sunday, there will be two games, completing the first round of the twenty teams. Micco plays the Outlaws at 9 p.m., and Bandy plays Okeechobee at 8:30 p.m.

Following the first round, games will be held on a double elimination basis each night, with the first game beginning at 6 p.m., the second at 7:30 and the third at 9 p.m. Brackets will be published on the field house, and each manager will receive a bracket to follow his team's placement for games.

The participating teams will be coming from Micco, north of Sebastian, Okeechobee, Vero Beach, six teams from Jupiter, West Palm Beach, and Hobe Sound. A total of twenty teams have entered, with several being held in case of default by any of the registered teams. Bocchino said that next year thirty teams will be entered.

Playing rules include: spikes may be worn; three strikes and four ball system will be used; players must be high school graduates or be over 18 years of age; any team with a ten-run lead after four complete innings will be declared winner of the game.

Ground rules and other general rules not mentioned above will be discussed prior to game play with umpires and team managers.

Each player of the winning team will receive a player's trophy.

Charles Hall will be the plate umpire; official scorer will be John Tucker. Jack Hall will do the announcing. Base umpires will be selected prior to each game.

Changes in rosters may be made 30 minutes prior to play of the first game in which the team wishing to make the change is involved; no changes will be allowed after this time for the balance of the tournament.

A protest committee of three managers of teams not involved in the protest will be selected in any dispute.

WHO WILL WIN?--Trophies for the winning team, the first and second place teams and most valuable player in the second annual Jensen Fireworks Committee's Slow-Pitch Softball Tournament are now on display at The Jensen Beach Mirror office. The top two trophies were donated by Frances Langford's Outrigger Resort and The Mirror. Vince Bocchino, one of the organizers of the tournament, is seen in the center of the picture. Twenty teams have entered.

Jensen school plans near

The proposed new Jensen Beach Elementary School will be discussed at a meeting on Thursday, Aug. 15, at 9 a.m. at the Instructional Center, E. Ocean Blvd., Stuart.

Kenneth Starrett, architect for the building, will be present. Others who will attend are Harry Pelley, consultant in school plant planning; Dale Clark, principal of Jensen Beach Elementary School; and Jack Smouse, assistant superintendent of schools.

The meeting is open to school board members, Jensen Beach School PTA members and the public.

Children change classrooms

New format is planned at Jensen

A new format at Jensen ... Elementary School ... be introduced to pupils in fourth, fifth and sixth grades, according to Dale ... Clark, principal.

Tentative plans are to have ... children move from room ... room during morning sessions, with subjects being taught by different teachers. ... Previous years have seen ... children assigned to one ... classroom with one teacher ... for most subjects.

Pupils will report to their ... classrooms at 8 a.m. where ... will pledge to the Flag, ... collect lunch money and conduct other school business ... until 8:20.

Morning sessions will be ... divided into three 45-minute ... periods, a five-man team ... will teach math, science and ... social studies. Mrs. Mary ... Lou Hauge, permanent teacher ... at the school this year, will ... teach math; Mrs. Marion ... Butterfield will instruct in ... science, and social studies ... will be taught by Mrs. Lucille Chaney.

Mrs. Carolyn Crist, new ... this year, will fill in with ... those three subjects where ... needed. All four teachers ... will be assisted by Mrs. ... Margaret Flynn, full-time ... aide.

Following a lunch break, ... afternoon sessions for the ... first three grades will be devoted to the "language arts," ... Clark said. This will include ... music, art, music, library ... and physical education.

Homeroom teachers will teach English, reading and spelling. Mrs. Johnson is the sixth-grade homeroom teacher; Mrs. Chicky, fifth; Mrs. Butterfield and Mrs. Crist will split the fourth grade, which is the largest class. It will be divided alphabetically, not by individual ability of the student.

It is hoped that this new plan of teaching will help the student become familiar with what to expect in the junior high school, which gives a pupil more responsibility. The new format is also geared to prepare the students toward the proposed new Jensen Beach School, where they will find many changes. In many cases, this is the first opportunity for some students to feel a responsibility for assignments and budgeting his time.

Teachers following this plan will have more opportunity to concentrate on a subject and to become more aware of the child's strong and weak points.

First, second and third grades will follow the schedule of previous years, with no exception. Mrs. Ben Richardson will be employed as a part-time reading teacher, basically, for the first three grades. As each child attains his individual level, he will be moved up to the next reading group.

Report cards, Clark said, will be issued at the end of a nine-weeks period. At the end of the fourth week, any child either failing or on the borderline will have a warning note sent to his parents who may then request an interview to discuss the problem.

During the past summer, Mrs. Chicky and Mrs. Cruse, two Jensen Beach teachers, were asked by John Gray, secondary supervisor of the Martin County schools, to take part in the updating of the social studies records of all county public school children. Other than one Warfield School teacher, the two local teachers were the only elementary school teachers asked to work with the committee, which was quite an honor, Clark said.

About 230 children are enrolled at the Jensen Beach School, Clark concluded, and will start classes at 8 a.m. Thursday, August 29.

In addition to the principal and above-named teachers, other members of the faculty include Mrs. Mildred Gipson, Mrs. Anna Chapman, Mrs. Mary Thomas and Mrs. Lillian Buchanan.

PAPER WORK--All school officials have had their share of paper work in preparing for the new school year. Dale Clark, principal of Jensen Beach Elementary School, sits in the newly-painted library and checks records of 350 pupils enrolled for opening day, August 29.

Chamber committee to help

Wacha to expand beach facilities

By Dick Campbell

An expansion of beach facilities and parking area at Jensen Beach was discussed this week by County Commissioner Frank A. Wacha. Also, the appointment of a committee to assess the needs and the beaches was announced by Chamber of Commerce President Don Wilkie.

Wilkie appointed Eva Caulder, chairman; Edwin Miller, Jensen Beach Mirror publisher Dick Campbell, and himself to the committee to study the beach situation.

"We must come up with some constructive solutions to solve the overcrowded conditions at the beach," Wilkie said. The committee will meet this weekend to look over the beach. With copies of plats of the county-owned land, the members sketched the present facilities and began to plan what could be added to expand the facilities and ease the overcrowding.

Wacha told The Mirror that he had discussed the rehabilitation of the beach area with county engineer Tom Slider. "I told him that as soon as we could do it, to get the men and equipment over there to start on the beach," Wacha said.

Plans to fill the area to the south of the south pavilion with sand hauled from the county fill area in Legion Heights would bring the back-beach area up to the proper level for parking. Paving will come later, Wacha said, as a part of an overall plan.

"The beauty of the beaches has been a drawing card to this area for a long time," the county commissioner said. "We knew about the crowded condition of the beach, but we also knew that there were many areas in which the money was needed more.

"Work on the original pavilions over there was done by local people who wanted to have a nicer beach. We all pitched in and worked. We may have to do this to get what we want at the beach this time...get the public to help us out with work. I am certain that the people will, as they always have, respond to any plea for help."

Land fills sought

Garbage franchises planned

WATCHING--Mark Witham, recently retired mosquito control director of Martin County, was honored with the presentation of a watch at Tuesday's county commission meeting. Presenting the watch was Commission Chairman Timer Powers as Commissioner Jack Saunderson watched.

The garbage committee of the Martin County Commission will suggest free enterprise, non-exclusive franchising of garbage collection in the county tax districts, with strict rules and a method of enforcement, at the next meeting of the commission, according to action taken at a special meeting of the committee Tuesday afternoon.

The time schedule of the committee presentation of findings to the board is flexible, since the county attorney is on vacation and has to write the franchise document, but the actual franchising, under a law passed in the last Florida Legislature, will probably take place at the next meeting of the board.

Public notice will be given to those desiring to file for franchises, and the rates for franchised garbage collection will be set on a bid basis, with all franchises based on the low bid.

Negotiations for county dump operation is now going on with Henry Grien, former operator of the Palm City skig above paragraph::

Negotiations for county dump operation are now going on with Henry Grien, former operator of the Palm City dump, but Commissioner Bill Hussey, chairman of the committee, was quick to say that there are negotiations with other land owners in the immediate area to seek land for a county-operated dump site.

Hussey also said that rates for commercial dumping in Hobe Sound, and the full-time operation of that dump, would be imposed in the near future.

All trucks, in order to be franchised, must be covered, Hussey said. He added that the county would control the franchising of garbage collection, that the rules for collectors would be strict as to rates, service and equipment.

Hussey said that the collections could be franchised in one taxing district, or in all, or in any that would like to have operations. He pointed to several who have their operations exclusively in certain tax districts, indicating the Hobe Sound Company service, the Bob Nichols service in north Jupiter area, and the Indiantown service.

The franchise would permit the county to check the books of the collectors and to ascertain if the operation is within the rules. Also, up to two per cent of the gross receipts of the companies dealing in garbage collection would be paid to the county for the inspection and checking, according to the law as passed.

The legal penalty for operating without a franchise calls for a misdemeanor, with fines for each day of operation without the franchise.

Attending the meeting was Hussey and commissioners Timer Powers and Jack Saunderson.

Hussey said that the only answer seems to be county operation of the dump, and added that state funds are available for purchase of equipment.

In answer to a question, Hussey said that the possibility of a land fill area in Jensen Beach for residents of District One lies with the commissioner for that district, Frank Wacha. Lester Scherer, new mosquito control officer in the county, was quoted as saying that sanitary land fill areas were operated by Palm Beach County effectively and efficiently.

Instructional personnel to meet at Murray Ninth

All instructional personnel will meet Tuesday, Aug. 27, at Murray Ninth Grade School, Port Salerno, to hear V. James Navitsky, superintendent of schools, discuss the Peabody College Survey, according to Mrs. Lillian Dassori, general supervisor.

The meeting will get under way at 9 a.m. when Jack Smouse, assistant superintendent calls the group to order. Invocation will be given by George McHardy, retired minister.

A break has been scheduled for 10:30 to 11 a.m., followed by a one-hour meeting of the Classroom Teachers's Association, conducted by Edward Norton, president.

All personnel will report to their respective schools from 1:30 to 3 p.m., following a break for lunch.

This session will end the pre-school conference. On Wednesday, Aug. 28, all personnel will report to their respective schools to preparation of the first day of school, Thursday, Aug. 29.

JUNIOR CONTESTANT--Sonja Fuller, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Fuller, is a contestant in the junior division of the Stuart Jaycee Beauty Pageant to be held on Labor Day. Sonja is a ninth-grade student, likes horses and collects shells as a hobby.

SENIOR ENTRY--Entered in the senior division of the Jaycee Beauty Pageant is Linda Freeman, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Freeman of Hobe Sound. Her hobbies are reading and drawing. Linda will study data processing as a student at Indian River Junior College.

Stuart Junior High facilities listed

Classes at Stuart Junior High School on East Ocean Blvd., Stuart, will begin at 8:05 a.m. Thursday, Aug. 29, and will be dismissed at 2:56 p.m.

Joseph A. McCoy, principal of the Stuart seventh and eighth grade school, extends a welcome to the students and reminds them that "today is the training ground for tomorrow."

McCoy listed pertinent information about the school and its facilities:

Meals are available in the school lunchroom at 35¢ per meal, or students may bring lunch and buy milk.

School buses will provide transportation for students living two or more miles from the school.

Lockers are located near each homeroom. Charge of $1.50, with $1.00 refunded at the end of the year when the lock is returned. Sharing of lockers is not permitted. Gym lockers cost 75¢, with 50¢ refunded at the end of the year. Gym suits for boys and girls can be purchased through the school.

Most band students furnish their own instruments. However, the school has available baritones, French horns, oboes, bassoons, tubas and drums.

Textbooks are furnished by the school and students are responsible for their own books. Paper and pencil are the only materials needed for the first day of school.

Report cards will be issued to each student at the end of the nine-weeks grading periods. Teachers will notify the parents and students of failing work after six weeks of work. This year the junior high school students will be taught civics instead of history and geography, and an exploratory program will be available to approximately 25 advanced math students in the seventh grade.

All students are required to take five subjects with a choice of two enrichment subjects that will be taught on a yearly basis, McCoy said. The enrichments are: art, music, home economics, shop, band, reading and Spanish.

At 8:05 a.m., Aug. 29, seventh grade students will assemble in the auditorium of the Instructional Center, at which time there will be a brief orientation program and students will be assigned to a homeroom. Eighth grade students names will be posted outside the junior high office and on "J" building, giving their homeroom number. All students will receive schedules from their homeroom teachers.

Tennis tourney planned in Jensen

A tennis tournament is being planned at Langford Park, Jensen Beach. The event will utilize the newly constructed tennis courts at the county park.

This will be the first annual Martin County amateur tennis tournament for those 18 years of age and over.

The tennis tourney will get under way following the softball tournament at the park, which starts Friday, Aug. 16. The invitational slow pitch event will be a double elimination play of 19 games.

It is expected that the tennis competition will start about Aug. 27 and continue for two weeks until about Sept. 8. It will include men's doubles and mixed doubles doubles and mixed doubles events.

Entries are being accepted at Means Jewelry, Andy's Sundries and The Jensen Beach Mirror. Officials hope to start a tennis organization in the area for future planned recreation.

Marge Decker celebrated her birthday last week at a surprise party held by the staff of the county commission office.

Present were Frank Wacha, Rosemary Leighton, Vivian Andrews, Mary Conser, George Grimm, Tom Slider and Pete Cecilio.

Farewell Party for Father Jan Sunday

A farewell party for Fr. Jan Jazuszewski, of St. Joseph Church, Stuart, will be held this Sunday, Aug. 18, from 3 to 5 p.m. in the parish school. The party is being planned by organizations of the church.

Fr. Jan will report Aug. 22 to San Pablo Catholic Church, Marathon, after about seven years in the local parish. He will be replaced by Rev. Fr. Mratavey.

All members of the parish are invited to the farewell party.

OBITUARIES

Samuel Pendarvis

Samuel Joseph Pendarvis, 79, of N. Sixth St., Port Salerno, died at his home Aug. 6 after an extended illness. A native of Marion Co., Fla., he had lived here 60 years.

He is survived by a son, Elliott J., of Panama City; a daughter, Mrs. James Gore of Fellsmere; ten grandchildren, several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held at Johns Funeral Home Chapel Saturday, Aug. 10, with Rev. P. L. Taylor, pastor of First Baptist Church of Salerno, officiating. Burial was in Pine Rest Cemetery, Port Salerno.

James Keeler

James C. Keeler, 81, of 9 Skipper Drive, Ocean Breeze Park, Jensen Beach, died Wednesday, Aug. 7, at Martin Memorial Hospital. He had been a resident here for 10 years.

He is survived by his wife, Mary E. Keeler.

Services were held Friday at 1:30 p.m. at National Chapel, Boynton Beach.

Football practice starts Thursday

Football practice for Martin County High School's Tigers will get under way on Thursday, Aug. 15, starting at 5 p.m. at the school. About 60 stalwarts are expected to turn out, according to Don Knott, coach of the championship team.

Knott is looking for a quarterback and guards for this season's team which has ten letterman returning from last year's squad. They are: Glen Burdge, George Dotson, Alfred Davis, Ricky Hartman, Calvin Ferguson, Rudy Johnson, Tim Thompson, Bruce Stiller, Robert Wiley and Joe Wojciesack.

Officially, the Tigers will open their season Friday night, Sept. 27, with a game at Pahokee. This season's schedule will see five games at home and five away.

A football jamboree has been set for Sept. 7 when the local team will meet John Carroll and Lincoln Park, playing one-quarter of a game with each. The other teams, including Gifford, will play a quarter against each other, all for practice and exhibit.

Martin County Tigers won the western division of the Suncoast Conference championship last season under Knott, with only three teams scoring on the Tigers, who lost two.

WHICH IS UP?- It's difficult to tell which side is up in this picture of the gleaming gymnasium floor at Martin County High School. Faculty and staff are working, getting equipment and facilities in order for the influx of approximately 5,000 students expected later this month in Martin County public schools.

Chuck Nichols to emcee Beauty Pageant

Chuck Nichols of WEAT Channel 12, West Palm Beach, will emcee the annual Jaycee Beauty Pageant, it has been announced by Jack Stewart, chairman of the event.

Local lovelies will vie for the title of 'Miss Martin County' and 'Miss Stuart Jaycee at the pageant to be held on Labor Day at Martin County High School.

Deadline for entries will be Monday, Aug. 28, at 5 p.m. at the Stuart Chamber of Commerce office. Classes are being conducted each Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at Stuart Youth Center for all contestants.

Trophies and prizes will be awarded the winners in each category. Entertainment for the event will be provided by Miss Bonnie Sue Brown, Miss Martin County of 1967.

Tickets are available from any Stuart Jaycee or by calling 287-1287.

"Many teachers are now in town," Mrs. Dassori said. Some have been here since June and all seem enthusiastic about the coming term and are "anxious to start", she said. As far as she knows, all faculty members are settled as to housing facilities.

Only three faculty vacancies exist, according to Mrs. Dassori. There are two kindergarten vacancies, one at East Stuart and one at Warfield School. The state requires that kindergarten teachers have "early childhood experience" on their certificates, which has limited some applicants, she said.

The third vacancy is at Hobe Sound, where a teacher resigned on Friday.

Kindergarten classes will be held in four Martin County schools, the only ones with rooms available. They are Parker, Salerno, East Stuart and Warfield Schools.

The State of Florida requires that kindergarten classes be conducted in a regular school setting, a part of the regular school plant, not in portable classrooms or temporary buildings.

Port Salerno teachers involved in the new reading program at the school have been in session for more than a week.

There will be a meeting of the Martin County School Board at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 22.

Edith Jankunis travels

Teacher turns tourist

Even when a teacher takes a vacation, she is busy thinking of "what" will appeal to her students, when retelling of the places she has visited. So, when Edith Jankunis left St. Cloud with her daughter, Joyce, and her husband, Ted Miller and their three children, in their camper trailer, she became a "tourist".

Their stop at the Kennedy Space Center was not too appealing to the youngsters but to the three adults it brought clearly to their minds the many times they had watched the "blast-offs" on TV.

Washington held sights for all of them to see, as well as proving fascinating to young and old-ers alike.

Thence to Williamsburg, Pa., and definitely this reconstructed historical spot was interesting to all. Edith's grandchildren even tried out the goal. The cannon there intrigued them, as did the old-fashioned dresses and wearing apparel.

In New Jersey, Edith partied from her young guests and visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jankunis. Later she visited Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Priest and accompanied them to the Cathedral of the Pines in Rindge, N.H. This simple but impressive shrine has a stone Altar of the Nations, where all may worship in the faith of their choice. Each afternoon an organ rises from the floor and a recital is given on it. This cathedral is open to the weather, with wooden benches for seating accomodations, and the branches of the pines form the ceiling.

This altar is a memorial for all the American war dead, the Americans killed on the battlefields, on the seas and in the air.

Remembered here also are the lives of women and men sacrificed in war service, as members of the great service organizations, the war correspondents and the entertainers. Also gratefully recalled are the sacrifices of the lives of the men and women pioneers in creating our heritage.

ENLARGEMENT--Work has been going on for about a week on the enlargement of the sewer system at Ocean Breeze Park. Above, work continues on the present disposal plant which is being enlarged to take care of the proposed expansion of Ocean Breeze Park.

Relatives visit Daleys

Josey and Roy Daley have had relatives visit them. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bandino were to visit their sister, Virginia Fiorillo, in Hollywood and came up to see Virginia's aunt, Josey, to spend Friday here. On Saturday the sister's son, Joseph and Marilene Berta and his family arrived from Coal City, Ill. They all went to Hollywood and then persuaded the Daleys to join them and go on down to Miami.

There they found that taxis were busy with folk attending the Republican Convention. They enjoyed watching the activities, hearing the bands on the streets and at headquarters. There were many beautiful boats on the intracoastal waterways and they added to the unusual sights for these northern relatives.

Driving to Fort Lauderdale, they traveled A-1-A so their guests could do a bit of sightseeing. They marveled at the different types of trees, the stately Royal Palms, singular figs, and the banyan trees. The colorful hedges and bright flowers were fascinating to them. As for the vegetable growth, they were amazed.

That evening they came home via the turnpike and thought the trip had been full of pleasure for all.

These northern people had done their sightseeing in Daytona, St. Augustine, Silver Springs and Cypress Gardens and found these places well worth the time spent at them.

Joseph Berta works for the board of education in Morris, Ill. He has a farm where he fattens cattle. It is near a huge caterpillar factory. Berta has played several instruments in Josey's father's band and teaches music.

Marilene's sister is in Europe at present and is in the international piano contest. She has been featured regularly with the Chicago Symphony as "Gayle Quilman". When not traveling, Gayle teaches piano in the Conservatory of Music in Chicago.

McLartys travel in rain

Gladys and Mac McLarty are very happy to be back in the park after their northern vacation. They report a great deal of rain while traveling and many sudden flash floods, one of which was experienced near Huntington, Va.

Naturally, when Gladys encountered these rains while she was driving, there was nothing for her to do but slow down, keep driving carefully and watch for a place to pull off the highway. This was not easily found at times. They saw where some cars had slid into the ditches.

At Gainesville they encountered a very heavy fog which did not lift until after they had traveled many miles.

Rev. Tweedy resigns

This was Rev. Tweedy's first Sunday back in the pulpit of Jensen Beach Community Church. With the sunny weather Sunday morning, there was a fair-sized congregation to welcome him back from his vacation in Pennsylvania.

Many of us were surprised when he announced, right after his sermon, that he was resigning from this pulpit. He did not mention any date.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sharp of Ocean Breeze Drive had Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jodrey and their son Robert and his wife, Jackie, stop on their way back from Miami. Harry had enjoyed sightseeing in Florida and perhaps his 'pet' wish was fulfilled when he picked an orange from its tree. He had enjoyed the swimming, but found this beach his favorite. They visited the House of Refuge and were enchanted with its tales of use long years ago when stranded seamen owed their lives to this light and convenient spot for ships that were caught in storms.

Dorothy and Albert Sharp had a pleasant surprise when their daughter, Beatrice, her husband, Robert Pitcairn, and their son, Stirling, spent a few days in the area. Their visits to her parents were frequent and they spoke of the many attractions at local restaurants.

Their return trip to their home in Huntington Valley, Pa., was a safe one.

When our gathering news, an open trailer often means company at this season. So it was with Nellie and Robert Smacks of Kumquat. This couple are the occupants of the trailer formerly owned by the Seppies.

At present Robert's sister, Dorothy and her husband, Douglas Ross, of Carney, N.J., are visiting here. Their hosts hope they will stay a month.

Previous to these visitors, the Smacks had their daughter, Mrs. Gerald Niven, her husband and their three children visit them. The Nivens are from Chicago.

When Mr. and Mrs. Lee Myers and their daughter, Debbie, of Terra Haute, Ind. visited Leta and Irwin Keith, they had Mrs. Lulu Bryan of Robinson, Ill. with them. They stayed at a nearby motel. They enjoyed lunch together and were delighted with the locale.

In their sightseeing trips they visited St. Edwards and Bethesda by the sea churches.

The Frank Millers of Bay Drive have left the park this week to visit their family in Brookston, Ind. Their daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Jones, with her family, Kim, Jennifer and Cindy, had thought perhaps they might have visited in the park earlier in the season. Mrs. Jones was not able to leave her teaching of third grade primary students.

The Millers will not be back before Nov. 9, when Jennifer Jones will be married.

George Millar, secretary of the OBP ambulance, took the ambulance into Stuart Saturday morning. Was just passing by the building when I noticed the door coming down. George said that everything was checked. Later that day we were surprised when he became a patient to ride in it to Martin Memorial Hospital. Our best wishes to you, George, for a short stay there.

Anna and Al Pischl of 4th Ave. were on their way south from New York when their car caught fire--it was a total wreck. Their month's vacation did not have a very happy ending. Although Al said neither of them was hurt in the accident.

Mrs. James Keeler of Skipper has her sister, Miss Claire Newport, Calif., visiting her. She arrived after a good flight from her home in San Francisco, Aug. 6.

On Aug. 7, Mrs. Keeler received word that her husband, James C., had passed away in Martin Memorial Hospital. Arrangements had been made for private services, no viewing and no flowers. Cremation followed the services in Palm Beach Memorial Gardens. He was 81 years old.

Miss Newport will be staying with her sister for a time.

Robert Morrow is expected to be released from Fort Pierce Memorial Hospital on Monday. He has been a patient there for the past four weeks.

Cites College growth

Sister Mary Martha named president of St. Joseph

Sister Mary Martha, S.S.J., has been named president of St. Joseph College in Jensen Beach, according to information released this week by Sister Louis Edwin, head of the order of Sisters of St. Joseph in St. Augustine. Sister Mary Martha becomes the first president of the college, which opened as a non-denominational, coeducational status two years ago.

A member of the order for 37 years, Sister Mary Martha directed the change in format from the former college for sisters-in-training (novices), offering a two-year junior college experience as a teacher's institute, to the present full-scale college offering associate in arts degrees.

She has been active in St. Joseph College since 1960 and served as mathematics department chairman and more recently as a member of the general council of Sister Louis Edwin and at the college board of trustees.

In announcing the appointment of Sister Mary Martha as president of the college, Sister Louis Edwin said, "We believe that sister brings to this office a long-standing love for, and interest in, the college. Her many years of administrative and supervisory experience will be an invaluable aid in the growth and development of St. Joseph College."

The growth of the school during the past few years was directed by Sister Mary Jerome, academic dean, who supervised the transition of the college into the co-educational status now in effect. It is that growth that dictated the administrative change and brought the appointment of Sister Mary Martha as president.

In a statement accepting the responsibility of the position, Sister Mary Martha said, "This is a critical time in the development of St. Joseph College. Many decisions made must now be studied with a realistic view of the future of Christian education as well as the potentialities of St. Joseph College in particular.

"The immediate needs of the college spiral around the academic and social requirements of the students. In view of this we have already begun the establishment of the college library, the social center, addition of recreational activities and completion of the second dormitory.

The faculty of the college this fall has been expanded to handle the enlarged programs of the college, and the moves to a greater diversity of courses offered by the college. "Professional educators with college experience are being attracted to St. Joseph who have their desire to be a part of the building of a new educational center and the challenge such a venture offers," Sister Mary Martha said. "The continued addition of these fine educators encourages us to look forward to the development of high academic standards and of the true college atmosphere of intellectual and complete personal growth of our students."

NEW PRESIDENT- Sister Mary Martha, S.S.J., veteran educator, has been named President of St. Joseph College in Jensen Beach.

Budget approved

Martin County's budget for 1968-69 was approved Tuesday at a public hearing held at the courthouse.

The $1,900,700.17 budget was approved without change.

The overall rate shows a small increase. Total for this year is 6.46; last year's total was 6.485 mills. The 1968-69 millage for Florida Flood Control District is .410, up from .330 in '67-'68. Millage for Florida Inland Navigation District is .05, a reduction from the .065 of 1967-68.

Inlet and canal progress depends on joint effort

by Dick Campbell

Any progress toward the improvement of the St. Lucie Inlet, and the removal of silt from the floodwaters of Lake Okeechobee, dumped on the St. Lucie River through the canal, depends upon the cooperative efforts of the Congress, Corps of Engineers, Martin County commissioners and the public, according to a consensus of opinion at a Resources and Development Board sponsored meeting Tuesday afternoon.

The meeting, to seek a resolution to the silting and inlet problems of the county, was attended by Congressman Paul Rogers and Col. J. district engineer Col. John McElhenny. Members of the Resources and Development Board and local conservation groups were present to hear Rogers and McElhenny present the problem. There followed a period of questions and answers.

At the end of the meeting, Congressman Paul Rogers outlined the steps needed to bring the inlet and canal problems to a head and develop a solution to those problems.

"All of this is going to have to start right here at home," Rogers said. "This is the way we have solved our problems in the past."

The Congressman then pointed to the Jupiter Inlet district, and the self-help local people used to keep their inlet open, even to the point of a district-operated dredge. He asked that local people get beach property for public use. "... and if it is just from the dune line to the ocean." As that the local participation in the Corps of Engineers inlet project would be lowered from $2.5 million to about $1.5 million.

He added that local organization can get to work, get goals, and back county commissioners in raising the necessary monies to go before local electorate. He added that the Central and South Florida Flood Control district could help with the siltation problem.

"In this way we would be doing it the way the American people have always been doing it," Rogers said.

The meeting was moderated by Bill Burson, chairman of the Resources Board. Burson ended the meeting with a request that all organizations present work together to get the recommendations of Rogers to fruition. He said that future meetings of the group to get action would be announced.

Burson opened the meeting with a charge to the representatives of official bodies, asking the solving of three questions: Will the Corps of Engineers undertake economic study of federal participation in a safe, navigable inlet? Will Congressman Rogers support the request for a study and for higher Federal participation? Does the C&SF Flood Control District feel that effective steps can be taken to reduce siltation? Do the county and city officials feel that they can support such action?

Rogers began by saying that what the Congress will do and will not do, "either as the Corps or the Congress will change the law as regards inlets." Rogers answered, saying the amount of local money for a safe inlet on the beach, local participation depends upon how much public land is involved in the project.

County Commissioner Frank Warfel said, "Those who have spent of the land south of the inlet have decided to help us make that land public." He mentioned the Reed Wilderness property, and said the Florida Audubon Society had turned down the donation of the land to the public.

"There seems to be a desire to keep the public off those lands," Warfel said, "even though the local Audubon society offered to donate the land to the public."

McElhenny spoke, and was a featured portion of the meeting, fielding questions and handling the answers with the left of lots of a coach who had been in that position many times before.

McElhenny said that talk would be opened on October 1 to dredge the inlet again, the second time this year, and he hoped that the job would be completed in time for the winter season.

McElhenny was earnest in stating emphatically, "We clearly understand the problem of keeping the St. Lucie River open." He said that the Corps has spent $2.8 million on the inlet since 1947.

Officials, planners discuss new Jensen Beach School

Plans for construction of the proposed Jensen Beach School were discussed by officials and planners at a meeting held Thursday at the Instructional Center on Kane Drive, Jensen.

Present at the meeting was George Askell, architect of Askiel and Barratt of Fort Pierce, the firm which has been awarded the new plans. The firm was engaged for the study under a $12,500 appropriation in the school budget.

Principal Dale Clark of Jensen Beach Elementary School has compiled a list of specific items to be included in the new school. Construction should include 24 classrooms, core area, administrative area, cafetorium, with individual lighting, air conditioning, and a multi-purpose concept, rather than a conventional library.

Classes would average 27 pupils, for a total of 648 students.

Harry Pelley, consultant in the school plant planning of the State Department of Education, showed colored slides of modern elementary schools in various parts of the country.

Sketches of the proposed building have been prepared. The new school will be built on a 20-acre site on South Savanna Road, purchased recently.

VANDALISM-- Wanton vandalism of youths is shown in the photos above and below. The heavy plastic sign of the Autoteria, a public car wash in South Jensen Beach, was smashed, and a total of $500 in damages was done to the units and the 16 eight-foot fluorescent lights of the interior of the car wash, below. Sheriff's deputies had watched the car wash for vandals all night Thursday, according to Deputy Jim Willis. The damage was done in daylight hours, after deputies had left the area.

Causeway celebration planned for Labor Day

"There will be boat races, bingo, games and food, and a fun time for anyone who wants to come out to the Causeway," Jess Wilkie said, as he outlined plans for a Labor Day celebration on the Jensen Beach Causeway. Wilkie, Jensen Chamber of Commerce president, is the overall chairman of the event.

An hour-long marathon amateur boat race, now a regular family boat racing event on both July 4 and Labor Day in Jensen Beach, will be held again. Games and booths for entertainment will be set up in the two pavilions along the causeway. Also, food will be served by a Chamber committee.

Registration of local boat owners began this week at the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce and at Stuart Marine Center in Stuart. Co-chairmen of the race are Dick Campbell and Herman Reitz.

A complete set of trophies for the various classes of boats has been added by Frances Langford and Ralph Evinrude, on the latter of Frances Langford - Evinrude get-aways. The classes of boats are based upon horsepower and length of boat.

"This is for the Sunfish boaters, and we are getting more and more of them to race in our races. It is more fun than race, and we would like to invite anybody to come out to compete for one of the many trophies available," Reitz said.

The registration fee for the race is one dollar.

Events on the causeway will begin at noon and last until six p.m. There will be carnival-type booths with games, bingo and swimming and picnicking on the causeway.

We want something for the kids to do on all day on Labor Day," Wilkie said as he prepared his chefs hat for cooking. Wilkie will be chief chef of the barbecue and cookout pavilion at the afternoon.

The Chamber members, assisted by the Jensen Beach Woman's Association and the Lions' Order of Moose, will be selling refreshments, coffee and soft drinks, as well as operating the many games and events.

'Notes and Comments' begins this week

A new editorial feature begins this week in The Jensen Beach Mirror. "Notes and Comments", a column of news and views on the Martin County community life, written by The Mirror advertising manager Bill Britton, will begin on the editorial page.

The column will deal in a variety of subjects, not one topic. It will range through business, social and civic life of our town, our area.

Mirror editor Dick Campbell said, "We look forward to the new feature in The Jensen Beach Mirror. It will give us a little more balance of opinion and writing that will improve the editorial content of our page of comment."

St. Lucie Country Club to host Pro-Am tournament

St. Lucie Country Club will be the scene of the largest sporting event ever held in the Martin-St. Lucie-Indian River County area in mid-December. The club will host the Ninth Annual U.S. Invitational Pro-Am Golf Tournament Dec. 12, 13 and 14.

Total prize monies will be $30,000 for the 54-hole contest with 130 top teams participating. For the past eight years, the tournament has been played at Losantiville Country Club, Cincinnati, Ohio, as a 36-hole event.

Arrangements for the championship tournament were made by John Fisher and Morton W. Olman, co-chairmen of the eighteen U.S. Pro-Am Golf Committee which runs the tourney, and Chick Hartert, vice-president of General Development Corporation.

C. F. (Chuck) Ankrom, director of golf for GDC, heads the local committee on tournament arrangements. He said GDC will put up a $32,500 sponsored fund, with area businessmen and merchants being invited to participate as co-sponsors of the event.

Dr. Dennis Rinaldi, Jensen Beach, will serve as Martin County chairman; Hoyt C. Murphy is St. Lucie County chairman.

Housing facilities at SLCC will be filled, Ankrom said. An area-wide impact is expected at hotels, motels, restaurants and retail stores.

There will be $100 'Silver' sponsors and $200 'Gold' sponsors for the event, Ankrom said.

Admission will be charged at the club gate each of the three days: $2 Wednesday, a practice-round day; $2,50 Thursday and Friday, and $3 on Saturday, final day of play.

FOR ONLY $1,850.00 you can add a 18' x 15' CBS Florida room to your home. For information call Sam Rhodes, Bldg. Contractor. 287-0366 or 287-4710.

Keep It Beautiful

America hired people for the job it would take the largest sort of army to keep our country free of litter.

But there's no need to hire anyone. It's a job we can do for ourselves. All of us. Every family that spreads a picnic lunch. Every boatman who cruises the lakes and waterways. Every motorist who uses our roads and highways.

It is the pleasure of the U. S. Brewers Association each year to give its fullest support to the Keep America Beautiful Campaign. Remember. Every Litter Bit Hurts.

This is our land. Let's treat it right.

Electric push-button feed-handling saves work, time and money

Throw away that scoop shovel! Automatically controlled electric feed handling equipment soon pays for itself in time and money saved. Mixers and conveyors feed from storage areas to each stanchion or feed bunk. Does in minutes the chore that used to take hours. The amount of feed for each animal can be accurately regulated or shut off completely.

For advice and information to fit your individual installation see your equipment dealer or consult us.

PUBLIX MARKETS — SteAKSMaN ShipBEGiNs at PUBLIX MARKETS

PENNY'S CORNER

STEAKSMANSHIP begins at the meat counter. Most steak men insist that the steak must be thick, no matter what the cut—1¾ to 2 inches, even 3 inches! The Publix Meat Man will be glad to cut it to your order. Or course, a steak this thick is too much for a small family meal. So buy ProTen round steak, porterhouse, T-bone, or sirloin, remove the bone, if any, and cut in half — or thirds — allowing ½ lb. per person. Cook one section and freeze the others in sealed plastic bags.

The inch thick steak also has its fans — but do be careful not to overbroil. The only way to know when a steak is done as you like it is to cut a slit and look. Club and rib steaks one inch thick weigh about 1¼ lbs. and serve two.

In the past, a fine steak was one heavily greated with white fat — like the streaks in marble. Now the fatted calf has fallen from favor. Today folks want very lean, low fat beef. In fact, the Department of Agriculture recently reduced the "marbling" requirements of standard grades. This shift to leaner meat makes round steak the top favorite of many — it's the one fat cut with little or no bone. But it's too tough to broil unless it's ProTen (which Publix features), or liberally sprinkled with a tenderizer like Adolph's.

Slow Pitch Tournament is in high gear

CATCH- Bill Barrios, speedy Park Pharmacy catcher, whipped his team into a spirited mood before the game, assisted by Dr. Ron Alanson. Park Pharmacy won its initial game with Jupiter Coast Guard, 12-0.

Pgrk Pharmacy edged out a determined Salerno Crabs team Tuesday night with an 8-7 win in the second annual slow-pitch softball tournament at Longford Park.

Sponsored by the Jensen Beach Fireworks Committee, the contest got under way last Friday with twenty teams competing for trophies. Teams from as far away as Micco, north of Sebastian, Okeechobee and West Palm Beach, registered to play in the invitational double elimination tournament.

Friday night's games saw Salerno Crabs down favored Krauss and Crane 16-14 in a game full of action and excitement. In the second game, Jupiter Coast Guard bowed low before Park Pharmacy, losing 12-0. Parma Play defeated Pratt-Whitney 9-2 in the third game.

Saturday's games started at 3 p.m. and were played every hour and a-half with the fifth game starting at 9 p.m. Results were: Hobe Sound over County Line Pizza, 13-1; Palm City took a win 7-0 over Jupiter when the latter team did not show; Grumman defeated First Baptist 5-1; Solitron over Wilbur Plumbing 4-3; and in the final game of the night, Vero Beach scored 11 runs to Brodell's 3.

Two games were played on Sunday, Micco over the Outlaws 14-4, and Okeechobee took Bandy Roofing 11-1.

The Coast Guard of Jupiter lost its second game on Monday, with Krauss and Crane getting the win, 12-2, County Line Pizza came back strong defeating Pratt-Whitney 7-4.

Three games were played on Tuesday night, in a thriller, Park Pharmacy edged the red hot Salerno Crabs 8-7 for the opening game, Wilber Plumbing squeaked by Brodell, 10-8, and the Outlaws defeated Bandy, 7-5.

SPECTATORS--Hundreds of local residents and visitors from out-of-town have been watching the softball tournament at Longford Park in the past week, and included Leonard Smith, wife [illegible]

THROW IT OUT--County Commissioner Frank Wacha threw out the first ball at the opening ceremonies of the Jensen Fireworks Committee's second annual slow-pitch softball tournament last Friday. The games will continue through the end of August, and 20 teams are vying for top honors.

Birthday party held for Sylvia Sandborn

[illegible] birthday party [illegible] at Martin's [illegible] the guests [illegible] Those [illegible] birthdays of Sylvia Sandborn.

The table was decorated with a beautiful centerpiece of flowers and covered with many gifts and cards. Refreshments were served consisting of ice cream, cup cakes, Sylvia was presented also with a birthday cake. As the honored guest waltz was played, each man asked for the honor of the dance.

Sylvia has accepted Elsie Marland in teaching the patients dances and, considering errands of her time in helping us all to learn, she will appreciate her patience and understanding.

Many more happy birthdays are wished for all of us, Sylvia!

Percy and Walter Dreyer are located just two trailers from us, to the south. We plan to dine together, Every place better is taken.

Best wishes to our friends.

Niece, friend visit Leta Keith

Connie Custis [illegible] her friend, Judi Isaacer, are visiting her aunt, Leta Keith. These young ladies have just graduated from Millikin University at Decatur, Ill. Early this is Connie's graduation gift and her first time in Florida. Connie is from Lincoln and Judi from Detroit.

On their way south they stopped to sightsee in Daytona Beach...for this is the spot where their students are at mid-term. Then to St. Augustine, after seeing Marineland. They have enjoyed the beach here and sunshine in this ocean area.

They also enjoyed lunch at one of our many fine restaurants.

Sallie Vonhalle joined these three ladies while they toured down A-1-A for a trip to Palm Beach. The royal palms always seem to claim attention while the ladies shopped along Worth Avenue. More shopping after lunch. On their return trip they stopped to see St. Edwards Catholic Church, and Bethesda-by-the-Sea.

Leta's plans include them to travel south to Ft. Lauderdale and then to Miami. Before turning northwards, Connie and Judy plan to go across to the west coast of Florida and tour there.

Their hosts, Leta and Irwin, have enjoyed pouring over the map of this state, choosing the best spots that could be included in their vacation time here.

Three small tots in bathing suits attracted the attention of those who are still here on 5th and 6th Aves., as they prepared to go to the beach for fun there and in the ocean.

The children are Wanda, Jeff and Scott Newby, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Newby. They have been holidaying in his parents' trailer on 5th.

Their ten days stay here [illegible]

Dalton Henry to 'quit'

Dalton Henry, local garbage collector, will "quit" service Martin County this weekend, according to County Commissioner Bill Hussey, Hussey, in charge of the garbage situation in the county, made the announcement at the county commission meeting Tuesday.

Henry touched off a drive for standardized garbage collection in the county after he raised his rates to $5 per month several months ago. Complaints by citizens served by the Henry collection service forced Commissioner Frank Wacha to ask for franchising of garbage collection in District A.

Since that time Hussey has been seeking information on franchising garbage collection.

Hussey said on Tuesday that he was seeking the help of area garbage collectors in establishing a fixed amount for local service. In the past, he added that Richard Bartlett and Don Wilkie had approached him with bids. He calls Henry had been satisfactory.

It was reported that Dalton Henry will continue his business in St. Lucie County.

Begins at 12 noon

Boat races, games head events here

An hour-long marathon amateur boat race, beginning at 2 p.m. will be one of the highlights of an afternoon of games and fun this Labor Day at the Jensen Beach Causeway. The day will begin at noon with food being prepared and served by the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce.

Co-chairman of the family type boat race are Dick Campbell and Herman Reitz. Registration of local boat-owners began this week at the Chamber office and The Stuart Marine Center.

"In addition to the boat races, there will be bingo, games, food and a fun time for all who want to come to the causeway," said Don Wilkie, president of the Chamber and overall chairman of the day.

At 3:30 p.m., the Jensen Beach Volunteer Firemen will arrive with a fire truck to "hose down" the angle sters on the south side of the causeway. This was previously recognized as a regular event at family outings put on by local fire departments.

Four games are being set up, to be managed by the Loyal Order of Moose, Stuart Lodge #1282, with Bill Britton as general chairman of the game booths. They will include wheel of fortune, penny-pitching, fishing game and a dart board, he said.

An afternoon of bingo is promised by the Chamber of Commerce to the devotees of the sport. This will be handled by Jim Reisner, assisted by Steve O'Connor, Peter Johnson and Marilyn Reisner.

Others assisting with the games are Mr. and Mrs. Phil Zimmister, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Johnson, Floyd Stevens, Jerry Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Chagnon and Mrs. Jim Reisner.

Members of the Jensen Beach Women's Association will serve ice cream in one of the booths in the games area.

A complete set of trophies for the various classes of boats competing in the race has been donated by Frances Langford and Ralph Evinrude, in the name of Frances Langford's Outrigger Resort. The classes of boats are based on horsepower and length of boat.

"This is for the Sunday boaters, and we are getting quite a few of them to participate in our races. If you have a boat, you are invited to enter it to compete for one of the many trophies available," Reitz said.

Registration fee for the race is one dollar.

Events on the causeway will begin at noon and last until six p.m.

Food will be cooked by Don Wilkie, who has his chef's hat prepared for the day. Menu will consist of hamburgers, hot dogs, coffee and soft drinks.

School starts Thursday

Jensen Beach Elementary School starts its Fall semester Thursday, Aug. 29, at 8:00 a.m. Sessions will end at 2:30 p.m.

Principal Dale Clark has released information which will be of interest to students and their parents.

Lunches will be served in the cafeteria starting on the first day of school, at a 35¢ per day charge. There will be no school on Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 2, so lunches for that week will cost $1.40, he said.

Parents are requested to send the full week's lunch money on the first day of each week to facilitate bookkeeping and prevent loss of money by students. In case of absence from school, lunch money will be returned each Friday, or whenever the pupil returns to school.

An activity fee of $3.50 per student, covering workbooks and supplies, is due as soon as possible after the opening of school.

School bus routes will be as follows: 7:15 a.m. north to County Line Rd., west and south through Skyline Drive, Legion Heights, return to Jensen Beach School, 7:40 a.m., south to following alleys, return to Jensen Beach School.

Mrs. Clara Gideon is the school bus driver.

Bruner loses in vote

County Commissioner Herb Bruner lost a battle Tuesday at the county commission meeting when he asked his fellow commissioners to back his move to buy a piece of property for multiple-county-uses.

Eyeing a former auto dealership building at the corner of A-1-A and West Ocean Blvd., Bruner said it could be picked up for $25,000 and used for offices and for a fire department for his district. He said he had investigated it, and moved that the county buy it.

The former unanimity of Bruner's buddies on the commission was broken as Chairman Elmer Powers pointed out that the cost should be borne by the district, that the item is not budgeted, and that it had not been appraised or inspected officially. Commissioner Jack Sunderson said the fire house should be a little farther south for the district.

Commissioner Wacha then moved to table the matter for study, saying that the appraisals should be in writing and that the county should know how it is going to acquire the property, adding that it would take until October 1 to buy it through pledging of race-track funds.

When the board voted on the table, Bruner voted no, smilingly, saying, "I've always wanted to vote against the board once."

Protest is heard

County advertises for new TP zoning classification

Martin County commissioners Tuesday agreed to advertise for a public hearing on September 26 to establish the new TP, or trailer para, zoning classification. The move was made after several protests were heard from local residents.

At present, the trailer parks, or mobile home parks, in Martin County are lumped in with the R-3A zoning classification. The R-3A covers a multitude of uses, and has been used as a commercial catch-all by the county.

Uses under R-3A include such diverse units as restaurants, beauty parlors, mobile home and travel trailer parks, fire stations, boat docks, gas stations, and multiple family dwellings, in addition to any use allowed in HR-1, R-1, R-1A, R-1B, R-2, R-2B, R-2A, R-2 and R3.

The first protest came from James Littman and Evans Crary, Jr., representing the developers of a large mobile home park on SR-76 at Monterey Road. The county had rezoned the property so that the mobile home park could be established, then denied a building permit to the firm while rezoning the category.

A moratorium has been placed on mobile home park applications by the county while the TP classification is established.

Littman complained that the commission halting of building at the new park would make the developers miss an entire season, causing a hardship to the developers. Bill Watson, one of the developers, showed a plan of the park.

Howard Hald, a member of the zoning board at the meeting, said that the board had taken action to "stop future applications for trailer parks." He added that the zoning board was faced with six such applications at the present time. He said that the board did not intend to hinder already established mobile home parks.

Commissioner Frank Wacha, who had originally moved to advertise the category, withdrew his motion and made another, authorizing the developers of the new mobile home park to get a building permit.

The motion passed. Then Wacha moved again that the board advertise for a public hearing on the TP classification.

Richard E. Campbell, editor of The Jensen Beach Mirror, protested the establishment of the new classification without proper safeguards for mobile home park owners.

"As soon as the TP classification is established, all mobile home parks become in non-conforming use," Campbell said. "There is no provision to automatically move qualified mobile home parks into the new classification. They become non-entities, in non-conforming use. They can't expand, or do anything," Campbell said.

The Mirror editor asked that safeguards be imposed to effect the immediate clarification of the status of established mobile home parks before the TP category is established.

County engineer Tom Slider told the commission that the intent of the zoning board was to establish the category, then inspect and pass mobile home parks into the new category from non-conforming-use in R-3A after the TP is established.

"That could take time, months, in fact," Campbell said. "It is not fair to the people who have established mobile home parks, invested their money, and built under the impression that they were legal under the R-3A zoning." He reiterated his demand that safeguards be placed in the program to effect immediate transfer of legal trailer parks into the TP classification as soon as it is established.

Commissioner Frank Wacha then said that the intent of the zoning board was to establish the category, then inspect and pass mobile home parks into the new classification as soon as it was legal to do so, and asked that the motion be passed. Wacha said that the R-3A classification allowed too many persons to set up trailer parks without the proper minimum space of ten acres.

The commission then voted to advertise for the public hearing.

O. Murphy dies on trip to Ireland

Owen K. Murphy, 60, of 'Cashel', Port Sewall died Saturday, Aug. 24, while on a business trip to Ireland.

He was president of Niagara Therapy Company, which he started in 1948; was owner of Manatee Marina and Yacht Club Restaurant, and was a collector of jade, ivory and objects d'art.

He is survived by his wife, Lois Aney; a son, Michael, of Palm Beach; a brother, two sisters, and a nephew, Charles Murphy.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 3 p.m. at Fred B. Leavy Funeral Home in Clearfield, Penna.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the Crown Tin Club, Adamsville, Penna. or to the Fairyland Clinic, Meadville, Penna.

Navitsky addressed CTA meet

The first meeting of the season of the Martin County Classroom Teachers Association (CTA) was held Tuesday, Aug. 27, with Ed Norton as president. The group met at Murray School.

V. James Navitsky, Superintendent of Schools, addressed the meeting in the morning session. Later the teachers received copies of the constitution and updated by-laws of the organization.

A committee was appointed for the CTA scholarship: Mrs. Fannie Jackson, a, Ray Roberts and Mrs. Myra Schroeder, Norton said.

Flooded--An older home perches on rain pooled, flooded and swamped lots on the west wing of the county courthouse Monday. Low retaining walls at Mayo on Glenwood, of the county fair association. Water, which backed from offices in the county courthouse annex, flooded the courthouse basement. Flooding of this kind is not unusual for the west wing of the courthouse, county officials said.

Support grows

U.S. Pro-Am tourney to draw thousands

by Dick Campbell

The 1968 United States Pro-Amateur Golf Championship, to be held at St. Lucie County Club December 12-15-14, will draw thousands of visitors to this area, Chuck Stanton, director of golf for General Development Corporation said in a meeting Tuesday.

Stanton met with Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce president Dick Pollitz to discuss the coming tournament, and to solicit the personal support of Wilkie, and a pledge of possible support of the Jensen Chamber when they meet on Monday night.

The $80,000 prized tournament will draw some of the top professional and amateur golfers in the country to the area for a week, and Stanton promised that there are no other commercialization of national scope to compete with this one in that week.

Previous winners of the tournament include Jack Nicklaus, Sam Snead, Mike Souchak, Ed Furgol, Julius Nemish and last year's winners Dale Douglas and Hale Irwin.

For the past eight years the tournament has been played in the south, St. Lucie County golf has had a two-year contract to produce the event.

"The first year we will be nameless. We need all the support we can get!" Stanton said. He outlined the procedure of contacting participants that included events for the golfers, their wives, the entertainment, and the ones who would visit here, follow by the banquets of the professional and amateur events.

"Golf tickets will be sold during that week and we believe that this will be a great financial boon to area merchants," Stanton added.

Sponsors are being sought throughout the area. The norm will be financed through the participation of sponsors buying designated "fairways" or "tees" sponsorships.

The silver sponsor, which is $500, gives the buyer 20 tickets of tournament tickets, two tickets of the contestants' and sponsors' cocktail parties, autographs, clubhouse privileges during the tournament, a silver plaque on the sponsor's booth and advertising rights.

The gold sponsor, which is $250, gives the buyer the same as the silver, except that the tickets are increased to 30 and there are four tickets to the cocktail party, and a gold plaque on the sponsor's booth.

Dr. Jewis Gandy of Jensen Beach is Martin County chairman of the tournament committee.

The tournament will be a three-day, 54-hole contest. Thirty will be the course in the 1st and 2nd rd. out of the and 45 to come for the final 18. The tournament, sponsored by General Development corporation, will be open to the public. Prize money totals $80,000.

County plans on $3 garbage collections

FIGHTING TIGERS—"Fighting Tigers" license plates are on sale to members of the Cooperation Booster Club of Martin County High Schools. One of the plates, number 11-25, is displayed by Sid Norton, coordinator for the club.

A collection of $3 per month for commercial garbage and a truck collection in Martin County has been proposed by County Commissioner Bill Bussey, head of the garbage and trash disposal committee.

Letters and questionnaires will be sent to residents and businesses in the county requesting suggestions on the proposed franchise. Deadline for answers is Sept. 15.

The committee is to present a proposed franchise to the county commission at its meeting Sept. 17.

The committee will be without charge for removal of garbage and trash from residences. Businesses will be charged $3 per month for one pick-up per week.

Bussey said that the committee will ask for bids on the franchise from companies interested in operating the dump and collection service.

Bill Redditt Ford offers Punt, Pass & Kick Program

Boys age 8 through 13 in the Martin County area began registering for the eighth annual Punt, Pass & Kick Competition Tuesday with trophies and gifts awarded boys and girls divided youths by skills in punting, passing and kicking.

Headquarters for registration in Martin County are at Bill Redditt Ford, on U.S. 1 in Stuart, where entries will be accepted through Oct. 5. Entrants must be accompanied by a parent or guardian. There is no charge, the entire competition is free to all entrants, and all equipment such as footballs and kicking tees are provided. No body contact is involved in PP&K competitions.

Upon registration, boys receive a free booklet of competition tips written by Fran Bay's star passer, Jim Starr; the Atlanta Falcon's punting specialist, Bill Lochridge; and St. Louis Cardinal's kicking leader, Jim Bakken. The booklet includes exercises to better physical fitness granted to boys of PP&K competition ages.

In addition to the booklet, each registrant receives an attractive PP&K lapel pin. The basic principles of PP&K underlines fairness in competition to give every boy an equal chance to win, putting contestants only against those their own age. Points are awarded for each foot of distance the ball travels on the fly, with points subtracted for each foot the ball lands to right or left of a center line.

Eighteen Jamboree trophies will be awarded locally on Bill Redditt Ford's lot.

Gold trophies go to first place finishers, silver to second, and bronze to third, with first place winners going on for further competition in area contests.

Winners in area competitions will receive trophies and runners-up are awarded certificates. Zone winners move to district competitions where 216 district champions will be awarded trophies and go on to compete for area championships.

Area competitions in Martin County will be held at St. Lucie Village 12 months are those 12 years old. District competitions will be held at the 53rd annual Jamboree. Winners are awarded their fabled medallions and their parents will go on a 7-day all-expense paid trip to Washington, D.C.

The Punt, Pass and Kick competition is sponsored nationally by Ford Dealers and the National Football League. Martin County Highway Patrol Chief Roger Chance will coordinate the program in cooperation with Bill Redditt Ford.

Teams thin out in tennis

Action in the first of three tennis tournaments began Labor Day at the Jensen Beach Causeway Park. Jensen Beach tennis coordinator Bill Hoffman is the double elimination event, Wednesday night through the end of September. Hoffman coordinates this fall tournament with most and another elimination will take place.

Undefeated thus far are Hana Sailler and Al Schoonmaker, who will meet likewise undefeated Dick Campbell and John Patterson at 6:15 p.m. Another team, once-defeated Mike Paul and Steve Cole, is awaiting an opponent to be determined matches, with Tuesday and Thursday evenings when courts are available. Hoffman said Bill Lotherington, chairman of the tennis committee, will take the tournament to the conclusion on Labor Day weekend.

Paul and Cole were victims of the Campbell-Patterson team in a 6-1 match last week. Sailler and Schoonmaker defeated Tim Weiss and Jim Lentz 6-1, setting up a rubber match tonight. In another game, Paul and Cole defeated Weiss and Lentz 7-5 to remain on the top side of the bracket.

First day of school

by Rhonda Cumpsty

It all starts in the morning, the children are putting on new clothes. Mothers are trying to hurry and make them look neat. The little kids are telling their mother's to tie their shoes or fix their hair.

Most of the first graders have mixed emotions, excited about going to school for the first time, and leaving their Mommy and Daddy.

When school starts some first graders start crying for their mommies.

The older children eager to find out what their new teacher is like greet each other as they come in the door.

I feel as a six grader a responsibility toward my school. Being one of the older children I feel I should help the little children if they are confused. As a six grader I want to get in on all the activities. I hope this year we can make the best of everything.

Extension courses

Two extension courses will be held in the first quarter of the year for local teachers, according to Mrs. Lillian Dassori, general supervisor of Martin County School Department.

Starting Sept. 26, at Martin County High School, a special social studies course will be offered each Thursday from 4:30 to 10 p.m. with five quarter-hours credit given.

Beginning Sept. 24, at the same time and place, a reading diagnosis course will be given with similar credit.

Each of the two courses will be limited to 40 hours.

During the second quarter, a course in music in elementary schools will be given, and in the third quarter a course will be offered in social forces and education. Dates have not been announced.

Expansion soon

Solitron buys RF Fittings

Solitron Devices, Inc., continued its expansion in Florida with an announcement Friday, Aug. 30, of the company's acquisition of General RF Fittings, Inc., in Stuart. Officials of each company completed the transaction by signing purchase papers the previous afternoon.

Solitron purchased all of the outstanding shares of General RF Fittings, together with its manufacturing facilities for $3,900,000 cash, Benjamin Friedman, president of Solitron, said RF is concerned with the production and sales of high performance precision connectors and microwave components for government and industrial applications. He noted that it represents an expansion of Solitron's present activity in microwaves and the company entry into the manufacturing of connectors.

The 20,400 sq. ft. plant in Stuart contains a complete precious metals plating facility, test laboratories and manufacturing space. It is located on 20 acres of land directly on Cove Road, Port Salerno. Officials said the firm employs approximately 125 people from Martin and Palm Beach Counties.

The acquisition of the RF connector operation will complement Solitron's new RF transistor plant now under construction in Jupiter. On June 26, Solitron broke ground for this $2 million, 32,000 sq. ft. research, development and manufacturing plant. When operational, the plant will employ 500 people.

Last April, the company dedicated and opened a second plant addition to their transistor division in Riviera Beach. The addition increased the plant space to nearly 80,000 sq. ft. Approximately 600 persons are now employed there.

Solitron made further announcement during April, 1967, when it purchased the small silicon transistor co-

(d) The comptroller shall serve as the chief fiscal officer of the state, and shall settle and approve accounts against the state.

(e) The treasurer shall keep all state funds and securities. He shall disburse state funds only upon the order of the comptroller countersigned by the governor. The governor shall countersign in a ministerial duty subject to original mandamus.

(f) The commissioner of agriculture shall have supervision of matters pertaining to agriculture except as otherwise provided by law.

(g) The commissioner of education shall supervise the public educational system in the manner prescribed by law.

Section 6. ELECTION OF GOVERNOR, LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR AND CABINET MEMBERS—QUALIFICATIONS; TERMS.—

(a) At a state-wide general election in each calendar year the number of which is even but not a multiple of four, the electors shall choose a governor and a lieutenant governor and members of the cabinet each for a term of four years beginning on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in January of the calendar year next succeeding the general election and in party primaries which all candidates for the offices of governor and lieutenant governor shall form joint candidacies in a manner prescribed by law so that each voter shall cast a single vote for a candidate for governor and a candidate for lieutenant governor running together.

(b) When elected, the governor, lieutenant governor and each cabinet member must be an elector not less than thirty years of age who has resided in the state for the preceding seven years. The attorney general must have been a member of the bar of Florida for the preceding five years. No person who has been elected governor for two consecutive terms shall be eligible for election to the office of governor the succeeding term.

Section 7. EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS.—All functions of the executive branch of state government shall be allotted among not more than twenty-five departments, exclusive of those departments provided for or authorized in this constitution. The administration of each department, unless otherwise provided in this constitution, shall be placed by law under the direct supervision of the governor, the lieutenant governor, the governor and cabinet, a cabinet member, or an officer or board appointed by and serving at the pleasure of the governor, except as provided by law.

(a) When provided by law, confirmation by the senate or three members of the cabinet shall be required for executive appointment to or removal from any designated statutory office.

(b) Boards authorized to grant and revoke licenses to engage in regulated occupations shall be assigned to appropriations departments and their members appointed for fixed terms, subject to removal only for cause.

Section 8. SUSPENSIONS—FILLING OFFICE DURING SUSPENSIONS.—

(a) By executive order stating the grounds and filed with the custodian of state records, the governor may suspend from office any officer not subject to impeachment, any officer of the militia not in the active service of the United States, or any county officer for malfeasance, misfeasance, neglect of duty, drunkenness, incompetence, permanent inability to perform his official duties, commission of a felony, and may fill the office by appointment for the period of suspension. The suspended officer may at any time before removal be reinstated by the governor.

(b) The senate may, in proceedings prescribed by law, remove from office or reinstate the suspended official and for such purpose the senate may be convened in special session by its president or by a majority of its membership.

(c) By order of the governor any elected municipal officer charged with crime may be suspended from office until acquitted and the office filled by appointment for the period of suspension, but not to extend beyond the term, unless these powers are vested in the governor by law or the municipal charter.

Section 9. CLEMENCY.—

(a) Except in cases of treason and in cases where impeachment is in question, the governor may, by executive order filed with the secretary of state, suspend collection of fines and forfeitures, grant reprieves not exceeding sixty days and, with the concurrence of a majority of the cabinet, grant full or conditional pardons, restore civil rights, commute punishment, and remit fines and forfeitures for offenses.

(b) In cases of treason the governor may grant reprieves until adjournment of the regular session of the legislature next after the conviction, at which session the legislature may grant a pardon or further reprieve, otherwise the sentence shall be executed.

(c) There may be created by law a parole and probation commission with power to supervise persons on probation and release or conditional release to persons under sentence for crime. The qualifications, method of selecting and terms not to exceed six years, of members of the commission shall be prescribed by law.

Section 10. GAME AND FRESH WATER FISH COMMISSION.—There shall be a game and fresh water fish commission composed of five members appointed by the governor for staggered terms of five years. The commission shall exercise the regulatory powers of the state with respect to wild animal life and fresh water aquatic life except that all license fees for taking wild animal life and fresh water aquatic life and regulations for the enforcement of the commission shall be prescribed by law unless specifically delegated.

ARTICLE VII
FINANCE AND TAXATION

Section 1. TAXATION; APPROPRIATIONS—STATE EXPENDITURES.—

(a) No tax shall be levied except in pursuance of law. No state ad valorem taxes shall be levied upon real estate or tangible personal property. All other forms of taxation shall be preempted to the state except as provided by general law.

(b) Motor vehicles, boats, airplanes, trailers, trailer coaches and mobile homes as defined by law shall be subject to a license tax for their operation in the amounts and for the purposes prescribed by law, but shall not be subject to ad valorem taxes.

(c) Money shall be drawn from the treasury except in accordance with appropriation made by law.

(d) Provision shall be made by law for raising sufficient money to defray the expenses of the state for each fiscal period.

Section 2. TAXES—RATE.—All ad valorem taxation shall be at a uniform rate within each taxing unit, except the taxes on intangible personal property may be at different rates but shall never exceed two mills on the dollar of assessed value except as to any obligations secured by mortgage, deed of trust or other lien on real estate wherever located, an intangible tax of not more than two mills on the dollar may be levied by law in lieu of all other intangible assessments on such property.

Section 3. TAXES—EXEMPTIONS.—

(a) All property owned by a municipality and used exclusively by it for municipal or public purposes shall be exempt from taxation. A municipality, owning property outside the municipality may be required by general law to make payment to the taxing unit in which the property is located. Such portions of property as are used predominantly for educational, literary, scientific, religious or charitable purposes may be exempted by general law from taxation.

(b) There shall be exempt from taxation, cumulatively, to every head of a family residing in this state household goods and personal effects to the value fixed by general law, not less than one thousand dollars, and to every widow or person who is blind or totally and permanently disabled, property to the value fixed by general law not less than five hundred dollars.

Section 4. TAXATION—ASSESSMENTS.—By general law regulations shall be prescribed which shall secure a just valuation of all property for ad valorem taxation, provided:

(a) Agricultural land or land used exclusively for noncommercial recreational purposes may be classified by general law uniformly solely on the basis of character or use.

(b) Pursuant to general law tangible personal property held for sale as stock in trade and livestock may be valued for taxation at a specified percentage of its value.

Section 5. ESTATE, INHERITANCE AND INCOME TAXES.—No tax upon estates or inheritances or upon the income of residents or citizens of the state shall be levied by the state, or by its authority, in excess of the aggregate of amounts which may be allowed to be credited upon or deducted from similar tax levied by the United States or any state.

Section 6. HOMESTEAD EXEMPTIONS.—

(a) Every person who has the legal or equitable title to real estate and maintains thereon the permanent residence of himself or another legally or naturally dependent upon the owner shall be exempt from taxation thereon, except assessments for special benefits, up to the assessed valuation of five thousand dollars, upon establishment of right thereto in the manner prescribed by law. The real estate may be held by legal or equitable title, by the entireties, jointly, in common, as a condominium, or indirectly by stock ownership or membership representing the owner's or member's proprietary interest in property owning a fee or a leasehold initially in excess of ninety-nine years.

(b) Not more than one exemption shall be allowed any family unit or with respect to any residential unit. No exemption shall exceed the value of the real estate assessable to the owner or, in case of ownership through stock or membership in a corporation, the value of the proportion which his interest in the corporation bears to the assessed value of the property.

(c) By general law and subject to conditions specified therein, the exemption may be increased up to an amount not exceeding ten thousand dollars of the assessed value of the real estate if the owner has attained age sixty-five or is totally and permanently disabled.

Section 7. ALLOCATION OF PARI-MUTUEL TAXES.—Taxes upon the operation of pari-mutuel pools may be preempted to the state or allocated in whole or in part to the counties. When allocated to the counties, the distribution shall be in equal amounts to the several counties.

Section 8. AID TO LOCAL GOVERNMENTS.—State funds may be appropriated to the several counties, school districts municipalities or special districts upon such conditions as may be provided by general law.

Section 9. LOCAL TAXES.—

(a) Counties, school districts and municipalities shall, and special districts may, be authorized by law to levy ad valorem taxes and may be authorized by general law to levy other taxes for their respective purposes except ad valorem taxes on intangible personal property and taxes prohibited by this constitution.

(b) Ad valorem taxes exclusive of taxes levied for the payment of bonds and taxes levied for periods not longer than two years when authorized by vote of the electors who are the owners of freeholds therein not wholly exempt from taxation, shall not be levied in excess of the following millages upon the assessed value of real estate and tangible personal property: for all county purposes, ten mills; for all municipal purposes ten mills, for all school purposes, ten mills, and for special districts a millage authorized by law approved by vote of the electors who are owners of freeholds therein not wholly exempt from taxation. A county furnishing municipal services may, to the extent authorized by law, levy additional taxes within the limits fixed for municipal purposes.

Section 10. PLEDGING CREDIT. Neither the state nor any county, school district, municipality, special district, or agency of any of them shall become a joint owner with or stockholder of, or give, lend or use its taxing power or credit to aid any corporation, association, partnership or person but this shall not prohibit laws authorizing

(a) the investment of public trust funds;

(b) the investment of other public funds in obligations of, or insured by, the United States or any of its instrumentalities;

(c) the issuance and sale by any county, municipality, special district or other local governmental body of (1) revenue bonds to finance or refinance the cost of capital projects for airports or port facilities, or (2) revenue bonds to finance or refinance the cost of capital projects for industrial or manufacturing plants to the extent that the interest thereon is exempt from income taxes under the then existing laws of the United States, when, in either case, the revenue bonds are payable solely from revenue derived from the sale, operation or leasing of the projects. If any project so financed, or any part thereof, is occupied or operated by any private corporation, association, partnership or person pursuant to contract or lease with the issuing body, the property interest created by such contract or lease shall be subject to taxation to the same extent as other privately owned property.

Section 11. STATE BONDS—REVENUE BONDS.—

(a) State bonds pledging the full faith and credit of the state may be issued only to finance or refinance the cost of state capital projects upon approval by a vote of the electors.

(b) Revenue bonds may be issued by the state or its agencies without a vote of the electors only to finance or refinance the cost of state capital projects and shall be payable solely from funds derived from sources other than state tax revenues or rents or fees paid from state tax revenues.

Section 12. LOCAL BONDS.—Counties, school districts, municipalities, special districts and local governmental bodies with taxing powers may issue bonds, certificates of indebtedness or any forms of tax anticipation certificates payable from ad valorem taxation and maturing more than twelve months after issuance only:

(a) to finance or refinance capital projects authorized by law and only after approval by the electors who are owners of freeholds therein not wholly exempt from taxation; or

(b) to refund outstanding bonds and interest and redemption premium thereon at a lower net average interest cost rate.

Section 13. RELIEF FROM ILLEGAL TAXES. Until payment of all taxes which have been legally assessed upon the property of the same owner, no court shall grant relief from the payment of any tax that may be illegal or illegally assessed.

ARTICLE IX

ARTICLE XI
AMENDMENTS

Section 1. PROPOSAL BY LEGISLATURE.—Amendment of a section or revision of one or more articles or the whole of this constitution may be proposed by joint resolution agreed to by three-fifths of the membership of each house of the legislature. The full text of the joint resolution and the vote of each member voting shall be entered on the journal of each house.

Section 2. REVISION COMMISSION.—

(a) Within thirty days after the adjournment of the regular session of the legislature convened in the tenth year following that in which this constitution is adopted and each twentieth year thereafter there shall be established a constitution revision commission composed of the following thirty-seven members:

(1) the attorney general of the state;

(2) fifteen members selected by the governor;

(3) nine members selected by the speaker of the house of representatives and nine members selected by the president of the senate; and

(4) three members selected by the chief justice of the supreme court of Florida with the advice of the justices.

(b) The governor shall designate one member of the commission as its chairman. Vacancies in the membership of the commission shall be filled in the same manner as the original appointments.

(c) Each constitution revision commission shall convene at the call of its chairman, adopt rules of procedure, examine the constitution of the state, hold public hearings, and not later than one hundred eighty days prior to the next general election, file with the secretary of state its proposal, if any, for a revision of this constitution or any part of it.

Section 3. INITIATIVE.—The power to propose amendments to any section or revision of one or more articles or to revise the entire constitution by initiative is reserved to the people. Each proposed amendment or revision shall be contained in a single proposal. No proposal shall relate to more than one subject and matter directly connected therewith. Any proposal may be submitted by initiative petition filed with the secretary of state not earlier than twenty-four months nor later than six months before the general election at which it is to be voted upon. If the petition is signed by eight percent of the electors in each of one-half of the congressional districts of the state, and by eight percent of the electors of the state as a whole, the proposal shall be placed on the ballot at the next general election. The sufficiency of the petitions shall be determined as provided by law. The last preceding sentence shall not apply to any proposal which would amend or revise more than one section of this constitution.

Section 4. CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.—

(a) The power to call a convention to consider all or any part of this constitution is reserved to the people. Each year the question shall be submitted to the electors: "Shall there be a convention to revise the constitution and to propose amendments thereto?" If a majority voting on the question vote in the affirmative, a convention shall be held. Delegates to the convention shall be selected in the manner provided by law for selecting members of the legislature. The convention shall meet at the capitol within ninety days after the election, unless a majority of the delegates, before the ninetieth day, fix a different date or place. Within one hundred eighty days after convening, the convention shall propose revisions of or amendments to this constitution and fix the date of an election at which they shall be submitted to the electors.

(b) Any amendment proposed by the convention must be approved by a vote of the electors as provided by law. If there is more than one amendment submitted, they shall be voted on separately. If approved, they shall become effective on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in January after the election, or on such other date as may be specified in the amendment or amendments.

(c) If the proposed amendment or revision is approved by vote of the electors, it shall be effective as an amendment to or revision of the constitution of the state on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in January following the election, or on such other date as may be specified in the amendment or amendments.

ARTICLE XII
SCHEDULE

Section 1. CONSTITUTION OF 1885 SUPERSEDED.—Articles I through IV, VII, and IX through XX of the Constitution of Florida adopted in 1885, as amended from time to time are superseded by this revision except those sections expressly retained and made a part of this revision by reference.

Section 2. PROPERTY TAXES—MILLAGES.—Tax millages authorized in counties, municipalities and special districts on the date this revision becomes effective, may be continued until reduced by law.

Section 3. OFFICERS TO CONTINUE IN OFFICE.—Every person holding office when this revision becomes effective shall continue in office for the remainder of the term of that office is not abolished. If the office is abolished the incumbent shall be paid adequate compensation to be fixed by law, for the loss of emoluments for the remainder of the term.

Section 4. STATE COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION.—The state superintendent of public instruction in office on the effective date of this revision shall become and, for the remainder of the term being served, shall be the commissioner of education.

Section 5. SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.—

(a) On the effective date of this revision the county superintendent of public instruction in each county shall become and for the remainder of the term being served shall be the superintendent of schools of that district.

(b) The manner of selection of the county superintendent of public instruction of each county, as provided by or under the Constitution of 1885, as amended, shall apply to the selection of the district superintendent of schools until changed as herein provided.

(a) All laws in effect upon the adoption of this revision, to the extent not inconsistent with it, shall remain in force until they expire by their terms or are repealed.

(b) All statutes which, under the Constitution of 1885, as amended, apply to the state superintendent of public instruction and those which apply to the county superintendent of public instruction shall under this revision apply respectively to the state commissioner of education and the district superintendent of schools.

Section 7. RIGHTS RESERVED.—

(a) All actions, rights of action, claims, contracts and obligations of individuals, corporations and public bodies or agencies existing on the date this revision becomes effective shall continue to be valid as if this revision had not been adopted. All taxes, penalties, fines and forfeitures owing to the state under the Constitution of 1885, as amended, shall inure to the state under this revision, and all writs of error as punishment for crime shall be executed according to their terms.

(b) This revision shall not be retroactive so as to create any right or liability which did not exist under the Constitution of 1885, as amended, based upon matters occurring prior to the adoption of this revision.

Section 8. PUBLIC DEBTS RECOGNIZED.—All bonds, revenue certificates, revenue bonds and tax anticipation certificates issued pursuant to the Constitution of 1885, as amended by the state, any political subdivision, public corporation of the state shall remain in full force and effect and shall be secured by the same sources of revenue as before the adoption of this revision, and, to the extent necessary to validate this section, the applicable provisions of the Constitution of 1885, as amended, are retained as a part of this revision until payment in full of these public securities.

Section 9. BONDS.—

(a) ADDITIONAL SECURITIES. No additional revenue bonds shall be issued pursuant to Article XII, Section 19 of the Constitution of 1885, as amended. Article XII, Section 19 of the Constitution of 1885, as amended, as it existed immediately before this revision becomes effective, is adopted by this reference as a part of this revision as completely as though it were printed herein at length, except bonds or tax anticipation certificates hereafter issued thereunder may bear interest not in excess of five per cent per annum or such higher rate as may be authorized by statute passed by a three-fifths vote of each house of the legislature. No revenue bonds or tax anticipation certificates shall be issued pursuant thereto after June 30, 1969.

(b) REFUNDING BONDS. Revenue bonds to finance the cost of state capital projects issued prior to the date this revision becomes effective, including projects of the Florida state turnpike authority, may be refunded as provided by law. If the state highway system may be refunded as provided by law without vote of the electors at a lower net average interest cost rate for the same maturity and taxes than the obligations refunded, secured by the same revenues only.

(c) [illegible] Section 16 of the Constitution of 1885, as amended, shall be continued as a part of this revision for the period provided therein at the rate of two cents per gallon, and thereafter at the rate of one cent per gallon, provided, however, that the proceeds of [illegible] shall be paid into the state road fund established pursuant to Section 17 of the Constitution of 1885, as amended, and shall be used as provided in this section.

(d) Article IX, Section 16 of the Constitution of 1885, as amended, is adopted by this reference as a part of this revision as completely as though it were printed herein at length, except that the proceeds of the taxes provided for therein shall be used as provided in this section. Counties shall be allocated funds in the manner provided in Article IX, Section 16 of the Constitution of 1885, as amended, except that the allocation to each county shall be used for the purposes of maintaining roads, and for the payment of obligations pledging revenues allocated pursuant to Article IX, Section 16 of the Constitution of 1885, as amended, and shall not be used for any other purpose. Counties shall be allocated funds for the purposes of maintaining roads, and for the payment of obligations pledging revenues allocated pursuant to this section, in the manner provided in Article IX, Section 16 of the Constitution of 1885, as amended, except that the allocation to each county shall be used for the purposes of maintaining roads, and for the payment of obligations pledging revenues allocated pursuant to this section, and shall not be used for any other purpose. Counties shall be allocated funds for the purposes of maintaining roads, and for the payment of obligations pledging revenues allocated pursuant to this section, in the manner provided in Article IX, Section 16 of the Constitution of 1885, as amended, except that the allocation to each county shall be used for the purposes of maintaining roads, and for the payment of obligations pledging revenues allocated pursuant to this section, and shall not be used for any other purpose.

(e) Subject to the requirements of paragraph (2) of this subsection and after payment of administrative expenses, the net proceeds of taxes collected pursuant to this section shall be returned to the counties in amounts to be determined as follows: There shall be an initial allocation of one-fourth in the ratio of county area to state area, one-fourth in the ratio of the total county population to the total population of the state in accordance with the latest available federal census, and one-half in the ratio of the total "second gas tax" collected on retail sales or use in or for the total collected in all counties of the state during the previous fiscal year. If any county fails to meet the requirements of any obligations issued for any county, including any deficiencies for prior years secured under paragraph (2), of this subsection, the funds which would be due it shall be allocated to that county under the formula set out in this paragraph, the amounts allocated to other counties shall be reduced proportionately.

(f) The funds allocated under paragraphs (2) and (4) of this subsection shall be administered by the state board of administration created under said Article IX Section 16 of the Constitution of 1885 as amended, and which is continued as a body corporate for the life of this subsection 9(e). The board shall remit the proceeds of the "second gas tax" in each county account for use in said county as follows: eighty per cent to the state agency supervising the state road system and twenty per cent to the governing body of the county. The percentages allocated to the county may be increased by general law. The proceeds of the "second gas tax" subject to allocation to the several counties under this paragraph (5) shall be used first, for the payment of obligations pledging revenues allocated pur-

Four small lads, running across to the Seventh St. laundry in their pajamas, caught my attention when I was out on my morning "news hunt". They are the great-grandsons of Ralph Sawyer.

Their parents, Joel S. and Marcia Poley, with their aunt, Scott, Christian, Jodi and Jason, live in Half Moon Bay, Calif.

They had drive in a business wagon to visit Joel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas E. Sawyer of New York City. From there they headed south and for three days were here, visiting "great-grandfather Ralph".

Before their vacation ends they will travel up the west coast of this state and then head homeward to California. Joel commented that he had been in the Marine Corps for his service duty.

From Betty MacNab to Agnes Cortlan: We are leaving Sept. 29 for OBP and will arrive about Oct. 1. My two daughters will come down with me, Mrs. Helen Howard of Downingtown, Pa., will stay until Oct. 3; my other daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wilhelm of Monterey, Cal. will stay for two weeks with me before leaving for a short holiday in San Juan.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Carpenter have returned to the park after visits to their family. Their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. J. William Steiner, reside in Berea, Ohio. Their daughter, Sherry, has been in Mexico teaching English and Spanish in the school this summer. This teaching will be accredited to her last year in college.

They visited Mr. and Mrs. L.A. Barnard of Warren, Pa., and were particularly happy to visit with Scott, their son, who had recently returned from army service in Viet Nam.

The Carpenters will be watching "Concentration" on Sept. 6, as they hope to see Scott in the audience. On Sept. 9 they will again be watching this program for Scott's wife, Melanie, will be a contestant on it.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Miller of Charleston, Ill., stopped on their way back from Miami to visit Irvin Keith. With them was their daughter, Lisa. She was delighted with the beach at Daytona.

I have been alone all summer except for two weekends when my son-in-law and wife came. Expect them again next month and I hope my granddaughter with them. Have a wonderful neighbor, who comes in about every day, and her husband has taken care of the yard work for me.

I go to the garden club, coastal club, which is the name of the retired people's club here; also go to Southport Summer Residents Association. Last, but not least, to church every Sunday a.m., plus a card game now and then. In the meantime, play scrabble!

The remodeled card room must be quite nice. Feel fairly well now, except now and then terribly tired.

Thank you Wall to Marie Tweed: This has been a hot, hot summer for us. We have had a lot of company—no tripping anywhere for us. It is just beautiful here in Elkhorne, Wis., as we have had rains and plenty of sun.

John is busy getting ready for the big Country Fair that begins this next week. He has charge of the horticultural hall, so will be busy until we return to the park. We have both been well all summer.

From Marcia Morash: This is the best situation at the park! Up in the 90's! Have had a very good July and August here in Southport, Maine, with only a couple of unusually hot days. Never saw so many people around Boothbay Harbor as this year.

Sorry to report that Lets Keith fell at her school and broke her foot. Now she is sporting a walking cast from below the knee in almost her toes. With the help of a cane, Lets hopes to resume teaching Tuesday.

Mrs. James Keeler's sister, Miss Claire Newport, who has been visiting her for almost a month, returned to her home in San Francisco on Tuesday.

Alice and George Millar are happy to be back in their park residence. Accompanying them north was Mrs. Helen Irwin, as far as Trenton, N.J.

The Millars drove to Hamstead, L.I., to visit her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bert E. McConnell and Nancy. It was while there that the Millars had a real treat, a Sunday on their boat on a perfect day, delightful accomodations and visiting with this family.

At Massapequa, L.I., they visited Mrs. Fred Hanchman. George's daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. David Hutch, welcomed them when they arrived in Cedar Grove, N.J., Grover Cleveland's birthplace. Before leaving this state, they visited Mrs. Bleacher of Scotch Plains.

Their trip had been uneventful, although they had left the day after George had been released from Martin Memorial Hospital. They did experience the heat wave that hit the north recently.

While journeying south they found, just north of Jacksonville, that a sign at the side of the road was necessary, due to the torrents of rain and high winds that accompanied the storm. With the easing of this storm, they drove on to St. Augustine and found that the temperature had suddenly dropped to almost chilliness.

Catherine and Rhonda Cumpsy found their flight south enjoyable until they reached Tallahassee. The pilot asked his passengers to "please fasten your seatbelts" for there was turbulence ahead. After that Catherine found it was a bumpy ride, particularly near Tampa, with heavy clouds and downpours due to the depression area there at that time.

Rhonda will join his family here about the middle of October.

Don Wells enjoyed a good flight south last Saturday. He had been in Buffalo, N.Y., visiting his brother, John, and his wife, Shirley, and their two sons, Mark and Leslie. Don had a chance to visit with his friends there and also go back to the hospital to see the nurse who had been so kind to him while he was a patient.

Erma Kreuger found long delay to her flight from the north on Tuesday, when the plane reached Tampa area.

Dorothy Gesben and your reporter went to West Palm to meet the plane and whiled away an hour and 35 minutes with coffee and shopping in the gift shop at the terminal. The plane was delayed by heavy wind and rain.

Erma's visit with her son, E. C. Kreuger and his family, as well as with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Esther Manning, shortened the month of August for her.

Eva and Dave Donaldson were pleasantly surprised last Sunday when Dave's niece and husband arrived here unexpectedly, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Gaines are from Lakeland, Fla. They made this trip easily and the Donaldsons hope they will repeat it soon.

Ruby Wren did not wait any longer for a grandchild to be born before coming back to the park. She says she is feeling much better than when she left.

While on her traveling vacation, she visited the Rawlows, the Adsms and the Bellfins, in Sparta, Mich., she visited her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Snowden.

While at the Ramsey's cottage, they had a chance to enjoy the lake, at its front, in the evenings, when riding, then often was beer playing.

In Toronto, Ruby enjoyed being at her daughter's home, Mr. and Mrs. George Hrchenko. While visiting in Georgian Bay, Ruby was with relatives and found the weather cold. There were visits to relatives in Kingston, Ontario.

While in Detroit, Ruby attended the 25th anniversary of the Hatchers. She was a Past Mother Advisor and her daughter was a Past Worthy Advisor. A this special occasion they attended that banquet.

While in Sparta, Mich., Ruby's sister from Phoenix, Ariz., joined the three sisters for a visit. Each at this time then took a short trip from Muskegon into Lake Michigan and looked at Whitehall, where the sandy deposits provide the town with raw materials for a chemical industry. They found the lake a bit rough for boating.

Back in Detroit, Ruby stayed with Dr. Hugh Wren, who has a cottage on Lake Huron. There was a water-skiing party and their grandson, Douglas, jumped the jump. Also there was a member of the Detroit Club, composed of skiers who have jumped over 100 feet.

The Hadlines gave a farewell party, early for Thomson, Bill, who was going back to California, also for their daughter, Joyce, and her husband, Don. Their two daughters, Nancy and Beth, as they were moving to Toronto; also for Ruby who was leaving for Florida.

Because it just happened to be their 45th wedding anniversary, there was a three-layer cake decorated with the numerals "45". A marvelous dinner was served for 21 of their children and grandchildren. It was held in the garden. Fortunately the weather was cooperative and so did Mother Nature—the flowers were at their very best.

Before leaving the north, Ruby called on Bertrice and Harry Powell and found that Bertrice was walking a lot without the aid of her walker.

Nellie and Tom Cook arrived back in the park Aug. 24. Tom asked if I would complete the month of reporting, so he might catch up on their mail and have an opportunity to see what has happened in the park since they left in June.

So this is my report-ing of the news. My thanks to those who wrote their friends here and to those friends for sharing their letters with me for publication. So many have kept it under that way—like The Jensen Beach Mirror really transpires in the summer.

The Christies are back with us. Their seven weeks stay in the north was a very happy one for them, even if they did get slightly lost coming south, at one point on the road, they took the wrong turn but when they found themselves in Lexington, Ky., they stopped in on Ella Million MacDonald, for a short visit.

Unfortunately, they had a flat, and were near help for the one they had changed.

At Murfreesboro, Tenn., as they were traveling, they remembered Mary and Hilton Miller, but had time only to wave.

They attended the "Old Matchmakers" picnic at Rochester and saw Bertha Carlson, Chatwells, Hansens, Haynes and Freelands. This picnic is held annually.

They also called on Charlie and Louise Adams at Highland Park, Mich.

Edith Tower is at her children's room in Dayton, Ohio, presently. She has had a number of visitors during the past week or so, Mary Thompson, West Palm Beach.

Dan St. Germain is now home from Martin Memorial Hospital, where he underwent tests the past week.

There was one man all for the Ocean Breeze gathering during August. It was the genial Vincent Anderson, Detroit, and Dick Stone.

CLEMENT HALL--Folks returning to Ocean Breeze will be delighted with the remodeled and renovated Clement Hall. This much enlarged, air-conditioned recreation hall is already a favorite gathering place for summer residents, where a game of cards can be enjoyed in perfect comfort on the hottest of days. The accordian-type divider makes it possible to hold a party game in one-half, while the other half is available for private party use. Pictured above are Frank Zischerk, Scott Miles, Isabel Taylor and Elsie Bouchard.

Yosts celebrate 50th anniversary

From Esther and George Yost, Coatesville, Penna., to your reporter: Just had to write and tell you how much we enjoy reading the Ocean Breeze news in The Jensen Beach Mirror. It keeps us in touch and when we return, we feel as though we are up to date with everything.

We are starting to think about getting ready to return to the park, we hope sometime in October, or the first part of November.

It is very hot and dry, has happened in the park since they left in June.

So this is my keeping-up of the news. My thanks to those who wrote their friends here and to those friends for sharing their letters with me for publication. So many have kept it under that way—like The Jensen Beach Mirror really transpires in the summer.

From Peggy Dryer to your reporter: We are having a wonderful time up here at Mariaville.

Ruth and Joe built had a big barbecue dinner for us when we arrived. What a blessing good friends are!

New friends met and met on the Tarrytown Bridge, Thruway National Parkway and Bridal Veil Falls. We have also been to the Lower Valley Ruby Mines where I got covered with dirt and digging, sweat with searching and tears for trying, but finding no big mines. We went back and I have several small rubies and lots of garnets—so I had fun at each place.

Ruth has become a first-class square dancer and she and Joe are a delight to watch. We play cards three nights a week and dance three nights. We all had ice cream and delicious cake at Sylvia Sandborne's birthday party...everyone loves her.

Next week, the Marlands bought two huge turkeys, and we are all going to have a fabulous dinner on their wedding anniversary.

We celebrated our wedding anniversary Aug. 21. Our nice neighbors, the Tackleys, gave us a charcoal steak dinner with all the trimmings and we had a wonderful time. Bob, Betty, Dale and Ted Tackleys, Bob, Betty, Dale and Ted Tackleys, gave us a charcoal steak dinner with all the trimmings and we had a wonderful time.

Holiday Outlines

By George

Holiday Out, the trailer resort on A-1-A just north of the Martin County line, came into its own over the Labor Day weekend. Over 300 guests, some new to this area, were awed by the camp facilities. The pool and marina were the focal points of activities, and the new FM-FA system received much favorable comments.

Most guests were Floridians, but some came from as far away as British Columbia in the person of H.L. Jeffreys of Steveston, B.C.

Other guests were; the Terry Adams of Miami; Robert Long and family, Fort Lauderdale; the Art Nagys, also of Lauderdale; Mr. and Mrs. Rainwater, Rockledge; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Haas, Miami; the Fox family of Orlando; Warren MacNabb of Plantation. Many of these folks are bi-monthly and enjoyed the boating, surfing and fishing.

Honors sponsors

Pro-Am luncheon held

Representatives of three area chambers of commerce honored the first gold and silver sponsors of the 1968 U.S. Invitational Pro-Am Golf Tournament last Tuesday at a luncheon sponsored by host General Development, Master of ceremonies was Chuck Ankrum, GD director of golf and spearhead of local arrangements for the national event.

Ankrum had the sponsors introduce themselves to the press, and talked at length on the meaning of the tournament to this area. He introduced Bob Severson, Hobe Sound real estate man, and the first gold sponsor.

Talking to the members of the support force present, Ankrum said, "We must make this the week in Florida. We must activate a complete program for the spectators.

"After the last ball is hit for the last time, it will be up to Jensen Beach, Port Salerno and Stuart to entertain the thousands of visitors to this area."

Ankrum said that the U.S. Pro-Am was the largest "scratch" tournament in the country, and urged the sponsors to get their tickets out to people "here in the area" so that more people will be exposed to the two counties for the tournament period.

He estimated a half-million dollar gross retail sales from visitors during the tournament at area stores.

Ankrum introduced the new general manager of St. Lucie Country Club, Hans Rawe, who welcomed the guests and invited them to visit often to take advantage of the facilities of the club.

Hopes for a continuation of the two-year contract for the national tournament were expressed by Ankrum, who said that negotiations are in the interest of the sponsors and their support of the tournament, He said that the names of the signed professionals would be released as they are received at the main office of the U.S. Pro-Am in Cincinnati."

SPONSORS--First to volunteer as Gold and Silver sponsors of the Ninth Annual U.S. Invitational Pro-Am Golf Championship to be held at St. Lucie Country Club Dec. 12, 13 and 14, were feted at a luncheon in Hobe Sound Jan. Seated, from left: Duke Warren, P.G. Warren, Bob Heacock, St. Lucie Village; Jack Williams, Stuart; Dave Atlass, Ft. Pierce; Ed Lawrence, Sewall's Point; at the table, Ft. Pierce; Standing, Chuck Ankrum, Gen. Director of golf at the club; Jim Wiles, Ft. Pierce; Dan DiLoreto, Port St. Lucie; Sam Hendrickson, Ft. Pierce; not seated, Dave Sound, Marion Ayers, Ft. Pierce; Tom Davis, Ft. Pierce; Dick Carroll, Jensen Beach; Jack Shirley, Stuart; Dave Brook, Stuart; Bill Talmadge, Ft. Pierce; and Bill Marshall, Ft. Pierce.

Wanted

Men skilled in building trades are wanted to donate two days of labor so that the people of Jensen Beach can complete the new Langford Park recreation building. Men are needed for Saturday, Sept. 14, and Saturday, Sept. 21, from 8 a.m. each day. Those interested in volunteering their labor for the completion of this recreation building in the park can contact Frank Wacha or report to the ball park each Saturday morning.

County actions

The public hearing on removing mobile home parks in an HBA category and creating the new TF zoning has been delayed until Oct. 8, due to the failure of getting proper advertising of the zoning change.

The county agreed by a 4-1 vote, Tinsel Towers opposing, to buy the Lowey-Hayes building in Stuart for a future fire house for $20,000.

Commissioner Frank Wacha asked for action on lot mowing resolutions passed since January, after county engineer Slider reported a backlog of over 200 lots.

Turtle nets in the Indian River may be established soon near the House of Refuge, Engineer Slider is to study the building of the nets.

The regular meeting of Sept. 24 will be held Sept. 26.

The Audubon society received permission to post a spoil island in the Indian River as a rookery and bird sanctuary.

Agreed to refund $30 performance bond to Vaught and Wright on installation of electrical equipment at the auto inspection station.

Abandoned Sugar Hill Rd. resurfacing for present as no funds are available for the project.

PRO-AM WORKERS--At the head table, at Tuesday's luncheon, are some of the organizing team members of the 1968 Invitational Pro-Am Tournament. From left, Sam Hendrickson, Ft. Pierce; Sid Cherry, Ft. Pierre; Hans Rawe, new general manager of St. Lucie Country Club; Chuck Ankron, director of golf, General Development Corpl; Dr. Dannis R. Rinaldi, and Don Wiltse, both of Jensen Beach.

Tennis tournament into finals

The doctors team of Dr. J. W. Grossnickle and Dr. Richard G. Penick is riding high at Langford Park, downing their opponents during the past week's competition.

Means and Others were defeated 6-2; Shrigley and Shipes bowed under a 6-4 score; and the team of Salzler and Schommer battled Sunday night but were downed by a love set.

This moves the doctors into the finals which may be played Sunday. As yet their opponents are unnamed, as this is a double elimination tournament and the losers bracket is not extended to the finals.

In the mixed doubles, Mr. and Mrs. Tim Weiss defeated a gallant Judy Tripp and Carl Bantel 6-0.

First National has student loans

College and vocational students can borrow as much as $1,000 a year from First National Bank of Stuart in order to help finance their undergraduate studies, bank first vice-president Dale M. Hudson said Tuesday. Graduate students may borrow as much as $1500 a year.

The federal-state guaranteed long-term loans are made directly to the students. Students interested in taking out a loan should contact John Stepp, vice-president of First National Bank.

First National also has available limited scholarship funds to the University of Palm Beach.

Mercury vapor looms

SR 707 lighting getting underway

Mercury vapor lighting for five standards on Highway 707 by the causeway, and lights in six other places to brighten the darkened public highway for automotive and pedestrian traffic, is now on the order list of Florida Power and Light Company, according to County Commissioner Frank Wacha.

Completion date on installation of the new 7,000 lumen mercury vapor lights is "about the end of September", Carl Bridges, FP&L, told The Jensen Beach Mirror Tuesday.

The five lights, changing 2,500 lumen standard street lights to 7,000 lumen mercury vapor lights, will be located from a point two poles south of the causeway to a point three poles north of the causeway.

Two other places in the Jensen Beach area include a 7,000 lumen mercury vapor light at Sharp Road and SR 707, on dangerous Crossroads curve, and another at the entrance to All Saints' Cemetery, where a new pole will be erected to hold the light.

In Rio, lighting power and fixtures will be increased to handle 7,000 lumen mercury vapor lights at both sides of the Rio Civic Club on SR 707, at Anchorage Drive and SR 707, and at SR 707 and Martin Blvd.

Bridges said that a study of the lighting of Palmar Road from Sewall's Point Road to SR 707 was under way, as was a look into the lighting of Langford Park tennis courts.

Set for Christmas

Merchants plan palms

Jensen Beach Merchants Association this week began a campaign to collect money for the purchase of potted palm trees to be installed on sidewalks along Commerce Trail Street.

Participating merchants will donate $5 for each tree that is purchased for installation in the street.

Last Monday night, Bob Ammerlinger donated $20 in two trees on behalf of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce. Bob Smith, owner of Sewall's Point, donated $5 for one tree, and Al Walker donated $10 for a tree.

Contact of local Commercial Street merchants began Wednesday, according to Dick Campbell, publisher of The Jensen Beach Mirror and chairman of the committee. Mrs. James Stewart is assisting in the project, having handled the negotiations for trees and assisting in the purchase contract.

Merchants hope that the trees will be up by the street in time for the Christmas season, when the newly-acquired Christmas lighting system will be installed.

"We would like to plant as many trees as we can be able to install on the street, Mrs. Stewart came up with the idea at the opening party for the Jensen Grill. Since then we have had an overwhelming response. Owner of the shop we feel we could go ahead and have this planted before the end of the year. It's a great Christmas present to the people," Campbell said.

Boat exam

There will be a "Courtesy Examination of Boats" on Sept. 21 at the Jensen Beach Causews, during the cookout put on by the Coast Guard Auxiliary, Flotilla [illegible].

This is a safety measure and all interested boaters should take their crafts by and have the officers check them. If your boat passes, you will be given a sticker to put on it. This decal is respected by all law enforcement officers. There will be several examination officers present, so there should be no delays.

The cookout will start at 1:00 p.m., with food being served until about 7:30 p.m. A good time is planned for all.

Mr. and Mrs. Moody

Judy Lee Bruns weds Edward Moody

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bruns of Fort Salerno announce the marriage of their daughter, Judy Lee, to Airman E. Edward Moody.

The ceremony took place at the First Baptist Church of Jensen Beach at 3 p.m. August 31, with the Rev. Jack Farmander officiating.

The bride was attired in a floor length gown of white bridal satin and lace with a train falling from the shoulders. She wore a shoulder length veil with a seed pearl crown.

Maid of honor was Linda Bruns, sister of the bride, who wore a floor length gown of turquoise voil trimmed in white. Flower girl was Kathy Mallow, cousin of the bride, and the ring bearer was David Fernandez.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Moody of Sewall's Point, wore his U.S. Air Force dress blue uniform. Best man was James Hough, brother-in-law; ushers were Jay Bruns, Jere Bruns, David Alker and Ray Sartain.

Mother of the bride was attired in a pink lame dress and the groom's mother wore a pink lace dress. Both had pink rose corsages.

Following a short honeymoon in Georgia, the newlyweds will reside in Tampa, where he will be stationed at McDill AFB.

Voters may qualify for special ballot

Even if you haven't lived in Florida long enough to register as a regular voter here, you may still be able to vote for President and Vice-president in the November 5 election, according to Isabel Evans, Supervisor of Elections.

Those persons who have not yet fulfilled residency requirements, but who have become residents of the State of Florida, may vote a special ballot for President and Vice-president only by applying at the office of the Supervisor of Elections between Sept. 21 and Oct. 1.

To qualify, such persons must still be registered voters in the states from which they moved, she said.

Also, those desiring an absentee ballot may apply at the office, located in the West Wing of the courthouse in Stuart, beginning Sept. 21.

Hospital Ball committee named

Admiral and Mrs. Robert Gibbs and Mr. and Mrs. James Fowler have been named co-chairmen of the Martin Memorial Hospital Charity Ball. Committee members were also named, according to Mrs. Lucy Merritt, of the hospital.

The ball will be held Feb. 15, 1969, at St. Lucie Country Club.

Holiday Outlines

by George

The new recreation building, with promenade overlooking the ocean, at Holiday Out Trailer Resort, is providing a diversified program of activity. Included in the recreation area are shuffleboard courts of green cement (easy on the eyes), now under construction, tennis courts, putting green and a pool.

Work is being rushed to complete the second addition north of the present site, as many reservations are coming in for the winter season.

Causeway study under way

A long-range program to map Martin County's recreation areas, present and future, is under way. Plans include future improvements for Jensen Beach Causeway, according to County Commissioner Frank Wacha.

Tom Slider, county engineer, is examining the south side of the causeway, planning for future boat ramps and bulkheading to combat the erosion.

Cooperating with Slider on the mapping project is George Grimm, right-of-way agent for the county.

Rogers to speak

Congressman Paul G. Rogers will be guest speaker at the installation dinner for new officers of the Stuart Chamber of Commerce, according to James L. Overton, president.

The dinner will be Tuesday, Oct. 15, at 7:30 p.m. Evans Crary, Jr., former Martin County Judge and past president of the Chamber, will be master of ceremonies.

Officers will be elected at the annual business meeting at noon on Sept. 30. This will be a joint meeting with the Stuart Retail Merchants Association.

Planning committee for the installation dinner are: Jack Sailer, chairman; James Harper and Jerry Travis.

St. Lucie deposit algae

The blue-green surface deposit in the lower St. Lucie River has been analized by Ezra Woods and the Florida State Board of Health as algae. Samples indicate there appears to be no danger to wildlife or fish, according to a report submitted to William O. Maclaren, executive director of the Martin County Resources and Development Board, who requested the investigation.

Randolph Hodges, director of conservation, Tallahassee, has authorized further samples to be taken for a more detailed analysis by the conservation laboratories in St. Petersburg, Maclaren said. A further report will be made.

POOR BOB IS DEAD--Bob Weisenberger, shown in better days, died last Saturda... The popular restauranteur was 75, active in civic and social work in the community of Jensen Beach.

Over $100 collected

Palm tree memorial fund mounts

One week ago, at a meeting of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, the proposal of Commercial Street merchants to beautify the business district with potted palms was presented. Robert "Poor Bob" Weisenberger, a director, offered to buy two trees on behalf of the Chamber, and handed Chamber President Don Wilkie $20.

Weisenberger died on Saturday, and local residents, remembering the generous gift, decided to make the planting of palms along busy Commercial Street a memorial to the restaurateur.

By Tuesday, over $100 was collected at The Jensen Beach Mirror office by Dick Campbell, Mirror editor and chairman of the palm committee.

Contributions from individuals, clubs and organizations are also being accepted, as are memorials for other persons, Campbell said.

The living memorial of palm trees will cost ten dollars each, and will be placed in wire-reinforced concrete pots along Commercial Street, according to Campbell. The trees will be minimum care palms.

Participating merchants along Commercial Street will donate ten dollars for each tree they would like to see along the street, Monies collected for the memorial will be placed in the merchants' association account to buy the trees.

No plaques will be placed on the trees or on the pots, according to Campbell. "This is a living memorial, and constant repair and replacement of damaged pots and trees will necessitate the elimination of plaques, which, in themselves, would be expensive," he added.

"We are hoping to get some local organization to maintain the palms and assure that the pots will remain white and beautiful. It is easy to get the planting done on the street, but maintenance will be a problem," Campbell said.

Hennings is new librarian

LeRoy Hennings, 32, has been named new librarian for Martin County. It was announced by James A. Garvey, library board of trustees president. The appointment was effective Monday.

Hennings will replace Mrs. Noel Ross, who resigned early July to take another position. He comes to Martin County from a position as Inter-Library Loan Librarian of Florida State University.

A graduate of the University of Miami, 1960, Hennings has a history of library work. He received his library degree in library science at F.S.U. this year. He worked as librarian for the Glades County school system, librarian for the engineering and physics library at the University of Miami, librarian for Miami-Dade Junior College and at the Miami Public Library in several departments.

The young bachelor was born in Mount Klaco, N.Y., and is seeking an apartment in the area. At present he is staying at the home of his brother, Paul J. Hennings.

Garvey noted the experience of the new librarian in announcing his appointment. "We are very proud to have Mr. Hennings on the staff of Martin County Library," Garvey said.

"He has been making a thorough study of the library survey recently completed by Mr. Wheeler, and we are looking for the implementation of his evaluation of the study. We can look forward to a period of sound growth for Martin County's library system," Garvey said.

LIBRARIAN--LeRoy Hennings is the new librarian at Martin County Library. His appointment, effective this week, was announced by James A. Garvey, president of the library board of trustees. Hennings will replace Mrs. Noel Ross, who resigned recently.

Jensen Bank has dividend

E. C. Warshein, chairman of the board and president of Jensen Beach Bank, announces that the directors have declared a cash dividend of fifteen cents per share, payable Sept. 30, 1968 to the shareholders of record Sept. 15.

The Bank had previously paid two 10 percent stock dividends in each of the years 1966 and 1967. Therefore, Warshein said, this fifteen cent dividend is the equivalent of eighteen cents per share on the original shares issued when the Bank was organized.

'Poor Bob' funeral services are set

Funeral services for Robert Francis Weisenberger, 75, will be held Thursday. Weisenberger died at Martin Memorial Hospital Saturday, following a brief illness.

Services will be held at Johns Funeral Home Chapel at 10 a.m., with burial following at All Saints' Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home from 2 to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m. on Wednesday (today). Prayer services will be conducted by Stuart-Jensen Beach Lodge B.P.O.E. #1870 at 8 p.m.

A former resident of Dayton, Ohio, he had lived in Jensen Beach for 16 years. He was owner and operator of Poor Bob's Restaurant, member of Jensen Beach Lions Club, director of Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce, and a member of the Florida Sheriff's Association here; BPOE #56, the Variety Club International and Knights of Columbus, all of Dayton. He was a deputy commissioner of the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department.

He was a member of St. Joseph Catholic Church of Stuart.

He is survived by his wife, Lillian, Jensen Beach; three nephews and four nieces of Cincinnati.

Jetty is useless

Is dredging of St. Lucie Inlet a waste of taxpayers' money?

by Dick Campbell

Leonard Smith stood gingerly on the top of a gigantic rock, a part of the St. Lucie Inlet jetty.

"Look at that, look at that," he said, disgusted.

Water splashed again at the rocks of the jetty. In the wide separation between two of the huge rocks, sand swirled through, carried by the rushing waters of the Atlantic Ocean.

"Tons of sand, pouring through the jetty like going through a sieve. Dredging won't stop this."

Smith turned and looked down the line of rocks leading out to sea. The tide, now going out, still splashed over the tops of the rocks as waves upon waves rolled in to shore. Surly white patches of bubbles hung steadily to the rocks, then faded, to be replaced moments later with more white suds of a sea breaking on the tired, weakened jetty.

Stepping off onto the sand, just ankle deep, Smith pointed to the south of the jetty.

"Look at that. The tides move the sands in, then they swirl across the inlet in eddies, carrying the sand to form the bar. No amount of dredging can stop this, when the jetty itself cannot hold the sand.

The bar of sand stretched across the inlet to the south barring boat traffic demanding any depth. White water charged across the sand bar in search of the deeper parts of the inlet's meandering channel.

From a point several hundred yards south of the jetty, standing on a mound of sand four to six feet above the water, Smith looked back at the jetty.

"See that. We are up above the water, in a place that should be in the inlet, yet we are high and dry. That is how much sand has built up here over the years.

"Back there (he pointed to the northwest) the sand is twenty feet high on the Hutchinson Island side of the jetty. See those trees? They are growing on land that used to be in the Atlantic Ocean."

Smith, along with many charter boat captains and owners, feels that the main problem with the inlet is the jetty. He points out that when the jetty was long and high, little sand flowed into the inlet. There were no continuing problems with the dredging of the inlet.

"One good northeaster for several days will completely close the inlet again after the efforts of Engineers dredges it," Smith said. "It could happen the day after the dredge pulls out."

To Smith, and some of the experienced sea captains who dread using the dangerous inlet, the first step should be the removal of some of the half-mile of jetty rocks now buried, or partially buried by sand, and their replacing on the seaward jetty itself to close the gap through which sand pours into the inlet.

"Close to a quarter-million dollars has been spent on dredging the inlet in the past three years...enough money to get a good start on the permanent operation of a good, safe inlet," said the Jensen Beach businessman.

"Dumping another sixty to one-hundred thousand dollars into the inlet would be just a waste of taxpayer's money, and in a few months we would be right back where we started with a blocked inlet," Smith added.

In the back room of Helen's Dress Shop on Commercial St., Smith showed aerial photographs of differing dates. He drew an imaginary line on the photograph that was taken in 1928.

"Look at the line of the beach. It was straight down the coast. Now look at this one, taken in 1958. This shows how the sand built up, covering the rocks, and how trees have grown on the sand that is building higher and higher. A later photo (1967) showed even more sand built along the north and south sides of the jetty.

"Some developers estimate that land is building up at the rate of 36 feet per year out into the ocean along the jetty," Smith said.

Smith has formed an action committee of local men to oppose the dredging of the channel without provision for repair to the inlet jetty. He hopes that his committee can induce the U.S. Corps of Engineers to reconsider the inlet dredging project, slated to be let on Friday, Sept. 20.

In a letter to Col. John F. McElhenny on Sept. 11, Smith pointed out the jetty problem, the possible temporary solution, and enclosed photographs of the jetty taken by The Jensen Beach Mirror.

The letter pointed out that the sand was built up as high as 20 feet above sea level on the north side of the jetty, that half or more of the original jetty was covered with sand, and that a sand plain had built up on the south side of the jetty as far out as 150 yards and as high as six feet above sea level.

In the letter, Smith plead, "Couldn't we take a part of the money planned for use on dredging the inlet and merely move the gigantic boulders? These boulders are now useless, some buried alongside the 20-foot dunes which are bound in trees and shrubbery. This would restore the inlet to its natural flow and hold the sand to the north until our sand transfer plant is possible."

Smith also feels that the strengthening of the inlet jetty would enable the St. Lucie River to return to normal, cutting the sand bars and the built-up sand plain down, and allowing the natural water flow to keep the channel straight.

He asked the district engineer to readvertise for bids on the inlet dredging project to include the moving of the boulders.

Smith, who owns four boats two of them over 30 feet long, wrote that the inlet jetty project was only a "stop-gap measure" which would be used to best save the Corps of Engineers the money on future emergency dredgings, and would hasten the addition of public lands from private ownership to the south of the inlet.

Jupiter Island, south of the inlet, is in private ownership. Federal participation funds depend upon the amount of lands in public ownership for the assistance rendered to projects such as the St. Lucie Inlet. The greater the public ownership of land, the greater the Federal funds participation.

Smith plans to continue his crusade for a wide, safe, deep inlet, organizing his committee, seeking help, and urging the "proper inlet development with the proper safeguards for taxpayer money."

His is an enormous task, as large as the giant boulders that lie, half-buried in the littoral drift sands of Hutchinson Island. Leonard Smith, who calls a flourishing business in granite construction in Columbus, Ohio, with its hands, finds that he must again deal in rock, and is determined to move mountains of boulders to accomplish his task.

SAND FLOWS--The littoral drift of sand along Florida's coastline from north to south finds little to stop it when it reaches the St. Lucie Inlet jetty. This fifteen-foot wide passage between coquina boulders that make up the jetty could account for tons of sand a day washed through the wide opening. Leonard L. Smith looks at the sand as it is washed through the gap and into the inlet area.

HIGH AND DRY--Standing where there was once deep water, Leonard Smith shows the filling of the area to the west of Hutchinson Island. The original shoreline was west of the trees growing in the background, a full twenty feet higher due to the buildup of sand along the jetty. Smith would like to see the Corps of Engineers move the now covered boulders to the east, plugging up the sieve-like jetty to keep sand from flowing through.

FAREWELL--Scoutmaster Gene Kasper, left, held his last Court of Honor last Thursday night as leader of Boy Scout Troop #401, Jensen Beach. Assistant Scoutmaster Art Pitman presents Kasper with a plaque of appreciation from the troop. Kasper also received a going-away gift from the boys.

April completion seen for Palm City Bridge

Title to the last parcel of right-of-way for the new Palm City Bridge is expected well in advance of the Sept. 26 bidding, according to Martin County right-of-way agent George Grimm. Because of multiple ownership, he said, the deed must be sent to several different owners throughout the country.

Completion on the $1.2 million bridge, to be built 60 feet north of the present span, is expected in April.

Construction will start in November.

As soon as the rights-of-way are obtained for the new Poppleton Creek Bridge bidding will be scheduled, according to Arnold Ramos, district engineer with the State Road Department.

Grimm is also working on obtaining easements for ditches along SR 76 from U.S. #1 and Martin County High School. This stretch will be four-laned at a cost of $450,000.

Troop 401 holds Court of Honor

Demos 58% - GOP 37% state registration

Fifty-eight percent of the registered voters in the State of Florida are Democrats, 37% are Republicans, and 5% are Independents, according to figures compiled by the office of Secretary of State Tom Adams.

In Martin County, with a total of 324 persons registering from June 3 to Aug. 30, 195 are Democrats, 122 Republicans and 7 others.

In St. Lucie County, with 482 registering during the same period, 291 are Democrats, 166 Republicans, and 25 others.

Demos elect John J. Marr

John J. Marr was elected president of the Democratic Club of Martin County at the Sept. 10 meeting held at Stuart Youth Center.

Other officers elected are; Larry Buchanan, vice-president; Charles Eitzen, secretary, and R. L. Hall, treasurer.

A committee of Kenneth Stidwell and Buchanan was appointed to submit a constitution and by-laws for adoption at the next meeting scheduled for Tuesday, in the Community Room, First National Bank.

A committee was also appointed to assist in the Democratic campaign and encourage residents to register and vote.

Regrets were extended to Edward Murray, chairman of the M.C. Democratic Executive Committee, who has undergone surgery at Veterans Hospital, Miami, and best wishes for a speedy recovery were extended by the 50 persons attending the meeting.

Brotherhood dinner will be Friday

The fall schedule is being resumed at Jensen Beach Community Church Friday, Sept. 20, when the Men's Brotherhood will have its first dinner-meeting of the season, starting at 6 p.m. All men of the area are invited.

On Sept. 24 at 8 p.m., the Friendship Circle will meet at the church.

Plans for the annual fair will be finalized at the Sept. 25 meeting of the Church Aid Circle. The 1 p.m. meeting will be held in Fellowship Hall. The annual fair is scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 16.

Red Cross members make 683 articles

Forty members of Martin County Chapter, American Red Cross's production group completed a total of 683 articles during the last seven months, according to Mrs. Clara Vaught, chairman. The group, with which she has been active for 27 years, meets Thursdays at American Legion Home in Jensen Beach from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Anyone interested in helping is asked to call 287-2002.

The articles were on display at the regular meeting of the Board of Directors on Sept. 10. Material is supplied by the Red Cross for the articles which are sent to hospitals and veterans administration centers. The women also make Ditty Bags for servicemen in Vietnam, and expect to send 300 this Christmas.

Recent letters of thanks have been received from Naval Hospital, Key West; V.A. Center, Dublin, Ga.; V.A. Center, Biloxi, Miss., and American Red Cross, Montgomery, Ala.

VWW1 news

Martin County Barracks #654, VWW1, and its auxiliary will meet for a covered dish dinner Friday, Sept. 20, at 6 p.m. on the Jensen Beach Causeway. Members are asked to bring table service, a covered dish and beverage.

A business meeting by both organizations will follow the dinner.

Inspection Station has new hours

Permanent hours for the Martin County vehicle inspection station have been announced by G. T. Slider, county engineer.

Starting Sept. 23, Monday, the station will open at 8 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday; and from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday, Slider said.

Conser heads VFW as post organizes

On Friday, Sept. 13, 1968, the new Port St. Lucie Veterans of Foreign Wars held its first meeting. At this meeting the election of new officers was held. They will be meeting at the Port St. Lucie fire station once a month. It has not been definitely decided which Friday will be the meeting night. The formal installation will be on Sept. 27 at the VFW Post Home #8064 on U. S. #1 in Ft. Pierce at 8:00 PM. The term each officer will serve will be one year from the date of election. The officers elected were as follows: Commander, Russell Conser; Sr. Vice Commander, Frank Bould; Jr. Vice Commander, James Scott; Quartermaster Vic Correia, Chaplain John Fradd.

One-year trustee John Bohn, two years Richard Nason, three years A. J. McNeil- Surgeon William Basler.

Needed to form a Post were 25 eligible men. The following are the charter members:

McNeil, Dave Smith, Bould, Cecil Costima, Russell Newick, George Hauna, James Purcell, Vincent Correia, Ted Handy, Hardin Ross, Les Johnson, John Taylor, Horace Cole, Boan, George Roberts, Robert Stachler, Hubert Taylor, Fradd, Floyd Lamonta, Hasler, Wendell LeVan, David Noel, Nason, Scott, Marvin Jones and Conser.

Other officers will be elected or appointed at a later date.

Buker wins top soldier

Steven Buker, stationed at Fort Jackson, S.C., has been selected "outstanding soldier of the first basic combat training brigade" at that post, according to information received this week by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin O. Buker, 184 Sarasota Court.

Lt. Col. Joseph Grezaffi, acting commander of the brigade, wrote the latter of commendation, citing Buker as one who has "clearly demonstrated outstanding leadership ability."

"This procedure is as old as the Army itself, and the competition for this honor of being named outstanding soldier is keen," wrote Grezaffi. "In this brigade, the outstanding soldier becomes an advisor to the brigade commander and confers with him on all aspects of basic combat training.

"Your son is to be commended for putting forth the considerable extra effort required to be selected as an outstanding soldier. I know you will be pleased to learn of this recognition that he has earned," he concluded.

Buker went into the Army on Aug. 9 and will be graduating on Oct. 11. His address is Pvt. Steven Buker, RA 12833011, Co. C, 2nd Bat. 1 BCTHDO, Fort Jackson, S. Carolina, 29207.

Sea Scouts organize

The Port St. Lucie Sea Scouts Troop #498 held their first meeting on Sept. 5 at the Marina. The Sea Scouts have a membership drive on right now. Boys between the ages of 13 and 18 can join.

Applications may be obtained from Boatswain David Gessner, Jr., Boatswain's Mate Allen Bagamery, Purser Ted Bickford, or their Skipper, David Gessner, Sr. The next meeting is on Sept. 19 at 7:30 p.m.

Homemakers will roll bandages

The Homemakers Club held their first meeting of the season on Sept. 12. Mrs. John Pierce, president said their guest speaker was Mrs. Ilene Bozell. The subject was "Personal Grooming."

They planned a program for the coming year, among which is rolling bandages for the Red Cross. The club is requesting that anyone who can, to bring clean old sheets for the bandages.

A workshop is planned for every Tuesday morning at the Marina. It will start on Sept. 17 at 10:00 till 12:00. Everyone is welcome to attend and bring any handicraft she may be working on. Last year this active group made over 8 dozen dresses for the Inland Training Center for Returned Children. Hostesses for this meeting were, Mrs. Mary Marsi, Mrs. Betty Davis, and Mrs. Leone Heit.

PSL bridge news

John and Vergie Watson topped the field with a score of 12 points at Friday's session of the St. Lucie Country Club Duplicate Bridge game.

Tie for second were Bill and Mildred Treverton, and Vera Jackson and Betty Mans at 10 points.

The next regular game will be Friday, Sept. 20, at 1:30 p.m., following the lecture at 1 p.m. by Jay Mans.

Cookout for youth Wednesday

The Young Adult cookout will be held Wednesday, Sept. 25, at the Marina. The cookout is open to all young adults in Port St. Lucie. The menu will include T- bone steak, baked potatoes and salad. After the cookout, there are games planned. This is a good way to get to know your neighbors. In order to know how much food to prepare you must call in your reservation to the Marina. This must be done before Monday, Sept. 23.

SPEAKER--U. S. Rep. Edward J. Gurney, candidate for the U.S. Senate, shown here as he spoke, attended the St. Lucie Country Club dinner sponsored by local Republicans Thursday night. (St. Lucie Country Club photo)

PSL golf news

Port St. Lucie women golfers played on the Sixteen course last Tuesday. Nine players made up three groups, each playing its own game.

Those playing were: Marian Cole, Bette Connolly, Irene Helmer, Adele Johnson, Mary Kuhn, Betty Preston, Meredith Ross, Tallie Ross and Hazel Towle.

Junior women plan activities

The Junior Women's Club met on Sept. 11 at the Marina, reports Mrs. Richard Schaefer. This was their first meeting of the season, and the following guests were present: Mrs. Pat Rydell, Mrs. Vivian Teal, Mrs. Shirley Wright, Mrs. Margaret Wortendyke, Mrs. Barbara Brewster, and Mrs. Sandra Boynton.

The club plans a Bake Sale for Oct. 4, at Port St. Lucie shopping center. There will be not only cakes, but homemade tomato sauces and other homemade products.

The Jr. Woma s Club is continuing a project of making stuffed animals for the children in the Pediatric ward of the Ft. Pierce Memorial Hospital. Each child is given a stuffed animal to keep. The club also plans a fashion show for sometime early in November. A date will be announced later. Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Richard Schaefer and Mrs. James Chestnut. The next meeting will be held on Oct. 9.

GOP card party held

The Republican Club held their 4th Annual Card Party on Sept. 10. Over 150 people attended. The decorations were red, white, and blue. I understand it looked very festive. Many door prizes were given. The lead certificates were won by Mrs. Nancy Mitchell, Miss Magarat Young, and Mrs. Madge Avery. Head chairman was Mrs. Aleta Keller. The committee chairman were: Decorations, Mrs. Kathrin Hubner; Refreshments, Mrs. Ruth McDonnell; Tickets, Miss Grace Follmer; Door Prizes, Mrs. Pauline Learned; Posters, Mrs. Russell Newick. Much help was given in setting up the tables by Mr. Albert McDonnell and Mr. Harold Hubner.

Golf meet held at Vero Beach

Indian River Golf League met recently at Vero Beach Country Club for play. The host club scored 24.5, with 27 players, for a new total of 104. Indian Hills was second with nine points, St. Lucie Country Club third with a team score of 19.5, for a total of five, and Martin County Country Club, with 15 players, team score of 16.5, had a total of 9 points.

Low gross went to Bob Baker, 96; low net to Dick Bishop, 67, both of Vero.

The next meeting will be Sunday, Sept. 22, on the Sixteen course at St. Lucie Country Club.

(2) REFUNDING BONDS. Revenue bonds to finance the cost of state road projects issued prior to the effective date of this revision may be issued pursuant to this revision to finance additional projects of the Florida state road department authority or to refund any or all outstanding bonds issued by the authority without vote of the electors at a lower net average interest rate by the issuance of bonds maturing not later than the obligations refunded, secured by the same taxes only.

MOTOR VEHICLE FUEL TAXES.

(1) A state tax, designated "second gas tax" of two cents per gallon upon the same and other like products or substitutes and an equivalent tax upon other forms of energy used to propel motor vehicles as levied by Article XII, Section 16, of the Constitution of 1885, as amended, is hereby continued for a period of forty consecutive years. The proceeds of said tax shall remain deposited in the state road department fund in the state treasury.

(2) Article IX, Section 16, of the Constitution of 1885, as amended, is hereby by this reference as a part of this revision as completely as though set forth herein verbatim for the purpose of providing that after the effective date of this revision the proceeds of the second gas tax" as referred to herein shall be allocated among the several counties in accordance with the formula stated thereafter to the extent necessary to comply with all obligations to or for the benefit of holders of bonds, revenue certificates and tax anticipation certificates or refundings thereof secured by any portion of the second gas tax.

(3) No funds anticipated to be allocated by the formula stated in Article IX, Section 16, of the Constitution of 1885, as amended, shall be pledged as security for any obligation hereafter incurred into, except that any tax anticipation obligations previously issued may be refunded as provided in paragraph (2) hereof. Funds allocated pursuant to Article IX, Section 16, may be refunded at a lower net average interest rate by the issuance of bonds maturing not later than the obligations refunded, secured by the same revenues and any additional security authorized in paragraph (2) hereof.

(4) Subject to the requirements of paragraph (2) of this subsection and paragraph (2) of administrative expense, after payment of the cost of collection, the second gas tax" shall be placed in the account of each of the several counties in amounts to be determined as follows: There shall be set to that allocation of one-fourth in the ratio of the total area of each state area, one-fourth in the ratio of the total county population to the total population of the state in accordance with the latest available federal census, and one-half in the ratio of the total money paid as tax collected on fuel upon which in each county to the total collected in all counties of the state during the previous fiscal year. If the foregoing requirements of pledges and obligations issued for any counties, and the requirements for priority of second under paragraph (2) of this subsection, exceeds the amount which would be allocated to such county under the formula set out in this paragraph, the amounts allocated to other counties shall be reduced proportionately.

(5) Funds allocated under paragraph (4), and (6) of this subsection, shall be administered by the state road department created under Section 14 of the said Article X, Section 14 of the said Article X as amended and as continued as a body corporate by Section 11 of this revision. The said shall remit the proceeds of the second gas tax in each county monthly to the county as follows: seventy-five per cent to the state road department supervising the state road system and twenty per cent to the paving boards of the county. The remainder shall be used for the construction and maintenance of roads in the county system, as may be determined by general law.

(6) Any part of the second gas tax allocated to a county which is not needed for the purposes set forth in subsection (5) above may be used for such purposes as may be determined by law to make a determination that in no way will impair the credit security of any bonds or certificates of the county or the holders of the second gas tax revenues allocated to the county.

(7) Any part of the proceeds of the pledged second gas tax remaining after the payment of debt service requirements of the pledged bonds issued as provided in this paragraph (2) to finance the construction and construction of roads as defined by law, and third, for the acquisition and construction of roads as defined by law, state bonds payable from full faith and credit of the state may be issued without any election and obligations be incurred for the acquisition, and construction of roads as a county system, upon approval by the governing body of the state road department, supervising the state road system, and limited to the proceeds of the second gas tax allocated to the county for the use in said county as follows: sixty per cent to the state road department supervising the state road system and twenty per cent to the paving boards of the county. The remainder shall be used for the construction and maintenance of roads in the county system, as may be determined by general law.

(8) Any part of the second gas tax allocated to a county which is not needed for the purposes set forth in subsection (5) above may be used for such purposes as may be determined by law to make a determination that in no way will impair the credit security of any bonds or certificates of the county or the holders of the second gas tax revenues allocated to the county.

(9) Any part of the proceeds of the pledged second gas tax remaining after the payment of debt service requirements of the pledged bonds issued as provided in this paragraph (2) to finance the construction and construction of roads as defined by law, and third, for the acquisition and construction of roads as defined by law, state bonds payable from full faith and credit of the state may be issued without any election and obligations be incurred for the acquisition, and construction of roads as a county system, upon approval by the governing body of the state road department, supervising the state road system, and limited to the proceeds of the second gas tax allocated to the county for the use in said county as follows: sixty per cent to the state road department supervising the state road system and twenty per cent to the paving boards of the county. The remainder shall be used for the construction and maintenance of roads in the county system, as may be determined by general law.

(10) SCHOOL BONDS. Article XII Section 11, of the Constitution of 1885, as amended, as revised immediately before this revision becomes effective is adopted by this reference as part of this revision as completely as though set forth herein verbatim except bonds or tax anticipation certificates hereafter issued thereunder shall not bear interest in excess of five per cent per annum or such higher interest rate as may be authorized by vote of a three-fifths vote of each house of the legislature. Bonds issued pursuant to this subsection (d) shall be payable primarily from revenues derived as provided in Article XII, Section 11 of the Constitution of 1885, as amended, and if authorized by law, bonds issued pursuant to this section shall be additionally secured by pledging the full faith and credit of the state. If and as an election, when authorized by law, bonds issued pursuant to this Article XII, Section 11 of the Constitution of 1885, as amended, or bonds issued pursuant to this subsection (d), may be refunded by the issuance of bonds additionally secured by the full faith and credit of the state which bear interest at a lower net average interest cost rate.

(11) DEBT LIMITATION. Bonds issued pursuant to this Section 9 of Article XII which are payable primarily from revenues pledged pursuant to this section shall not be included in computing the limits upon the amounts of bonds contained in Section 11 Article XII of this revision.

SECTION 10. PRESERVATION OF EXISTING GOVERNMENT.—All provisions of Articles I through IX, Article XI and Article XII of the Constitution of 1885, as amended not embraced herein which are not inconsistent with this revision shall become subject to modification or repeal as other statutes.

SECTION 11. SELECTION OF OBSOLETE SCHEDULE ITEMS.—The legislature shall have power by joint resolution to delete from this revision any section of this Article XII or including this section, when all events to which the section to be deleted is or may become applicable have occurred. A legislative determination of fact made as a basis for applicability of this section shall be subject to judicial review.

Section 12. SENATORS.—The references of staggered terms of senators in Section 15(a) of Article III of this revision shall apply only to senators elected in November 1972 and thereafter.

Section 13. LEGISLATIVE APPORTIONMENT.—The requirements of legislative apportionment in Section 16 of Article III of this revision shall apply only to the apportionment of the legislature following the decennial census in 1970 and thereafter.

Section 14. REPRESENTATIVES.—The legislature at its first regular session following the ratification of this revision, by joint resolution, shall propose to the electors of the state for ratification or rejection at the general election of 1970 an amendment to Article III, Section 15(a) of the constitution providing staggered terms of four years for members of the house of representatives.

Section 15. SPECIAL DISTRICT TAXES.—Ad valorem taxing power granted by law to special districts existing when this revision becomes effective shall not be abrogated by Section 9(b) of Article VII herein and shall control in all cases of conflict with any part of subsections (1) through IV, VII, and IX through XI herein.

Section 16. REORGANIZATION.—The requirement of Section 6, Article IV of this revision shall not apply until July 1, 1969.

Section 17. CONFLICTING PROVISIONS.—This schedule is designed to effect the orderly transition of government from the Constitution of 1885, as amended, to this revision and shall control in all cases of conflict with any part of Articles I through IV, VII, and IX through XI herein.

No. 4

Senate Joint Resolution No. 4-TX

A JOINT RESOLUTION proposing a revision of Article VI of the Constitution of the State of Florida relating to suffrage and eligibility.

Be It Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

That the following proposed revision of Article VI of the Constitution of the State of Florida is hereby agreed to and shall be submitted to the electors of this state for ratification or rejection at the next general election to be held in November 1968:

ARTICLE V

SUFFRAGE AND ELECTIONS

Section 1. REGULATION OF ELECTIONS. All elections by the people shall be by direct and secret vote. General elections shall be determined by a majority of votes cast. Registration and elections shall, and political party functions may be regulated by law.

Section 2. ELECTORS.—Every citizen of the United States who is at least twenty-one years of age and who has been a permanent resident for one year in the state and six months in a county, if registered as provided by law, shall be an elector of that county. Provisions may be made by law that other bona fide residents of the state of like age and length of residence shall have to vote in the election of presidential electors.

Section 3. OATH.—Each eligible elector upon voting shall say or subscribe the following: "I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the State of Florida, and that I am qualified to register and vote under the Constitution and laws of the State of Florida."

Section 4. DISQUALIFICATIONS.—No person convicted of felony or adjudicated in this or any other state to be mentally incompetent shall be qualified to vote or hold office until restoration of civil rights or removal of disability.

Section 5. GENERAL AND SPECIAL ELECTIONS.—A general election shall be held in each county on the first Tuesday after the first Monday after November 1 in each even numbered year, to choose a successor in office for each county officer whose term will expire before the next general election and, except as provided herein, to fill a vacancy for the unexpired portion of the term in each office to be filled at said election. All special elections may be held as provided by law.

Section 6. MUNICIPAL AND DISTRICT ELECTIONS.—Municipal and district elections in municipalities shall be held as provided by law. Each municipality shall provide for the registration of electors. Registration books may be closed not more than twenty nor less than ten days prior to any election.

Section 7. ELECTION LAWS.—Adequate provision shall be made by law for a uniform method of registration and the conduct of elections in this state.

ARTICLE VI

LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Section 1. COUNTIES.

(a) POLITICAL SUBDIVISIONS. The state shall be divided by law into counties. No county lines shall be changed, counties may be created, abolished or changed in area, nor shall any part be removed without the approval of the electors of the county affected.

(b) COUNTY BONDS. The state counties and municipal districts, counties, funds shall be provided by general law.

(c) SELF-GOVERNMENT. Pursuant to general or special law a county government may be established by charter which shall be adopted, amended or repealed only upon vote of the electors of the county affected in an election called for that purpose.

(d) COUNTY OFFICERS. There shall be elected by the electors of each county, for terms of four years, a sheriff, a tax collector, a tax assessor, a superintendent of public instruction, a county commission, except that the duties of these officers may be altered or abolished by special law approved by vote of the electors of the county affected, and except as may be provided by charter. Other county officers may be elected as provided by charter or special law approved by vote of the electors. The governing body of the county shall be a board of county commissioners composed of five members serving staggered terms of four years. After each decennial census the board of county commissioners shall divide the county into districts of contiguous territory as near equal in population as practicable. One commissioner, residing in each district, shall be elected by the electors of the county.

(e) CHARTER GOVERNMENT. Counties not operating under county charters shall have such power of self-government as is provided by general or special law. The method of exercising home rule power by counties not operating under a charter may be provided by general law. Counties operating under county charters shall have all powers of local self-government not inconsistent with general law, or with special law approved by vote of the electors. The governing body of a county operating under a charter may enact county ordinances not inconsistent with general law. The charter shall provide which shall prevail in the event of conflict between county and municipal ordinances.

(f) TAXES; LIMITATION. Property situate within municipalities shall be subject to taxation for services rendered by the county exclusively for the benefit of the property or residents in unincorporated areas.

(g) COUNTY ORDINANCES. Each county ordinance shall be filed with the secretary of state and shall become effective at such time thereafter as provided by general law.

(h) CODIFICATION OF ORDINANCES. Portions of existing county ordinances shall be prosecuted and punished as provided by law.

(i) COUNTY SEAT. Each county seat shall be established at the county seat at which shall be located the principal offices and permanent records of all county officers. The county seat may be moved only as provided by general law. Branch offices for any county officer may be established elsewhere within the county by resolution of the governing body of the county in the manner prescribed by law. No instrument shall be deemed recorded in the county until filed at the county seat according to law.

Section 2. MUNICIPALITIES.—

(a) ESTABLISHMENT. Municipalities may be established or abolished and their charters amended pursuant to general or special law. When any municipality is abolished, provision shall be made for the protection of its creditors.

(b) POWERS. Municipalities shall have governmental, corporate and proprietary powers to enable them to conduct municipal government, perform municipal functions and render municipal services, and may exercise any power for municipal purposes except as otherwise provided by law. Each municipal legislative body shall be elective.

(c) ANNEXATION. Municipal annexation of unincorporated territory, merger of municipalities and exercise of extra-territorial powers by municipalities shall be as provided by general or special law.

Section 3. CONSOLIDATION.—The government of a county and the government of one or more municipalities located therein may be consolidated into a single government with such powers granted by general or special law. The consolidation plan may be proposed only by special law, which shall become effective if approved by vote of the electors of the county and the municipalities affected. It may be provided in the plan of Consolidation shall not extend the territorial scope of taxation for the payment of pre-existing debt except as to areas which receive a special benefit from the facility or service for which the indebtedness was incurred.

Section 4. TRANSFER OF POWERS.—By law or by resolution of the governing bodies of each of the governments affected, any function of a county, municipality or special district may be transferred to, contracted to be performed by another county, municipality or special district, after approval by vote of the electors of the transferor and approval by vote of the electors of the transferee, or as otherwise provided by law.

Section 5. LOCAL OPTION.—Local option on the legality or prohibition of the sale of intoxicating liquors, wines or beers shall be preserved in each county to the extent that with respect thereto shall be changed only by vote of the electors in a general election called upon the petition of twenty-five per cent of the electors of the county, and not sooner than two years after an earlier election on the same question. Where legal, the sale of intoxicating liquors, wines and beers shall be regulated by law.

ARTICLE VII

FINANCE AND TAXATION

(a) This article shall replace all of Article VIII of the Constitution of 1885, as amended, except those sections expressly retained as a part of this article by reference.

(b) COUNTIES; COUNTY SEATS; MUNICIPALITIES; DISTRICTS. The status of the following items as they exist on the date this article becomes effective—counties, county seats and municipalities—is recognized and shall be continued until changed in accordance with authority granted by the state: their status with respect to the power to levy taxes; the exercise of liquor, wines and beers; the method of selection of city officials; the performance of municipal functions by county officials; the relationship between the municipalities and special districts and their respective powers. Jurisdiction and government of

(c) CONSTITUTIONAL OFFICES. All provisions of the Metropolitan Dade County Home Rule Charter heretofore or hereafter adopted by the electors of Dade County pursuant to Article VIII, Section 11, of the Constitution of 1885, as amended, shall be valid and any amendments to such charter shall be valid, provided such charter and the said amendments to such charter shall be adopted in accordance with the procedure provided in Article VIII, Section 11, of the Constitution of 1885, as amended.

(d) ORDINANCES. Local laws relating only to unincorporated areas of a county on the effective date of this article may be amended or repealed by county ordinance.

(e) CONSOLIDATION AND HOME RULE. Article VIII, Sections 9, 10, 11 and 24 of the Constitution of 1885, as amended, shall remain in full force and effect to the extent they are operative as of this article had not been adopted, until the counties have adopted or adopt a charter or home rule plan pursuant to this article. All provisions of the Metropolitan Dade County Home Rule Charter heretofore or hereafter adopted by the electors of Dade County pursuant to Article VIII, Section 11, of the Constitution of 1885, as amended, shall be valid and any amendments to such charter shall be valid, provided such charter and the said amendments to such charter shall be adopted in accordance with the procedure provided in Article VIII, Section 11, of the Constitution of 1885, as amended.

(f) DADE COUNTY; POWERS TRANSFERRED; MUNICIPAL LIMITATIONS. To the extent not inconsistent with the powers of existing municipalities or agencies created by the government of Dade County may exercise all powers conferred now or hereafter by general law upon municipalities.

(g) DIRECTION OF OBSOLETE SCHEDULE ITEMS. The legislature shall have power, by joint resolution, to direct the deletion from this Article VII of any subsection which is obsolete or executed because of the occurrence of events specified therein or because of a legislative determination of fact made as a basis for such action, which determination shall be subject to judicial review.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Great Seal of the State of Florida, at Tallahassee, the Capital, this the 23rd day of A.D. 1968.

Officials plan

Ankrom praises Pro-Am possibilities

C. F. (Chuck) Ankrom, director of golf for General Development Corporation, told a group of area officials, member-leaders of local Chambers of Commerce, and leaders of key committees involved, that the Ninth Annual U. S. Invitational Pro-Amateur Golf Championship to be played at St. Lucie Country Club Dec. 12, 13 and 14, will focus more state and nationwide publicity on this area than any single event ever held here.

"When the Outdoor Writers of America held their convention here two years ago, we gained tremendous national publicity and lasting acclaim. The 'Pro-Am will far surpass this," said Ankrom.

Ankrom met with City Manager George Atkins, Ft. Pierce; Acting City Manager Ed Glasscock, Stuart; Hoyt Murphy, Ft. Pierce, and Dr. Dennis Rinaldi, Jensen Beach, sponsor chairmen for the tournament; Rick Carroll, representing Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce; W. W. J. (Bill) Barrios, Stuart Chamber of Commerce, and Sid Cherry, Ft. Pierce Chamber of Commerce, Tuesday afternoon at S.L.C.C. to plan for the anticipated invasion of golf fans anxious to see 130 of the nation's leading pros and their choices of the best amateurs.

Plans for store window posters, Gold and Silver Sponsor identification material, mail brochures, and the souvenir program were discussed.

Use of every hotel and motel in the area during the tournament was discussed, as were ways to assist visitors in securing accomodations.

Ankrom showed layouts of a multi-colored brochure which will be sent all over the nation and which will be made available to Chambers of Commerce and Welcome Stations in Florida for their mailings.

STREET SIGN--This spectacular banner, which will be four by 60 feet, locating the Ninth Annual Pro-Am Tournament set for Dec. 12-14 at St. Lucie Country Club, will be strung across U.S. #1 north and south of Fort Pierce and on Okeechobee Road, west of the city, by the city two months before the tournament. Shown holding the model are Hoyt Murphy and City Manager George Atkins, both of Fort Pierce; Dr. Dennis Rinaldi of Jensen Beach, and C. F. (Chuck) Ankrom, director of golf for General Development Corporation.

GROUNDBREAKING--Ground was broken Monday for 14 units of Tierra Verde Condominium Apartments, located on SR 76, Stuart, four of which are already sold, each unit contains two bedrooms and two baths. This is the fourth building to be constructed by G.A. Construction, contractors; groundbreaking is expected in 40 days for the fifth building. Left to right, above, are: George Apostolopoulos, contractor; County Commissioner Frank Wacha, City of Stuart Mayor Jack Hartman, County Commissioners Herb Bruner and Jack Saunderson.

Turtles homeless

Martin County Commissioner Bill Hussey and County Engineer Tom Slider have different ideas on the use of the House of Refuge area.

Hussey would like to see an expansion of the sea turtle nursery with turtle pens being built in the Indian River. Slider is of the opinion that future bulkheading of the Indian River may be necessary to protect the narrow stretch of land where the museum is located.

Erosion is taking its toll along the road at the south end of Hutchinson Island and bulkheading probably will have to be done to protect the road and increase the parking area at the museum, according to Slider.

Hussey asked Slider to contact Ross Witham, who has developed the program for caring for baby turtles at the House of Refuge.

Stuart seeking auditor

The City of Stuart is looking for a certified public accountant to audit its books.

The project should be completed by Oct. 1, according to Mayor Jack Hartman. City Commissioners are in agreement that an accountant should be hired at once. A meeting to make a final decision will be held Thursday morning.

Frank Wacha, C.P.A., who has worked previously with the city, said he would be able to handle the work on such short notice. He was authorized by the commissioners to release previous audit information to legislative auditors studying the city's books, following the July 25 suicide of City Manager Joe N. Crowder.

The antiquated bookkeeping system was established when the city had five employees. At present the city has adopted modern billing procedures that are beyond the old system, and now has dozens of employees.

Local Baptists attend rally

Rev. Jack Fernandes, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Jensen Beach, and 30 members of the local church attended the Crusade of the Americas Rally on Sept. 9 at First Baptist Church of Fort Pierce. Also attending were 500 other Baptists from various churches in the Indian River Association.

All Baptist churches in the association will respond with a two-weeks revival in March, 1969.

Anyone needing the service of the Jensen Beach ambulance is asked to call Jerry DeBarge at his home, 287-9774 or 287-2619. Only in emergency cases is the 287-5575 Civil Defense number to be called.

Birthday Party For Alice Smith

Mrs. Alice Smith, of 115 Lucero Dr., celebrated her 64th birthday on Sept. 8. Those attending her birthday party were her husband, Ben Smith, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. DeGrouche of Beau Rivage, Miss Debbie Meeks of 150 E. Prima Vista Blvd., and Mrs. Smith's daughter, Mrs. Alice Sims, her five children, Alice, Warren, Cathy, Scott, & Robin. Her daughter and son-in-law, mr. and Mrs. Phil Zinmeister, and their daughter Susan attended also. The only members of the family missing were Mrs. Smith's two oldest grandsons, Charles and John Winn, they sent their best wishes to her.

Demo women meet Monday

The Democratic Women's Club of Martin County will meet Monday, Sept. 23, at 7:30 p.m. in the community room of First National Bank of Stuart. Mrs. C. R. Vanderveer, president, will conduct the meeting.

Members of the newly-formed Democratic Men's Club will be present. The public is invited to the meeting, which will be followed by a coffee hour.

School menu

Thurs., Sept. 19, meatloaf with gravy, mashed potatoes, fresh turnip greens, hot buttered biscuit, melon wedges.

Fri., Sept. 20, egg and tuna fish salad, baby green limas, celery stuffed with peanut butter, hot buttered roll, fresh orange sherbert.

OBITUARIES

Elizabeth Fickinger

Mrs. Elizabeth W. Fickinger, 68, of 3158 Overbrook Drive, Port St. Lucie, died at Martin Memorial Hospital on Sept. 8 following a long illness. A native of Elizabethville, Pa., she had been a resident in Florida for the past three years. She was a member of First Methodist Church of Port St. Lucie and a member of Martha Circle of W.S.C.S.

She is survived by her husband, Clarence; one daughter, one sister, one brother, William H. Watkeys of Port St. Lucie, and five grandchildren.

Funeral services and burial were in Elizabethville with Johns Funeral Home in charge of local arrangements.

OVERGROWN--This view of Hutchinson Island, looking eastward toward the Atlantic Ocean in the background, shows the trees and brush growing far out on the filled sand area, on a 20-foot high bluff overlooking the buried rocks. This shows the distance to the water along the covered jetty.

R THE JETTY--Water splashes crazily over the St. Lucie Inlet jetty, frothing in open es, carrying sand through gaping openings in the rock wall.

Guild sponsors party

The first card party of the season, sponsored by St. Joseph's Catholic Church Guild, is scheduled for Thursday, Sept. 19, at 1 p.m. The event will be in the Community Room, First National Bank. The public is invited.

Plans are already under way for the annual bazaar set for Dec. 7.

Cenacle Retreat House in Lantana will hold a retreat for young single women on Sept. 20-22; A. A. women Sept. 27-29, and a marriage encounter for couples Oct. 4-6.

Conservationists ask IIF to reconsider

Members of the Martin County Audubon Society, the Garden Club of Stuart and the Women's Club of Stuart have sent a resolution to the Trustees of the Internal Improvement Fund objecting to actions of the trustees in removing the moratorium from submerged lands sales and rejecting the recommendations of the Interagency Committee on a one-foot bulkhead line.

The resolution to the IIF is as follows:

"We, the members of the Martin County Audubon Society, the Garden Club of Stuart, and the Woman's Club of Stuart, do hereby deplore the September 17, 1968 actions of the TIIF in rejecting the recommendations of the Interagency Committee on the establishment of a bulkhead line, and the lifting of the moratorium on submerged land sales and dredge and fill permits before completion of adequate ecological studies; thus violating in September the pledge made in May to the People of Florida.

"We, therefore, do hereby request, with all possible urgency, that the Trustees reconsider their action of September 17th, adopt the basic recommendations, properly safeguarded, of the Interagency Committee, and the reinstatement of the moratorium until such ecological studies have been completed as will facilitate the wise and equitable implementation of the recommendations so adopted."

We have a new face

For the first time in years, The Jensen Beach Mirror sports a new face, the new nameplate on the top of the front page.

The new design of Old English type was created by the art department of The Palm Beach Post-Times at the request of Mirror editor Dick Campbell. It replaces the previous nameplate, a combination of Old English type styles.

The drawing of the new nameplate for their newspaper has taken over three months, and is the final design in three efforts to achieve the abstract design of Old English, with modern flowing lines throughout, requested by The Mirror editor.

Tiger football tickets on sale

All student tickets for Friday's game at Pahokee are on sale at MCHS. No student tickets will be sold at the gate.

RADIO GIFT--Bill Murfin, chairman of the Florida Republican Executive Committee, was honored with a testimonial dinner last Saturday night in the Convention Hall of St. Lucie Country Club. He was presented with a transistor radio as a token of the esteem of his fellow Martin County Republicans. Several members of the "Hobe Sound Mafia", a group of men who assisted in Murfin's rise to prominence as "Mr. Republican" in Florida, told of personal experiences related to Murfin highlights of his political career.

SLIP's begin

Petitions are circulated to ask halt of dredging until jetty is plugged

Volunteers in a loosely knit group of St. Lucie Inlet Protestors (SLIPs) began distributing petitions to various businesses, marinas and restaurants this week. The group is trying to stop the dredging of the St. Lucie Inlet until the sieve-like inlet jetty is plugged, to stop the flow of sand through the jetty.

Leonard Smith, Jensen Beach businessman, heads the group, which has as its base a large number of charter boat captains who regularly use the inlet. Smith said he had the support of many area conservationists.

On Sept. 11, Smith wrote to Col. John F. McElheny, district engineer of the U.S. Corps of Engineers, requesting that the letting of bids on the dredging of the inlet, set for Sept. 20, be held up until the inlet jetty could be strengthened. Smith said that as of Tuesday he had not yet received an answer from the Corps.

The petition asks that the county commission and the Corps of engineers "do all in their power to plug the north jetty of the St. Lucie inlet and stop the flow of sand into the inlet, until a permanent solution to the problems of the St. Lucie Inlet is found."

Northeast winds over the past weekend has reduced the shallow draft of the inlet to from two-and-one-half feet to three feet. Smith pointed out that if the Corps had had the inlet dredged last week it would probably now be filled in again, with the resultant waste of almost $100,000. He also said that the load of sand dumped into the inlet over the weekend would place the proposed 42,000 cubic yards of sand to be dredged far short of a safe, navigable inlet.

Smith said that the waste of almost a half-million dollars in inlet dredgings in the past "should be a warning to the Corps."

"If the inlet jetty was plugged up so that sand no longer flowed through and into the inlet," Smith said, "the inlet would clean itself, as it did for forty years. That means we would no longer need to waste taxpayers money dredging. A channel would be cut through by the flow of water, and it would be a straight channel."

The members of SLIP believe in several methods of plugging the inlet. The most common thought is to take a bagged mixture of five parts sand and one part concrete and "sandbag" the jetty on the north side. Water would turn the mixture to concrete, making an impenetrable wall of the inlet jetty.

Another idea would be to take the many boulders, buried in sand that stacked up to twenty feet high over the water along the jetty, and move them out to the end of the jetty, using them to lengthen and plug the jetty walls.

The SLIP group suggests both systems, plus "in any manner acceptable to the Corps of Engineers", in its petition.

"We want to use our inlet. The only way we can is if the jetty is plugged," Smith said. "We do not want to get into a political battle between Jupiter Island and the county commission. We just want a safe, useable inlet. The jetty is the first long-term, stop-gap method.

"We hope that the people and the county commission join us in this plea for a sensible solution to the inlet problems on a stop-gap basis," he said.

Nuclear plant design heralds island entry into atomic age

Nuclear energy, for Florida's Treasure Coast is on its way, as Florida Power and Light Company continues with plans to complete an 850,000 kilowatt generating plant using nuclear power on Hutchinson Island, just a few miles north of the Martin County line.

A timetable of putting together as large a package as the proposed nuclear plant shows five years of work, construction and planning to put the electric power into transmission lines to homes and businesses in this area.

According to a recent article in "Sunshine Service News", the 1200 acre plant site, which recently received zoning approval of St. Lucie County, is in the first stage of a series of tests required by the Federal government to gain a license from the Atomic Energy Commission.

First step is to follow already completed sub-surface exploration with research on ocean and river hydrology, climatological and atmospheric diffusion and population and land use studies. This study and the tests will require about a year. About a year later, there will be a license issued, and the contractor will begin working on the plant site.

If all goes well, according to executive assistant Bob Gardner, "the contractor should begin...next summer." Actual construction of the plant would get under way in January, 1970.

Final details on the design and construction of the plant are now being worked out by FP&L with the contractor, Ebasco Services, Inc., of New York.

The fuel for the generator will be a Westinghouse Electric Corporation power and Combustion Engineering Corporation of New York will furnish the nuclear steam supply system.

The plant will be operational in 1973.

The public will be the owner in this plant established by Florida Power and Light. Not only will a complete power source be available in this remote area, but also the unused portion of the 1200 acres will become a public park, including four miles of public beach, two on the Atlantic ocean side and two on the Indian River.

Wilderness trails and camping areas are planned, and the coastline swamps all along the Indian River will remain in their natural state for the protection of wildlife and the fish population.

The 1200-acre tract is characterized by swamps, hammocks, salted lands, palmetto thickets, pine and wax myrtle trees, bobcats, possum and a great variety of birds range throughout the area.

Photographs of the plant site show the area that will become available to the public around the plant.

The first issue lead article in the magazine was the first official presentation by FP&L that a nuclear plant would be built on Hutchinson Island.

SITE LOCATED--A Florida Power and Light Company magazine drawing of the proposed site of a nuclear plant on Hutchinson Island locates the plant to the west of A-1-A, just off Big Mud Creek. The two-mile stretch of the island (represented in most of the drawing above) will become wilderness area, nature trails, and public beach, in addition to the future power resource of this area. The nuclear plant will be in operation by 1973, according to an article in Sunshine Service News.

Who will replace Bruner?

The resignation of James Herbert Bruner as county commissioner has all Martin County politicians wondering, asking and maneuvering for the potential political vacuum.

Rumor has ever rampant as to who will replace Bruner. The Jensen Beach Mirror reports the following rumor, not as fact, both the Republican and Democratic executive committee members have refused to comment officially on the appointment of a successor.

It is understood in the highest Republican circles that Mrs. Paula Saunders, vice-chairman of the Republican Executive Committee, will possibly receive the nod from Governor Claude Kirk to fill the vacant seat left by Bruner until the first of the year. Other rumors have flower-grower Paul Bryant in the seat, but there is no confirmation.

The November ballot will include the remaining two years of Bruner's term, and will probably pit Mrs. Saunders against former State Representative William (Bill) Owens.

The fear of conflict of interests nixed probably one of the most popular Republican choices for the seat, Palm City school principal Roger Chaney.

We repeat, this is a rumor, not actual fact, and is based upon usually reliable sources who refuse to be quoted.

Teddy Bickford is ping pong champ

There were about 15 young people at Team Club on Saturday, Sept. 21. They played ping-pong, with Teddy Bickford winning five games.

Dancing was stopped when the owner of the record player took it home. The teens could use a record player of their own. They also like to play cards and would appreciate receiving some if anyone has spare decks.

Pot Luck Dinner was held September 18th

The Allstates Club met on Sept. 18, and had their last "Pot Luck" dinner of the summer season. A movie was shown on Spain, and all agreed it was a very good film. The films are obtained in Ft. Pierce. Starting with the Oct. 16th meeting, the club will have its regular cookouts again.

All residents in Port St. Lucie are automatically members in this club. There are no dues, they meet on the third Thursday of the month at the Marina. Mrs. Fran Lee is the president, and Fran says she would like to have any old or new residents come to the next meeting. Her phone number is 461-9506.

The Allstate Club, in conjunction with the Friday Night Gang and the Republican Club, donate Christmas gifts to migrant children in the St. Lucie County area.

Marcella Jacobson of 183 W. Prima Vista Blvd. tells me the Port St. Lucie Catholic Women are starting their Bingo on Oct. 3 at 8 p.m. Games will be held every Wednesday night at PSL Catholic Church Hall and are open to the public.

There were 24 members present at the Sept. 19 meeting of the Coast Guard Auxiliary, Flotilla #65, Division Capt. Leon Jensen was guest speaker. Several courses are being set up for members and the public. Instructors' Guides were given to men who will take the courses.

"Wild Rivers", a movie, was shown by Training Officer Fred Helmer.

About 20 persons attended the cookout at Jensen Beach Causeway Sept. 21.

Only one boat showed up for the "Courtesy Examination" conducted by Eddie Baker. Now Mr. Tyree's boat has the 1968 decal.

James Harpold reports the Anglers Club will be having its first meeting Oct. 1 at the Marina. The group will meet the first and third Tuesdays of the month.

Jim Watts reports the Shuffleboard Club will be starting its meetings next month. They will be playing in the Indian River League which includes Fort St. Lucie, Jensen Beach, Stuart and Vero Beach.

The first meeting date will be announced soon.

To the parents of children on School Bus #23, yes, it really did happen.

Friday afternoon, Sept. 20, School Bus #23 was coming from White City School along Midway Road when driver Mrs. Jo Anne Charles stopped the bus. She told the children to look out on the road. There was a reddish brown wild pig crossing the road. This made the trip a little more eventful for the children.

Marge Newell, Mary Newett and Loretta Sopasek spent last weekend in Miami Beach. They attended the Housewares Show and Miami Gift Show at the convention hall. Marge said they enjoyed the shows.

Golf courses to close

The annual verticutting of the greens of the Saints and Sinners Courses at St. Lucie Country Club will be done in the first weeks of October, according to golf pro, Chuck Johnson.

The Sinners Course will close from September 30 through October 4, five days as workmen bring the course up to top condition for the coming season. During this time, the Saints Course will be open for golfers.

The Saints Course will close from October 7 through October 11, five days, for the same purpose. The Sinners Course will be open at that time for play.

PSL bridge news

Mr. and Mrs. George Ransdell topped the field with a 69 point score at Friday night's session of St. Lucie Country Club Duplicate group.

Jack and Anne Kuhn were second with 65 points; Betty Mann and Vera Jackson third with 56-1/2 pts. and Dr. and Mrs. Roger Bellows were fourth with 56 points.

The next session will be Friday, Sept. 27 at 1:30, following a lecture at 12:45 by Jay N. Mann. You are assured of a playing partner if you come alone.

Bunco games are to begin Thursday

Bob Allan, Commander of Port St. Lucie Veterans of WWI, of 770 Lomas Street, said the barracks will be starting Bunco games on Thursday, Sept. 26, at the Marina from 8 til 10 p.m.

There are many prizes and a door prize, and games are open to the public. Games will be held the fourth Thursday of every month, with Cedric Ross in charge.

The veterans held a ritual at Fort Pierce Memorial for Harry Madsen, 120 Prima Vista Blvd., who died as a result of an auto accident Sept. 19.

At the last meeting, the members authorized the Adjutant to write a letter to the President of the United States and the Governor of Florida, which is to be read before the Congress. The letter opposes the changing of Declaration Day, May 30, and Armistice Day, Nov. 11, to make longer weekends. These days are of historical meaning and the VWI vets do not believe they should be changed, Allan said.

A nominating committee will be named at the Oct. meeting.

Solitron officers welcomed at development luncheon

Officers of Solitron Devices, Inc., were welcomed to Martin County at a "get acquainted" luncheon with officers and members of the board of directors of Martin County Resources and Development Board and county officials last Thursday. The luncheon, sponsored by the R&DB, was held at Frances Langford's Outrigger Restaurant.

Bill Burson, chairman of the R&DB, welcomed the officers of Solitron, congratulating them on the recent acquisition of the Martin County based General R. F. Fittings plant. "The people in Martin County are great, and wonderful to work with," Burson said, citing his experience as manager of Southern Bell's local office.

County Commission Chairman Tinner Powers also spoke, welcoming the group to the county, and pointing out the many advantages of having a plant in the county.

Richard Trivison, newly-appointed vice-president and general manager of the local plant, which will be known as the Connector Division of Solitron, spoke for the group, giving a background of Solitron and a history of the company's development.

Trivison said that the Jupiter plant of Solitron, now under construction, had already been enlarged from 25,000 to 38,000 square feet due to the growth of the company. "There will be 500 employed at Jupiter," Trivison said, adding, "and the plant will be enlarged to 50,000 square feet in the future."

The purchase of General R.F. Fittings was made "because of the quality of the product," Trivison said. He noted that there was already an expansion program under way at the Port Salerno plant.

"We are already on overtime in Port Salerno, and have rehired six persons. We plan to broaden the base here and expand our product line."

Trivison said the people who are employed by Solitron plan to be a part of the community of Martin County. "We want to get involved in community activities," he said.

Citing Harold Potsdam, former owner of General R.F., Trivison said, "Potsdam did an excellent job here. The quality of our people is excellent. When you couple two quality operations together, the customer benefits."

Accompanying Trivison to the luncheon were George Rieland, vice-president and general manager of the Transistor Division of Solitron; Marion DeBatty, manufacturing and production manager, and Bob Belbin, manager of industrial relations.

Walton League plans boat-a-cade

A boat-a-cade is being planned for Sunday, Sept. 29, by members of Martin County's Izaak Walton League. Boat owners and their guests will meet at Stuart city dock at 11:30 a.m., leaving about noon.

Others will leave by car and all will meet for dinner at a Fort Pierce restaurant between 2 and 2:15 p.m.

Walter Bauman is in charge of arrangements.

Bruner to resign

County Commissioner James H. Bruner (Herb) has announced he will resign his post on the Martin County Commission as of Sept. 30, on the advice of his doctors.

The official announcement will be made at the Sept. 24 meeting, he said. He will inform Governor Claude Kirk of his decision.

Bruner, 49, who has twice been elected to the post, was first appointed six years ago for a four-month period by Gov. Farris Bryant.

Bruner, who has been in charge of the courthouse and jail, has encouraged expansion of county facilities.

$109,120 bid to open St. Lucie Inlet

Prosperity Dredging of Lake Park was the sole bidder on a project to open the St. Lucie Inlet channel. The firm bid $109,120 on the first of two alternatives, and $148,520 on the second. The difference between the two bids was in the distance the material was to be moved.

Col. John McElhenny, district engineer of the Corps of Engineers, promised a recommendation on the bids, possibly this week. The bids were opened last Friday in Stuart.

If the firm is awarded the contract, it will have 60 days in which to complete the job.

Stuart Chamber to elect officers

Election of officers will be held by the Stuart Chamber of Commerce at its annual business meeting Monday, Sept. 30. A nominating committee will submit a slate of suggested officers and directors, and additional nominations may be made from the floor.

This will be a joint meeting with Stuart Retail Merchants Association. Committee chairmen will review the year's activities.

Reservations should be made by Friday, Sept. 27, at the Chamber office.

Kiwanians choose Wallace

George Wallace, third party candidate, topped the balloting last week at the Kiwanis Club of Indiantown meeting, according to Martin County Commission Chairman Timer Powers, a member of the Kiwanis Club.

Each candidate was represented by a speaker: Homer Wall, member of the county school board, for Wallace; Dr. William Myers, chairman of the M.C. Republican Executive Committee, for Richard Nixon; and John Marr, president of the M.C. Democratic Club, for Hubert Humphrey.

Wallace led the balloting with 13 votes; Nixon was second with 10, and Humphrey trailed with four votes.

Stuart hires accountants

An Orlando accounting firm of Cooley, Trumbower and Howell was employed Thursday by the Stuart City Commission. The firm will update the city's bookkeeping system and close out the fiscal year which ends this month.

Nine of the 17 persons on the firm's staff are certified public accounts, according to Mayor Jack Hartman. The job will be paid for on an hourly basis.

In order to cover current bills, the commission voted to transfer $25,000 from the cemetery account to accounts payable. A balance of $2,500 remains in the cemetery account.

PROMOTED--Mary Berry, of Stuart, was named assistant secretary of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Martin County by the board of directors last week. Miss Berry, a 1967 graduate of Martin County High School, attended Florida State University, where she studied business administration. She joined First Federal in 1966 and has been secretary to James A. Garvey, First Federal president. She is a member of First Presbyterian Church of Stuart.

Women Voters to hear Roberts

What has happened to four our waters? Can anything be done about pollution? Does it affect marine life? These and other related questions will be discussed by the Martin County League of Women Voters' guest speaker, Ray Roberts, head of Martin County High School Science Department.

The meeting will be Thursday, Sept. 26, at p.m. in the community room of First National Bank of Stuart, and is open to the public.

Roberts, who has been active in the field of marine biology for several years, holds a Masters Degree in Science.

Public hearing held regarding Rotunda

A public hearing, attended by 65 persons, was called by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to hear pros and cons on drainage at Rotunda. The hearing was Friday, Sept. 20, conducted by Army district engineer Col. John McElhenny.

Plans for drainage structures were outlined by Fred Bell, chief engineer of Rotonda, and vice-president of Palm Beach Investment Properties, Inc. He asked for a temporary permit from the Corps to rid the area of water so heavy equipment can be put to work.

Developers of the Rotonda Drainage District, located in southeast Martin County, assured those attending that water they want discharged into the canal would be as silt-free as possible. A member of ponds are being planned to keep silt from emptying into St. Lucie Canal, Bell said.

Bell also outlined plans for two quiescent basins, explaining that maximum discharges expected through the temporary structure are 315 cubic feet per second, and 2,300 through the permanent structure.

Adequate safety guards to prevent pollution of the canal were demanded in a letter from the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District (FCD).

McElhenny said Friday's comments will be studied and a decision on the application, which is not to exceed one year, will be made later, probably after another public hearing. Martin County Commission will take a position later, according to chairman Timer Powers, who said the commission will consider the facts and comments at the public hearing.

Arrived today

8,000 Mile voyage nearing its end for adventurers

by Dick Campbell

Bill and Kathy Dimond eased their twenty-foot boat into Frances Langford's Outrigger Marina today, nearing the end of almost eight thousand miles of pioneering in an outboard motor boat. They left Juneau, Alaska, on June 10, and have traveled across the United States to New York, and south to Florida.

Taking a trip designed to show that there are many protected water ways for outboard fun in the United States, and to test some engineering ideas of sponsoring Outboard Marine Corporation, the Dimonds have weathered the ten-foot waves of Alaska's storm-tossed "Inside Passage", narrow streams of Montana, the Missouri and Mississippi Rivers, the Great Lakes, the Hudson River and the Intracoastal Waterway.

The Dimonds were met part way up the Indian River by boat boats from Outboard Marine Corporation in Stuart and the local Evinrude dealer, Stuart Marine Center, who escorted them to the Marina.

Arriving in Jensen Beach, the Dimonds were welcomed by city and county officials, heads of the Chambers of Commerce of Jensen Beach and Stuart, Ralph Evinrude, chairman of the board of Outboard Marine Corporation, and his wife, singing star Frances Langford.

Immediately following their arrival, a reception and luncheon were held at the Outrigger Restaurant.

Bill and Kathy Dimond will rest in Jensen Beach before continuing on their way to Key West. They plan to arrive in Fort Lauderdale Oct. 6, Miami Oct. 7 and 8, and Key West Oct. 11.

The trip has attracted nationwide attention and was designed to show the fun and enjoyment of boating on America's rivers and streams, and to attempt an adventurous crossing of middle and north America, and also make the first outboard motorboat trip from the most northern part of the United States to the southern tip.

The Dimonds, from Hazelwood, Mo., were chosen from among 1,800 applicants in a contest to find a couple to make the trip. Bill, 30, is district sales manager for a folding door company from Indiana. Kathy, 25, is a free-lance systems analyst who programs computers. Both are experienced boat operators.

Both are members of the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, St. Louis, and received early training in the handling of small craft through the Coast Guard and the U.S. Power Squadrons.

Diamond, a graduate of Quincy College, and his wife, a graduate of Maryville College, St. Louis, are taking leaves of absence to participate in the cruise.

For the past four years they have owned and cruised several different boats, inboard and outboard, on the Mississippi, Missouri and Illinois rivers. They have also cruised the Florida Keys, Jersey coast, Lake Michigan and Lake Pontchartrain. Dimond is proficient in engine maintenance, having done the engine installation on a 35-cruiser, one of the boats previously owned by the couple.

The boat making the trip now is a 20-foot Glastron Gulfstream runabout, powered with a twin installation of 55 hp. Evinrude Triumph motors. The boat has a fuel capacity of 66 gallons in three built-in tanks, two each of 24 gallon capacity and one of 18 gallon capacity. In addition, the craft carries a portable six gallon tank. With full weight of fuel and a payload of 725 pounds, the boat attains a top speed of approximately 31 mph.

DOUBLES CHAMPS—Dr. J. W. Grossnickle and Dr. Richard Q. Penick, above, proudly exhibit their trophies won as the area's doubles champions in recent competition. Games were played on the new tennis courts at Langford Ball Park in Jensen Beach.

MIXED DOUBLES CHAMPS—Taking on all comers, Hetty Mans and John Merrifield, shown above accepting trophies from Bill Yothers, center, are the acknowledged mixed doubles champions of the area. The duo defeated Dick Campbell—Alice Hickey and Tim and Jeanette Weiss in the finals, with all matches played at Langford Ball Park Jensen Beach. Yothers was chairman of the competition and is planning another series for February. He extends his thanks to Ideal Sport Shop for donating the trophies, Means Jewelry for engraving them and The Jensen Beach Mirror for helping to promote the tournament.

Registration books for Nov. election will close Saturday

"We are not stopping dredging!"---Smith

Over 500 signatures ask inlet jetty plug

by Dick Campbell

Over 500 signatures on petitions asking for the plugging of St. Lucie Inlet's sieve-like jetty were claimed in the first week of petition circulation, according to Leonard Smith, chairman of the loosely-formed St. Lucie Inlet Protestors (SLIPS's).

"We are not trying to stop the dredging of the inlet," Smith said in defense of rumors in the past week. "We want the county, or the Corps of Engineers, or somebody, to fix that jetty so that any dredging of the inlet is worth while, and not a waste of taxpayers' money.

"Storms in the past week would have filled in the inlet if it had been dredged, and there will be more storms in the near future," Smith said. "The sand flowing through the jetty is so great that any dredging would be useless," he added.

Smith pointed to the $285,000 in the past three years spent by the federal and county governments on the inlet, saying, "Now they want to spend another $148,000 on the inlet, bringing the total to approximately a half-million dollars."

"All we ask is that we plug that jetty before the Corps of Engineers allow the dredge to begin working."

Smith will appear before the Stuart Sailfish Club tonight (Wednesday) to elicit its support. The club meets at 8 p.m. at First National Bank of Stuart community room.

A letter written by Smith to Col. John F. McElhenny, district engineer of the U.S. C. of E., has not yet been answered, Smith said. Smith asked that dredging be held up until the jetty was plugged. "I hope that the lack of an answer means that Col. McElhenny is investigating our request," Smith said.

On Monday, at the request of County Commissioner Frank Wacha, County Engineer Tom Slider and road department head Cliff Raulerson went to the inlet in Smith's boat. The three walked the inlet as Smith explained the problems of the shifting sands.

Slider said, after the trip, that he could see that the problem was, indeed, the jetty. He added that he felt that sandbagging the inlet with concrete and sand mixture would be a stop-gap measure. He thought perhaps the county could do something about it, and began to study costs of possible projects.

Slider told The Jensen Beach Mirror later that the permanent solution to the inlet problem was the only way, saying that any temporary repair work would be just that....temporary.

Smith estimated that 90,000 cubic yards of sand had built up in a sand bar along the south side of the jetty.

Smith has approached the Martin County Resources and Development Board for support, meeting Tuesday with RDAB chairman Bill Burson. He has also contacted the Martin County Taxpayer's Association, of which Smith is a member of the board, for support.

"Time is important," Smith said. "We must get a stop-gap measure approved and the jetty plugged before dredging of the inlet begins."

Wacha supports jetty repairs

Support of the aspirations of local SLIPs, an organization trying to get the St. Lucie Inlet jetty repaired before dredging is completed in the inlet, was expressed Friday by County Commissioner Frank Wacha.

Leonard Smith, chairman of the group, told The Jensen Beach Mirror that Wacha's support was attached to a request that the group not ask for a postponement of the recent inlet dredging bid accepted by the U.S. Corps of Engineers.

Wacha also asked that the jetty and the inlet be separate projects, writing, "I have long advocated separation of the navigation portion of the St. Lucie Inlet project from that portion dealing with erosion control." He added that he had not been able to get support on the separation to the county.

Possible financial support of the county in the jetty repair was promised "...if you can interest such groups as the Sailfish Club, the Resources and Development Board and the Taxpayer's Association in expending local funds on the jetty..." according to the letter.

In his letter, Wacha concludes with the following:

"I hope that there will be no action by your group that would indicate the dredging recently bid by the Corps should be postponed. While I agree that it is not a cure, I do feel that the dredging is necessary now in order to maintain the economy of our County. As you know, the Corps did receive two bids on this project, one bid not concerned with opening the channel for navigation at a cost of $109,120.00, and the other which included the erosion factor costing $148,320. Wouldn't it be a fine gesture if those property owners benefiting by the additional $39,200. expenditure would contribute that or a portion of it toward the repair of the jetty."

Mirror "Bowler of the week" begins with Means - Arnold

The Second Annual Jensen Beach Mirror bowler of the week tournament in Martin County got under way last week. The awards went, sponsored by The Mirror and Jensen Bowling Lanes, honors one male and one female bowler each week.

The first week honors went to Loretta Means and Horace "Mule" Arnold.

Selection of the winners is made by representatives of Martin County ABC and WIBC. Selection committee from both bowling associations include Tom Priore, Edith Osterholm and Elsie Elchin.

Candidates for the honors are selected each week by the league secretary of each of the men's and women's leagues. The honor is based upon improvement and outstanding achievement of local area bowlers.

Weekly winners, once selected, cannot again be eligible for the award. At the end of the bowling season, a tournament will be held in which all bowlers will compete for "Bowler of the Year".

Trophies will be presented to winning bowlers in the games.

Priore, who is coordinating the event, has asked that league secretaries place entries in The Mirror Bowler of the Week entry box at Jensen Lanes. He also asked that anyone interested in serving on the committee sign up at the lanes.

BOWLERS OF THE WEEK—Loretta Means and Horace Arnold were the first Bowlers of the Week winners of the season last week at Jensen Lanes. Mrs. Means bowled 205 pins over her average, Arnold was 140 pins over his average. Runners-up were Vicki Frost, 24 over, and Alice Miller, 41 over. The Jensen Beach Mirror sponsors this award, conducted with permanent trophies established by Jensen Lanes. Candidates are selected by an ABC-WIBC committee composed of Elsie Elchin, Edith Osterholm and Tom Priore, who ask for volunteers.

Mayfair Theatre opening

Entertainers Frances Langford and Vaughn Monroe will be on hand Thursday night for the opening of the new Mayfair Theatre in Stuart.

Ribbon-cutting ceremonies will be at 7:30 p.m., with Mayor Jack Harriman, Miss Langford and Monroe present. The feature film, "The Secret Life of an American Wife", will be shown at 8:30 p.m.

Located in Mayfair Shopping Plaza, U.S. #1, the ultra-modern theatre boasts the latest in cinema equipment, hi-fi sound, air-conditioning, deluxe and regular seating, large restrooms, snack bar, and a depth-dimension screen.

The lobby, where local artists will display their works, is carpeted and tastefully furnished. Gold and green is the color scheme.

The theatre's large stage may be used by organizations for local projects, according to theatre officials.

After opening night, the theatre will open at 6:45 p.m. Monday through Friday, with two complete shows nightly. Continuous shows will start at 2 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

Adult education courses are offered

Martin County adult education courses are being offered at main centers in the county, according to E. B. Horton, director of adult education.

The centers are located at Martin County Highs East, Stuart Junior High, schools in Jensen Beach, Port Salerno, Hobe Sound, Indiantown, and Palm City, and at Rio Art Mart.

Adult programs available include high school credit classes in the sciences, social studies, math, English, art, bookkeeping and typing, available to drop-outs and those who left school years ago; G.E.D., General Education Development, with review classes in English, lit, math, science and social studies. These are designed to prepare adults 20 years of age and older for taking GED tests for high school equivalency diplomas.

Adult basic education, a program providing elementary education for adults with emphasis on reading, writing and arithmetic. All materials are provided without cost.

Special interest courses include shop, art, water and oil painting, bookkeeping, typing, shorthand, real estate, languages, and sewing.

Adult distributive education trains adults in distribution of goods and services involving hotels, motels, restaurants, stores, insurance and other businesses. This is new in the county.

Another new program is Civil Defense adult education, including personal survival classes, medical self-help and shelter management.

Industrial adult education classes are also conducted

Petition sigs are needed for school bond issue move

About 2,000 of the necessary 3,000 signatures have been attained on petitions to call for a referendum on a proposed $2 million school bond issue. It now appears that the referendum will be held in December or January instead of November as hoped, according to James Navitsky, superintendent of schools in Martin County.

If the 3,000 signatures could have been secured by Sept. 30, it would have enabled the county to have the election after the general election in November, Navitsky said. The later election makes it unlikely that bonds could be sold in time to have additions to Martin County High School ready for the 1969 fall term.

A $3.5 million program for school building and expansion is scheduled for the next five years. First on the list are a new elementary school, including kindergarten, for Jensen Beach, and a middle school at Warfield, Indiantown.

Of this figure, $1.5 million will come from revenue certificates backed by racing funds.

Only registered freeholders can vote on a bond referendum, but any registered voter can sign the petition calling for a referendum. Twenty-five percent of the registered voters must sign.

The petitions are being circulated by the Stuart Jaycees, assisted by members of the Soroptimist Club, the League of Women Voters and M.C. Classroom Teachers Association.

Head Start

A letter of apology has been received by Rev. George H. Bost, president of Martin County Community Action Committee, Inc., from Hugh Sauss, Jr., regional administrator of Community Action Division, Office of Economic Opportunity, Atlanta, Georgia.

The Atlanta office had refused a Head Start program for 1968 in Martin County, saying it had never received an application from the local group. The letter of apology, received this week by Rev. Bost, admits receiving the application which was postmarked November, 1967, and which, if processed correctly, would have permitted Martin County to provide a Head Start program here during the past summer.

"We are shamed and saddened by this error, and take this opportunity to apologize and to assure you that Martin County's application for a 1969 Summer Head Start will be given high priority consideration.

"Please convey our apologies also to Mr. Felix Williams, Mr. Quilly McHardy, Mr. James Navitsky, and all others who were so deeply concerned about keeping a Head Start program in your communities," the letter read in part.

Sauss says the application was never "logged in" by the processing department, but the postmark indicated they were at fault, and they assume full responsibility for the error.

Holiday Outlines

by George

The new addition to the north at Holiday Out Resort is being landscaped with cabbage and sabal palms, turning a scrub palmetto area into a tropical setting.

Construction on the new bathhouse continues.

First of the snowbirds to arrive are Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Bowes of Hubbard Lake, Mich. They like this area so much, they said, they are now making this their permanent home.

Recent guests include: the Charles B. Farrars of Satellite Beach; the E. T. Schaerers of Chattanooga, Tenn.; Dale Fosters, Boynton Beach; Richard Greens of Ft. Lauderdale; the Jean-Louis Lacerte, Ft. Lauderdale; Paul Hughes, West Hollywood, and the Wayne Palmetts, Hollywood.

Another condominium is planned for island

Plans for a new condominium on Hutchinson Island have been disclosed by William Dean, of Dean Development Co., Inc.

Known as "Seaside", 20 units, a parking lot and pool will be located on the east side of A-1-A, and 48 units and a pool will be constructed on the west side of the road.

The development, drawn by Vero Beach architect David V. Robison, will be built about a half-mile south of Jensen Beach pavilion.

The units will be priced at about $19,950, according to Dean, with two bedrooms in each.

Dean Development has been building in the area for several years, completing 158 units in Fisherman's Village and a duplex project planned for Fisherman's Paradise on St. Lucie River.

1,020 Residents receive state funds

A total of 1,020 Martin County residents received $29,506 in public assistance from the Department of Public Welfare, State of Florida, during the month of September.

Assistance was granted to 265,464 aged and handicapped persons in the amount of $8,455,696. Of this, the state paid $1,848,579.17, the balance of $6,607,116.83 was paid by matching Federal funds.

I-95 location may be determined by P B County

The location of Interstate 95 through Martin County will probably be determined by where the road comes out of Palm Beach County, according to County Commission Chairman Elmer Powers.

The commission feels that construction of I-95 should be separate from and east of the turnpike, as does the Stuart Chamber of Commerce, Powers said.

In a letter to the commission, the chamber said the stretch of I-95 in this area is one of the last to be constructed, and all other remaining segments are further along than this county.

At Thursday's county commission meeting, Commissioner Bill Husse read a letter from Charles W. Ray, Jr., chairman of Florida Turnpike Authority, sent to State Sen. Beth Johnson, concerning the locating of a service plaza on the turnpike in Martin County. The matter will be considered at the next budget session, to be held shortly.

It has been pointed out by Wacha that the county is losing gasoline tax funds because no gasoline can be purchased on the turnpike within the county.

Nursing home zoning approved

Zoning change was recommended by the Stuart Advisory Zoning Board to permit construction of a 50-bed nursing home. The zoning change, from R-1 to R-3, is in two blocks of Stypmann Subdivision in an area bounded by Cortez and Balboa on the east and west, and by Sixth and Seventh on the north and south.

Plans for the nursing home, to be built by W. W. Arnold, have already been approved by the State Board of Health, according to T.J. DelRosso, owner and operator of a Fort Pierce nursing home.

The Ed Mesmingers and C. R. Ashley, owners, were the applicants for the change, the applicants for the change which will be acted upon by the City Commission.

The board also recommended a change from R-1 to R-3 in a lot bordering Bahama Terrace, Sec. 3, as requested by Robert F. McRoberts, Jr., Esq., for Robert H. Lear, contractor.

Future plans may include an apartment house on the 23,000 square foot triangular lot, they said.

Johansons have new granddaughter

Mr. and Mrs. Ivar Johanson of Poor Bob's Mobile Court, Jensen Beach, announce the arrival of a new granddaughter, Mary Ann, born Sept. 18 to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kaczor of Wrightstown, N.J.

The Johansons will return to Jensen sometime in October.

587 seek positions

A total of 587 letters requesting information about teaching positions in Martin County were received by the local school department for this school year. Applications were mailed to all who inquired.

Of the 264 applications returned, 84 persons were hired. Forty-one were from Florida, six from West Virginia, four from Ohio, four from New York, with the balance coming from 14 other states.

Applications were received from 27 states, Philippines, Puerto Rico, Carolina Islands and Virgin Islands, according to James Navitsky, School Superintendent.

CIRCUS STARS—Trudy and George the Camel are pictured above, only two of the many international circus stars featured with the all new Hoxie Brothers Three-Ring Circus coming to Stuart on Thursday, Oct. 10. Performances will be at 6 and 8 p.m. at the fairgrounds. Advance tickets are now being sold by the Fair Association.

Stuart Garden Club to sponsor radio program

The Garden Club of Stuart announces that it will sponsor a radio program for anyone interested in gardening in Florida.

Mrs. Rollie Blackwelder will be chairman and coordinator of this program to start Oct. 7. Programs will be heard every Monday from 9:45 to 10 a.m.

Bids to be opened Thursday

Bids will be opened by the purchasing department of Martin County schools on Thursday, Oct. 3, at 10 a.m. The opening will take place at the instructional center on East Ocean Blvd. in Stuart.

Bids will include furniture, record players, band instruments and drapes.

Scott to build

Palm City Bridge bids opened

Scott Construction Co. of Thomasville, Ga., apparently was low bidder for the Palm City Bridge, with a bid of $1,210,825. The bid was in line with the estimated cost by the State Road Board of $1.2 million.

Bids were opened in Miami last week by the SRB.

The new structure, which will be considerably higher than the present rickety, wooden span, will have a drawspan and will be constructed 60 feet north of the old bridge.

Construction should start in November, with completion in April, according to the expectations of officials.

Final right-of-way needed was secured last week by the Martin County Commission. The sum of $13,000 was approved for Plymouth Lake Property, Inc. right-of-way, appraised value, according to Commissioner Bill Hussey. As requested by the firm, the commissioners also agreed to a right-of-way land swap.

New VFW Post is installed

Port St. Lucie Post 10130 Veterans of Foreign Wars was officially installed Friday, Sept. 27, in ceremonies conducted at the Eugene V. Lash Post 3064 home in Ft. Pierce.

Russell Conser was installed as commander of the newly-organized post by Department Commander Howard Duncanson of Hollywood, installing officer.

Other officers installed at the ceremony, attended by 100 persons, were: Sr. Vice-commander Frank Bould, Jr., Jr. Vice-commander James Scott; Quartermaster Vincent Correia, Chaplain John Fradd, one-year trustee John Bean, two-year trustee Richard Nason, three year trustee A. J. McNeil, and Surgeon William Basler.

Tom Cheatham, Post 3064 commander, welcomed the group and introduced Cdr. Duncanson, who in turn introduced Third District Cdr. Carl Jacobson, Acting Adjutant, and Acting Chaplain O'Grady.

The Adjuant called the roll. Present, in addition to the above, were Cecil Cushma and Leo Maiona. Eleventh District Cdr. Peter Camacho gave the oath to the men assembled, followed by Past Post Cdr. Dennis Mason, of Vero Beach, presenting the VFW emblem to each man. Mason explained the Cross of Malta stands for loyalty, courage and high ideals.

The name "Port St. Lucie Post 10130" was selected for the new post.

In his installation speech, Cdr. Duncanson told what would be expected of the new Post, suggested items for their agenda including a ladies' auxiliary, and explained membership requirements. This includes honorable service in any branch. Men from the Spanish-American War up to the Vietnam War are eligible to join. There are 1,400,000 men in the VFW and 6,000 ladies in the auxiliaries.

Cdr. Camacho introduced guests and invited the new Post to attend the next District meeting Oct. 13 in Indiantown.

District Chief of Staff Frank Good, and Chief of Staff Past Dept. Cdr. Tom Glaze spoke briefly. The group also heard John Busby Dept. Legislative Officer of North Palm Beach, both of the representation the VFW has in the Capitol.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served by Post 3064.

The News And Events Of

PORT ST. LUCIE

and St. Lucie Country Club

Margie Zinsmeister, Reporter — Phone 464-4139 after 5 p. m.

ART EXHIBIT--"The Ancient City" by Teresa Knowles is one of about 20 paintings on exhibit at St. Lucie Country Club. Mrs. Pat Bagwell, above, employee of SLCC, arranged with a group of St. Lucie County artists to provide a continuing art exhibit in the Convention Hall and dining room. Paintings, to be changed monthly, will be shown by Herb Neuberger, Louise Combs, Dorothy Bramhall, S. F. Wright, and Teresa Knowles.

Pauline Learned called to say there will be a change in the usual procedure of the North PSL Republican Club meeting, to be held at the PSL Marina Thursday, Oct. 3 at 1 p.m. A very short business meeting will be at 1 p.m., followed by a social at which coffee and dessert will be served.

St. Lucie's 14 Republican candidates have been invited to attend the meeting, and President Harold Fursell invites members and guests.

A talk on the pollution of our waters and rivers was given by Richard Schmidt, chairman of the Conservation Committee at the Oct. 1 meeting of the Anglers Club. Those attending saw a film, "Carpet Fishing with Ted Williams."

The annual auction, to be conducted by Earl Bernice, will be Nov. 13, according to Jim Harpold, president. Donations are being sought.

Anyone interested in fishing is invited to attend the meetings on the first and third Tuesday of the month.

Three win silver bowls

Silver bowls were presented to three "Kind of the Month" winners at the Rio Linda Garden Club last week. Mrs. and Mrs. Joseph Perrone, 137 Soneto Court, won for June; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lowdermilk, 107 E. Palma Vista Blvd., for July; and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mayer, 320 Shads Lane, won the bowl for August.

Donated by several developments, and presented to the Garden Club, the bowls are engraved with the recipients' names and the month the award was won.

Program chairman, Florence Sidden, introduced Mrs. Betty Strojan, who showed slides of the history of the Rio Linda Garden Club.

Hostesses for the evening, headed by Dora Edwards, were Joyce Brothers, Doris Dickenson, Lewis Kirby and Ola Neill.

Thirteen members attended the meeting: Mesdames Harold Casperson, John Fitzgibbons, Betty Hauseman, Lawrence Hett, William Kinkade, Joseph Krall, George Morris, Joseph Petrone, Josephine Quintero, Evert J. Rowley, Theodore Stillwell, Willard Widner and Benjamin Yost.

PSL bridge news

Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Kelleher won the duplicate bridge session at St. Lucie Country Club Friday afternoon with a score of 80 points.

Second, with 76-1/2 points were Jack and Ann Kuhn; 3rd, Mrs. Caldwell and Mrs. Collins, 75-1/2 pts.; and 4th, Dr. and Mrs. Roger Bellows.

The next regular game will be Friday, Oct. 4, at 1:30 p.m., following a lecture at 1 p.m. by Jay Mann. You are assured of a partner if you come alone.

PSL golf news

Nine Port St. Lucie women golfers took part in a "Blind Partner" bonanza on Tuesday on the Saints' course. Net scores, arrived at by halving partners' scores and taking half of their individual handicaps.

Heading the winners were Vera Johnson and Mary Hall with 170, second were Fran Abel and Betty Preston with 295.

Other players included Tabitha Ross, Irene Helmer, Esther Wilcox, Marjan Cole and Rosalind Stilwell.

A Ladies' Tournament committee is being formed, it was announced. It extends through Nov. 26. Inquire at the Saints' Golf Shop for details.

Women assist with Pro-Am work

Members of the St. Lucie Country Club Women's Golf Association have volunteered their time for the pro-am tournament to be held at the up-coming U.S. Pro-Am.

Friday's effort is directed at cutting strips and connecting four each to 2,000 books. A portion of the tickets will be put in Sponsors Kits, and the balance will go toward daily drawings.

Sales this year are being handled by Mrs. Tabitha Ross, president of the WGA; Mrs. Jane Peterson, Mrs. Doris Hedberg and Mrs. Betty Trebby.

Mrs. Charles Gay, of Melaleuca Cottages, Jensen Beach, returned Sunday from a 3,850-mile motor trip.

Mrs. Gay and her mother, Mrs. Lena Faust of Bradenton, drove to Hot Springs, Ark., where they spent two days, then on to their old hometown of Hominy, Okla., in visit family and friends. This was their first visit 'home' in 46 years, and they enjoyed old and new sights in the area.

Eureka, Kansas, and Tulsa, Oklahoma, were their next stop to visit relatives and friends.

One of the highlights of the trip, Mrs. Gay told The Mirror, was the time they spent with their old friend, Charlie Whitehorn, chief of an Osage Indian tribe, in Pawhuska, Okla. Charlie was known as a "blanket Indian" who wore braided pigtails when she first met him, Mrs. Gay said.

COLONY SERVICE--John and Sylvia Lustig, owners of Ola Colony Restaurant, Stuart, have purchased the Esso service station next to their restaurant, to be known as "The Colony Service Center". Grand opening will be Oct. 21. Lustig, left, above, hands the keys to Tony Scrivens, manager of the service center, which will be open 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. seven days a week, the same as the restaurant.

Stuart increases tax by one mill

The budget for the City of Stuart, in the amount of $582,157, calls for a one-mill tax increase this year to cover new equipment requirements, addition of principal and interest payments on a 1966 bond issue, and general pay increases.

The budget was presented Monday night to the City Commission by Acting City Manager Ed Glascock. There is a debt service appropriation of $77,616.82.

Six mills will be used for operating revenue, 2.5 mills for fire service in the old section of Stuart, and 2 mills for debt service in the areas.

Salaries have increased five percent generally, except for the city manager's salary of $10,500, which stays the same. Payments totaling about $25,000 on the 1966 bond issue for paving and sewers in the Bessie Additions and paving Pine Manor have been added to the budget.

New garbage equipment is needed to replace the old collection equipment, and new record-keeping equipment is being purchased by the city in its effort to update the bookkeeping department.

A new system is being adopted to better control expenditures, Glascock said.

An estimated $1 million was cut from this year's roll because inventory assessments were ordered cut by the state. The roll still increased 3.5 per cent to $33,859,930, which includes homestead exempt property and $92,500 in disability and widow exemptions.

This year's budget is up $71,627 over last year.

A letter from Mr. and Mrs. Gus Friedrichs in St. Leonard, Md., received this week by the Willard Bowmans, tells of a hot summer, with lots of company visiting them at their summer home.

Mike says they are looking forward to their return to Ocean Breeze Park after election day.

Seat vacated by Bruner

Paula Saunders named to County Commission post

Mrs. George (Paula) Saunders, of 909 Treasure Road, Bahama Terrace, was named by Governor Claude Kirk the new Martin County commissioner. Mrs. Saunders will succeed Herb Bruner, who has resigned because of poor health.

Mrs. Saunders is the second Republican serving on the commission. The other is Bill Hussey, elected two years ago. Bruner is a Democrat.

Mrs. Saunders, who has been active in GOP politics in this area for several years, is vice-chairman of the Martin County Republican Executive Committee. She was a leader in the primary campaign for Robert Rust, GOP nominee for Congress in this district and is a member of the Florida Federation of Republican Women.

The governor's appointment will be effective until January, even though Bruner's term does not expire for two years. The unexpired term will be filled in the Nov. 5 election in which candidates will be appointed by their respective executive committees. It is expected that Mrs. Saunders will be named the GOP nominee.

WELCOME--Art Pitman, left, assistant scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop #401, Jensen Beach, welcomes the new scoutmaster, George B. Marcus, of Stuart, who will replace Gene Kasper. Marcus, a math teacher at Murray Ninth School, has a B.S. from Troy State Teachers College and a M.A. from Alabama Polytechnic Institute, both in Alabama. His hobbies are scouting, camping and motorcycling. He holds a Phi Delta Kappa key, scouters key, scouters training award, FEA, NEA, CTD, FCD, BSA scouters awards.

Owens named

William E. Owens has been named by the Martin County Democratic Executive Committee as the nominee to run for the office of County Commissioner to replace Herb Bruner, who resigned recently because of poor health.

The Democratic chairman, upon receipt of a telegram from the Secretary of State, notifying him of the vacancy on the Martin County Board of County Commissioners, District 2, consulted with the elected Democratic officeholders for their recommendation of a nominee, according to Mrs. Mardee St. Clair, Democratic headquarters.

Their choice was William E. Owens, lifetime resident of Palm Beach and Martin county as a representative in the Florida legislature until reapportionment deprived Martin County of its representative, she said.

At a meeting Sept. 30, of the Democratic Executive Committee, a majority of those present supported and nominated Owens as a nominee to fill the unexpired term of Bruner, Mrs. St. Clair reported.

EMERGENCY MEASURES--Cadette Girl Scouts of Troop [illegible], Jensen Beach, heard Al Keaton of Civil Defense speak about emergency protection at their meeting Monday night. Above, the girls huddle under a table, showing their awareness of self-protection. Meetings are held at Jensen Beach Community Church, sponsor of the group, and are led by Mrs. Charles Hall.

Changes in Medicare

Beginning in January, an older person who goes to the hospital under Medicare will be responsible for the first $44.00 of his hospital bill, now running about $600 for the average hospital stay by a Medicare beneficiary, according to James Brinkley, officer in charge of the Ft. Pierce Social Security office.

The $4.00 increase (from the present $40 deductible) results from a provision in the law requiring an annual review of the deductible amount.

Necessary increases (according to hospital costs), are to be made in $4.00 steps to avoid small annual changes.

The results of the annual review of the inpatient hospital deductible also apply to the dollar amounts a Medicare beneficiary pays toward a hospital stay of more than 60 days, or a posthospital extended care stay of more than 20 days.

These amounts will also be increased by 10 percent, effective January 1, to $11.00 a day for the 61st through the 90th day of a hospital stay; to $5.50 for the 20th to the 100th day of a stay in a posthospital extended care facility; and to $22.00 a day for each day of the "lifetime reserve" of 60 days, the reserve account a beneficiary can draw upon if he ever needs more than 90 days of hospital care in the same benefit period.

The changes in these amounts apply only to the hospital insurance part of Medicare and do not affect the financing of the supplementary medical insurance--the voluntary program.

28 palm trees for Commercial Street

Donations of $285 for palm trees along Commercial Street were received by the Jensen Beach Merchants Association, setting the stage for 28 palm trees to beautify the block-long business district in Jensen Beach, it was reported by Dick Campbell, chairman of the committee.

Donations of ten dollars for each tree were solicited. The small palm trees will be placed in concrete pots at the wall edge of sidewalks. The donations, in varying amounts, were made in the form of memorials and as part of the beautification program of the Commercial Street merchants, who last year purchased Christmas lights for the street.

Campbell reported that pots have been ordered, and trees are being prepared for installation.

The following donations were made:

Merchants participating in the program included The Shell Shop, Bryan's Pharmacy, Virgil Wilson, Al Walker, Jensen Grill, Jensen 5 & 10, Jim Stuart Jewelers, Joan's Beauty Shop, Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce, Quinns, Swinging Door Gift Shop, and the Jensen Beach Mirror.

Memorials to Robert Weisenberger came from Poor Bob's Trailer Court, Dick and Lolianne Scruggs, Freddie and Ruth Weisenberger, Lillian Weisenberger, Harry and Arlene Warren, J. Fred Silvers, Ed Packetis; Ricky, Ruth and Janice Weisenberger, R. R. Tilton and the Laffers family.

Other memorials included Jensen Beach Garden Club for Mrs. Rollin Reynolds, and by George and Carol Conover for Capt. Nelson Lehman, a nephew who was killed in Vietnam March 3, 1967.

Individual donations were made by the Jensen Beach Garden Club and Martin County Barracks #654, Veterans of World War I and its Ladies Auxiliary.

Serving on the committee to install the palm trees are Mrs. James Stewart, Robert Smith and Leonard Smith.

FIRST PAINT JOB--The pride of any eleven year old boy who has completed his first paint job is shown on the face of Mike Hickey, son of Mrs. Alice Hickey, Jensen Beach. Hickey was given the job of painting the eaves of his home,...and did so, in addition to painting himself pretty well.

Jensen Chamber joins

SLIPs win support in jetty plugging

Support for action to plug the St. Lucie Inlet jetty was won in two areas this week by the loosely knit group trying to get the inlet strengthened before the dredging of the inlet by the Corps of Engineers in the near future.

The Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce voted to support the proposal to plug the sieve-like jetty and voted to assist in the petition signing asking for such action, at a board of directors meeting Monday night at the Chamber office.

Leonard Smith, chairman of SLIP (St. Lucie Inlet Protestors), made the presentation to the Chamber of Commerce. He said that he had many organizations joining in the effort, including some qualified approval of conservation groups not wanting to delay the dredging of the inlet.

Smith explained that the county engineer was seeking a method of plugging the inlet jetty, or at least slowing down the water flowing against, and through, the jetty, so that the sand being carried by tidal action could be dropped out of the water.

Tom Slider, county engineer, has been investigating the possibility of using old concrete slabs to beef up the jetty walls. The transportation of the slabs from county property at the Elliott Museum to the inlet seems to be the biggest problem.

On Tuesday, the county commission gave a boost to the hopes of SLIP by giving county approval to a request of commissioner Frank Wach to allow Slider to continue to seek and answer to the problem of the jetty. Efforts to get the jetty plugged before the dredging are continuing.

It is feared that a storm following the dredging of the inlet might refill the inlet if the jetty is not plugged, and sand is allowed to flow through as it is at present.

Families have $309 more

Martin County ranks 13th in state in buying income

by Dick Campbell

(Copyright, 1968 by the Jensen Beach Mirror.)

Martin County families rank number 13 among Florida counties in effective buying income, according to a report prepared exclusively for The Jensen Beach Mirror by a top Florida research insitute. Fifty-four counties in the state have lower EBI's than Martin.

The growth of income in families added $309 per year to the average family's effective buying income, the report showed.

Most of the growth was reflected in a greater number of higher income families coming into the county.

In 1966, 11.4% of the families in Martin County made over $10,000 a year. The number of families making over $10,000 increased to 12.7% in 1967. The state average is 27.4%.

At the same time, the average annual household income in the $2,999 and under category decreased from 30.9% of the families in the county to 28.9%. The state average in this category is 16.2%.

This growth can only be interpreted to mean that the new families coming into the county are of a higher income category, if the growth of the county showed a drop of two percent over the past year in low-income families, reported the Institute.

The $3,000 to $4,999 income group of families dropped from 23.6% in the county to 22.4%, or 1.2%, showing a further increase in family prosperity. The state average is 20% of families in the county having such an income.

In the upper income area, families with average household income in the $8,000 to $9,999 category showed an increase from 7.4% of the families in the county to 9.2%, or an increase of 1.8%.

The number of families in the median group of families with from $5,000 to $7,999 showed a very slight change of one-tenth of one percent. In 1966 this income group represented 26.7 percent of the families in Martin County. In 1967 the percentage of the families move up to 26.8%.

During the year, the effective buying income of the people in Martin County jumped one and one-half million dollars, from $54,748,000 to $57,150,800.

The effective buying income in the Mirror Market, the area of dominance of The Jensen Beach Mirror circulation, jumped from $23,507,470 to $25,454,800.

The tendence to shop at home, one of the most prominent campaigns of this local newspaper, showed in the report. Local retail sales of Martin County stores went from $25,457,000 in 1966 to $40,929,300 in 1967.

The disproportionate breakdown between the increase in capital availability to local families, and the gigantic increase in retail sales, is evidenced by the increase in number of stores, modernization of local retail outlets, and the increased promotion of local businesses, according to the report.

New park funds hang on bonds

One of Martin County's greatest dreams, the establishment of a public park on the northern tip of Jupiter Island, may be in the making, according to Ney Landrum, director of Florida's Outdoor Recreational Development Council.

Landrum tied the possibility of the purchase of all lands between the St. Lucie Inlet and Reed Wilderness Preserve on Jupiter Island to two things. The first item would be the sale of a $20 million bond issue based upon the new state documentary stamp tax. Landrum wrote that the issue would be sold ("we hope") by "the end of the year."

Landrum's letter, the result of a discussion with county commissioner Frank Wachs at the Miami Beach convention of county commissioners, placed a "first" priority on the purchase of the park lands.

"If our bond is successful," Landrum wrote, "one of the first projects we will want to move on is the acquisition of the property south of the St. Lucie Inlet. We are negotiating with the owners of everything between the inlet and the Reed Wilderness Preserve..."

Landrum also mentioned that the funds would be used for lands to add to Jonathan Dickenson State Park, and said that he planned to work with Wachs on the new boat access facilities for Jensen Savanna Park.

Saunders seating stymied

The seating of newly appointed commissioner Mrs. Paula Saunders, appointed to assume the chair on the county commission of recently retired Herb Bruner, was delayed for a week Thursday. County attorney Dean Tooker reported that Mrs. Saunders had not complied with the requirements of the office when the commission meeting began.

Tooker explained that Mrs. Saunders had not submitted a bond to the office of the secretary of state in time for that office to forward the commission to the governor for signing.

The commission meeting was delayed as Tooker made a final call to see if the bond had been received in Tallahassee. He reported in the negative, and Mrs. Saunders was asked if she would sit as an observer during the meeting.

Mrs. Saunders said that she would send the bond, and the commission agreed to a special meeting on October 15 to swear Mrs. Saunders into office.

Bidding planned

SR 707 drainage, resurfacing, will start next month

A complete drainage plan for State Road 707 (A1A-A-1-A) will be put up for bids in November, according to information received this week by County Commissioner Frank Wachs. The bidding will also include the complete resurfacing of six miles of SR 707 from U.S.1 near Stuart, to the north county line.

The project will be five and six tenths miles. Paving will cost $810,000, and drainage will cost $82,000 for a total of $892,000.

H. A. Johnson, deputy district engineer of the State Road Department, notified Wachs that the entire project was to be bid, and would include the drainage of three areas that have been plaguing the people of Rio and Jensen Beach for years.

A map, drawn by the SRD, showed the entire length of Rio would be part of a comprehensive drainage program along SR 707. The plan is from Sunset Blvd. to the curve at Warner Creek.

The drainage of Rio has been a constant problem during rainy spells. Pockets in various areas hold water, making the drive dangerous, and even covering the road to several inches deep. The water was especially dangerous at the public drive into the Rio Civic Club.

Another dangerous area to have drainage solved will be at the curve at Palmer Head and SR 707, near the bowling alley. The drainage area shows the possibility of moving the water to the area of Penica's Pond, an outlet into the St. Lucie River. Autos have been known to completely leave the road at the curve, driving through private property, to avoid the over one-foot-deep water in the bash.

Third area for drainage is from Gardner Lane, where there is a county drain to the Indian River, to the Coral Reef Motel. Property owners along the road have asked the road to keep roadway runoff of water from flooding front yards, making the road a lake. The SRD plan will be to drain water into the Gardner Lane outlet to the river. There are two drains already established there which will be used to carry the water, once they are reconstructed for use.

The resurfacing of SR 707 from the City of Stuart to the north county line will be included in the construction project. No date for letting of the bids has been set.

FOGGING--Through the fog of mosquito spray, one of two fogging aircraft passes down the FEC railroad tracks, early Sunday morning, fogging mosquitos. The low flying aircraft covered the waterfront areas of Martin County. Loaned by Lee County, the planes cost the county $3,000, one-third of the cost of last year's fogging by air, according to commissioner Bill Hussey, who got emergency permission of his fellow commissioners by (secret) telephone last week.

Cooke and McClure will run again

Dan Cooke and Dan McClure, incumbent city commissioners, announced Monday that they will run for re-election to the city commission this year.

The primary for the city will be held Nov. 26, and the election December 10. The issue this year is certain to center around the financial condition of the city.

If the accountants now working on the books can manage to bring order to the city's antiquated bookkeeping system, the city's financial condition might be able to be determined.

Fishin' is fine

Freddy Fulford hooked into a 20-pound jewfish Saturday night, while his wife, Margaret pulled in an 11-pound drum.

Steve Rahelser had a good week, catching a 17-1/2 lb. jewfish, 2 snook (one 32#), and two trout; Gene and Earl Russell caught 5 snook and 1 trout off the 10¢ bridge using live mullet; James Clarivan, of Pahokee, caught a 1-lb. 15 oz. sailcat; George Sivo, 3 blues; Dolley, 1 blue and 1 croaker, as reported by Rahelser.

Other catches include: 2 blues and 1 trout, Willard Bowman; And a 6-lb. channel bass by Howie Sims, and a 9-lb. snook by John Clark.

The Bait Box reports 2 pompano on sandfleas, by Lucy Hartell; 1 snook using live shrimp, Guy Lewis; 2 whiting, 2 snapper, 2 croaker in the surf, by Larry Clark, using frozen shrimp. E. C. Stuckland, a 7-lb. trout on live shrimp; Edward Randall, 1 red snapper on live shrimp, and a 50-lb. stingray out of the surf on live mullet.

Leonard Smith of Jensen Beach caught 1 trout, 1 snapper, and 1 grouper last week trolling with live shrimp.

Sam Calkins of Jensen caught an 11 lb. snook off Jensen Beach Bridge at 10 p.m. Monday night using a plug.

Johnny Crawford reports that fishing is pretty good. The trout are good and there are a few blues in the surf.

Joe Apalbeck got 20 sheepshead bottom fishing on the bridge. Andy Demoliditch got 30 trout and 10 snook. Seven blues were caught in the surf by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams.

Fishing off the Jensen Bridge, Louis LJ caught 3 snook and some trout.

The river fisherman did well as shown by the following catches: Dr. Stokes got six black bass, Bob Rogot six black bass, Bob Robinson got 10 trout while wading, 10 snook were caught by John Pitsalmons. Steve Rahelser caught 6 trout, some snook, and a jewfish.

A fine catch was had by Howdy Wilcox who got 55 trout. Russell Bolton got 15 snook and 3 tarpon. Three trout and 1 pompano were hooked by Joe Sorrell, Wally Laugerhauser caught 18 trout and 5 blues. Earl and Jean Russell caught 5 snook and 1 trout and Carl Blatt hooked 16 trout and 1 grouper.

Jim Stewart of Jensen Beach got a nice catch of 9 snook, weighing between 6 and 15 lbs. each. Ten trout were hooked by Chet Trelor and Bob Reds and Bob Pelosi got 24 pompano, 19 trout and 1 snook out of the river.

Margolies' etchings to be shown in art exhibit

Seventy etchings by Samuel L. Margolies, will be seen in the first of the 1968-69 series of exhibitions at the Martin County Historical Society's Elliott Museum, starting Monday, October 14. The gallery is open to the public free at all times.

Mr. Margolies, who presented this collection to the society last June, has for several years made his home in Jensen Beach, coming to Florida from his native Manhattan. He has designated three of the etchings for reproduction as "presentation prints" for those who join the society in the Contributing Member category, ($35) or above.

Church league scores

The First Baptist Church of Stuart beat the Jensen Beach Community Church in church league play Thursday night, October 3rd. The score was 13-8 in the last inning in favor of Jensen Beach when the baptists caught fire and scored six runs making the final score 14-13 in favor of Stuart.

The Jensen Beach Baptist Church won by a forefeit when the Stuart Methodist Church failed to show up.

In the church league, two teams are tied for first place. The Jensen Beach Baptist Church and the First Baptist Church of Stuart have record of one win and one loss each and the Jensen Beach Community Church and the Stuart Baptist Church each have two losses.

The circus is coming

The Hoxie Bros. Circus is coming to the Martin County Fairgrounds Thursday, October 10. There will be two shows, one at 6:00 p.m. and one at 8:00.

The circus features wild animals, performing horses, acrobats, high aerial stars, rock and roll dancing and elephants.

Advance tickets have been sold out and there are no reserve seats. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Mr. Robert Huff, Asst. State Service Officer of the Florida Department of Veterans Affairs, St. Petersberg, Fla., will be in Martin County at the County Service Office at Court House Annex, E. Flagler Avenue on October 16 at 2:30 p.m.

Interested persons may contact Mr. Huff at this time to discuss technical questions, problems of veterans and their survivors or dependents, with regard to Veterans Administration benefits such as hospitalization, education and training, insurance, disability, widows and dependent parents benefits, GI housing loans, etc.

Automatic transfer

TP zoning gets workout before county passage

by Dick Campbell

The controversial "TP" zoning classification was passed in a public hearing Tuesday by the county commission after commissioners were convinced that there should be an automatic transfer of both conforming and non-conforming mobile home parks into the classification from R-3-A.

Mobile home parks were taken from the R-3-A classification under the new "TP" division, with a separate set of rules governing the development of mobile home parks.

The commission meeting room was filled with representatives of the smaller parks in the county, most of whom were in a non-conforming use category with less than the required ten acres for development.

The confusion in the new classification was evident in the repeated explanation of the TP zoning by zoning director Tom Slider and county attorney Dean Tooker. Comments of "unjust, biased" and discriminatory" were levied against the zoning board.

County commissioner Frank Wacha asked that a grandfather clause be listed in the new category so that any trailer park already established before the zoning goes into effect be allowed to continue, and be automatically moved in to the TP category. He also asked that marinas be included in the zoning as adjuncts to the mobile home parks.

"If they are in R-3-A as conforming or non-conforming, then they can be the same in TP zoning," Wacha said. His effort centered around the establishment that the parks were non-conforming in size, but not in use. He admitted that the ten acre qualification of the zoning requirements was an arbitrary figure drawn by the zoning board. "We can deal with that later," Wacha said.

Legitimate complaints were filed by representatives of Ronny's Mobile Home Park, Twin Rivers Mobile Home Park, and a person who desired to establish a camping trailer park in Jensen Beach, but wanted clarification of the zoning before he purchased the land.

Mr. Ronny Nelson asked if several applications for zoning for new parks in the county would continue to be held up after the establishment of the TP division, and was told they should not be delayed by the commissioners.

Several other complaints were obviously politically motivated by persons disappointed with previous zoning board judgements, and were not based upon the transfer of R-3-A parks into the TP category.

Wacha's motion for the grandfather clause and the marina addition to the category, and the entire TP division, was carried.

Izaak Walton League plans cookout Saturday

The Martin County Chapter of the Izaak Walton League will hold a cookout on Saturday, October 12, beginning at 5:30 p.m. at the Youth Center in Stuart. Coffee and hamburgers will be served, along with the usual covered dishes supplied by members. This will be a rain-or-shine affair, as the facilities of the Youth Center building will be available if needed. For those who wish help in plug and bait casting, or spin casting techniques, an instruction period with expert help will begin at 4:30.

County actions

In a regular meeting this Tuesday, the Martin County Commission took the following actions:

RETURNED unused right of way to Mrs. Fadina Price on S. Indian River Drive.

PASSED a resolution naming former county commissioner, James Herbert Bruner, for past service to the county, regretting his resignation for reasons of health, and offering him good wishes for the future.

AGREED to let any commissioner who wanted to, attend the state bulkhead meeting of the cabinet in Tallahassee.

ASKED county attorney Dean Tooker to take legal action against the owner of a sunken boat, to have the boat removed from the south end of Manatee Pocket, as a menace to navigation.

AGREED to advertise for a cab and shell of a four wheel drive truck to be converted into a fire truck for the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department. Commissioner Wacha said the fire department would pay for the truck.

DECLARED the week of October 20th as National 4-H week in Martin County at the request of Martha Sue...

HEARD ... complaints about the lack of sewers in Gulfspan Home, ... commissioner Bruner said the problem would soon be solved.

GAVE permission to engineer Tom Slider to approve plans and give the go-ahead to utilities requesting use of Bureau authority, since the Bureau approval is a formality of the commission.

Kimball to speak at St. Joseph Oct. 25

John Clark Kimball, of the State Department, Bureau of Public Affairs, will speak in the auditorium of St. Joseph College, Jensen Beach, from 2 to 4 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 25 according to Sister Bertilla, S.S.J., director of cultural events at the college.

Kimball's subject will be Vietnam. The public is invited.

Soil conservation

Pursuant to the heavy rains of September, the office of the Martin Soil & Water Conservation is receiving a number of requests for farm drainage. This is understandable, but unfortunately, field investigations and surveys will be limited until the showers and surface waters subside somewhat. Ironically, there's an increasing interest in stocking farmponds now; some precautions should certainly be taken except as to water to support bream, bass, and catfish. The District office notes an increasing interest in channel catfish as well; the U. S. Fish & Wildlife Service is now providing them along with bream and bass for Florida fat ponds that meet their requirements. The Service will not supply catfish for farmponds already stocked with bream and bass; they are put into ponds along with the bream during the fall, bass are added the following spring. The Service also declines to stock commercial fishponds with bream, bass, or catfish.

USDA Soil Conservation Service recently banned the following statement by its employees: copper sulfate may be continued as an aquatic herbicide in farmponds. Rotenone and Antimycin-A may still be used for fish toxicants in fishpond management; they suggest, however, that fish killed with rotenone and Antimycin-A not be eaten by humans.

VWW1 news

The Ladies Auxiliary of Martin County Barracks #854, VWW1, will hold a bake sale Saturday, Oct. 12, at Jensen Beach Bank. The sale will start at 9 a.m. Co-chairmen are Trudy Chihasz and Cecile Harlow.

The Barracks and Auxiliary voted at their Friday night meeting to donate $10 each to the Palm Tree fund. The auxiliary also voted to donate $20 to the Miami Veterans' Hospital fund.

Mrs. Addie Farwell was named chairman of the auxiliary's annual rummage sale set for Tuesday, Oct. 29, at the Jensen Beach Community Center. She asks that contributions be brought to the center after 6:30 p.m. the night before the sale.

Philip A. Kirse, past department commander, and Wm. C. Morford, West Palm Beach, department inspector, gave reports on the recent national convention in New Orleans, while Mrs. Caroline Peterson, president of Port St. Lucie Auxiliary, told the auxiliary about the national meeting.

Wimodausis meet Friday

The Jensen Beach Square Club and Wimodausis will have their first meeting of the season on Friday, Oct. 11, at 8 p.m. at Jensen Beach Causeway. This will be a covered dish supper.

Bring table service, beverage and dish to pass. In case of inclement weather, the group will meet at Jensen Beach Community Center.

Bakeless food sale planned

A bakeless food sale will be featured at the Oct. 21 card party sponsored by the Jensen Beach Women's Association. The event, to which the public is invited, will be held at Hoag Hall, All Saints' Episcopal Church, where meetings are being conducted until the new clubhouse is constructed.

Call 287-6372 for reservations.

Forty-three members and five guests attended the business meeting Monday, Oct. 7, which was followed by games of cards.

The door prize was won by Mrs. Ruby Robinson. Mrs. Geneva Siebert was chairman, assisted by Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Grace Lewis, Mrs. Olive Donaldson and Mrs. Zilah Rhodes.

Rev. Gunsalus returns here

Rev. Neil M. Gunsalus, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, Jensen Beach, returned recently from a week spent at the Florida Conference Pastor's School.

Dr. William R. Cannon, speaker on Church History at the school, has recently been elected a bishop of the Methodist Church, and at one time was dean of the seminary attended by Rev. Gunsalus.

Holiday Outlines

by George

It was "Plantation Day" at Holiday Out Resort recently when 23 visitors from South of the Border came to Holiday Out. Years ago this resort area was just that, a plantation owned by Arch Mosher, whose main crop was bemas.

Pioneer resident of Jensen Beach, Joe Kling, Sr., worked for Mosher and says he still can't believe the transition which has come about.

Recent guests from Plantation included Warren MacNabbs, the Ray F. Conklins, J. A. Bowsers and Richard Stevenson.

Other visitors were: the Allan P. Fowlers of Belle Glade; W. A. Chambers of Annapolis, Md.; the Ray Munns of Pompano Beach; Thurl G. Campbells of West Palm Beach; Dr. R. O. Lee and family of West Palm; the D. R. Hawleys of Fort Lauderdale, and Mrs. Wm. Biddinger of Crederaville, Ohio.

Library service extended

Library service will be extended to outlying areas of the county, according to LeRoy Hennings, new librarian at the Martin County public library on E. Ocean Blvd., Stuart.

Being considered is a library-trailer which would visit outlying areas and stay for a day or two at a time. The recently-dropped Bookmobile stopped for short periods of time in various areas.

Hennings stressed service to the county as his aim for the library, and is considering requests from students and residents for longer hours at the library.

Seek state aid

Aid from the state is being sought by Martin County Commissioner Jack Saunderson for construction of boat ramps in Port Salerno, he said last week.

Two boat ramps are needed in Sandsprit Park and at A-1-A and Broward Avenue, Saunderson said. He has sent a request for state funds to Ney C. Landrum, director of Outdoor Recreation Planning Council for the state.

Gilbert Miller heads Community Action

Gilbert Miller was elected president of the Martin County Community Action Committee at last Wednesday's meeting held at the Martin County Public Library.

Other officers elected include Robert Hall, vice-president; Mrs. Frances Falin, secretary, and Mrs. Willie Mae Dickins, treasurer.

Forty-one members of the Board of Directors were also elected. About one-third of the board was chosen by the people of concentrated poverty areas in East Stuart, Booker Park and Hobe Sound, according to Dr. George Bost.

The group also approved the reappointment of Felix Williams as chairman of Head Start and Quilly McHardy as director of the Head Start program.

CHURCH GUEST--Editor of 'The Upper Room', Dr. Wilson O. Weldon, above, will be a guest of First United Methodist Church, Stuart, Oct 10 to 13. He will speak at the Oct. Ladies Night meeting Thurs., Oct. 10 at 6:30, and will preach at both services Sunday. A community prayer breakfast will be held on Saturday, Oct. 12.

Brotherhood dinner Friday

The monthly dinner meeting of the Men's Brotherhood of Jensen Beach Community Church will be Friday, Oct. 18, at 6 p.m. Call the church for reservations.

On Tuesday, Oct. 15, the official board will meet at 7:30 p.m.

Workshops for the annual fair, scheduled for Nov. 16, are held each Tuesday from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m.

Community Church has interim pastor

The Rev. Joseph A. Dudley of Fort Pierce is the interim pastor at Jensen Beach Community Church.

Rev. Dudley replaces Rev. Nelson M. Tarwater, who is now associated with a church in Blaine, Penna.

Rev. Dudley, 28, was born on the Shoshone Indian reservation in South Dakota, is married and has four children. He served three years in the Methodist church following eight years in the Armed Forces, including two years overseas.

At present, Rev. Dudley is the full time pastor at Indian River Junior College.

Anyone needing the services of the pastor is asked to call the church office during the day, 287-0014, or Dorothy Hall at home during the evening, 287-0946.

Service officer here Wednesday

Robert Hall, assistant state service officer, will be available for consultation on Wednesday, Oct. 16, at the office of John A. Keller, Martin County service officer.

Appointments with Hall, Florida Department of Veterans Affairs, St. Petersburg, may be made by calling Keller's office in the courthouse annex, Stuart. The telephone number is 287-2013.

Stuart Guide

This year's edition of the new Stuart Chamber of Commerce Resort and Fishing Guide is now available at the chamber office, according to Mrs. Rosaleen Warren, manager.

This year's total copies will be about 25,000, she said, 5,000 more than last year.

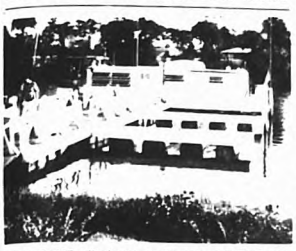
Live in Port Salerno

Teals tour area in floating home

Visitors to PSL via a houseboat were Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Teal and their dog, Cindy, and Mrs. Elizabeth Goldsmith from Pirates Cove in Port Salerno. Originally from Rochester, N.Y., THE Teals came by house boat to Florida in 1964. They had to anchor outside of Ft. Pierce to wait for the hurricane we were having to pass. The trip from New York to Florida took 11 weeks and was very enjoyable.



HOUSE AFLOAT--Wanderers on the water are the Bruce Teals, who live in the houseboat shown above, docked at the Marina at Port St. Lucie. It took Teal seven years to build their home, which floated from Rochester, New York, to its present home-site in Port Salerno.

It took Mr. Teal seven years to build the houseboat. It has a combination living-room-galley bedroom head, and even a workshop. It is all air-conditioned. They have a sun deck thay they can enjoy the nice weather on. They travel all over Florida by way of water. It took them four hours to come from Stuart, but the scenery was well worth it.

They are members of the Coast Guard Auxiliary in Port Salerno, and have many friends here in our Coast Guard Auxiliary.

The Friday Night Gang celebrated three birthdays on September 27, Joseph Kuby of 311 Rio Mar Dr., and Fred Wood, who admit to being at least 39. Mrs. Augusta Hack admitted to being 88 years young. Mrs. Hack is a houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. Cedric Benz of 103 Celestia Court.

Welcomed were some newcomers to the area, Mr. and Mrs. William Bryan. Games were played and there was a tie on the Cover All between Joe Cary and Emma Urban, they each won two steaks.

VISITORS -- Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Teal, left, with their dog, Cindy, and Mrs. Elizabeth Goldsmith, recently visited Port St. Lucie via their houseboat. The Teals now stay in Pirates Cove, Port Salerno.

NEWLYWEDS--Vicki Skaggs and David Long were married Oct. 5 by Monsignor Reddy at Port St. Lucie Catholic Church on Prima Vista Blvd. Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Garden Center in Fort Pierce. After an auto trip of southern Florida, the couple will reside at Palm Terrace Apartments, Fort Pierce. The groom works for Piper Aircraft in Vero Beach, the bride is employed by Southern Bell Telephone Co.

Bingo night is every Wednesday night at the Catholic Church Hall on Prima Vista Blvd.

REWARD--Pete Cox, left, Fort Pierce, receives a savings bond as reward from General Development Corporation for his part in saving the life of fellow-workman in danger of electrocution from a faulty power saw. At right, Jack Sheridan, general manager of GDC at North Port St. Lucie, makes the presentation. Cox pulled the switch that cut power which was coursing through the stricken body of M. Eugene York, also of Fort Pierce, as the two men worked on a GDC building project. Fellow workmen look on as the presentation was made last Friday.

Mrs. Yandowicz has 10 minutes on Puplix spree

Mrs. Micheal Yankowicz of 745 Alroso Blvd. was the winner of the 10 minute shopping spree. Never dreaming she would win, Mrs. Yankowicz put her name in the box and she was pleasantly surprised when told she was the winner. Publix was opened early for her shopping spree, she ran for awhile, but soon was tired out.

With some help, she accumulated $319.37 worth of groceries. Most of it was meat and when asked what she would keep it in, she was stumped. Publix offered space to keep it in at the store, but Jimmy Sneed said he would buy a freezer and Mrs. Yankowicz could use it till she had used the goodies.

All in all, Mr. and Mrs. Yankowicz are very happy over the whole thing. Believe it or not, Mrs. Yankowicz has gone shopping for vegetables twice since winning.

Paula Saunders joins commission

Mrs. Paula Saunders became Martin County's first female commissioner Tuesday as Judge Mallory Johnson gave the Republican appointee the oath of office at the special commission meeting. Mrs. Saunders had not filed a required bond when the commission met last week and was not able to be seated at that meeting.

Her first official action was to vote on the award of gasoline bids to the Standard Oil.

In other actions, the county commissioners awarded a contract for 31 - 40' trusses to Stuart Paint and Supply on a bid of $800, over $200 lower than the next bid. Commissioner Frank Wacha announced that the bid was a "donation" by the company.

Radical changes in zoning brought the attention of county attorney to a meeting on Nov. 20-23 in Daytona Beach. Any commissioner desiring to go was given permission, along with Dean Tooker.

The Hotonda Drainage District was beaten for a while by the commission and several from the public. The decision on whether or not to issue an objection to the drainage, and the sending of the letter to the state, was deferred to another day.

NEW PRESIDENT--Ralph Randell, newly-installed president of the Stuart Chamber of Commerce, was congratulated on his new responsibilities by Congressman Paul Rogers, guest speaker of the evening. Master of ceremonies for the event was Evans Crary, Jr.

Smith satisfied

Jetty will be plugged when possible--Wacha

The plugging of the St. Lucie Inlet jetty was assured Tuesday, according to Leonard Smith, leader of a group of Martin County citizens interested in stopping the flow of sand through the jetty into the inlet.

Smith said he had received assurances from Frank Wacha, County Commissioner, who said that a perpetual easement for maintenance of the jetty was available, and that the jetty would be plugged as soon as the equipment is available.

A check by The Jensen Beach Mirror with Wacha affirmed the comments by Smith. Wacha said that County Engineer Tom Slider was going to program the jetty repair into the county work schedule.

Slabs stored in the lot of the Elliott Museum, addenders on one of the county causeways, will be used to slow the speed of the wave action against the jetty, forcing the littoral drift sand out of the water and thus cutting down on the amount of sand drifting into the inlet.

The U.S. Corps of Engineers is due to let a contract to dredge the inlet soon so that it will be deepened for the fall and winter season. Smith had hoped that the jetty plugging would take place before the dredging, as the sand drifting through the jetty would fill the inlet in a short time. "A bad storm could close the inlet in a week," Smith said.

Smith showed relief as he said of the good news, like group had collected over 700 names on petitions asking for the plugging of the jetty. Support of various conservation and civic groups had been acquired by appeals to those groups, Smith plans to attend the Martin County Taxpayer's Association meeting this Friday to ask the support of the group in the project.

"We have worked hard and long in this effort to save the taxpayer dollar," Smith said. "As this portion of our inlet and jetty project comes to a decision, I can only reflect on the frustrations of trying to get someone to listen to our plans. It has been a long and arduous battle.

"When we were able to get the help of County Commissioner Frank Wacha, things finally began to click into place. Wacha showed us how it could be done and the way that it would cost the least money for the county taxpayers.

"I'm glad this part of the fight is over, I am glad we are going to get a protected jetty, I'm glad that somebody up there got something done," Smith said, adding, "Now we can get to work on getting a safe inlet, profuco unoer ciana anoroved by the Corps of Engineers, and operating on a permanent basis."

Grimm resigns county

George Grimm, right-of-way agent and inventory control office of Martin County, has resigned his position as of October 18, he gave no reason for resigning, but said he has other positions in mind.

Prior to the appointment of Tom Slider to replace former County Engineer Fred Bell, Grimm worked as assistant to Bell. Following the hiring of Tom Higgins as administrative assistant, Grimm was given the post as right-of-way agent and working on property records.

Island change

A zoning change for Bean Construction, planners of a $1,300,000 condominium on Hutchinson Island just south of Jensen Beach, will be presented to the Martin County Zoning and Planning Board this Thursday night.

The island from SR AIA to the ocean at that point is zoned for motels and motels and from SR AIA to the river, it is zoned for apartments, and single family residence.

A half dozen requests, for TT trailer park zoning, will be heard.

Editorial

Trial by newspaper is not for grand jury

The Martin County Grand Jury will meet Wednesday night to hear a "preview of coming events" concerning the audit of the City of Stuart books by August Lutz, legislative auditor appointed to audit the books of the city following the death of city manager Joe Crowder.

We believe that the news release of state attorney Charles T. Carlton announcing the empaneling of the grand jury was in extremely poor taste, violating the very principle of the grand jury system. We believe that Mr. Carlton is actually bringing an indictment against every elected city official, every appointed official and every employee of the City of Stuart.

The Jensen Beach Mirror will not print the news release of the state attorney, for we do not believe in trial by newspaper. Nor do we believe that the grand jury system is to be used as a political tool for a state attorney running for election to that post.

The grand jury is a body of citizens meeting in secret session to determine "probable cause" not to try a case. The grand jury does not determine guilt or innocence. The minutes and testimony of a grand jury are secret, not open to the public view.

When Mr. Carlton releases a news story to the press stating that the grand jury will hear evidence in "general terms" pertaining to "alleged payment of bills to fictitious companies", and "checks that have been presented to certain city employees that have been endorsed back to city officials", he is indicting every employee and every city official in the City of Stuart.

The employees not involved in unlawful actions, and the city officials who have not tipped into the till, or received money fraudulently, are indicted without the opportunity to answer in court of law. Their reputations are damaged. Their lives are subject to the rumor mills of society.

The Mirror will always fight for "government in the sunshine", and demand that public record be always public. But we will not subject citizens to ridicule, or to trial without opportunity to answer in a court of law.

We feel that the state attorney has broken the faith of the grand jury system. We feel that he has broken Canon 20 of the professional ethics of the Florida Bar, in which it states that "Newspaper publications by a lawyer as to pending or anticipated litigation may interfere with a fair trial in the courts and otherwise prejudice the due administration of justice".

There are other areas of a dubious nature in this news release.

First, it is rumored, on very good authority, that the audit of the city books will not be completed until the end of the year. A new grand jury will be impaneled after January 1. If this of jury cannot act, then wh. should this preliminary evidence be presented to it? If this grand jury does return a true bill on an indictment of the city, will the case be thrown out of court due to the public trial in newspaper of the litigants?

Public knowledge of the grand jury action defeats the purpose of the grand jury, and our grand jury system is something to be protected, for it is our last resort.

We decry the presumptuous nature of the state attorney news release, and denounce the political flavor of its issuance. We hope that the Martin County Grand Jury takes Mr. Carlton to task for his pre-release of important grand jury evidence and information.

$30,000 tourney

15 golfers added to Pro-Am tourney

Chuck Ankrom, director of golf for General Development Corporation, announced this week another 15 top pro-golfers who have entered the $30,000 Sixth Annual U.S. Invitational Pro-Amateur Golf Championship which will be played at St. Lucie Country Club Dec. 12, 13 and 14.

Jack Ryan, Country Club of Buffalo, Williamsville, N.Y., amateur partner, Lionel Noah of Pine Tree Golf Club, Delray, Fla.

Jaycees guard Pro-Am

Members of three Junior Chambers of Commerce will provide the marshals on the Saints and Sinners courses at St. Lucie Country Club when the Ninth Annual U.S. Invitational Pro-Amateur Golf Championship is played Dec. 12, 13 and 14.

Chuck Ankrom, director of golf for sponsoring General Development Corporation, said this week that he had met with leaders of the Stuart, Fort Pierce and Vero Beach Jaycees to arrange the responsibility for the project for which the JC's volunteered.

Meetings were held with Kermit Tucker, president of the Stuart group; Don Carrera, Fort Pierce, state JC director; and Jack Bergin, president of the Vero Beach Junior Chamber.

The St. Lucie Country Club Men's Golf Association will provide the head marshals, Ankrom said. He met with Dr. Herbert Hedberg, president of the association, to make the arrangements, he said.

Boss the JC's and the men from the Men's Golf Association will be donating their time and services for the duration of the tourney, Ankrom said.

LET ME TRY NEXT--Firemen and their equipment have always fascinated little boys, and the youngsters at Jensen Beach Elementary School are no exception. Taking part in last week's observance of Fire Prevention Week are, left to right, David Nunn, William Banks and Joseph Hall. Members of the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department held a fire drill at the school and let the children handle the hose.

Rules and regulations governing Christmas mailing are available at the local post offices.

Conservationists protest, win boat patrols

The combined conservation clubs of Martin County, including the Anglers Club, Isaac Walton League, and the Sailfish Club, have issued a protest to the United States Coast Guard and have won support for a fight against speeding boats, reckless boaters and boats operating without proper lighting, according to Jerome Wood, president of the Anglers Club.

The USCG will begin patrolling the St. Lucie and Indian Rivers in search for marine violators. The state conservation board patrol and the sheriff's department boat will also patrol.

The officials of the three clubs met with Lt. William F. Harbers, of the boating safety branch of USCG.

The objection of the men included the speeding of O.M.C. test boats, fish pots in the way of boaters, sport boats anchoring in channels to fish, and nets across the North Fork of the St. Lucie River impeding boats going to the St. Lucie Country Club Marina.

GED tests to be given in Stuart

The 33rd series of General Educational Development Test (GED) will be given Oct. 26-Nov. 1 at the Instructional Center on S. Ocean Blvd., Stuart. Tests are given at 7:00 each evening.

Florida residents who are 20 or older may take the tests. Applicants must have at least one credit of American history, government or civics to be eligible.

Call 287-6464, or apply at the office of E. B. Horton, director of adult education, if you plan to take the tests.

Ron Tilton saves swimmer

Ron Tilton said he was a St. Joseph College student and should be at home now. The beach was closed due to rough waters. Tilton did not tell the name of the man, but said he had been in up to his neck. Artificial respiration was not necessary, due to the man's ability to breathe when brought to shore.

The beach being reopened, the life guards, responding, right at quitting time again, and swimming is at the risk of the swimmer.

Licenses approved

PSLtalksaboutroads

Discussion of the acceptance of roads in the City of Port St. Lucie by the city government for maintenance was discussed at length at last Tuesday's meeting of the city council. Topic centered around the acceptance of nine miles of roads and streets from General Development Corporation.

The roads are mainly in the Country Club section of the city. Under an agreement between GDC and the city, the roads will be tested and profiles of them made available to determine the necessity for resurfacing and the regrading of certain roads to eliminate drainage problems.

The GDC engineering department will do the profiles and make core tests to see that the streets are constructed in accordance with specifications of the city, and will develop a cost estimate of resurfacing for proper grades.

Work on updating the roads will be completed in the next few months, it was pointed out in the meeting.

Also, trash removal was discussed, along with the location of a dumpin, area for the trash.

The occupational licenses for the city was discussed and approved. Licenses must be obtained, and went into effect October 1.

Personals

Pam Horner placed in the top ten in the "Miss Flame" contest put on by the Fireman's Wives Auxiliary held October 5 at the YMCA. Pam lives at 395 Abeto Lane, and hopes to become a registered nurse.

Orders for Airman Second Class, Ron Overhold have been recalled, he and his wife, Lisa, will be staying in Tuscon, Arizona awaiting his orders for the Far East.

Groves honored on anniversary

The special quartet of the Friday Night Gang sang the "Anniversary Song" to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Grove on their fortieth anniversary on October 4.

Visitors present were: Ellen Bay and Peggy Revielli of New York City and Edwina Rogers of Hammond, Indiana.

October eleventh was "Mardi Gras Night," there were quite a few people attending. It seems everyone is coming back from up North, must be getting cold up there.

The special quartet sang "Happy Birthday" to Frances Lee on October 10.

There was a tie for the main prize by Aubrey Russell and Al Weigel. They won a 4 lb. corned beef.

Cedric Renz reports there are still a few tickets available for the Hallowe'en party on October 31. The committees for party are: Music, Frances Lee, (who reports the Sheldon Baker Trio will be playing), Decorations, Ann Boman, Reservations, Al Weigel, and Harry Grove, Favors, Frances Lee and Ethel Krall, and Tickets, Cedric Renz. There will be prizes for the costumes and door prizes, too.

Bridge

Harold Willard and Richard Barbagallo were high scores with 85 1/2 points. Second: Mr. and Mrs. George Benoit, 78 1/2 points, third: Dr. and Mrs. Roger Bellows, 71 points, Fourth: John and Vergie Watson, 70 1/2 points.

The next game will be played October 14 at 1:30 p.m. sharp. A lecture at 1:00 p.m. by Jay Mann will precede the game. You are assured of a playing partner if you come alone.

Golf Scores

Eighteen women golfers participated in a team of four—best ball tournament Tuesday. Low team winners were: first, Clara Belle Feig, Adele Johnson, Edith Penn, and Irene Hainer, with 70 points. Second team was, Edith McDaniels, Mar. Ellen Hiddison, Marian Cole, and Rosiland Stilwell. The women participating on Tuesdays are giving their prizes for the month of October to the Cancer Fund Drive.

Fashion show is planned

The Port St. Lucie Jr. Woman's Club will be holding a Fashion Show on November 8 at 8:30 p.m. This will be held at the Woman's Club Building, Ft. Pierce.

There will be door prizes, refreshments and entertainment by Gary Schmidt and Winston Brown. Master of ceremonies will be Miles Heckendorn.

Mrs. Richard Schaefer and Mrs. Richard Schmidt are in charge of arrangements.

At the PSL Jr. Woman's Club meeting, it was decided to collect food for several Thanksgiving Baskets to be given to needy families for Thanksgiving Day. There will be a box placed at the PSL Marina and at the General Development Office on November first for donations. Food items or cleaning products that a family could use are needed, according to the chairman, Mrs. John Brewster.

If you have any old eyeglasses, drop them off at the Marina. The ladies have a project going to help people in need of these glasses.

Guests present at the meeting were: Mrs. Hector Aguiar and Mrs. David Wortendyke.

Vic Cormia, says the PSL Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 10150, are now holding their meetings on the last Friday of the month at 7:30 at the Methodist Educational Building in PSL.

Mrs. Charles White says the Twilighters will have till October 29 to swim. The pool will not be available to them again till next spring. That leaves only four more nights to swim.

Mrs. Marguarite Brock of the Florida Dept. of Agriculture gave a talk and demonstration on "Tailor Made Foods" at the meeting of the Homemakers Club on Wednesday, October 10. Members tasted the soy beans and synthetic foods prepared by Mrs. Brock.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mae Cassine, Ruth Cornman, and Min Kibler.

Mrs. John Picone says they will be rolling bandages in the large room at the Marina now. Help and clean sheets are still needed. This bandage rolling will be done on Tuesdays between ten and twelve.

General Development Corporation has appointed Hans W. Rawe as general manager of the St. Lucie Country Club and Villas.

Previously, he was associated with the Lost Tree Club in North Palm Beach, Fla., and the Columbus Plaza Hotel, Columbus, Ohio.

Conservation clubs question candidates

Six clubs in Martin County are sending out letters to 30 local, state and U.S. candidates for office asking them to complete a "conservation questionnaire".

The letters will be sent by the Anglers Club, Anderson Society, Sailfish Club, Isaac Walton League, and the conservation committees of the Woman's Club and the Garden Club.

The letters describe the stand of the groups on water pollution, bulkheading, the St. Lucie Inlet, conservation law enforcement and mixing in Lake Okeechobee.

"Yes and "no" answers and comments are asked on these six questions:

"Will you actively and sincerely support measures to end siltation in the St. Lucie and Indian Rivers?"

"Will you actively and sincerely support measures to end pollution of our water by 'hard' chemicals and sewage?"

"Will you actively and sincerely support measures placing bulkhead lines at the mean high water mark except when it is in the public interest to be extended from there?"

"Will you support the early establishment of a permanent deep and safe St. Lucie Inlet?"

"Will you take all steps in your power to actively encourage strict enforcement of all conservation laws and encourage adequate fines for violators?"

"Will you oppose all mining in Lake Okeechobee?"

St. JosephCollege site of Veteran's Day program

A new setting for Martin County's annual observance of Armistice Day was announced Nov. 11, by Oscar Deiss, commander of Martin County Barracks, 854, VWWI, Jensen Beach.

The ceremonies, marking the Golden Anniversary of the cessation of WWI, will be held in the air conditioned auditorium of St. Joseph's College, Commander Deiss said, and added: "In recent years we've had SRO crowds for the event in the Jensen Beach Community Hall. Our thanks go to school officials who consented to the use of their facilities."

He also said that they expect to double the size of their usual attendance.

Commander Deiss and his co-chairman, Ralph Graves, are preparing a program for the event which will be announced later.

Grumman designs three-man submarine

A three-man submarine for off-shore petroleum, pipeline inspection and underwater survey work has been designed by Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corp. who refuses to name the customer.

The small undersea craft has a cylindrical steel hull 11.5 feet long and 5.5 feet in diameter made of 7-16th inch steel.

Its length is 19 feet and height is 8.8 feet.

According to the designers it will be capable of operating at a depth of 500 feet, with a collapse depth of hull estimated at 1,250 feet.

The 10-ton boat will be capable of submerged speeds of five knots.

Many of the design features in the Ben Franklin have been applied to the small pipeline survey craft, according to the designers.

Civitans hear Bill Britton

Civitans of Stuart recognized National Newspaper Week by asking Bill Britton, advertising manager of the Jensen Beach Mirror to speak to them on a related subject. Britton appeared before the Club, Thursday noon, at the Holiday Inn.

Britton indicated there are two categories of newsman, one that has no imagination, he writes yesterday's and today's news, and one who has a conscience and hopes he can contribute to his community and profession.

"The good newsman and newspaper has as its objectives, contributions toward making its community a better place to live and work in," Britton stated. "It must have a strong community voice and try to give an honest appraisal of what needs to be done and what is going on," he added.

When asked why some newspapers print more bad news than good news, Britton replied that some newspapers go in for sensationalism and bad news reporting because their only concern is higher circulation and profiteering.

Club president, Lee Casson, Jr. attended the 4-H Appreciation and Awards Banquet, October 9, at the Agricultural Center. 4-H members reported on their recent trip to Washington, D. C., which the local Civitan Club contributed to.

Mrs. Penick returns to Jensen Beach

Mrs. Esther Penick of 900 Lake Court returned to Jensen Beach last week, after a summer of visiting her many relatives. She visited nine states.

She also saw the snow bowl in the San Francisco Peaks, the Navajo Reservation in Utah, Lee's Ferry in northern Utah, Moccasin, a Paiute Indian village, and an old Mormon Fort at Pipe Springs, and Sunset Crater.

Mrs. Penick says its good to be back home.

Tigers lose to Lake Worth 7-0

Martin County piled up more rushing and passing yardage but lost the game Friday night with a score of 7-0.

Mike Benedik, Lake Worth's senior fullback, took a handoff from Jimmy Caraway, and went right through the middle for a 24-yard touchdown with only three minutes and 33 seconds remaining in the game.

The touchdown was a result of a fumble by Albert McIntyre, Martin County's best ball carrier. The fumble was recovered on the Tigers' 39 yard line.

The game was a defensive one all the way.

In the first quarter, Stuart tried two field goals, but failed.

Lake Worth fumbled the opening kickoff, but Stuart could only make six yards to the 32, where Bill Walton was wide on a field goal attempt. On a punt to the 35, the Trojans got only 14 yards. When the Tigers' started at the 20, Walton again tried for a field goal, and again missed. This time the direction was right but it was a trifle short.

In the second quarter, Lake Worth went from its own 43 to the Martin Co. 10, where they had to give the ball up on downs.

Stuart's only threat came in the fourth period when the Tigers rambled from their 37 to Lake Worth's 13. The drive was halted when David Hildebrandt intercepted a pass on his five on fourth down.

Jayvees defeat John I. Leonard

In a junior varsity game in West Palm Beach, Thursday night, October 11, Martin County defeated John I. Leonard, 13-0.

Jim Green scored the first MC touchdown on a 5-yard punt and added the extra point himself with a run. Bob Thomas scored the second touchdown on a 70-yard run for the Tigers. Both TD's came in the first half.

The Order of the Rainbow for Girls, Stuart Assembly #92, will hold a money-making dinner Tuesday, October 22.

Al and Harriet Paje have had an interesting summer at their bungalow at Oakdale, Long Island. In July, two of their daughters had a special garden party to celebrate their parents' 50th wedding anniversary at Pawcatuck, N. Y. It was a beautiful summer day, just perfect for picture taking. After Labor Day, this summer resort becomes a ghost town as almost everyone leaves except the Florida people. On their way south they called on their grandaughter at Purdue University in Indiana and also their grandson at Lehigh University in Penna.

Maud Dexter and her daughter, Janet Meakin, arrived from Cleveland, Ohio, where she had been staying at Janet's home. A part of the summer was spent at the Meakins' summer home at Alexandria Bay on the St. Lawrence River, New York state. Janet stayed a few days with her mother, then returned by plane to Cleveland.

Mrs. Ronald Cumpsty (Catherine) and daughter, Rhonda, returned to their trailer on S. Fifth in August so Rhonda could attend school, but Ronald was delayed as he had painting jobs to finish. He at last rejoined his wife and daughter Oct. who were delighted to see him again. Ronald says he was all ready to leave on the Friday, but a sudden snow storm left two inches of wet snow on the ground so he delayed leaving till Sunday morning. He was arriving at Sarasota, Fla., which is only four miles from Lake Uniform, first in the fruit belt, so he finished up with fruit before leaving. He gave us six apples which filled a paper bag, also a seven-inch long potato. They were delicious.

Shat and Catherine Williams are at their home on S. 19th, after spending the summer at the Williams' Gates Mobile Homes in Mechanicsburg, Pa. The Williamses were surprised to receive a visit from Rev. and Mrs. Newton Tweedy. They had their youngest son Mark, with them. The Tweedys very much admired their trailer home and the park in general.

Orville and Nettie Newby are at home on S. Fifth for a week or two.

Frank and Louise Clancy arrived Thursday from Caseville, Mich., a resort town on Lake Huron. Frank says no frosts had been recorded up to the time they left. The leaves were just beginning to take on the fall colors.

John and Margaret Fager from Harrisburg, Penna., arrived Friday and report a hot summer. Temperatures registered 107 degrees for ten days.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Rhoades have a new 12 x 40 foot mobile home on N. Eighth. Clarence is still in the Martin Memorial Hospital, but Mrs. Rhoades expects him home this coming week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cassidy came in from Dracut, Mass., last Thursday. They had had some heavy rain showers on the way down.

We have a letter from John and Mary Wall. John says he has been busy all summer mostly caring for lawns and gardens. He also took on a job of painting a house and feels he needs a vacation, so they expect to be here about Nov. 1. He says the Mirror enables them to keep up with the Ocean Breeze news.

Mrs. W. Beeby returned to her trailer home on Bermuda, Sept. 21 after spending the summer with her family in Detroit.

Steve and Hattie Stephens are home, Oct. 5, after a five day trip to Georgia. Their little Chihuahua dog Chico didn't think much of the trip and was delighted to return home.

Mildred Fenwick is also another arrival on S. Eighth. She is from Battle Creek, Michigan. She drove down alone, stopping with her daughter at Worthington, Ohio for a week, and briefly with a friend at Greenville, S. C. She says the mountains around Greenville are beautiful just now.

John and Ursula Tognert are home prepared to spend their 21st winter here. Their daughter's home is high in the Adirondak Mountains, at Speculator, N. Y. Frost was plainly visible every morning before they left. John says he enjoyed a six weeks stay with another daughter at Greenfield, Mass., which enjoyed beautiful weather while they were there.

Mrs. Dustin of Oak St. left Martin Memorial Hospital for Spring Lake Nursing Home Saturday, October 5.

Cliff Osborne was admitted to Martin Memorial Hospital last week. As of Oct. 14, his condition was quite satisfactory.

We called on Lillian Tower last Thursday, Oct. 10. She was sitting up in a cheerful mood. She said she was free of pain, her color was good and she was quite optimistic. However, soon after, her condition became worse and she was taken to Martin Memorial Hospital. As of Oct. 10, her condition was reported as not good.

Mrs. Evans of Pepper St. was taken to the Lantana Sanatarium on Oct. 12.

Grace Beeton to take tour

As received a letter from Grace Beeton of N. Seventh which reads as follows, "The most exciting thing that happened to me this summer was the awaking of my "Airstream" while returning from a trip in August. Luckily, neither my daughter nor granddaughter, or I were hurt."

"After this ordeal, I spent Labor Day with my son, son-in-law, daughter and family in Fairfax, Va. I also spent a happy week with K. L. and Frances Richmond in Chicago and another week at Waverly, Ohio with Dr. and Mrs. Kuhn. To further soothe my shattered nerves I am leaving on a "Shriners" tour with Mrs. Flo. Thompson of Louisville, Ky.

We are leaving to get for Lisbon, Portugal, after two days of sightseeing, aboard the "PRES Hamlet" for a cruise and sight-seeing tour of the Canary Islands and the African coast to Dakar. From Dakar, we will cruise through N. Atlantic waters to Brazil for more sightseeing and fly back to the U.S. My Airstream will be repaired while I am away so I may return to Ocean Breeze in November."

THE MAN WHO REALLY CARES PLEDGES . . . . . .

- To get road construction and road repair priorities based on need, not on friendship.
- To have zoning based on good planning and effective land use rather than favoritism. Violations prosecuted by county government rather than by injured private people.
- To attempt to get local industry, local business, local government coupled with State Aid to solve not survey the St. Lucie Inlet problem.
- To lead the fight to have a good bulkhead line based on marine ecology. To guard against the sale of bottomlands which will destroy spawning beds and lower the fish population.
- To protect the retiree's limited and frozen income with a competent finance officer who will cut waste and inefficiency in the spending of tax dollars.
- To use liason with the governor's office and the state legislature to gain aid for local projects.
- To assure commercial fisherman and sport fishermen their rights to fish in peaceful co-existence by solving inlet problem and cleaning up the water.
- To allow the taxpayer to have his say every day of the year, not just on Tuesday, November 5, every 4 years.
- To provide leadership, youth, vigor to meet problems head on and get experts to help us solve them if needed.
- To open a local commissioners office in District III (Salerno-Hobe Sound), not at taxpayers expense, to give the taxpayer ready access to the commissioner who represents him.

Merchants announce winners

Three members of the Jensen Beach Merchants Association awarded prizes in a drawing Saturday, held for shoppers on Commercial Drive.

The three businesses were Jane's Dress Shop, Jim Barnett Jeweler and Jensen Beach Drive-In.

Mrs. Marjorie Jacobs of 3138 Ocean View Circle won the $10.00 gift certificate offered by Hallen's, and Mrs. Mary Jane Wacha was the winner of six lunches at the Drive-In.

Mrs. Henderson, 113 Skyline Drive, had his choice of a "man's or woman's" watch at Barnett's. He chose the man's watch as a gift for his wife.

PLANNING MEETING--Three captains of Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce membership drive teams worked late Monday night as they prepared information packets for their teams. The packets will be given out at the annual General Meeting of the Chamber Monday night at the Jensen Beach Elementary School Cafetorium. Left to right are: June Rice, John Hughes and membership drive chairman Gene Pfleger.

General session Monday

Public is invited to join in Jensen Chamber meet

The annual fall general meeting of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce will be held Monday night at Jensen Elementary School cafetorium, beginning at 7:30 p.m., according to Don Wilkie, president.

The meeting, designed as a report to the public by Chamber officials and members of the board of directors, and a general open forum for citizens to make suggestions for the improvement of the community, takes on a new meaning this year.

The first comprehensive membership drive of the Chamber will begin Monday night, with four teams competing for honors in the drive. Both business and private memberships will be solicited by teams headed by John Hughes, Nick Dollard, June Rice and Gene Pfleger, who is also chairman of the drive.

Membership drive packets will be given to members of the Chamber, and the details of the drive will be explained at the meeting, according to Pfleger.

"We want the people to know that the Chamber of Commerce of Jensen Beach is not just for businesses. It is also for the public, and we have many individuals who want to take part in community activities. They were alongside local businessmen in trying to make the Jensen Beach area a better place in which to live," Pfleger said.

In 1968, there were 137 members of the Jensen Chamber. Of them, 21 were private citizens, 30 in the accomodations business, and 86 were in some business, service or profession. Individuals interested in Chamber membership can call 287-2090 for further information.

Business to come before the Chamber and public on Monday night includes a look into activities of the past six months, introduction of new members in 1968, reports of the Chamber executive secretary and the treasurer, and consideration of an amendment to the Chamber bylaws to require an annual audit of the Chamber books.

Also, the 1968-69 resort and fishing guide will be unveiled.

Persons attending the meeting will have an opportunity to have suggestions for the betterment of the community discussed. They can either present the subject themselves, or write the subject on a slip of paper to be taken up by the members of the Chamber.

Win ten awards

Florida's 'Best' Weekly is Jensen Beach Mirror

The Jensen Beach Mirror won the sweepstakes award as Florida's "Best Weekly Newspaper" Saturday at the close of the Florida Press Association's 89th annual meeting at St. Petersburg.

Winning ten awards in twenty-one divisions of journalistic excellence, including four first-place plaques, The Mirror piled up the greatest number of points in the highly-sought past presidents' sweepstakes trophy contest, ending four points ahead of The Milton Press-Gazette and The Florida Keys Keynoter.

The eight-year-old Jensen Beach weekly took top honors in Florida's "Best Newspapers Contest" in the following divisions: best design and makeup; best use of illustrative matter, best newspaper promotion, and best outdoor writing.

Second-place awards were won in general excellence, best original column, and best use of color.

Third-place award was for best advertising idea. Honorable mention awards were made for best editorial page and best editorial.

S. H. Stalls, contest chairman and editor of The Clewiston News, announced the covered best weekly newspaper award at the climax of the dinner.

Representing The Mirror at the convention were Richard L. Campbell, editor and publisher; Osa Campbell, business manager; William Dillon, advertising manager; society editor Ruth Newman, and circulation Willard Bowman.

The Mirror won ten percent of all the awards made during the luncheon. There are over 140 weekly, twice-weekly and tri-weekly newspapers in the Florida Press Association.

BEST IN FLORIDA--Pride, shock, surprise and pleasure registered in the faces of Osa Campbell, Mirror business manager, and Dick Campbell, publisher and editor of The Jensen Beach Mirror, as they received the sweepstakes award for "Best Weekly Newspaper in Florida", presented by the past presidents of the Florida Press Association at the 89th annual convention last weekend in St. Petersburg. Making the presentation was S. H. Stalls, publisher of The Clewiston News, and chairman of the 1968 "Better Newspapers Contest of F.P.A."

Campbell elected president of F.P.A.

Florida's newspaper publishers elected Richard L. Campbell, 39, editor and publisher of The Jensen Beach Mirror, president of the Florida Press Association last weekend at the organization's 89th annual convention in St. Petersburg.

Robert R. Feagin, publisher of The Florida Times-Union and Jacksonville Journal, was elected chairman of the board of FPA.

Campbell has been active member of the publishers' association serving as director for four years, vice-president and committee coordinating chairman for 1967-68, and has held many committee posts in the National Newspaper Association, including vice-chairman of the newspaper promotion committee this year.

Other new officers elected were: William Ebersole, business manager of The Gainesville Sun, vice-president; Tipper Lankford, general manager of The Daytona Beach News Journal; Al Leonard, publisher of The Milton Press Gazette, and Allan Phillips, managing editor of The Tallahassee Democrat, all directors.

Re-elected to a three-year term was Jim Talley, of the Jacksonville Sun-Journal.

Carry-over directors are Martin A. Hirsch, general manager of Florida Today; Don Hicks, publisher of the Punta Gorda Herald-News; Fred Pettijohn, assistant to the president of the Fort Lauderdale Daily News; and Clarence Sailer, publisher of the Marathon Keys Keynoter.

Political rally is Saturday

Voters in Martin County will have a chance to "Meet the Candidates" Saturday, Oct. 26, at the barbecue and rally scheduled to start at 1 p.m. at the Martin County Fairgrounds, Stuart.

Originally, 1500 tickets were printed, according to Wilson E. Owens, chairman, and all have been distributed. Additional tickets have been printed and are available from the Martin County Farm Bureau, sponsors of the rally; at the A. W. Johnson Agricultural Center, Murray's Insurance Office on Colorado Ave., and by the candidates.

Jack Norris is ticket manager.

Food will be served by the Jensen Beach Fireworks Committee from 1 until 7 p.m., at which time the candidates will speak.

Incumbents will speak last. In case of no incumbent, candidates will speak in alphabetical order.

The unopposed candidate may speak in support of another candidate, but will not be permitted to exceed his allotted time of 1 minute.

Each candidate will be given tags, identifying him as to name, office seeking, and party affiliation.

Master of ceremonies for this event is Dick Hupfel, president of M.C. Chapter of the Florida Farm Bureau. Martin County League of Women Voters is assisting with arrangements.

The "Daves Brothers" of West Palm Beach will provide lively western and country music.

PTA Halloween Carnival set for Thursday, Oct. 31

The annual Halloween Carnival at Jensen Beach Elementary School will be held Thursday, Oct. 31, on the school grounds.

Activities will start at 5 p.m. with a costume party, with prizes for the best costumes. Judges will be members of the Jensen Beach Lions Club, who will award silver dollars to the winners in different categories.

Fun, food and frolic will continue until 9 p.m. There will be games with prizes, a mystery fortune teller, and the ever-popular "Spook House" for the brave.

Pony rides will be featured during the evening, with ponies furnished by Dr. J. W. Grossnickle.

Food will be served, including cookies furnished and sold by Rio Civic Club, coffee furnished and sold by Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Dept. Auxiliary, hot dogs, hamburgers, cokes and popcorn.

There will be a bake sale table and donations are requested. The table will include cakes and cupcakes, pies, candy, taffy-apples and breads.

All proceeds will go to the P.T.A.

Call Mrs. Lee Higbee or Mrs. Norris Tilton to arrange for donations to the bake sale table.

A donneybrook

Rotonda drainage tabled, protested

A massive protest against Rotonda Drainage District action by the county commission Tuesday almost turned into a regular donneybrook with Commissioner Chairman Elmer Powers banging his microphone on the commission table, calling for order, the sheriff's deputy facing to the front of the commission meeting room, and a hysterical conservationist screaming into a microphone as stunned visitors and members of the press watched.

The outburst climaxed over an hour of protest by conservationists over the tabling of the commission opinion on the drainage district to the U.S. Corps of Engineers, Martin Huseveimans, who described himself as not a county resident, but a county taxpayer, jumped up and began berating the commission for inaction, said the county was being "raped" from the Corps of Engineers down, and offered dire consequences during the political election ahead for all the commissioners.

Pointing his finger with each shout, Huevelmans brought Powers to the edge of his chair, and the chairman began banging his microphone on the commission table. Deputy Slater Gross moved quickly from the rear of the room to stand beside Huevelmans, ready to take immediate action on the order of the commission.

"You are out of order," Powers said, visibly shaken. Huevelmans finally sat down in his front row seat.

Earlier in the meeting, Huevelmans threatened action following the tabling of the district drainage opinion. "You will regret that action," he said. Commissioner Bill Hussey said that the tabling action was done so that a request for more study by the district, or other drainage plans might be completed.

Fred Bell, engineer for the district, had asked that the district be allowed to get information on the reason the water flow could not be south, as the gravity flow dictated. He was to ask for an opinion from the Central and South Florida Flood Control District.

Action by the commission to table the opinion so that Bell could get the information brought on the speeches by conservationists.

Later in the meeting, it was pointed out that it was the conservationists themselves who had asked that the water not be allowed to flow into the Loxahatchee River in Jupiter. A letter to the commission from now state Senator Walton League president Bill Lund praised the plan to send the water south to the north. It was written in 1967.

Martin County conservationists at that time supported the plan of the Jupiter IWL, to keep the water out of the Loxahatchee or out of the C-18 canal in the south county area.

Conservationist Newsman ad Buckner was called upon to give the background of the drainage dispute, and said of the hearings in 1965 and IWL opposition to dumping water into the Loxahatchee. He said the Jupiter IWL plan was to drain the water into the St. Lucie Canal at a point three miles east of Indiantown and at the Sunshine State Parkway.

Buckner said that despite the plan, the "Loxahatchee River is now almost as ruined as the St. Lucie River."

Jerome Wood, president of the Anglers Club, said he had talked with IWL president Bill Lund, and reported that Lund, who favored the plan originally, was now against it, but did not want the water dumped into the Loxahatchee or in C-18 Canal.

The commissioners ended the public discussion with reassurance of their interest in the public welfare. Powers said, "I cannot change 180 degrees from what you conservationists have been telling me for the past four years, to what they are telling me now in 48 hours." He added that the commission wanted to study, not delay, the decision, "just as we delayed for the conservationists last week."

County actions

This week the county commission took the following actions at the regular Tuesday meeting:

AGREED to pay Lee County Mosquito Control $2,985 for the aerial spraying recently done. The cost was much less than expected according to Commissioner Elmer Hussey.

PAID $4,799.88 to Martin Memorial Hospital for indigent care.

DECLARED Dec. 10 to 16 as Education Education Week in the county. Also passed a resolution naming the period Sept. 1 to Nov. 11 as American Legion Golden Anniversary year.

AWARDED Doris Gill a license to practice palmistry when Sheriff Roy Baker said he had had no trouble with the firm.

HEARD County Attorney Joe Tooker report that three lawsuits had been filed against the county in connection with the recent action involving a county sheriff's control vehicle on the Savanna Road (SR 723).

RECINDED previous action and agreed to readvertise for bids for gasoline and oil upon request of County Engineer Tom Slider. The award had been made to Standard Oil.

ADVERTISED for a library trailer for use in the county. Specifications will be available in the county library.

ACTED to advertise for a public hearing to change zoning on Starlight Trailer Park from R-2 and H-1 to RT. The park has acquired the necessary lot area for qualification under the zoning.

APPOINTED Mrs. William Clark Shepard, Ross Philbrick and Jack Sailer to the museum commission on recommendation of commissioner Hussey).

ASKED Commissioners Wacha and Hussey to look into a request by Southeastern Printing for a $400 donation to the cost of producing a non-advertising program for the impending U.S. Invitational Pro-Am Golf Tournament at St. Lucie Country Club in December.

Linda Lee Dameron engagement announced

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph K. Dameron, 213 Hickory Ridge Rd., Jensen Beach, announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda Lee, to Douglas Bruce L'Heureux.

The bride-elect is a 1965 graduate of Martin County High School and was graduated from St. Joseph College of Florida in the charter class of 1968. She also spent a year of study at the Cincinnati Bible Seminary and is now employed as a teachers' aide at Julian D. Parker Elementary School.

Her fiance is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. H. M. L'Heureux of Palm City. He graduated in 1965 from Martin County High School, and is a graduate of Olympia Technical School, Olympia, Washington. Recently discharged from the U.S. Army, he is now employed by Frank's TV.

A December 9 wedding at Jensen Beach Christian Church is planned.

Linda Lee Dameron

Meyer-Wilson wedding set

The marriage of Mrs. Shirley Meyer, Jensen Beach, and Virgil Wilson, also of Jensen Beach, will take place Saturday, Nov. 9 at 8 p.m. at The Redeemer Lutheran Church in Stuart.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fountain of Sarasota.

All friends are invited to the ceremony.

Auxiliary plans rummage sale

The Ladies Auxiliary of Martin County Barracks, #654, VWWI, will have a rummage sale Tuesday, Oct. 29 starting at 9 a.m. The event will be held in Jensen Beach Community Center.

Mrs. Addie Farwell, chairman, asks that donations be brought to the hall after 6:30 on Oct. 28.

Party held for Marian Senske

A surprise birthday dinner for Mrs. Marian Senske was held Sunday at her home on north Indian River Drive. This was a belated celebration as Mrs. Senske's birthday was October 1.

Guests included a sister, Mrs. Genevieve Wright; Capt. Jesse Dare, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Kling, Mr. and Mrs. Joe A. Kling, Raymond Kling and David Baum, Ft. Pierce.

VFW Auxiliary to install officers

Mrs. Opal Kelly, as president, will head the list of VFW Post #10066 Auxiliary officers to be installed on Sunday, Oct. 27.

Installation ceremonies for this newly-formed auxiliary will be at 2:30 p.m. at Jensen Beach Community Center.

Mrs. Olivette Branford will be senior vice-president; Mrs. Katherine Korpi, junior vice-president; Mrs. Betty Gillespie, treasurer; Mrs. Maxine Sutton, chaplain; Mrs. Ann Harden, secretary, and Mrs. Flo Banig, guard.

First trustee will be Mrs. Dorothy Holzworth, second trustee Joanne Banas, and third trustee Philus Fleming.

Following the installation ceremonies, a luncheon will be held at Branford Hall on W. Commercial St.

Elmer J. Holzworth of 220 Hilltop Court, Jensen Beach, is the new commander of the post, replacing Russ Wiedow who resigned. The Wiedow family is now residing in Chicago.

An interview with Charlie Brown

By Kathleen Owens

It was a hot, muggy day in late July when I first met Charlie Brown. He was sitting on his backyard swing (an old tire strung up on a rope) talking to Snoopy, his dog. After introducing myself and my mission, I settled down on the grass with a glass of lemonade and proceeded to ask him the following questions. Me: "To satisfy the curiosity of all your readers, could you tell me what you would like to do when you grow up?" Charlie: "Of course. I hope some day to be a sincere, respected man with many friends." Then after a bit of thought, he added, "But most of all, I want to discover myself." Me: "Could you please explain that last statement about discovering yourself?" Charlie: "Well, right now, I am a pretty mixed up kid!" Me: "In what ways, Charlie?" Charlie: "I can't understand why my friends always reject me. Sometimes I think my own dog doesn't love me. I never do anything right and on top of that, I still believe in the Great Pumpkin!" (A sigh of despair). Me: "Is that so? Ever after sitting in the pumpkin patch all Halloween night?" Charlie: "Yes, I'm ashamed to admit it, but, I spent the entire night in that freezing cold patch, sitting on a pumpkin." (Then as if in a daze, he mumbled, "He never came; can you imagine? He never came.") Me: "What is your theory on why he failed to come?" Charlie: "All I can say is that we must have done it again (shaking his head) ....chosen another lackluster pumpkin patch." Me: "That's a shame, Charlie, but do you still believe in the Great Pumpkin?" Charlie: "There is nothing more unbearable than a shattered belief. So, I decided not to allow my belief in the Great Pumpkin to crumble because of a lack of positive evidence." Me: "To change the subject, if you don't mind, What is happiness to you?" Charlie: "There have been many books written about me on this subject, but all my ideas can be condensed into one." Me: "And that is?" Charlie: "Happiness is loving and being loved by everyone." Me: "So very true, Charlie. Now what is misery?" Charlie: "Misery is many things like a rainy Saturday and a broken television, but, true misery is not living each moment to its fullest." Me: "Very mature thoughts for a fellow your age. Are they your own?" Charlie: "Yes ma'am, as you know, I don't have too many friends and as a result, I spend much of my time alone. I use this time to think about life and related subjects." Me:

Alard Quartet to perform on Nov. 12

by Gregory Ronan

The Cultural Committee of St. Joseph's College is sponsoring an evening of music Tuesday, November 12, at 7:30 in the auditorium. The program features the Alard Quartet which was formed in 1954 under the direction of Hans Letz. The members of the group are: Leonard Feldman, Donald Hopkins, Raymond Page, and Joana Zagst.

"Well, Charlie, I have every confidence you will overcome your problems and be successful someday." Charlie: "As they say, 'where there is a will, there is a way' and being the sincere and determined person I am, I guess you could be right."

The Quartet is presently in residence at Pennsylvania State University. They have, in the past, resided at the Universities of Texas, Wilmington and the University of Canterberry in New Zealand.

Since their formation in 1954, the group has received acclaim by critics both here and abroad. The group has performed at the American Music Festival of the National Gallery in Washington, D. C. and in other major U. S. cities. The quartet is the only chamber group to win the coveted Young Artists Award presented by the National Federation of Music Clubs.

In 1961, the group toured Mexico under the auspices of United States Information Agency, New Zealand, and the Auckland Festival were also in their touring list.

The Quartet credits its development to its extensive repertoire of music, a collection which ranges from the traditional long-haired music to many new and unusual arrangements.

Faculty members listed

Sister M. Jerome, academic dean of St. Joseph College, announced a reshuffle on the faculty this term with at least a dozen new members listed.

Two new deans, Mrs. Kathleen Y. Gilden, Dean of Women, and Robert Maher, Dean of Men, have been appointed. Mrs. Gilden, who holds a master's degree from Florida Atlantic University, is instructor of secretarian sciences and education. She brings a hand of experience to her new position as dean and teacher. At present Mrs. Gilden is serving as president of the North Palm Beach Branch of American Association of University Women, and as a consultor in the Palm Beach County Board of Public Instruction Conference on Women and the World of Work.

Robert Maher, who in addition to his duties as dean, is also the college registrar. Maher, from Cortland, N.Y., is a graduate of Colgate University and was formerly on the admissions staff of the State University of New York. He has worked with the New York State Employment Service at its Youth Opportunity Center.

New Sisters of St. Joseph who have joined the faculty are, in addition to the new president Sister Mary Martha: Sister Marie Antonia, Saint Anne, Christopher Maria, and Sister Suzanne.

Sister Marie Antonia, SSJ, who is house mother at the women's dorm, and college nurse, is mathematics instructor. Sister Antonia holds a bachelor's degree in philosophy and English from Spring Hill College, and a bachelor's degree in nursing from the Catholic University of Geneva, Stater, who has had a government grant to study mathematics is a state certified teacher of that subject. Her professional background also includes the presidency of the Catholic Nurses Association of Dade County; the presidency-elect of the American Cardiologist Technologist Association of Miami; and Convention Chairmanship for the 1969 Nursing Administration Division of the Florida Nurses' Association. Sister has had experience as a teacher and nurse in the state for a number of years, and was mathematics instructor at St. Joseph College during the 1962-63 school year.

Sister Saint Anne, SSJ, a graduate of Catholic University of America, Washington, D.C., will join Mrs. Evelyn Umland on the library staff. Sister has done extensive study in English, education and library science in Catholic University, Marywood College, Florida State University and Spalding College, and has served as teacher, principal and librarian in several Catholic schools of the state.

Sister Christopher Maria, SSJ, has joined the business staff of the college as coordinator of financial aid and grants. Besides an academic background that has taken Sister from Barry Colleges to Spring Hill College, and Jacksonville University, Sister has had experience in the business offices of Mercy Hospital, Miami; St. Cloud Hospital, and Liberty Mutual Insurance Company of Jacksonville. Sister Christopher Maria was secretary to the academic dean of St. Joseph College two years ago.

Sister Suzanne, SSJ, whose main field of work will be in theology and history with the Sister-elements on the campus, is a history graduate of Seton Hall University. Her undergraduate work was done at Spring Hill College. She is presently Chairman of the Committee on Religious Formation and Maturity for the Sisters of St. Joseph of this state.

Also, new on the faculty this year, is Sister Hortensia Valdes of the Sisters of St. Philip Neri. Sister will be teaching Spanish and education courses. A native of Cuba, Sister Hortensia has a master's degree in education from the University of Nevada, and has spent three years studying in Spain. Sister comes to Florida from Nevada, where she was a member of the Policy Board Committee and the Board of Education in the diocese of Reno.

Green beanies banished

Sophomores are bemoaning the passing of the Green Berets. In Saigon? No, but in other fields of battle at Jensen Beach. Seems underclassmen are too sophisticated these days to cling to traditions. Former student who have lived, and perhaps died, under the green beanie's standard have learned how utilitarian, or well or decorative, the little hats can be. In class, the beret has proved to be a great asset for holding peanuts, dead frogs, cigarette ashes, pencils, chalk, or M and M's. The art students have found the lowly beanies to be a challenge in their artistic endeavors. A skunk's tail, a propeller, a banana, a droopy daisy, and so on and so forth. To mention a few, are some of the dingles that have dangled from the heights of freshmen heads crowned by beanies.

One of the new ornaments in the press room is a bull. Significant, I'd say.

Sophomores have all recovered from the casualties of that football game on Langford Field. Bob Richenberry and Tom Simpson were the freshmen heroes, the touchdown boys. The score of 14-6 for the freshmen is a feeble expression of the toughness of the young fry on this campus.

OCEAN BREEZE NEWS

by Tom Cook Phone 287-5312

BEAUTY—The Bird of Paradise plant is not often seen in Florida. This specimen has ten beautiful blooms and is now well established. It was planted by the late Bob Nuner many years ago and can be seen on Mrs. Nuner's front lawn on Indian River Drive.

Six weeks tour of the United States

Luther and Helen Kronenwetter have a summer cabin at Highland Lakes, N. J. It is a pretty spot where one can swim, fish or hike to their hearts content. In addition, it is 1400 feet high, which is high for New Jersey. Our friends decided to make the long way round to reach their summer retreat, starting from Ocean Breeze on April 24, they just about circled the United States in the following five or six weeks. The story of this trip as told by Walter, was found very interesting so here it is: "My sister, Grace Kahrs of Leonia, New Jersey, was to go with us on the trip so we stopped at Orlando to pick her up, she having come down by plane. We steered our car northeast on the Sunshine Parkway and spent the first night in Valdosta, Ga. We headed west through Mississippi and spent the third night at Tyler, Texas. This is known as the Rose Capital of the United States. We thought this was a very pretty little town as it was enjoyed seeing the acres of roses of all descriptions.

Stopping at El Paso, Tex., we visited a two hour limestone cavern at Carlsbad Caverns, Mexico. We found this quite interesting town and came back with a few souvenirs. The Petrified Forest, Painted Desert, and Grand Canyon were all enjoyed. We found that the reports of the beauties of the Grand Canyon were not exaggerated.

The tenth night out was spent in glamorous Las Vegas where we found the "one arm bandits" none backward. We were sleeping and cruising the Mojave Desert in daytime, but the heat in the early part of afternoons beat were not enjoyed. The steep climb to the Sequoia National Park was worth while. Those redwood trees are just awesome. While there three days to their appearance. One tree stump was Yosemite National Park. We also enjoyed the wonders of the Carmel Mission, which is one of nine built by Father Serra, who is the patron saint of California. Another night out was spent at San Francisco. We thought this was a most interesting city. It is quite hilly. We thoroughly enjoyed the Grayline Tour of the city followed by a wonderful dinner at Fisherman's Wharf. We went to the top of the Mark hotel on the highest part of the hill and had a wonderful view of the whole city below. Then made a whirlwind tour of this great city.

We travelled the very scenic coastal route north to Tacoma, Wash., where Major and Mrs. Robert T. Kronenbitter (my son and wife) and their family of six have their home. We stayed there for ten days and had a wonderful time. We visited Mt. Ranier, saw many deer, had snow flurries on May 14 and had a snow fight with real snow balls. We had a lovely picnic at Cushman Lake (about 60 miles from Tacoma.) We visited old Fort Defiance, attended a school night of music and played a lot of bridge. The time just flew. It was raining when we reluctantly had to leave.

We stayed at Old Faithful Inn in Yellowstone Park. We watched Old Faithful and other geysers perform and saw the Yellowstone Canyon and other amazing sights including seeing many elk, buffalo, deer and three bears.

Next we went to Mount Rushmore in South Dakota and saw the heads of our great presidents carved in granite—a most inspiring sight. From there we went through Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania and back to New Jersey. In all we covered 22 states and over 7,000 miles. After all this travelling our cabin at Highland lakes looked good to us. Here we could relax and mull over the times we had on our recent journey."

The Parks take up wood carving

We have a letter from Milton Park, the gentleman who conducted such interesting and instructive classes on "Defensive Driving" last spring. It is a short letter so we will share it with you other friends.

Brasstown, N. C.
October 6 1968

Dear Friends:

This finishes our first week of School of Wood Carving. Naomi is working on a sow and a litter of pigs. I have whittled a goose, an owl, a squirrel, and a bear, and of course being our first creation, we think this looks pretty good. It is fun, I tell you and we are meeting lots interesting people. Many of these mountain folks have been carving wood for years. They bring their carvings in to the school. From here they are shipped to gift shops all over the country. The man who carves the horse in the picture enclosed is a real artist.

We are parked in a wooded area and close to a mountain park. Last night we had a frost so Naomi got to pick all the tomatoes we will need for a week. Brasstown is in a little valley in the Smoky Mountains, and the trees are turning colors. It is beautiful and restful. We are going to attend an Airstream Rally in Georgia, then we will head for Ocean Breeze Park, so will be seeing you before long.

Sincerely, Naomi and Milt

The Baiers return to Ocean Breeze

Fred and Florence Baier returned to their cabana trailer home on Bermuda Park, Oct. 16. They did a lot of travelling and visited a son at Elgin, Ill. Then Florence and Bill Mausert at North Adams, Mass., and to Beverly, Maine. The latter town just celebrated its 300th anniversary recently. Fred said, "We stayed in a house that was built in 1776. This 200 year old house was built with coarse lumber and the beams were hand hewn. It belongs to Gladys' daughter and her husband." They saw all the New England states before starting towards Fla.

Jim Nixons head for New York

Jim and Ellen Sloan write, following are a few extracts of same: "Friday, Oct. 11 we tie the final knot in the seamless work in Belchertown. On the way between Keene and Concord, N. H., we stopped at Mac Kenzies ice cream parlor, (Elmer Mac Kenzie of S. Fifth, Terr. Co.). It is in Hillsborough, N. H. to be exact. We had sandwiches, coffee and ice cream of course. They have oodles of flavors to choose from.

From Rochester, N. H., we drove to Lake Winnipesaukee and up into the White Mountains for some distance. The scenery is so wonderful we wished we had time to go further and stay longer.

We go to New York City the last week in October. We have received tickets for two plays and the Ed Sullivan show."

Our best to you and your neighbors, Jim and Ellen Sloan.

Andy and Beth Baillie of S. Tenth have returned from their summer home at Deadborne, Mich. They are about to change their trailer for a larger one.

Everett Ashley of Ocean Breeze Dr. changed trailers for a larger one, a 12 x 52 Tropicaire last week.

Bartletts avoid Gladys

We are all glad that hurricane Gladys passed us by. Some of the Ocean Breeze returnees were not so fortunate; Ken and Vernabelle Bartlett arrived late Saturday at their home on Ocean St. and Sixth. Ken says they had their car radio turned on and were listening to reports of the hurricane.

They were travelling on highway 301 with the intention of following No. 1 down but Jacksonville traffic officers said the power was off and no street lights were working, and they advised travellers to bypass the city. Ken took their advice and headed west, as the center of the storm at that time was reported to be at or near St. Augustine. This was at about 6 a.m. Oct. 19.

Coming into Wildwood they stopped at a restaurant for breakfast. The hurricane must have passed real close, for many overnight cars were egregiously draped with Spanish moss which had blown from the trees, and other signs of storm damage were visible. The wind was still blowing quite strongly and as Ken was trailing a boat he thought it advisable to wait and give the storm time to get further away.

Two hours later they resumed their journey southward on the Florida turnpike. There is not much damage a storm can do on the turnpike but they noticed many road signs were blown down. Ken says he would say at least 75% of the signs for ten miles or more were damaged in some way. Ocala seemed to have been in about the center of the path of Gladys. One large tree was lying flat on the ground. One favorite attack there as being peculiar. Near the center of the turnpike there was no rain but they ran into very heavy rain as they got away from it. In fact the heaviest rain they encountered was at Ft. Pierce.

The Bartletts were in no hurry coming down and took six days to make the trip, stopping at Little Talbot Island, and other places. Mrs. Mary Richardson travelled with them. She had undergone surgery last summer but is doing fine now.

BOUNDARY—A row of these large eucalyptus trees mark the southern boundary of the new Park, "Lake Manor Mobile Homes."

John Cassidy had eye surgery in Ft. Pierce hospital Oct. 17.

Hazel Powell's daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Aker, are spending two weeks vacationhere. They are from Birmingham, Mich.

Leland and Frances Reeve are at home on West End Boulevard after spending most of the summer at Muntan near Cadillac, Mich., where they have a daughter. They were in California six weeks visiting with their son and family. They returned from Michigan by way of Interstate #75 but Leland says he would not recommend that route as it is not finished and there are numerous detours and detour.

I was talking to Jesse Blankenbaker who has just returned from Marietta, Ohio. He says they experienced three weeks of "Indian summer with high humidity, thunderstorms, heavy rains and 100° in the daytime and it caused no end of television troubles. So much that T. V. repairmen were three weeks behind in their work. After the drought Neil is sent to the other extreme, Gene and Jo visited with several relatives at Marietta.

Mrs. Elsie Swarthout is in the St. Lucie County hospital. She had surgery Monday, Oct. 14.

Dave and Connie Hileman are here and are spending the major part of the summer at Pine Hill Trailer Park in Franklin, N. C. Since leaving here they visited Sept. 1, they have been visiting relatives in the mountains staying a few days at most City, Iowa, Salt Lake City, Las Vegas, and Long Beach Calif.

Bill and Elaine Shaw of Lakewood, Ohio, spent the summer at their cottage beside Lake Meschacebe. There was a lot of fishing nearby so he could indulge in his favorite sport. He tells us the coldest summer weather in the United States is there. The bones are now home in Melbourne Fla.

Big and Lida Sonderman arrived Oct. 11 in Seventh Ave. They live in Jackson, Miss., and have been part time residents of Ocean Breeze for the past four years. He also is a golf enthusiast and a member of the Stuart Golf Club.

Mollie Butterfield is at her home on N. Seventh. Her brother in law and sister Mr. and Mrs. McKay brought her down from Dorchester, Mass.

Irene Burgess called Dorothy Goeben from Pasadena, Cal., to say that her brother Russell McIntyre, passed away Oct. 12. The funeral will be Oct. 16.

Adolph Nunemaki of 4 Oak Street spent the first part of the summer in Iowa with a brother and a sister at Decorah after which he went to Detroit where a son of his has a home.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Klein came in from Akron, Ohio Oct. 12. Their son-in-law and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Klein came with them. They were to return to Akron Oct. 18 by plane. Their grandson Robert L. the second is home from Viet Nam. He has nine months yet to serve as surgeon in Texas before discharge. This grandson has two children, a girl of six months and a boy, Robert L. the third, three years of age. Louis says they had a very hot summer with lots of rain.

Dorothy Goeben is the new secretary treasurer of the Mobile Homes Association for Ocean Breeze Park, replacing Mrs. Hartzler who moved to Fishermans Village last spring. We urge all Mobile Home owners to join and avail themselves of all its advantages including the blood bank, Shader of the Sun, and renewals can be paid at Mrs. Goeben's trailer at #6 Ocean Breeze Drive.

Harold and Rex Woodbury of 4 Arawa St. (S. Tenth) arrived back in the park Oct. 17, after a nice trip down from Battle Creek, Mich. Three high points of their summer activities were dashing at Erlinsville, Ontario, with good results, visiting with Art and Elsie Barnes in Birmingham, and two great grand daughters. This same brother has a son who has a son and a grandson, making another four generations. Pearl says there were six great grand nieces and nephews at the reunion.

Some recent arrivals are Mr. and Mrs. C. Lord, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Blyth, Chas. and Alice Klein, Mr. and Mrs. Wentright, Winnie Swaars, Ethel Wilmot, Fred Helling, Andrew Bailie, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hill, Harold and Pearl Pearl.

Lloyd and Evelyn Wallquist arrived and their trailer on Cocoa St. Sat. Oct. 12 from Minneapolis. The Wallquists bought this trailer two years ago but as the son is to Sweden last year the trailer was rented. During their years stay in Sweden they visited relatives and renewed old acquaintances as well as visiting the countries of Germany, Holland and Denmark. They have a wonderful lot of home movies illustrating their trip which we hope we will be privileged to see this winter.

Pearl Wise flew into W. Palm Beach Sat. Oct. 12 and Milton Brown was there to take her home. During the few weeks that she was away she had the pleasure of visiting her son in Chicago for a week. Another enjoyable two weeks were spent visiting two brothers and two sisters in Indiana. While in this state a family reunion was held. This was a very happy event for Pearl. Four generations of her older brother were present, a daughter, a grandson and two great grandchildren.

Personals

Tiff Osborne is home from the Stuart hospital where he has been under observation for a week. The doctor says he must take it real easy for a time.

Mr. and Mrs. Honore Dussenne returned to Bermuda Park, Oct. 12. They spent most of the summer at their home in Mishawaka, Ind. In July they went fishing in Northern Michigan. After which they drove to Norman, N. D. for a visit with Ray's brother. Returning to upper Michigan, they stopped at Crystal Falls and Iron River, visited Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Anderson. The Andersons have reserved a trailer on #9 Bermuda and will be down before long.

Mrs. Alice Anderson arrived at her home on Almond Oct. 11 from Minneapolis. She tells us she is a neighbor to the Wallquists on Cocoa St., Mrs. Anderson's brother Victor Erickson drives her down and returned to plane to Cleveland.

Adolph Nunemaki of 4 Oak Street spent the first part of the summer in Iowa with a brother and a sister at Decorah after which he went to Detroit where a son of his has a home.

Mollie Butterfield is at her home on N. Seventh. Her brother in law and sister Mr. and Mrs. McKay brought her down from Dorchester, Mass.

Irene Burgess called Dorothy Goeben from Pasadena, Cal., to say that her brother Russell McIntyre, passed away Oct. 12. The funeral will be Oct. 16.

Ramseys attend fair

Lowell and Florence Ramsey came in last Tuesday, Oct. 15, from Alger Mich., to their nice home on Mango St. Their's is a 12 x 58 taller caboni, tastefully furnished home. Florence says the trees were just beginning to assume their fall colors and she hated to miss it.

On their way down they took in the Little Rock State Fair and really enjoyed seeing the magnificent display of well bred stock. After the fair some of the cattle were auctioned off. Three seven month old heifers were sold for $1200, $1275, and $875 respectively including fees to the French Charolais bull. A one third interest in this bull sold for $85,000.

Lowell's brother, Jack, owns the Greenhorn Ranch at Elon, Ariz. He has 90 pure bred Charolais and another 100 grade cattle.

PC Bridge conference

The Palm City Bridge conference will be held Oct. 29 at 2 p.m. instead of Oct. 22, as previously scheduled.

The conference is being held to discuss all phases of construction operations for the long-awaited bridge. The new date was announced by James E. Barrett, who will be resident engineer on the project for the State Road Department.

County officials, representatives of the contractor and subcontractors, and others interested in the construction project will attend.

PICNIC-TIME- Little Andy Kindberg, 18-months old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Kindberg of Hibiscus Park, enjoyed the Grumman Family-Day Picnic held Saturday at Jensen Beach Causeway. Luckily "Gladys" headed that-a-way instead of this-a-way for the occasion.

JBWA plans card schedules

Fifty members and five guests attended the regular business meeting of the Jensen Beach Women's Association on Monday. The door prize was won by Mrs. Marie Miller.

Hostesses were: Geneva Siebert, Olive Donaldson, Ruby Robinson, Grace Lewis and Zilah Rhodes.

A dessert-card party will be held Monday, Oct. 28, at 1 p.m. at Hoag Hall, All Saints' Episcopal Church.

A luncheon-card party is scheduled for Thursday, Nov. 7, at 12 noon at Manatee Yacht Club Restaurant. Door and table prizes will be awarded.

Both parties are open to the public. Call Jean Pendelton, 287-6372, for reservations.

Post seeks name

The new VFW Post #10130 needs a name, and a contest will be conducted in the area, anyone in Port St. Lucie, being a member of their family who was killed in the armed services may submit the veteran's name, together with a resume on why this name should be chosen.

There will be no monetary prize; instead, there will be the pride of having a VFW Post named for a loved one, Cdr. Russell Conser will have more information on this at a later date.

Post members want the community to feel that this Post belongs to everyone living here, not just the fellows who get together to meet once a month, Conser said, adding that the charter is open for the next 90 days. During this time, if qualified, interested veterans can become charter members of PSL VFW Post #10130.

The next meeting will be Friday, Oct. 25, at Methodist Church Sunday School room on Prima Vista Blvd. at 7:30 p.m.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Charles White of Rio Mar Drive, on their fifth grandchild. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth White of Babylon, N.Y., on Oct. 10. He weighed in at 8 lb. 8-1/2 oz., and will be named Robert Kenneth White.

Don't forget, the Brownies meet every Tuesday at 4 p.m. in the Lutheran Church on Prima Vista. Mrs. Robert McClure and Mrs. Frank Bondi are the leaders.

Mrs. Carolyn Peterson has returned from the National Convention for Veterans of World War I held in New Orleans. A total of 149 barracks and auxiliaries were represented, she said.

Mrs. Peterson attended the National Reception, meeting old friends, and visited the French Quarter.

Election of officers for the next year will be held at the Nov. 14 meeting.

Members of the Rio Linda Garden Club, and their husbands, will be taking a field trip to Thayer's Nursery on Oct. 28 at 1 p.m. The members will meet at the Marina for coffee and dessert, then will form a motorcade to the nursery.

SERVING--In the beverage department is Frank Reiwecke, 155 Solar Ave., who kept the cups full at Drummond's family day Oct. 18.

Clerk of the Circuit Court Is Five Big Jobs In One

A Message from DOROTHY PIERCE

ASKING YOUR VOTE AND SUPPORT

Dear Martin County Voters,

I will deeply appreciate your vote for Dorothy Pierce as Clerk of the Circuit Court on Tuesday, Nov. 5.

This is one of the most important offices in Martin County. It is actually five big offices in one. The position is one of tremendous responsibility and public trust. It requires maturity, experience and deep knowledge of Martin County.

I serve as Clerk of the Circuit Court and Clerk of the County Court, keep all records of those judicial bodies, except probate matters. In addition, I serve as Clerk of the Martin County Board of Commissioners, County Recorder, Collector of Delinquent Taxes and County Auditor.

It would be impossible to list here all of the duties of these offices, but to give you an idea, they include: keeping the records of Circuit Court trials which are practically continuous....the records of County Court, in which there are always more than 100 cases on Plea Day....the minutes and month-by-month budget of the County Commission....all county bookkeeping, bill payments and payrolls....filing for record every type of official instrument, warranty deeds, mortgages, civil and criminal suits, quitclaims, military discharges....putting on record all zoning and subdivision plats....collecting and forwarding alimony and child support payments....filing all candidates and making up the ballots....and supervising all tax deed procedure ....

My experience on this important job is valuable to Martin County. I worked 13 years for the former Clerk, was first elected in 1951--and have been unopposed in that period until this year. You, of course, are the judge of how well I have done my job--but a fair look at the record will show that Martin County has one of the best electrical accounting systems in Florida. I installed it in 1964. Our records system on real estate matters is one of the most efficient in the state, under a system I set up which makes all information available within a few minutes.

I have worked hard for you and Martin County, burning the midnight oil on many occasions to meet the demands of this office. In addition to my knowledge gained by experience--for which there is no substitute--I spent four years at night study in Junior Colleges, training in Accounting, Business Law and Languages--the better to handle my responsibilities.

Martin County is growing by leaps and bounds and the duties and responsibilities of the Clerk of the Circuit Court are increasing with that growth.

This important position is about partisan politics. On my record--and pledging the same program of progress as in the past--I will deeply appreciate the opportunity to serve Martin County for four more years.

Sincerely

Dorothy Pierce

Expect record election vote

A record vote in Martin County is expected in the November 5 election next Tuesday, with interest and excitement in the various races building the people to a fever pitch.

Veteran observers have indicated that there has never been as high an interest in the election process as there is now. "There has never been as much money spent," politicians said.

The heated campaign came to a deep simmer on Saturday, as all candidates who could make it attended the Martin County Farm Bureau Republican political rally. It came on a bill on Tuesday as the Stuart Junior Woman's Club hosted another rally for the candidates.

A crowd estimated between 500 and 1500 came to the Saturday night event. A barbecue was prepared and served by the Jensen Beach Fireworks Committee. Cold weather reduced the crowd to about twenty persons who heard the last of the long line of speakers. The event was termed by most political observers as being the "most successful" rally held in Martin County in the past ten years.

Tuesday night a near capacity audience heard the candidates again as they presented their platforms, what they stood for and what they hoped to accomplish, at the Woman's Club in Stuart.

In Martin County there are 9,101 registered Democrats, 3,283 Republicans and 167 Independents, for a total of 12,551 registered voters.

The seventeen precincts in Martin County will open the polls at 7 a.m. Tuesday and close at 7 p.m. Jensen Beach area precincts are located at the Community Center, precinct one; Ocean Breeze Park, precinct 13; Rio Civic Club, precinct 15; North River Shores at the Presbyterian Church, precinct two; and Sewall's Point Town Hall, precinct 16.

TEARS OF SADNESS--Anguish racked the face of Bruce Stiller, Martin County High School football star, as he was led off the field Friday night upon learning of a fractured wrist. The tears were more from concern for his senior year of football than for the pain of what turned out to be badly torn ligaments in his hand. Before receiving the injury on a tackle, Stiller had scored two touchdowns and was instrumental in sparking the Tigers to a 21-0 victory over the Boca Raton Bobcats.

Rare photograph of first Jensen postmaster found

Congressman Paul Rogers presented a rare photograph of John Sorensen, first postmaster of Jensen Beach, to Ray Lorens, acting-postmaster of the Jensen Beach Post Office, Tuesday in a short ceremony. The photograph was found recently in long-lost papers of Harry J. Schultz, the son-in-law of Sorensen, and retired editor of the Vero Beach Press-Journal.

Schultz had the photograph enlarged and sent it to Rogers, asking that it reside in a "place of importance in the Jensen Beach Post Office."

In making the presentation, Congressman Rogers said, "This is a fine moment, when one who was a pioneer and founder of the postal service in south Florida would have the opportunity to be enshrined in one of the new one-year-old postal facility in Jensen Beach."

Contacted by The Jensen Beach Mirror at his home in White City, Schultz gave insight into the history of Sorensen, long-forgotten except by other local pioneers. He died in 1913 and left a 25-year residence in Jensen.

Sorensen was born in 1845 in Arhus, Denmark. He came to the United States in 1873. He settled in Wheeling, West Virginia, where he lived for nine years, and married Ane Katherine Jensen, sister of John L. Jensen, for whom Jensen Beach was named.

The Sorensens moved from Wheeling to Radcliff, Colorado, where Sorensen operated a gold mine for six years. They then moved for a two-year period to Birmingham, Alabama.

In the meantime, John L. Jensen had moved to Jensen Beach where he, along with other pioneers, started the growing of pineapples. Through Jensen, Sorensen moved to Florida, and in 1889 established a homestead with his wife and four children.

The Sorensen home is the one recently torn down to become the addition to the Town of Ocean Breeze Park, and was owned by the A. A. Hendry family.

Jensen Beach was then located in Brevard County, of which Titusville was the county seat. The trip from Jacksonville to Titusville was by wood-burning locomotive of the pre-FEC line known as the Jacksonville and Key West Railroad, before the advent of Henry Flagler.

From Titusville, the Sorensens had to travel by sailboat, the mode of travel, and made it overnight, pushed by a strong "norther". Jensen had already studied the homestead with pineapples, and the Sorensens were welcomed to Jensen Beach.

Pineapples were shipped out by boat until the FEC Railroad came to Jensen Beach in 1895.

When Sorensen was appointed postmaster soon after he arrived in Jensen, he had to carry the mail on foot to and from Jensen Beach and Eden, then the port of steamboats. The mail was handled at Captain Richard's dock there, but later the steamboats moved south to Jensen Beach.

Surviving Sorensen when he died March 8, 1913, were his wife, Ane Kathrine; three daughters, Mrs. D.E. Austin, Mrs. T.V. Moore, and Mrs. Harry J. Schultz; and a son, John Sorensen, Jr., all of whom have died. The last member of the family was Mrs. (Louise) Schultz, who died May 11, 1968.

RARE PHOTO--A rare photograph of John Sorensen, first postmaster of Jensen Beach, was presented Tuesday to postmaster of Jensen Beach, was presented Tuesday to postmaster Ray Lorens by Congressman Paul Rogers, acting-postmaster Ray Lorens by Congressman Paul Rogers, acting-postmaster Ray Lorens, who died in left, who was visiting in the county. Sorensen, who died in 1913, was named postmaster soon after he moved to Jensen Beach in 1889. The photograph will hang in the new Jensen Beach post office. It was acquired by Harry Schultz, former editor of the Vero Beach Press-Journal, and son-in-law of Sorensen.

Political implications?

Jetty plug not intended as permanent, says Smith

by Dick Campbell

"The temporary plugging of the St. Lucie Inlet jetty is temporary, and only temporary, as a solution to the shoaling of the inlet," Leonard Smith said Tuesday. Smith, chairman of "SLIP", St. Lucie Inlet Protestors, a group dedicated to stopping the flow of sand through the jetty, was emphatic in his statement.

"We agree with Col. McElhenny," Smith said. "The best way to keep the sand out of the inlet is with a new north and south jetty, and a sand transfer plant to pull sand from an emplacement basin to be moved to the south of the inlet. We agree," he said.

Smith was answering Col. John B. McElhenny, district engineer of the Jack. Corps of Engineers, who last week had written that "sand bagging" of the jetty would not be practical. McElhenny's letter to the Martin County Resources and Development Board, in answer to its query about the jetty plugging, outlined the views of the district director, which were primarily of a permanent nature.

McElhenny wrote that the best solution to the inlet problem "is a comprehensive plan as developed in past studies that would include granite jetties, a breakwater, sand transfer system and navigation channel."

Smith criticized the attitude of McElhenny, saying, "Why has the Corps of Engineers disclaimed any responsibility for the jetty until now? And why do the new cuts put against the temporary plug and try to stop our plugging the jetty?"

Smith also questioned the apparent disagreements between the county engineers and the Corps, "I think that someone was gotten to the Corps of Engineers," he said. "There is a political implication in his letter. He writes that the beaches south of the inlet would be denied the sand it stopped north of the jetty. This means that he assumes that the plugging of the jetty would be permanent. We have never intended that.

"We want to plug the jetty to stop the sand from flowing into the shoaling of the inlet. Very little of that sand flows south to the Jupiter Island shores. It is held up at the inlet, or washed out to sea.

"As soon as we get the permanent plan into effect, and it should be soon, within a year, we would get the sand going where it is supposed to go. Until that time, let's stop dumping good dollars after bad, having spent over a quarter-million dollars, and soon nearly a half-million, dredging the inlet so that it would fill back immediately," Smith said.

Smith cited the three million dollars spent by Jupiter Island to dredge sand from the ocean to replenish beaches, saying, "If that three million had been spent on the entire project we would have a complete project, a permanent project, and the people of this county could look with pride to the south, as it is now, we must wait for the people of Jupiter Island, who demand the permanent project to replenish their beaches, to assist us. Right now the only apparent difference is spending our temporary plan."

In the meantime, County Engineer Tom Slider is looking into the possibility of using bags of sand-cement mix as a more permanent method of sandbagging the jetty. He agreed that the usual sandbag was not heavy enough to do the job for more than a short time, said, "Col. McElhenny wrote that boulders weighing from 1,000 pounds at the shoreward end of the jetty, to 12 tons at the seaward end, would be needed to remake the jetty.

In a letter to The Jensen Beach Mirror recently, McElhenny wrote his opinion of a plugged jetty, adding that, "We have evaluated your suggested plan...such a plan does not seem feasible at this time."

County Engineer Slider and Commissioner Frank Wachs have been investigating the possibility of using old concrete slabs, reinforced with steel, as a breakwater for the jetty to slow down the water enough so that the sand in it falls out before the water flows through into the inlet.

Time is working against the local conservation interests. If the efforts of SLIP are not successful, Smith said, there is a chance that the Lake will be dredged, a storm will follow, and the inlet will be refilled and shoaled before the annual Stuart Sailfish Tournament.

Chamber member drive is under way

The 1969 Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce membership drive got under way last Monday night as Gene Pfleger, drive chairman, exhorted over 30 chamber members to "keep pace with the growth of the area." Pfleger said that there were many "good, working members of the Chamber" at the meeting, and expressed his disappointment that more of the general public had not attended the Fall general meeting of the local group to hear reports.

"Jensen Beach is growing, and the Chamber of Commerce needs new members." Pfleger said. He asked each member to get a member, and set a goal of over 200 members at the end of the one-week drive. There are now 137 members of the civic group.

"Civic-minded people as well as businesses that do business in our area, can become members of the Chamber and help us to promote Jensen Beach to tourists and area residents. We welcome everyone," Pfleger said.

Citing the service nature of the Chamber of Commerce, Pfleger said, "We can have the community stay the way we like it, and see it grow the way we want it to grow."

Past membership figures were given by executive secretary John Power, listing 1967 with 131, 1966 with 149, 1969 with 137 members. Teams of Chamber members were headed by Nick Dollard, John Hughes, June Rice and Pfleger.

During the regular meeting, President Don Wilkie made a report on the activities of the past six months of the Chamber, listing street lighting, garbage collection, hauling beaches, vacant lot clearing, and the boat office ramp as areas of local concern and work.

The members passed an amendment to the constitution requiring an audit of the Chamber books once the year.

The new Resort and Fishing Guide, produced by the Chamber, was presented to the membership by chairman John Hughes. Full shipment of guides is expected daily, Hughes said.

The possibility of a sanitary land fill on county-owned property on Hutchinson Island "to reclaim valuable land from swamp" was brought up for consideration by Leonard Smith, a member. After discussion of the fill, it was decided to have the Chamber directors look into the idea and report to the membership.

Members asked for several items, including a street light on Ricou Blvd., and a sidewalk to the top of the hill on Commercial Street, from Candice to Skyline Drive.

Mrs. Ruby Wren wrote a Chamber of Commerce song, a parody on the Vivaldi Company. She played the song for the members, who joined in singing it after a chorus.

MEMBERS--Ernie Baker and Harry Lentz are long-time members of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce. They attended Monday night's general membership meeting held at Jensen Beach Elementary School and made support to the current membership drive of the Chamber.

12,551 voters registered

A total of 12,550 persons are registered and eligible to vote in the upcoming Nov. 5 election, according to figures released by Mrs. Isabel Evans Smith, Superintendent of Elections.

The figures show an increase of about 1,400 registrations since April 5.

The figures include 9,101 Democrats, an increase of 791 since April; Republicans increased to 3,283, a jump of 580, and others, including independents, increased 65 from 102 to 167.

Totals are as of Oct. 5, at which time the registration books closed.

Broken into precincts, the registrations are: Pct. 1, Jensen Beach, Dem. 1174, Rep. 517, Others 22, total 1713; Pct. 2, North River Shores, Dem. 390, Rep. 289, others 18, total 897.

A total of 482 voters have requested absentee ballots, Mrs. Smith said, showing a greater interest in the upcoming election. In the last general election about 200 absentee ballots were requested and issued. All absentee ballots must be returned to the supervisor of elections' office by 5 p.m. on Nov. 4.

To date, 296 residents of Martin County have received presidential ballots. Those who have not completed residency requirements may vote under a new law.

$379,775 secondary road fund

There is a balance of $379,775 in the State Road Department secondary road fund in Martin County, including anticipated tax and gas funds, according to a recent statement received by the county commission.

As of Sept. 30, the statement showed $351,012, with $89,507 collected since that date, $468,918 to be collected under estimates, for a total of $909,437.

Commited is $285,081 so far, with $244,581 needed to complete projects now under way.

JAMES D. HOLT

REPUBLICAN

SHERIFF OF MARTIN COUNTY

Holt is concerned about crime! Are you?

★ When elected, I will arrange to send all deputies to accredited Law Enforcement schools. Under Florida Law, a man hired, must have a minimum of 200 hours of accredited Law Enforcement schooling. Deputies must be trained to be efficient!

★ To institute 3 shifts of 8 hours each, having your Law Enforcement Officers, working a 40 hour week. (Statistics show that a person loses efficiency after 8 hours on the job. We must have alert, and efficient Law Enforcement Officers.

★ To set up Patroling zones, so that your deputies can be responsible for and remain in your community zone area, and be patroling your neighborhood.

★ To institute bidding on Department Vehicles, office and jail supplies. This is a sound business practice and will result in thousands of dollars in savings to the taxpayer.

★ To organize a well trained Sheriffs Auxiliary. This will give the department depth in time of emergencies or other needs.

Holt is concerned about our youth

OUR YOUTH IS OUR FUTURE

★ Close cooperation between Jim Holt and Martin County youth will result in only one thing—A BETTER COMMUNITY FOR ALL.

★ A planned program will be instituted to educate Martin County's youth concerning drugs, speeding and other civil problems facing today's youth. I will work with our schools, churches, and doctors to institute such a program. (Let's follow the rule that, "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure".)

MARTIN COUNTY YOUTH CAN COUNT ON HOLT.

Holt has the courage to stand up for Martin County! Do you?

* Nine years as a Martin County Deputy Sheriff, James Holt knows the problems of our county
* Five years as Chief Deputy Sheriff, James Holt has the proven record as a leader, for good Administration
* Graduate of the Federal Bureau of Narcotics Training School in Washington, D.C.

McDowalls visit London

Bill and Ethel McDowell arrived at their mobile home on Cypress St. recently. They had a very interesting trip to Ireland last sum- mer. Bill and Ethel were both busy unpacking when I called Oct. 18, and welcomed the excuse to take a rest, so we all sat down and here is their story: On arriving at the London airport, the McDowalls went to their friend's home at Colliers Wood, a London suburb. Their intention was to rent a car for the duration of their stay and Ethel would do the driving. However when she climbed into the little car with a right hand drive and the foreign stick shift and all different controls, and start- ed to drive, it was not long before she said "This is not for me," and their friends did the driving and took them to all the interesting places in and about London.

This was a 21 day tour so after a few days in London they took a plane to Dublin, Ireland where they joined a weeks bus tour. Travelling in Ireland by bus is not the best way to see the country for the roads are so narrow that a bus cannot park just any place. In fact the roads are so narrow through some of the small towns that the bus had to be backed, in or- der to turn the corners. Also on several occassions in meeting another vehicle, the bus driver had to pull on to the sidewalk, however in spite of these drawbacks the McDowalls thoroughly enjoyed the trip. They had very good accomodations and meals at the various ho- tels where they stopped. I asked Bill McDowalls im- pression of I reland. He replied, "Stones, mountains, pigs, sheep, goats, and tum- ble down castles. But," said Bill, "Go inside. My wife can tell you more about it." That was when I inter- rupted the unpacking.

Mrs. McDowalls descrip- tion of Ireland, particularly the southern part, made me feel like wanting to go see it myself. She told of how the driver took them all around Ireland, more or less following the coast, then he cut right through the center of Ireland so they had a pretty good idea what the country was like.

She said her husband's re- mark about stones was only too true. Parts of Ireland are very stony and unproduc- tive. In many cases the stones are taken to the sides of the fields and made into a stone fence, still leaving many stones in the field. Through the years the wild fuschas have grown up a- mong the stones so thickly that they resemble a hedge of fuschas covered with blos- soms. Very pretty. It was September and the wild blackberries were ripe so the bus was stopped so they could all pick and eat those luscious sweet berries.

As stone is so plentiful, the original homes were mostly built of stones with a thatched roof, but as the people can afford it, these are being replaced with more modern materials. Not all the country is stony for they saw miles upon miles of po- tatoes growing and many apple and fruit orchards.

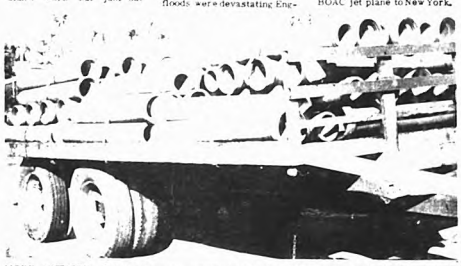
There are a lot of Gy- psies in Ireland. Oyster Festival Day was celebrated while they were there. Free meals are served at that time and these Gypsies took full advantage of this privi- lege. The Irish hand knit- ting has a good reputation and many of the 25 passengers on the coach took this oppor- tunity to buy some. The other passengers on the bus were of many nationalities such as Scotland, South Africa, Australia, Finland, etc., but all could speak English. The language of Southern Ireland is still English- let Gaelic is encouraged so much that people who spoke Gaelic were pensioned, so they didn't work but just sat around. There are many poor people there.

Ethel and Bill McDowall

The sixth day of the tour found them in Kerry County, the south western part of Ireland. Many mountains of from two to three thousand feet elevation are in this area and at times foothills crowd the coast. Miles of azalea bushes are to bee seen, but of course there were no blossoms at that time. Mrs. McDowall said they thought this was the most beautiful part of all Ireland; that and the Lakes of Killarney which are more inland.

It is interesting to note that while the disastrous floods were devastating Eng- land, they were enjoying the most glorious weather in Ireland. The Irish "Pubs" seem to be a favorite gather- ing place for the young people of an evening. After the evening meal the young bus people would go to one of these pubs or taverns. Mu- sic was provided and with a mug of beer to sip they would all join in singing the popu- lar songs till the place closed at 11 o'clock.

Returning from Ireland the McDowalls spent the rest of the time with friends at Aetterling. They had a full load of 260 passengers on their return flight on the BOAC jet plane to New York.



MORE ACTIVITY- There was more activity last week as sewage pipes were laid throughout the new riverfront extension. Pictured is a load of the main pipes as they arrived.

Tigers shut out Boca Bobcats 21-0

Friday night the Martin County Tigers downed Boca Raton Bobcats 21-0 in a Suncoast Western Division football fracas. This was the Tigers' third victory in five outings.

Bruce Stiller, senior fullback and co-captain, was taken to the hospital during the final period of the game. He received to be suffering from a broken wrist. It was later found that his hand had become dislocated at the wrist and the ligaments had been pulled and torn.

The question raised is whether or not Stiller will be able to continue playing football this year. This question will have to remain unanswered for at least two weeks. At that time it will be determined by the doctors when he can play again.

After scoring two of the Tiger touchdowns Friday night, Stiller showed the Boca defense that he was not messing around. Stiller proved himself valuable not only on offense, but he also made many key defensive, but he also made many key defensive plays.

The final score came in the fourth period when Wallace Rogers galloped 40 yards and paydirt.

Albert McIntyre and Rudy Johnson were also taken to the hospital Friday night. McIntyre suffered from a pulled muscle, and Johnson had a cut on his chin. Both men are expected to be ready for play in the John L. Leonard game Friday, Nov. 1. This will be an away game.

At present, the Tigers have a 2-1 record in the Suncoast Conference, Western Division.

Future teachers of America held a meeting Thursday, Oct. 23, after school. The club elected Judy Moore as its homecoming candidate and also discussed plans for a float.

This year's officers are: Judy Moore, president; Debbie Reece, vice-president; Betty Mattarn, secretary, and Kathy Carter, treasurer.

Faculty sponsors are Thelma Herbert and Judy Close.

Marge Nelson, Diana Smith and David Mitchell represented the MCHS chorus at a sight-reading clinic at the University of Miami in Coral Gables recently. The session lasted from 9:30 until 11:45 a.m., during which time two numbers were read. The students remained on campus and observed campus life until after lunch.

Debra Thomas was elected homecoming candidate by the chorus.

Albert McIntyre is the president and Mrs. Barbara Anderson is the sponsor.

"M" Club, under the direction of Gene Fleming, Dick Reed, Cephas Gipson and Homer Foreman, is planning to sell cokes at football games and other varsity activities. This is the main money-making project of the club.

Alaine Gomez was elected as the club sweetheart. She is also its homecoming candidate.

Officers of the club are: Bruce Stiller, president; Mike Snipes, vice-president, and Thad Heward, secretary-treasurer.

The Theater Workshop at Martin County High School will present its first production Saturday, Nov. 2, at 8 p.m., under the supervision of James Creek.

They will present a coffeehouse theatre, offering two major playlets, "The Lottery and Observer" and "A Man at Bay." Several individual readings will also be on the program.

The public is invited, and there will be a small charge for admission.

An annual signing party was held Thursday, Oct. 24, in the lunchroom. The long-awaited "67-'68 MACOSH finally arrived. Last year's seniors had their annuals mailed to them.

The staff elected Debbie Anderson as its homecoming candidate.

Lela Mae Merklinger is editor of the MACOSH this year, and James Hopkins is the sponsor.

Civinettes held their initial election Tuesday night. Charter officers are: Janice Taylor, president; Miriam Verril, vice-president; Carol Shoen, secretary; Amy Smith, treasurer; Margie Nelson, chaplain, and Karen Roode, historian.

Janice Taylor was elected homecoming candidate.

PAYDIRT– Martin County's Tigers racked up three touchdowns last Friday night in their victory over the Boca Raton Bobcats. Bruce Stiller is shown above, hitting paydirt for two of the scores, prior to injuring his hand. At right is Wallace Rogers, going over the magic line for points in the fourth quarter. The Tigers and Bobcats are tie for second place in the Suncoast Conference Western Division, with Pahokee leading the pack.

Key Club undefeated in intramural football

In intramural football competition, Key Club is the only undefeated team among all the clubs playing, with a 3-0 record. This has given Key Club the right to play in the finals under the lights at Long Field. The opposing team has not yet been decided, as the rounds are played in double elimination.

Members of the Key Club team are: Gene Brown, quarterback; Philip Laufbahn, halfback; Thad Howard, halfback; Buddy Dale, center; Scott Oughterson, end; Johnnie Clifford, fullback; Randy Schommer, end; Tin Lorenz, end; Bill Curry, tackle; Bob Turner, tackle; Skippy Shipes, guard; Stuart Neall, guard; Donald Peery, tackle, and Karl Uhl, tackle.

The MCHS Key Club may challenge the Dan McCarty High School Key Club, but there are no definite plans.

MCHS girls form singing group

"Margie and the Exotics" is a group of five MCHS girls who started singing together last year at the Hullabaloo. Since then, they have decided to stay together and have sung at several talent shows.

Members of the group are: Margie Nelson, Anne Mae McFadden, Maxine McFadden, Rosa Jenkins and Juanita Delaney.

They sing, "Blowing in the Wind," "My Boy," and "What's Your Name?"

Accompanying the group are Harold Singleton on the rhythm guitar, and John Christie on the piano.

Cheryl Coutant was elected homecoming candidate by the French Club at its meeting on Monday, Oct. 21, conducted by Lynn Nassl. The club is going to work on a float for homecoming with P.T.A. Stanley Keaton is head of the committee.

Deeva Russell was elected homecoming candidate by the "9" Club at its meeting Monday, Oct. 21, at which homecoming plans were discussed. Its float will result from a joint effort of the annual staff and the club.

Ann Crook is the sponsor of the club.

The Leo Club, sponsored by the Jensen Beach Lions Club, chose as its homecoming candidate Nancy Lenahan.

The first meeting of the club was held Monday night, Oct. 21. Scott Neall is the president of the club and Audrey Treacy is the faculty advisor.

Janet Olney was elected homecoming candidate from Les Belles Lettres last Tuesday night at its meeting. Plans for a float were also discussed.

Officers this year are: Lynn Nassl president; Debbie Anderson, vice-president; Elise King, secretary, and Bonnie Hairs, treasurer.

Last Friday at an assembly held sixth period, the sophomores presented a skit entitled "Tiger Laugh-In", and as the name implies, it was patterned after Rowan and Martin Laugh-In. The scene was that of the "party", and featured a poem by Nancy Gibson, "The Guru, the Hoodoo, the Ouija and Me", and, of course, "Geraldine".

Louis Kent spoke to the school about school spirit and congratulated the Tigers on their win. He also urged all of the students to attend the games and let the boys know they were behind them.

Honor Society sells insurance

Tiger Band, under the leadership of Kenneth Mauger, elected Barbara Kanarek as its candidate for homecoming.

The band's main money-making project is selling programs compiled by them, at the football games.

Honor Society at MCHS

Beta Club is one of the two honor societies at Martin County High School.

According to President Patty Houk, its purpose is to promote the ideals of honesty, service and leadership among high school students, to reward meritorious achievement and to encourage and assist students to continue their education after high school. The motto of the club is "discamus alius servimade" meaning, "let us lead by serving others."

To be a member a student must have and maintain a "B" average. Members who fail to maintain this average are dropped from membership.

As service projects this year, they will provide baby-sitting service on Election Day for any mothers who want to vote, but can not because of not finding a baby-sitter. The children will be taken care of from 3 to 7:30 p.m. when the polls close at the First Baptist Church in Stuart.

National Honor Society, under the guidance of Shelby Martin, is selling Halloween insurance to the merchants in Stuart. This insurance costs $1 and guarantees the policy-holders that if their windows are soaped, the club will clean them the following day.

The club is planning an initiation of new members to be held during a banquet at the Manatee Marina on Wednesday, Oct. 30 (today). At this time, the induction of the new officers will take place.

The 1968-69 officers are: Eileen Gunselus, president; Sharon Whaley, vice-president; Jacque Penick, secretary, and Kevin Henderson, treasurer.

Art class is an elective course offered to students of MCHS. The students are currently studying fundamentals of collages, cubes and color.

Beginning students are engaged in color advertisements, i.e. taking advertisements and reproducing them to look exactly like the originals.

The intermediate class is making collages using live models, whose outlines are sketched with either charcoal, ink or pencil. The materials used for the collages are glue, ripped paper, paint and string.

Advanced students will begin working with sculpture as soon as they finish their cubes. The cubes are constructed by the students from flat pieces of cardboard. The sides are then beautifully decorated.

IT'S TIME FOR A CHANGE

I SAY IT'S TIME
for a new policy in Viet Nam that will end the war. We're the strongest nation in the world — yet we've been bogged down for years because we have not backed up our men with effective use of our air and sea power. 28,000 American boys have lost their lives, the cost through this year is $95 billion. Let's get it over with!

I SAY IT'S TIME
to stop being soft on law-breakers. This terrible increase in crime and violence must stop. We must have order. We must treat criminals and rioters like the criminals they are. Let's make our streets and homes safe again!

I SAY IT'S TIME
to balance the budget. That's your tax money the Administration is spending so recklessly. $80 billion of red ink deficits.

I SAY IT'S TIME
for a new team in Washington. The old welfare giveaway programs just aren't working. My opponent was a key member of the Johnson-Humphrey team. He offers a carbon copy, rubber stamp of more of the same. This Johnson-Humphrey Administration has run up a total deficit of $80 billion. Result: serious inflation and higher prices that hurt everyone. Let's stop this reckless spending.

I pledge to fight for change — for new solutions. But I need your help. I need your vote. Together we can make America great again.

It's time we put our best men where they can do the most good!

Student Council meets

At its last meeting, Student Council decided on the theme, "Today Is..." for Homecoming, which is to be held November 22. It also elected Carol Shoen as its representative to the festivities.

The Council has appointed a thought for the day and the flag salute each morning, in which Doug Rogers leads the pledge and Lon Hernandez leads the thought.

An Intra-Club Council was created by Student Council this year. It is responsible for organizing all school organizations.

The parking lot, which is a function of Student Council, is patrolled every day by Richard Jones and Ralph Fredrick. Any student found parked improperly is not allowed to bring his car to school for a week.

A student directory will be published this year and will include the names, addresses and telephone numbers of all students at MCHS.

Last Saturday, October 19, Edwin Gonzales, Linda McClure, Jacque Penick, and Richard Jones represented MCHS at the District 8 meeting of student councils at Forest Hill High School.

A total of 37 local youngsters competed.

4th graders write Halloween poems

Their fourth-graders in Mrs. Gipson's room at Jensen Beach Elementary School had a poetry-writing session recently on the Halloween theme. The following were submitted to The Jensen Beach Mirror:

Halloween Night
by Linda Bellamaker

The owls say "Hoot hoo."
The ghost says "Hoot hoo."
The witches ride and ride!
Are you going to ride

On Halloween you get candy
That is very nice.
After witches and cats and
Big black bats
Come in your door
They are going to take you
Vote and more... Boo!
--by Lisa Richardson

On Halloween the witches wander
All through the night.
Oh, can you see the pumpkins yonder,
It is a scary sight.
All the world is black and creepy
Everywhere I look.
Oh, I shall never stop a running
Until I'm safe at home.
--Collie Hendrix

A flash of white in the darkness,
Who-oo-ooo"
Hears the owl on the post,
A creak and a groan,
A squeak and a moan,
Ooo-oo-ooo
Comes the howl--
IT'S A GHOST!
- Renee Woodwell

Tours planned at East Stuart

East Stuart Elementary School is initiating a project, "A Professional Tour of Our School", for the current school term.

The following dates have been scheduled for organizations to visit the school: Administrative staff, visited Oct. 16. On Nov. 13, the news media, Junior Woman's Club and League of Women voters will tour; Dec. 11 has been set aside for the Ministerial Alliance; Jan. 15 for the city and county commissioners; Feb. 12, medical and legal professionals; Rotary and Kiwanis on March 13, and Jaycees on April 16.

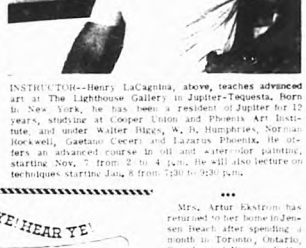
Legion Auxiliary honors past presidents

Past Presidents of Jensen Beach Unit #126, American Legion Auxiliary, were honored at a luncheon last week at the Post home.

The following past presidents attended: Hilda Costello, Marjorie St. Clair, Lorraine Middleton, Clara Vaught, Margaret Bownds, Emma Snyder, Dorothy Grimm, Audrey Foley, Margaret Morgan, Clarence Combs, Louise Rauwald, Marie Elliott, Mrs. Newsham and Margaret Hall.

Luncheon was served by Legionaires Antone Foley, Tom Heggs and William Middleton, assisted by Mrs. Eva Heggs. Entertainment was arranged by Dorcth Grimm.

Lilla Zimmerman, a patient at Bay Pines Veterans Hospital, will be remembered by the Past Presidents' Parley during the year.



INSTRUCTOR--Henry LaCagnina, above, teaches advanced art at The Lighthouse Gallery in Jupiter-Tequesta. Born in New York, he has been a resident of Jupiter for 12 years, studying at Cooper Union and Phoenix Art Institute, and under Walter Biggs, W. B. Humphries, Norman Rockwell, Gaetano Cecere and Lazarus Phoenix. He offers an advanced course in oil and watercolor painting, starting Nov. 7 from 2 to 4 p.m. He will also lecture on techniques starting Jan. 8 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Clerk of the Circuit Court
Is Five Big Jobs In One

A Message from DOROTHY PIERCE
ASKING YOUR VOTE AND SUPPORT

Dear Martin County Voters,

I will deeply appreciate your vote for Dorothy Pierce as Clerk of the Circuit Court on Tuesday, Nov. 5.

This is one of the most important offices in Martin County. It is actually five big offices in one. The position is one of tremendous responsibility and public trust. It requires maturity, experience and knowledge of Martin County.

I serve as Clerk of the Circuit Court and Clerk of the County Court, keep all records of those judicial bodies, except probate matters. In addition, I serve as clerk of the Martin County Board of Commissioners, County Recorder, Collector of Delinquent Taxes and County Auditor.

It would be impossible to list here all of the duties of these offices, but to give an idea, they include: keeping the records of Circuit Court trials which are practically continuous....the records of County Court, at which there are always more than 100 cases on files each day....the minutes and month-by-month budget of the County Commission....all county bookkeeping, bill payments and payrolls....filing for record every type of official instrument, warrants, deeds, mortgages, civil and criminal suits, quitclaims, mill liens, discharges....putting on record all zoning and subdivision plats....collecting and forwarding alimony and child support payments....filling all candidates and making up the ballots....and supervising all tax deed procedure sales.

My experience on this important job is valuable to Martin County. I worked 13 years for the former Clerk, was first elected in 1954 and have been unopposed in that period until this year. You, of course, are the judge of how well I have done my job--but a full look at the record will show that Martin County has one of the best electrical accounting systems in Florida. I installed it in 1964. Our records system on real estate matters is one of the most efficient in the state, under a system I set up which makes all information available within a few minutes.

I have worked hard for you and Martin County, burning the midnight oil on many occasions to meet the demands of this office. In addition to my knowledge gained by experience--for which there is no substitute--I spent four years at night study in Junior Colleges, training in Accounting, Business Law and Shorthand--the better to handle my responsibilities.

Martin County is growing by leaps and bounds and the duties and responsibilities of the Clerk of the Circuit Court are increasing with that growth.

This important position is above partisan politics. On my record--and pledging the same program of progress as in the past--I will deeply appreciate the opportunity to serve Martin County for four more years.

Sincerely

Dorothy Pierce

PERFORMANCE BY MARTIN COUNTY COMMISSIONERS
COMMENDED BY INDIANTOWN PRESS

The following is an excerpt from the October 24, 1968, editorial entitled, "Governmental Lesson", relating to the Martin County Commission meeting of October 22, 1968:

"....We must commend the County Commissioners for their presence of mind and the coolness of their attitude in handling the situation. Chairman Powers and Commissioner Wirth believed the hostile opponents defeating themselves with their crude and partial responses to their actions. Supported by Commissioners Bussey and Sanderson, the entire affair received the type of attention as should be given by good county officials.

As citizens we will support the Commissioners for their actions and we will continue to support those individuals and other county officials that refuse to have them be influenced by outside pressures, regardless of the persons involved."

PRINCIPALS—John Brooker, last year's PBX Boss of the Year; Ann Reitz, local PBX president; Louise Pendarvis, named as PBX Member of the Year; Ruth Miller, PBX service advisor of Southern Bell, and Sam Hendrickson, recipient of the PBX Boss of the Year award for 1968, were featured at the fourth annual Indian River District ... of the Year banquet held Saturday night as speakers and honored guests.

FHA to hold bake sale

A bake sale is planned for November 12 in the PSL shopping center by the Future Homemakers of America of the Dan McCarty chapter. In charge of all the goodies will be Pam Horner, and Alice Sims.

The FHA mother and the Home Economics class are supplying the baked goods and the proceeds will go to help the girls pay for the bus to take them to the District meeting to be held in Vero Beach.

The sale starts at 9 a.m. and will continue as long as the supply holds out.

BOSS OF THE YEAR—Sam Hendrickson, right, general manager of Sears in Fort Pierce, was awarded the PBX "Boss of the Year" plaque last Saturday night at the fourth annual banquet of the Indian River District PBX Club. The presentation was made by John Brooker, manager of the Fort Pierce Farmers' Market. Brooker won the honor last year.

Jack Sheridan speaker

Sam Hendrickson is 'Boss of the Year'

A crowd of ninety four came to the Fourth Annual PBX "Boss of the Year" banquet Saturday, October 26.

John Brooker, last year's "Boss of the Year" and the current "State Boss of the Year," made the announcement that Sam Hendrickson had won the honor this year. Hendrickson received a standing ovation from the assembled guests. He then made a short speech thanking the club and ended by saying "he would try to live up to what was expected of him."

The program was opened with the invocation by Chaplain Margie Zinsmeister, followed by the Pledge of Allegiance, led by Secretary Louise Pendarvis, followed by dinner.

President Ann Reitz gave a welcoming speech and introduced the guests. They were: Mr. and Mrs. John Sheridan, Mr. and Mrs. John Brooker, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Colsar, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Newman, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hendrickson, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Battle, Mr. and Mrs. Johnell, Mr. and Mrs. R. Osteen, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Knowles, Mr. and Mrs. Stu Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Swanson, Mr. and Mrs. Lawyer and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Grogharn.

After dinner, President Ann Reisz presented the guest speaker, John Sheridan of General Development Corp. He made a very nice speech, one part shined forth with many people. It was, "Plan you work, then work your plan." He told of the value the good PBX operator was to the company she works for.

Louise Pentarvis presented an award to Allan Largston, who has done the cover of the PBX scrapbook that then entered at the State Convention. His art work has won an award one year.

Louise, Karn, State Board member, Past State President, and local Past President, presented an award to Service Advisor, Ruth Miller.

The "PBX Member of the Year" award went to Louise Pendarvis.

Ann Reisz called the Social Committee, planners of the banquet, forward and presented each of them with a gift. She thanked them for a job well done. The committee was Ruth Miller, Mona Hazelfiel, Delphia Nichols, Edith Plamisek and Margie Zinsmeister.

Betty Cox, first Vice President, presented a special award to John Isattle from her and the other PBX operators at Sears.

This was the largest banquet, in terms of attendance, that the PBX club of the Indian River District has ever had, here's hoping we top it next year.

Davis family new homeowners

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Davis and children have decided they like PSL so well, that about four weeks ago they bought a home at 161 Naranja Ave. They moved here from East Hartford, Conn., and rented at first to see if they would like it here.

Bob is a member of the Loyal Order of the Moose, Lodge #248. Beverly is interested in painting.

They have four children, Ralph, who is in the Boy Scouts, Debra, she's in the Girl Scouts, Micheal, he's a Cub Scout and Raymond who's too young yet for scouting. Ralph and Micheal are in training to become altar boys in their church.

Completing the family is a boxer nearned Heidi and a Boston Terrier named Beauty.

VIET NAM VETERAN EXPECTED HOME, in Viet Nam since April, Matthew Hoy of 212 Entrada Ave., is expected to be home by the middle of November. This is Matthew's second tour of duty in Viet Nam, he was aboard the USS Forrester when it had the fire on board. Luckily he was not injured.

He is now stationed aboard the USS America out of Norfolk, Virginia and serving in Viet Nam.

Matthew and Beverly Peck of Fort Pierce, plan to be married on November 23.

Scouts plan spook party

A Halloween party is planned by the Boy Scout Troop 499, the invited guests are the Cub Scout Pack, the Brownie Troop and their parents. It will be held at the Lutheran Church, Wed., October 30 at 7:00 p.m.

The Cubs now have two dens active and are planning a third. Any boy between the ages of 8 and 11 is eligible to join and is invited, but he must have at least one parent with him in order to join.

Refreshments will be served and there may be prizes awarded for the costumes.

Bridge scores

North-South winners at the Friday session of the St. Lucie Country Duplicate Club were Dr. and Mrs. Roger Bellows with 72 1/2 points, second: George Knoll and Sam Hardwick 68 points, third: Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Benoit 67 1/2 points. In the East West division it was First, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Snelling 83 1/2 points, second, Wm. Miller and Harold Miller 82 points, third, Bill and Mildred Treverton 78 points. Next regular game will be Friday, 1:30 p.m. following a lecture at 1:00 p.m. by Jack Adams. You are assured of a partner if you come alone.

Newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Brushard of Cicero, Ill. visited with Marge and Mary Newell and Loreta Sepeosa of 110 Earla Lane this past weekend.

Brushard is the nephew of all three ladies. He and his wife, Peggy, are touring Florida for their October 10 wedding in Cicero.

The Angiers Club will not hold the November 5th meeting due to the national elections and the Marina being the local voting place.

Jim Harpold reminds us that at the November 19 meeting they will hold the annual auction of fishing gear. This will be a good time to get rid of some of that extra gear you have, and a good time for others to obtain some gear they might be needing. Carl Herring will be the auctioneer.

Refreshments will be served at the meeting.

If time permits, they have a film to show, titled: "Adam, King of the Alaskan Seas."

The PSL Jr. Womans Club will have a fashion show on November 6 at 8:30 p.m. They will have fashions for men, women, and children.

There will be entertainment and refreshments will be served. Tickets are available from any member of the Jr. Womans Club.

Don't forget, they have a basket at the Marina and and the CDC building for food for the less fortunate people on Thanksgiving Day. Just bring your donations by and leave them at either place that is most convenient for you.

The Brownies are growing, they now have fourteen girls in the Troop. They meet every Tuesday at 4 at the Lutheran Church.

The Sea Scouts are recruiting! A boy must be between the ages of 15 and 18 in join. They meet at the PSL Marina on the first and third Thursdays of the month at 7:30 p.m.

Candidate minister visits Jensen Beach Church

The Reverend Donald E. Johnson, 46, now serving as minister at the Union Church, Berea, Kentucky, will visit Jensen Beach Community Church and bring the morning's message on Sunday, Nov. 10.

Mrs. Helen Richardson heads the pulpit committee bringing the Rev. Johnson to this area. He is recommended enthusiastically by the National Council of Community Churches, according to the committee. Previous pastorates include those in Christian and Methodist Churches in Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, and with the Union Church of San Juan, Puerto Rico, with over 30 denominations represented in its 1,000 membership.

The Rev. Johnson's B.A. was granted by Butler University and his B.D. by Garrett Seminary. He is specially trained and experienced in Pastoral Counseling and in Marriage and Family Living. Hobbies include swimming, tennis, photography, sound and music.

He and his wife, Angie, have a daughter, Karna, 17, a college student, and a son, Kraig, 15, in high school. He visited Jensen Beach with his father Oct. 20, attended the Sunday morning service at Jensen Beach Community Church, had dinner with Dr. Richard Penick and family, prior to meeting with the pulpit committee.

A coffee will follow the Nov. 10 service. All members and interested persons are invited to hear the Rev. Johnson and meet him and his wife socially.

Philbrick elected to head Society

R. C. Philbrick was re-elected president of the Martin County Historical Society at its first general meeting of the season held Sunday, Oct. 27, at Elliott Museum.

Other officers elected include Mrs. William Clark Shepard, first vice-president; George K. Perkins, second vice; Richard Carroll, third vice; E. C. Wareheim, treasurer, and Mrs. C. B. Arbogast, Jr., assistant treasurer. A secretary will be appointed.

Motions were made and passed to have a smaller 'working board' and to establish an 'honorary board'.

A cocktail party, open to the public, will be held at Elliott Museum Nov. 15. Call 287-4256 for reservations.

Mrs. Janet Hutchinson, director, reported 23 new memberships since the 1967 annual meeting, and acquisitions for the permanent art collection valued at $6,225.

Soroptimists host area meeting

The Soroptimist Club of Stuart hosted a dinner and workshop meeting of clubs in Area 3 of the Southern Region, Soroptimist Federation of America on Oct. 26.

Serving as hostesses were Mrs. Henry D. Lavery, local president; and Mesdames William J. Russert, Donald Welton, Ed Miller, Rosaleen Murray and John W. Stokes.

Charter meeting

The signing of the local charter of the new Women's Society of Christian Service will highlight the meeting of the Women's Society of Trinity Methodist Church of Jensen Beach, to be held Tuesday, Nov. 5 at 1 p.m. in Fellowship Hall.

Dessert will be served by Mrs. Harry Ribbens, hostess for the day and the program will be conducted by Mrs. Ernest Baker.

A Halloween party for the Adult Choir members and their families will be held Wednesday (today) at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest McGinness, Rio.

A Senior Youth Halloween party was held Oct. 23 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Bright. Prizes were awarded to the most 'Completely Disguised' Charlene Bright, Kim Richardson and Joe Milner.

Church News

Palmer Lights Planned

Mercury vapor lighting on Palmer Road, from Sewall's Point Road to SR 707, will be installed in the near future, possibly within a week or two, according to Harry Wilkie, president of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce.

The road, heavily used for heavy traffic by students of St. Joseph College, has been the scene of several pedestrian accidents and many near-miss accidents, County Commissioner Frank Wachs told The Jensen Beach Mirror that the county plans a road-widening to provide walkways for the students.

Armistice, Veterans Day is Monday

The fiftieth anniversary of the signing of the armistice, which brought an end to World War I, will be observed in memorial services in the auditorium of St. Joseph College, Jensen Beach, on Monday, Nov. 11, starting at 10 a.m.

Sponsored by Martin County Barracks #654, Veterans of World War I, the services are expected to draw a capacity crowd, according to Oscar Diess, barracks commander. The barracks is one of the first civic groups to use the auditorium facilities in response to the school's invitation.

The principal speaker will be William E. Owens, civic leader, and Martin County's "grand old man," 94-year-old Capt. Francis Adams, will speak.

One of the highlights will be the appearance of the 35-member Martin County Band group. The conductor is Barbara Anderson.

The invocation will be given by the Rev. Paul Couto of St. Joseph, and the benediction will be by the Rev. Jack Fernandez, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Jensen Beach.

Chaplain Phil Kirse, former commander of the Florida Department VWW), will give the "11th hour toast."

Memorial candles will be lighted by Eleanor Dittendall and Edwin Hain, and Adjutant Frank von Haile will call the roll of the 14 barracks members who died during the year.

Commander Deiss will be chairman of the services and is assisted by Chaplain Kirse and Judge Advocate Ralph Graves, co-chairmen.

Following the services, refreshments will be served to veterans and their wives at Jensen Beach Community Center.

Veterans of all wars have been invited by Commander Deiss to attend the services.

SCOUTERS MEET--Local representatives of the newly-organized Sailfish District of Gulfstream Council, Boy Scouts of America, met last week with regional and council officials to discuss plans for the beginning of the new district. Attending the meeting were, left to right; Judge Mallory Johnson, Dr. Frank Holt, Claude Goff, district scout executive; Mac Gaskins, council scout executive from West Palm Beach; Tom Little, deputy regional executive from Atlanta, Georgia; Jack Williams, fund drive chairman for the new district; Jim Harper, Ken Ferguson, and James Navitsky.

Testimonial is planned for Jensen Mirror editor

A testimonial dinner in honor of the editor of The Jensen Beach Mirror, Richard E. Campbell, is planned at the Holiday Inn in Stuart on November 16, according to Bill Maclaren, executive director of the Martin County Resources and Development Board. The dinner is to honor Campbell as the newly-elected president of the Florida Press Association.

"This is the first time that a resident of Martin County has been elected the president of all daily and weekly newspapers in Florida," Maclaren said, "We should show honor for the office, and honor this citizen who has worked hard in our community for years."

Campbell's newspaper, The Jensen Beach Mirror, was cited by the FPA as "Florida's Best Weekly Newspaper".

The testimonial dinner is sponsored by the Resources Board, the Chambers of Commerce of Jensen Beach, Stuart and Indiantown, and the Hobe Sound Affiliated Civic Groups. Tickets are available at sponsor offices.

The event is semi-formal, with cocktails at 6 p.m. and dinner at 7:30.

Maclaren said that the evening "will be one of fun and excitement, with many surprises for the guests and guest-of-honor."

(Editor's note: Due to the very nature of this event, news coverage will be handled by Harry Schultz, retired editor of the Vero Beach Press-Journal.)

Chamber gets 18

Eighteen new members were added to the rolls of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce during Chamber membership week, according to Gene Pfleger, chairman of the drive.

Pfleger said that many members had not yet turned in their lists of membership contacts and predicted that more would be forthcoming in the near future.

"There will be no final report on this drive for a while," Pfleger said. He thanked all who took part in the drive for new members.

TYPICAL- Typical of the long lines of voters who waited patiently outside polling places on Tuesday was this group at the Jensen Beach Community Center. Lines started forming at the polls all over the county around 6:30 a.m. and seemed to get longer as the day progressed. Woe to him who decided to return later "when there would be fewer persons waiting." An exciting interest was displayed in this presidential election throughout the Nation.

Seven file for Stuart City Commission

Seven candidates have filed for seats on the Stuart City Commission. Qualifying papers can be filed until Nov. 11 for the Nov. 26 primary election. Two seats are open.

Filing for District 1 seat are incumbent Dan McClure, Kenneth Stimmell, Charles Foster, George Huss and Walter Robinson.

District 2 candidates are incumbent Ray Cooke and John N. Mann.

Three other commissioners, re-elected last year, are Mayor Jack Hartman, Bill Todt and Arthur Sims.

The regular municipal election will be Dec. 10.

Scherer backs plan

Sanitary land fill asked by Chamber

The Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce voted Tuesday to ask the Martin County Commission to establish a sanitary land fill on the swampy park area to the west of the Jensen public beaches. The area for the beginning of the land fill is located west of A-1-A.

The Chamber took the action following a meeting of Edwin Miller, Dick Campbell and Leonard Smith with Martin County Mosquito Control director Lester Scherer at the Martin County Courthouse. Scherer and the Chamber committee discussed the investigation into the sanitary land fill made over the past year.

Preliminary plans for the sanitary land fill locate it at the south line of the county park. The first section of land devoted to land fill will be 600' deep by 300' wide.

Concern about the possibility of seepage into the Indian River made the architect of the plan, Kreis Philleen, state engineer for the Bureau of Entomology, draw a 100' buffer zone of mangroves between the river-front and the fill line. This would eliminate the possibility of percolation of the land fill to the river.

Scherer pointed out that Hillsborough County did a color dye survey on lateral percolation for seepage on a sanitary land fill and found that seepage would move 25' to 30'[illegible] in ground that is much more porous than the muck and sand of Hutchinson Island.

The Philen plan was drawn in January, 1968, at the request of County Commissioner Frank Wachs, who investigated the possibility of a fill at that time.

The filling of the west park area would add about 1,200 feet of riverfront to the county park system.

In the first area (see diagram), a ten foot wide ditch would be dug along the north and south of the boundry lines to the point 100' from the river. A ditch would then join the two ditches. Then, 50' inside the ditch line, a row of cells, 50' wide by 25' long, with 10' buffers between, would be dug down to the rock.

Each cell would be filled to the base with grass, limbs and other trash, then filled with garbage. A bulldoze would cover all materials almost daily so that there is no insect problem.

Scherer asked the question of possible water filling the cells by stating that a strong pump would have to be operated to keep the cells free of water. He also said that the eight to ten foot mound of fill surrounding the sanitary land fill would completely hid the operation from public view of road and river.

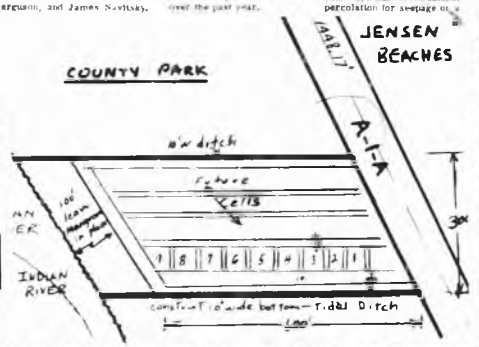
The speed of filling the property will depend upon the traffic, Scherer added. He said that the sanitary land fills in Palm Beach County had to have cells that could handle six trucks.

"Since the mosquito control is under the State Board of Health," Scherer said, "we would have to meet the safety standards required by the health department, and we would insist that they be met."

Scherer insisted that the operation of the land fill be by the county. In this way, he said, "We could be under direct supervision of an agency of the health board, our mosquito control."

He said that there was a need for a general plan, a master plan, designed to guide the design of the future park showing where the trees, boat docks, canals, or whatever, would be placed so that the filling could take place around those points. He said that if the county decided to look with the sanitary land fill, a landscape be hired to prepare the master plan.

There are about 25 acres of possible sanitary land fill area on the north seaward property west of Avirett on Hutchinson Island.



AREA DRAWING-- The drawing above the functioning of a land use plan for the sanitary land fill being requested to have taken under consideration by the Martin County Commission at the request of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce. Each numbered pit would be dug and covered with muck (see all-spot fill), to eliminate the possibility of insect breeding places. The 100-foot mangrove buffer to the river will eliminate the possibility of seepage. Also, lateral seepage is also combated with the use of radial ditching and proper buffer zones. The plan has the endorsement of the Jensen Chamber.

Local races await 697 absentee ballots

by Dick Campbell

The political fortunes of incumbents and challenging candidates in Martin County's most competitive races in years await the counting of 697 absentee ballots on Wednesday.

Voters went to the polls in record numbers, long lines of voters, with some having to wait an hour to cast ballots, pointed up the need for more voting machines in the county and reassessment of polling places for parking convenience.

In local races, county clerk Dorothy Pierce (D) turned back challenger Connie Thompson (R) 5,277 to 2,879. Tax collector Andy Andrews (D) won his second term, defeating Howard Bayley (R) 5,433 to 2,382.

Former state representative William E. Owens (D) was assured a seat on the Martin County Commission, defeating recently appointed Paula Saunders (R) 4,339 to 3,614. Dr. William G. Myers (R) successfully challenged incumbent Jack Saunderson (D), winning 4,743 to 3,541. Incumbent Frank Wachs (D) awaits the absentee ballots with a 331 vote lead over Myron Thurston (R), 4,294 to 3,963.

Ellsworth Strickland (D) holds a good margin over George Jones (R), but has not won yet. Schoolboard leads 4,995 to 3,423 for Jones, needing only 70 of the absentee ballots to assure himself the job.

In the closest race of the election, Sheriff Roy Baker (D) is only 133 votes ahead of Jim Holt (R), the challenger. This race will definitely be decided by the absentee ballots, which will be counted after press time, probably finishing late Wednesday. Totals were Baker, 4,491, Holt (R) 4,358.

Incumbent Evans Smith (D) was easily over Betty Caren (R), 5,029 to 2,921 to be re-elected to the post of supervisor of elections. Incumbents Frank DeStefano (D) and Joe Greenlees (D) were shown re-election to the school board in Martin County though a sweep of the absentee ballots might give the election to the challengers, Texas Tuesday, with DeStefano 4,246, Stanley Huffman, 3,523, and Greenlees, 4,077 to 3,462 for Russell Cooper.

Another cliffhanger is the race between Harvey Piley (D), incumbent justice of the peace, district two, and challenger John D. Oliver, Jr., (R). Piley has 3,521 to 3,405 for Oliver, a lead of just 116 votes. This race will also be decided by the absentee ballots.

The county went strong for Richard Nixon, giving him 4,687 to 2,357 for Hubert Humphrey, and 2,307 for George Wallace. Congressman Ed Gurney became Senator Ed Gurney, and Martin County helped, carrying for Gurney 5,248 to 3,385 for ex-governor LeRoy Collins.

The county stayed in the win column with Rep. Paul Rogers, who won 5,026 over his Republican opponent Bob Rust, 3,625.

In district elections, Martin County voted the following: State senator Bert J. Harris (R) 4,806 to 2,222 for George King, Jr. (D), Cliff Reuter (R), 3,641 to 3,663 for James Pruitt. In the house of representatives for Florida, seat 77, Jack Poorbaugh (R), 4,082 to 3,519 for Lake Lytle (D,) Seat 78, Raymond Moudry (R), 4,518 to 2,896 for Malcolm Cunningham (D), Seat 80, John Jordan (R), 3,907 to 2,803 for C. Errol Hicks (D), Seat 81, Dave C. Clark (R), 3,703 to 3,083 for Charles Miner, Jr.

In the races for the supreme court, Martin County gave majority votes to C. Richard Leavengood (R), David L. McCain (R) and Vassel B. Carlton (D).

Ray C. Osborne (R) won the seat of Martin County, voters over Jess Yarbrough for a seat on the public service commission.

On the new state constitution, Martin County joined Florida in approving the new document on all three counts.

AWARDS-- Happily exhibiting the beautiful trophies won as "Best of Show" in the recent Ford Regional Meet at Hialeah, is Rich Carroll of Jensen Beach. Carroll, competing with 130 cars, also won "Best Model A" class. The meet was sponsored by the Old Ford Club of Miami.

Jai-Alai begins Nov. 15th

Florida's winter season will get an earlier start this year with the opening of Jai-Alai at the West Palm Beach Fronton on Friday, Nov. 15.

The season, which runs through March 22, has 19 Saturday matinee cards with the first one on the season's second day, Nov. 16. Post time for the matinee programs is 1 p.m., and for night cards, 7:30 p.m.

The squad will be made up of 36 professional players (31 veterans and five newcomers), according to Pedro Elordi, the new player-manager.

Tax bills are out

This year's tax bills, received by county residents and property owners during the past week, are a bit higher than last year's bills.

Increases are charged to the hike in school levy, the levy of the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District, and increases in special taxing districts B (in Port Sewall) and G (Tropical Farms).

The school levy increased .77 of a mill, now totaling nine mills.

Including real estate, personal property, railroad and telegraph taxes, total tax billing this year amounts to $3,365,546.11. Tax Collector Alvin Andrews and his staff sent out 30,000 tax bills last week.

Rio Civic Club to elect officers

Election of new officers will take place at the Nov. 14 meeting of Rio Civic Club at 7 p.m. The business meeting will be preceded by a covered dish supper at 6 p.m.

Bingo is played at the club house at 8 p.m. each Monday, and card parties are scheduled for Nov. 12 and 26 at 1 p.m.

NEW ATTORNEY--Norris Tilton hangs up his shingle in Jensen Beach, following retirement from 26 years of Navy service. He becomes the only lawyer with offices in Jensen Beach. Tilton joined the firm of Scott, Sommer and Tilton, with offices in both Stuart and Jensen.

Norris Tilton opens law office in Jensen

Jensen Beach has a new law office opened, and pioneer resident Norris Tilton, 45, is the resident. Joining the firm of Scott, Sommer and Tilton, Norris Tilton has an office in the W. B. Tilton Real Estate and Insurance building at SR707 and Ricou Blvd. At present he is doing most of his law work in the Stuart office of the firm.

Tilton retired recently after 26 years service in the U.S. Navy. He was a commander, and had seen years of varied and active service, from legal officer to a helicopter squadron commander picking up a space capsule in mid-Atlantic. He now makes his home with his wife and three sons at 155 S.W. River Court in Jensen Beach.

Born in 1923 and raised in Jensen Beach, Tilton entered the Navy in 1942 as an apprentice seaman. He took flight training and was designated a Naval Aviator in 1945. He received his law degree from the University of Florida in 1946, remaining on inactive status, and re-entered the Navy in 1951 for the Korean War.

During his years in the Navy, Tilton was assigned to Tulane University as an associate professor of Naval Science.

In 1963, Tilton became operations, then executive officer of an anti-submarine helicopter squadron, operating aboard the USS Essex, an aircraft carrier. He became commanding officer of HS-5, the helicopter squadron that picked up the GT-2, second Gemini space capsule.

Tilton left helicopters in May, 1967, to become chief assigned to the office of the Chief of Naval Operations in Washington, D.C., at the Pentagon. His retirement became effective in October.

Dredging completion promised before before sailfish tourney

Dredging of the St. Lucie Inlet will definitely be completed in time for the annual sailfish tournament next month, according to W. O. Simpkin, president of the Stuart Sailfish Club. Simpkin said he has received word from Washington that if work has not been started by Nov. 18 by Prosperity Dredging Co., a government dredge will start work here Nov. 20 on the project.

The sailfish tournament is scheduled for Dec. 10-13. This time the sand will be piped onto a beach instead of dumping it into the water, and at present 3,400 feet of submersible pipeline is being built, according to Capt. S. T. Milling, Sr. of the Lake Park dredging firm. Prosperity was the low bidder, with $148,580 for the contract.

Art Associates to hear lecturer

A demonstration and lecture will be presented by the Stuart Art Association on Friday, Nov. 8 at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Room of First National Bank of Stuart. William W. Hinnant, Jr., an assistant professor at Miami-Dade Junior College, will explore the full range of techniques involving impasto, washes, glazing and a variety of surfaces. Members and their guests are invited.

A short business meeting will follow the question and answer period at the end of the program. Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Eileen Sylvia.

Square Dancing will begin Thursday

Western style square dancing for adults will open its season Thursday, Nov. 7 at the Stuart Youth Center, according to Jim McMahon, director. Ralph Otis of West Palm Beach will again be the caller.

Martin County assets above 9 million mark

Martin County's net assets show $9,385,553.67, with more than half of this figure composed of land, according to a report recently released by the county.

Cash on hand amounted to $438,180.09; leased improvements in the west wing of the courthouse valued at $70,425.27; buildings listed at $1.8 million; rolling stock and heavy equipment listed at $437,565.14. Of this last figure, the road department uses $287,286.21, and the mosquito control department has $52,273.12 worth of equipment.

The Leo Crab, junior organization of the Jensen Beach Lions Club, held its first money-making project last weekend....a car wash. Attendance of local vehicles assured a profitable day for the youth group.

The tax assessor's office leads the list in office equipment and furniture with $66,767.67, with the clerk's office having a total of $52,790.96. A total of $71,385.78, including 36 voting machines, is listed for the office of supervisor of elections.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Barret write to say they had to postpone coming down as their daughter was to have surgery. So it may be two or three weeks before we see the Barretts.

Marty and Evelyn Kattch are again at home on Key Lime. They sold their house a year ago and leased a carriage house out in the country, which is now their northern home. Marty says it is working very satisfactorily. They love their home and its surrounding five acres of well-kept grounds. This is at Spring House, about 30 miles from Philadelphia.

Marty tells me that Clara Diller is driving down and bringing Marth Wingard with her about Nov. 6. George Lemle will accompany the ladies in his own car.

Del Pitman's brother-in-law will be driving her down in about two weeks.

Cooks enjoy anniversary week-end

Partly to celebrate our 19th wedding anniversary and partly for a change of scenery, Nellie and I took off for Miami last weekend. It was a nice sunny day, cool side, but not disagreeably so. Our first stop was Lion Country. We have heard conflicting reports about this latest attraction, so here is ours. The charge of $2.5 we thought was rather excessive, but as we wound our way along the tortous, black topped roadway, we were staggered at the tremendous expense such a project involves. In order to insure the safety of their patrons, men in Zebra-striped jeeps are stationed here and there throughout the grounds, each with a couple of rifles in the racks. They keep herd on the lions and insist that all patrons keep the car windows closed. The various enclosures are not only fenced but surrounded by deep water filled canals.

Over a hundred lions were scattered throughout the grounds. Some were in family groups in the shade of trees but most were in the full sunshine where good pictures could be obtained. The lions have no fear for us, but they certainly respect the jeeps and if one lion gets out of hand a jeep takes after him and he quickly gets back where he belongs. We were amused at one large male who walked up to one of the cars and gazed at the people inside much as we usually do at a zoo when we are the onlookers. The lion's face was almost touching the car window.

Lion Country very much resembles their native Africa an' all the lions seemed quite at ease. In other enclosures are many varieties of African wild animals. Photographers would do well to take along a telephoto lens as many of these animals do not come very close to the cars. The road must cover several miles as it winds alot. The whole trip consumed two hours--very enjoyable hours for us, and we consider it was well worth the money spent.

During our honeymoon trip of 1949, we took in the "Monkey Jungle." At that time it was not much more than a zoo. We thought it would be fun to see it and changes had been made and were we ever surprised. There are still many cages where one can see the rare species and the giant gorillas. One old male weighs over 600 pounds.

Mildred Jordan is right that time. The Canadian Ban Turner mill will be utilized to Brazil on the tree and the [illegible] in Mo[illegible]. I wondered how this would be accomplished [illegible] which made it possible to [illegible] every inch of the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Second prize went to the bald-headed gentleman in the second row, third from right, Henry Spiller.

Tilton-Leonhardt wedding held Oct. 19

Miss Carole Leonhardt of Lincolnton, N.C., became the bride of Charles Norris Tilton, Jr., at the Jensen Beach Community Church on Oct. 19, with the Rev. Joseph Dudley officiating at the double ring ceremony.

The new Mrs. Tilton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Leonhardt of Lincolnton, N.C. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Tilton, Sr., Jensen Beach.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length gown of white satin with a yoke and long sleeves of lace. She carried a bouquet of daisies and yellow rosebuds.

Matron of honor was Mrs. P. J. Wardle of Glynco, Ga. who wore a street-length gown of blue lace. She carried a single yellow rose.

AC2 Terry Trim of Seattle, Wash., served the groom as best man. Ushers were Randy Tilton and "Butch" Arnold.

Music was provided during the ceremony by Walter Johnsen, organist at the church.

Mother of the bride wore a dress and matching jacket of the groom's mother was attired in a yellow dress with matching jacket. Both wore white carnation corsages.

Following a reception in Fellowship Hall, the newlyweds left for Nassau.

Serving at the reception were Mrs. Ransom Tilton, Mrs. Mildred Higbee, with Mrs. Anita Wacha handling the bride's book.

The newlyweds are stationed at NASA, Glynco, Ga. and will live at St. Simmon's Island Ga. Both have been in the service about two years.

Southern Bell to expand services

Almost half a million dollars will be spent in Martin County by Southern Bell Telephone Co. during the next year, according to W. R. Burson, Stuart facility manager.

Projects planned are a submarine cable across Indian River to Hutchinson Island, at a cost of about $100,000, and the submarine cable across the South Fork of St. Lucie River will be relocated at an estimated cost of $35,000, he said.

Relocation is necessitated by the new Palm City Bridge which will be built where the present cable is located.

Lines along SR76 must also be relocated because of the proposed widening of that route between U.S. #1 and Martin County High School, with cost of relocation estimated at $23,000. Additional service in the area will cost about $87,000.

There are about 11,000 telephones in the Stuart exchange, Burson said, and the 287 prefix is almost full. A new exchange number, 283, will be added next year.

Other 1969 projects include $55,000 for additional service to the Jensen Beach-Rio area; $35,000 for equipment to the Port St. Lucie area; $78,000 to increase equipment in the central office; and extended service south of Stuart to the Port Salerno area at a cost of $31,000 and $36,000.

Southern Bell has spent about $400,000 in expansion this year, Burson said. In 1949, the company had 888 telephones in the county.

Christmas Seal chairman named

Miss Myrtle Dyer, local merchant, will serve as honorary chairman of the Easter local Christmas Seal campaign for Martin County. It has been announced by George Boutwell, chairman of the campaign committee of the Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association of Southeast Florida.

The 1968 Christmas Seal Campaign officially opens in this area Nov. 7 and continues through Dec. 31.

Chamber names chairmen

Robert N. Johnson has been appointed general chairman of the [illegible] Chamber of Commerce membership drive, it was announced by Chamber president Wm. Mahaffey. Johnson will head the membership drive for the Stuart Retail Merchants' Association.

The Merchants' Association is a division of the Stuart Chamber.

The "steak and beans" annual membership drive, with winners eating steak and losers eating beans, will be held Nov. 12-13-14, with Jerry Smith hosting the dinner for the eighth year. Jim Harper and Ken Ferguson head the two teams.

The Merchants' membership drive will get under way following the Chamber drive.

The first meeting of the Merchants for this season will be Monday, Nov. 25 at 12:30 p.m.

Margie Zinsmeister, Reporter — Phone 464-4139 after 5 p. m.

Bridge scores

Mr. and Mrs. George Benoit won the North-South division of the St. Lucie Country Club Duplicate Bridge game Friday afternoon with 92 points, 2nd, Dr. and Mrs. F. Hendrickson 85 points, 3rd, Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Poffinberger, 75 1/2 points; 4th, Dr. and Mrs. Roger Ballows, 69 points.

East West, 1st: Rudi Maurer and U. Lutter, 73 1/2 points; 2nd, John and Vergie Watson, 73 points; 3rd, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Snelling, 72 1/2 points, 4th, Wm. Butler and Harold Willard, 66 1/2 points.

The next regular game will be played Friday November 8 at 1:30 p.m. after a lecture at 1:00 p.m. by Jay Mans. You are assured of a partner if you come alone.

The Port St. Lucie Country Club will hold a Thursday night Family Dinner on November 7.

In order to give parents a "night out" without the worry of baby-sitters, they have planned: Dinner for the younsters at 6:00 p.m., with movies afterward to last until 8:00 p.m., in a separate room, supervised and served by the staff of the country club, leaving the parents free to have a dinner in our regular dining room. Children ages 5 years to 12 years, will be served in the separate dining room.

Reservations are required in advance, for Wednesday night, November 6.

EAGLE SCOUT -- Gary Sams, Eagle Scout, shows off his old-time Sioux Indian costume. This type of outfit was worn by the Sioux Indians between 1850 and 1930. Gar is interested in Indian Lore and made this costume as a project. He wore it to the Halloween party given by Boy Scout Troop #499 for the PSL Cub and Brownie Scouts on Oct. 29 at the Lutheran Church.

The Cub Scouts will meet every Monday at 4:00 at the Lutheran Church on Prima Vista. The Den Mothers are Mrs. Hal Leach and Mrs. Dutch Woertendyke. Bob McClure is the Cubmaster.

PUMPKIN--Mrs. Terry Landon, as a pumpkin, won the prize for "Funniest costume" at the Halloween party given by the Friday Night Gang.

Jensen's ghosts and goblins were original— and anything but elementary.

THIRD GRADERS--Beverly Hunter, as the prettiest; Kathy Hardy, most original, and Myron Gunsalus as the funniest third-graders won silver dollars from J.D. Lookadoo, member of the Jensen Beach Lions Club judging committee. The children are in Mrs. Chapman's class.

DOUBLE TROUBLE--Double trouble turned up in the judging of the Most Original entry from Mrs. Christ's fourth grade. Cathy Hendry and Tina DeLoach came to the Halloween party attired in a horse's costume, making the judges work twice as hard. Silver dollars also went to Gloria Ogden as the prettiest, and Cyndy Lawrence as the funniest.

FOURTH GRADE- Judges chose Lily Chen as the prettiest of the fourth-grade entries from Mrs. Butterfield's room at the Halloween party on Thursday evening. Most original category went to Eugene Rathgaber and funniest to Terry Reichert.

HALLOWEEN--Halloween is just nothing without costumes, as these youngsters know. They are first-grade pupils of Mrs. Gipson at Jensen Beach Elementary School. Prettiest was Malinda Lawrance; most original, Leslie Vaughan; and funniest, Billy Milner. Each child received a silver dollar from the Jensen Beach Lions Club.

FIRST GRADE--First-graders in Mrs. Buchanan's class line up to have their pictures taken as winners in the costume contest last Thursday at Jensen Beach Elementary School. Prettiest was Wanda Bailey; most original, Ed DeNeufille; and Tami Branford was judged the funniest. Judging was done by members of the Jensen Beach Lions Club, with prizes of $1.00 going to each winner.

WHERE DID HE GO?--The fellow in the middle really lost his head at last Thursday's Halloween carnival at Jensen Beach Elementary School. Mark Sawusch collected a silver dollar for the most original costume; Marsha Milner, left, was judged the prettiest, and Brenda Groeninckx, at right, was without a doubt the funniest. The children are pupils of Mrs. Thomas' third grade.

FIFTH GRADE--Alice Roberts, prettiest; Susie Fulton, most original and Mark Sandell as the funniest were chosen from the fifth-grade entries of Mrs. Chicky's class. The Halloween party was held at Jensen Beach Elementary School last Thursday evening, with judging of costumes at 7 p.m. and fun for all continuing until 8 p.m.

SECOND GRADERS--Second-grade pupils of Mrs. Cruse' class of Jensen Beach Elementary School took part in the Halloween party last Thursday. Prettiest costume was Jon Chicky, most original was Joe Roberts, and funniest was Donald Wisniewski. The annual Halloween event, with fun, food, games and prizes, was sponsored by the P.T.A. and faculty of the school. Proceeds of over $350 will be used for school projects.

BIG KIDS--There came the "Big Kids", the sixth-graders of Mrs. Howell's class at Jensen Beach Elementary School. [illegible] was Jessie Olney; most original, Bruce [illegible], and funniest was "Sock it to me!" Rhonda Cumpsty. [illegible] Halloween carnival, sponsored by the PTA and [illegible], drew hundreds of local residents for a fun-filled evening.

PRE-SCHOOL--Prizes of $1.00 were presented to these pre-school children at the Halloween costume contest last Thursday, held at Jensen Beach Elementary School. Funniest category went to Nicky Barker; prettiest, Cindy Hershberger, and most original, Kimberly Lukat.

Rotonda revisited

County 'Position' paper denies ditch

The Martin County Commission went on record as being opposed to the temporary ditching of the 23,000 acre Rotonda Drainage District at Tuesday's meeting. In a "position paper" to the U.S. Corps of Engineers, the county opposed the issuance of a temporary permit to discharge water through a drainage ditch into the St. Lucie Canal.

The action of the commission took the wind out of an audience of conservationists appearing to oppose the plan. The position paper was just what the conservationists wanted, it seems.

After County Engineer Tom Slider read the paper, Commission Chairman Tiger Powers opened the floor to discussion. Mrs. Virginia Forrest thanked the commission, and asked that the 23-member conservation committee be reactivated to work with the commission. "We want the best and most for the people of this county," Mrs. Forrest said.

Clair Anderson, representing the Rotonda Drainage District, said that the members of the district did not object to the Corps of Engineers considering all the problems of the western Martin County area. He added that the obligation of the group was to reclaim land, and added that the Martin County plan had been studied for many years.

Fred Bell, engineer for the drainage district, thanked the members of the board for their acceptance of his design for quiescent basins, "the first in Florida", and their "laudatory remarks".

In their objection, the commission outlined the original purpose of the drainage district, to move water from the area of Rotonda and surrounding lands to Lake Okeechobee and from there to the southerly conservation area south of the lake. The commission stated that until the mechanical arrangements to control the water to the lake and beyond were completed, the objection would remain.

The county also asked the engineers to disapproval to the overall Martin County plan, and asked that any drainage be tied to the quiescent basins designed by Bell.

A similar, but more "hard line" position paper was ready for presentation by the conservation forces. That paper asked that the water be drained into the conservation area, into canals to the south, or across the state when the Caloosahatchee River is enlarged.

Anglers establish positions

A series of resolutions requesting "favorable" action by various public agencies on vital conservation matters were adopted Tuesday evening at a meeting of the Martin County Anglers Club members.

The resolutions, to be mailed to all concerned agencies, urged:

1. The U.S. Army Engineers to stop all additional drainage from any source that will run into the St. Lucie Canal, including the Rotonda project. This resolution also asked the Corps to use their engineering skills to prevent further siltation in the lower St. Lucie River and to correct, if possible, the siltation already caused by "outrageous flushing out of silt from underneath gates of canal dams."

2. The Florida Water Control Board and the U.S. Army Engineers to start immediate studies of ways and means of permanently running flood waters in all Martin County canals, including C-23 and C-24 over the tops of dams rather than following the previous destructive process of running out excess water under dams, thus flushing out silt.

3. The Internal Improvement Fund to block any further sellout of publicly-owned submerged bottomlands below the mean high water mark except when it is clearly and unquestionably in the public interest.

4. The Coast Guard to establish a clearly-marked channel in the North Fork of the St. Lucie River so that boats moving into and from the upper river can move through nets.

5. The U.S. Army Engineers to start working immediately on plans for a permanent St. Lucie Inlet rather than wasting vast sums yearly on temporary dredging that provides safe channels for only a few weeks.

Public beaches are required from sand fill

The possibility that the beaches on Jupiter Island might be made public was opened Tuesday morning as the Martin County commission passed a unanimous resolution asking for a clarification of a ruling by the State Board of Conservation.

Commissioner Frank Wacha asked that the resolution be sent to Randolph Hodges, head of the conservation board, asking for clarification of a ruling that required the Carlton Hotel in Miami Beach to deed its beachfront to the public when it began restoration through dredging sand from the ocean floor. The hotel spent over $35,000 on the project.

If a public access and deed of the land is necessary, it is possible that the beaches of Jupiter Island are also public, because the island owners have been dredging sand from the ocean bottom for years to replenish the beaches there.

County Attorney Dean Tocker was advised to look into the matter.

Francis Slack, Hobe Sound, thanked the commission for its action, and asked that consideration be given to the 300' of beach already there. Restrooms promised last March for the public beach have not yet materialized, Slack said. Commissioner Saunderson said that the county would push the project.

VETERANS DAY-- The 50th anniversary of the signing of the armistice was observed on Monday, Nov. 11, with Veterans Day Memorial Services held at St. Joseph College Auditorium, Jensen Beach. Sponsored by Martin County Barracks #854, VWWI, Jensen Beach, the services were conducted by Commander Oscar Deiss, chairman. Taking part in the ceremonies were, left to right, above: Edwin Hain, Mrs. Moran, Hazel Houghton, Harvey Hiltz, the Rev. Jack Fernandes, the Rev. Paul Couto, Kathryn Kelly, Emma McCue, Phil Kirse, Grace Hall, Capt. and Mrs. Oscar Deiss, Capt. Francis Adams, and Hon. William E. Owens. Choral numbers were offered by the Martin County High School Choral group under the direction of Barbara Anderson, conductress. Buddy Edward Perkells sang "My Buddy", accompanied by Theresa Wittnebert. Taps were played by Chris Tagenkopf and Arnold St. Clair. Service organizations from Jensen Beach and Stuart took part in the ceremonies.

County renews 900' oceanfront battle

The Martin County Commission renewed a long term battle to open some nine-hundred feet of public park land to public use this week. The land is located just north of Bridge Road on Jupiter Island.

The status of the land is under lease to the State Park Board from the U.S. Coast Guard. The USCG traded the beachfront for land in Jonathan Dickinson State Park for a Loran Station. The land, now in the charge of the board of parks, has never been open to the public, and has "no trespassing" signs on its borders.

The county commission tried for the past six years to get the board of parks to open the land so that rest room facilities could be built for the public, but failed to get any action from Tallahassee. At present there is only three-hundred feet of land that can be used in the south county area.

According to the commissioners, a hard surface road gives access to the park land, which has a "nice beach, no problem to maintain".

FIRST AID GRADS--Twenty persons graduated from a first aid class Monday night at the Red Cross Chapter House in Stuart. The five-week course met once a week. John Grogan, certified Red Cross first aid instructor, holds the likeness used in artificial respiration. Another course is planned in two weeks, to begin November 26. Persons interested in signing up can call the Red Cross Chapter House. The members of the graduating class include Virginia Skinner, Gloria Gipe, Clara Cooley, Emily Arvellis, Mary Parrells, Jean Waldron, Marvin Waldron, James Jones, James Mills, Charles Jones, James Hall, Hank D'Elia, Donald Jones, Ortha Ratliff, Dorothy Cannon, Sarah Collins, Carol Dick, Ann Melton, C. R. Leach and Clarettia Strawter.

Chris Kalb is elected United Fund president

Chris Kalb was elected president of the Jensen Beach-Rio United Fund Association at the Nov. 6 meeting held at the Community Center.

Other officers elected for the 1969 drive included: J. D. Lookadoo, first vice-president; Mrs. Ira Henderson, second vice-president; Mrs. James Navitsky, recording secretary; Mrs. Charles Hall, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Nancy Spencer, treasurer.

Representatives of various organizations to be assisted by the fund drive were on hand to present their requests and budget for 1969.

The above officers will meet in the near future to finalize plans for the 1969 drive to be conducted early next year.

County actions

At the regular meeting of the Martin County Commission Tuesday, the following actions were taken:

OFFERED no objection to the dredging of a boat slip in the St. Lucie Canal at Arundel Bridge. Dickerson, Inc. plans the slip, which will lessen the barge congestion at the bridge. The slip will be 100' wide by 700' long.

ALSO, offered no objection to the construction of a boat dock on the South Fork of St. Lucie River. The dock, similar to others in the area, will be 150' long.

AGREED to study the possibility of maintaining a one-lane bridge and its access on the proposed extension of West Farm Road. The Central and South Florida Flood Control District had offered to open the bridge and one lane traffic across it to the public if the county would maintain it. The roadway is below county standards and would cost about $1,000 a year to maintain, according to County Engineer Tom Slider. Commissioner Tiger Powers asked that the study be made when it looked as if the project would be turned down by the commission.

Candidate minister

There was a full house at the 9:30 a.m. service at Jensen Beach Community Church on Sunday. The Rev. Donald Johnson, here by invitation of the Pulpit Committee and the Official Board, was introduced to the congregation by Dr. Richard Q. Penick, a member of the Pulpit Committee.

The Rev. Johnson is a candidate for pastor of the church. He and his wife were feted at a coffee in Fellowship Hall following the service.

The special called meeting of the membership has been postponed from Nov. 17 to Nov. 24, immediately after the Worship Service.

DECORATED—U. S. Air Force Captain Paul M. Mathews (right), son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon G. Mathews of Rt. 2, Stuart, receives the Air Medal at Binh Thuy AB, Vietnam. Capt. Mathews, a forward air controller, was decorated for his outstanding airmanship and courage on successful and important missions under hazardous conditions. He is a member of the Pacific Air Forces. A graduate of Martin County High School in 1960, he was commissioned in 1964 upon graduation from the U.S. Air Force Academy where he also received his B.S. degree in military science. Lt. Col. David M. Sharp, commander of 22nd Tactical Air Support Squadron, makes the presentation.

NARCE formed in Jensen Beach

A new chapter of the National Association of Retired Civil Employees (NARCE) is being formed in the Jensen Beach area.

Lawrence Farwell, newly-elected president, announces a meeting Wednesday, Nov. 20 at 2 p.m. at Jensen Beach Community Center. All U.S. civil service employees and spouses are invited.

Other newly-elected officers are Warren A. Cameron, first vice-president; Ruth Benson, secretary; Kenneth Benson, treasurer; Mrs. Corliss Chaplin and Addie Farwell, publicity.

Those who join now will be charter members, Farwell said.

Variety Show Auditions set

Auditions for the annual Variety Show, for the benefit of the Martin County Association for Retarded Children, will be held Nov. 20 and 21. The auditions will start at 7 p.m. at J.D. Parker Elementary School.

Director of this year's show is Howard Hald. Jack Scott will be master of ceremonies.

Blood Bank nets 69 pints

The Election Day Martin County Blood Bank drive netted 69 pints of blood which were donated to various organizations and churches.

The drive was held at the Stuart Woman's Club building. Assistance was donated by Palm Beach Blood Bank technicians, Martin Memorial Hospital, Mrs. Martha Spinney and others.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Toni Henry, Mrs. Dick Grandfield and Mrs. Jackie Hartsell.

Holiday Outlines

by George

A balmy Saturday evening didn't dampen the spirits of the residents and visitors of Holiday Out. The campers found their way through the storm to the Recreation Hall for the first "official" social gathering.

This was a real family affair, kids and all, learning the basics of square dancing. Earle Phillips did the calling.

Raymond Loveday, of the Holiday Out staff, emceed the event.

The surprise of the evening was the announcement that Marvin Salter had baked the pumpkin and banana cream pies, served by Irene Stewart of Jensen Beach. Ed Kenan did the honors in the kitchen.

Guests at Holiday Out include Ed Kenan and son, Tom, of Bloomfield Hills, Mich., now permanent residents here; Dr. and Mrs. B. Bennett, Nashville, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Claude Reinert, Sr., Miami; the Harry Conklins, Plantation; the Edward Ferguson, Martinsville, Ind.; the Walter Perroskas of Herkimer, N.Y.; the Robert Davenports and George R. Gandies of West Palm; the Howard Heights, Manasquan, N.J.; the J. S. Wolfs, Fort Lauderdale; the O. J. Hollands, Chattanooga, Tenn.; the Thomas Brewns, Chicago; the Ray R. Woods, Washington, D.C.; the Fred Mussilli, Linwood, N.J.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Clayton, Hopkinton, Mass., the R. W. Gravelles, Tallibo, Okla., and the Godfrey Pinders of Miami.

Church Fair Saturday

Saturday, Nov. 16, will be a big day at Jensen Beach Community Church. The annual Fair will get under way at 9 a.m. and will continue all day, ending with a pancake dinner at 4:30 p.m.

Coffee and doughnuts will be served during the morning, and a varied lunch will be served.

Many booths and tables will hold all sorts of gifts and goodies, according to the committee.

Workers and chairmen will meet at the church Friday at 9:30 a.m. to set up the booths and tables.

Leona Fahlen resting from heart attack

Mrs. Leona Fahlen is recuperating from a severe heart attack at Honeadale, Pa. Following are extracts from her letter to Mary Graham: "Now I am doing fine. Doc lets me sit on the side of the bed and dangle my feet while I rest. I got moved up to the 3rd floor where I have a lovely room right by a big window. I can see Ted drive up. The first time I have seen my car in five weeks. Maybe next week I will be able to sit in a chair.

Not much pain anymore. Ted comes every other day to see me now. It is 25 miles each way. Of course he is plenty happy that I am getting better and believe me, I am too. No doubt I will be here a few weeks yet but the worst is over.

Guess what? We had a snowstorm already and it went down to 26 degrees. Even Ted said it was cold. Ted says hello.

With love, Leona

Her address is Mrs. Leona Fahlen, Wayne Memorial Hospital, Honeadale, Pa. 18431

DAILY CONSTITUTIONAL--People are becoming accustomed to seeing these two energetic ladies on the road to the beach every morning. Valerie Merker and Muriel Kutil make it a practice to walk to the beach every morning, weather permitting. Your park photographer caught these two gals just coming off the Frank Wachs Bridge on their way to the beach at 8:30 a.m.

CHINABERRIES--Pictured here is just one branch on the Chinaberry tree located on the Birchfal lot at the corner of Hibiscus and Fifth. Evidently the copious rains we have had are responsible for the unusually large crop of grape-like berries.

Shuffleboard Club holds first meeting

The first 1968-69 meeting of the Ocean Breeze Shuffleboard Club was held at 10 AM, Nova. 4, in Clement Hall with over 35 members in attendance. Nas Calder, presiding, opened the meeting with a few minute of silent prayer in memory of deceased members.

Secretary Carl Work read the minutes of the last meeting which included the names of the new referees: Ada and Jos Wisser, Ada Haum, Charles Butts, and Bill Tourville.

Manager Calder made the following appointments: Assistant manager, Bob Robinson; secretary, Carl Work; District Delegat., Sam Koslow; Ast. Dist. Delegate, Art Lewis; Representative to the Indian River League for three years will be appointed later. Harvey Hill already has a two year term to fill and Bill Krowers a one year term. Calder further appointed Local Tournament and Round Robin Director, Bob Robinson, Special Events, Larry Fisher; chief referee and head of referee shcool, Harvey Will; Indian River League; Bill Krowers, and Bob Robinson.

Mgr. Calder then gave a report on work done on the courts during the summer, raising the score boards and improvements on the P. A. system. He also spoke of plans for further improvements such as sealing and waxing the courts, a new bulletin board and new blocks.

Rules governing play and care of courts were explained with special emphasis on a time limit of three games or 1 1/2 hours of play to be put into effect Dec. 1.

Dr. Thomas Moore, president of the Central East Coast District, spoke of the ne tournament rules and announced a meeting of all district officials to be held in Ocean Breeze Nov. 8. He also explained the status of amateur and expert players.

It was voted to have Round Robin play every Saturday and Sunday at 1:30 P.M. Volunteers to run the Round Robins for the next month are: Nov. 9, Bob Robinson; Nov. 10, Sam Koslow; Nov. 16, Art Lewis; Nov. 17, John Wall; Nov. 23, Charles Lord; Nov. 24, Harvey Hill; Nov. 30, Tom Cook; Dec. 1, Larry Fisher.

A lengthy discussion concerning the choosing of a team to represent Ocean Breeze in the Indian River League was followed by Mgr. Calder appointing the following committee which will meet on Nov. 11 to decide on the matter: Nas Calder, Larry Fisher, Isabel Taylor, Al Colby and Sam Koslow.

At the suggestion of the manager it was decided to have several invitational contests with other clubs.

Ceramic classes are being held in the Ceramic Room, Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 9 to 12 AM.

Robertsons travel through western states

Joe and Jessie Robertson had quite an interesting summer. When they left O. B. last spring they spents week with their daughter Mrs. McKinnon in Winter Park, before resuming their trip to their summer home in Westville, Ohio, but by July they felt they needed a change of scenery and set out for Abeline, Texas. Joe smiled when he said they went to call on LBJ, so you who know him can draw your own conclusions about that part of the story. They next explored the state of Kansas, then on to Denver, Colo., the Dinosaur National Monument, Salt Lake City, Utah, Yellowstone Park, the Badlands, and the Black Hills of S. D. before returning home. They made the trip by car and stayed in motels which they found comfortable, and convenient.

In early Oct. they left Westerville and went to Powell, Ohio to their oldest daughter's home where all the family gathered for a re-union. There were four generations present, and four answering to the name Joe, the youngest being their great-grandson. Not being quite ready to return to Ocean Breeze, they went to Lake Erie for the Perch Derby, and although they did not get into the prizes with their perch, they did catch many and had a very enjoyable time. There was the feel of fall in the air by this time, so they started their return journey, stopping in Cullowe Valley, N. C., at the summer home of a daughter. Joe said the foliage was the most beautiful they had ever seen. "Well," he said, "that is it, and we are happy to be back."

Jim and Evelyn Rice whose summer home is Marmora, Ont., Canada got back to their winter home on Malaleuca Nov. 5. They said they had a cool rainy summer which was unusual for that area.

However, they did say they were very fortunate to have a nice young couple next door to them in their duplex, so they were well taken care of and when ready to leave for Florida they just had to walk out and close the door.

Daniel and Marian Knop sold their home at Morton Grove, Ill., and went traveling last summer. They have an Airstream trailer and attended the National Airstream Rally at Grand Island, Neb. Three thousand Airstreams were at the rally and the trailers were parked in a huge semi-circle. It lasted one week. They are on Cypress.

Keith and Helen Rankin returned to their home on Cypress Drive, Oct. 30. They report having a very busy summer. Not needing two homes now they are married, Helen sold her house at Cobourg, Ontario, and had a big auction to dispose of her household effects. The auction proved to be very satisfactory.

Keith also had his house remodeled and the Rankins spent the summer there. Their children visited them during the summer, and they particularly appreciated having their Ocean Breeze neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Knop, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Knop, to visit with.

Hospital Auxiliary to buy equipment

The sum of $8,000 will be contributed by Martin Memorial Hospital Auxiliary for equipment needed by the hospital, according to a vote of members at the November meeting. This will be the project for 1968-69.

Mrs. Janet Lavery, assistant administrator, reported the following equipment needed by the hospital and staff: a ventilator used in anesthesiology; Polaroid for operating room; a microscope for special laboratory work; a circulectric bed; a rotating tourniquet; and draperies for the second and third floor patient rooms which will complete furnishing the entire hospital with draperies, a project started last year.

Mrs. William Ong and Mrs. Walter Bauman will represent the auxiliary at the State Hospital Auxiliary meeting in Jacksonville Dec. 4-6.

A reorientation program for all members working at the emergency desk will be held Thursday, Nov. 21, at 10 a.m. in the conference room of the hospital.

The Auxiliary gift shop, located in the lobby, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Marge Heckler, is open 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and 6 to 8:30 p.m. daily.

At present the auxiliary has 171 active members and 86 associate members. During the month of October, 100 volunteers contributed 1,428 hours of service to the hospital.

GRADUATES- Second Lt. W. P. Pearson, Jr., son of retired Lt. Col. and Mrs. W. P. Pearson, North River Shores, has been awarded his silver wings upon graduation from U.S. Air Force navigator training at Mather AFB in Calif. He will be assigned to Clark AFB, Philippines, for duty, following specialized training.

Garden Club meeting Nov.

The November meeting of Jensen Beach Garden Club will be held at Fellowship Hall of Jensen Beach Community Church, Nov. 20 at 2 p.m. Guest speaker will be Mrs. Hugh Welchel.

Hostesses will be Mesdames Basil Vincent, Gerald Preston, Alvin Sandell, Jack Host and Daniel Carlin. Guests are invited.

Mrs. Leon Alder, president, will report on her attendance at District X 15th annual meeting of the Florida Federation of Garden Clubs, Inc., at Okeechobee on Nov. 1. Accompanying her to the meeting were Mrs. Fred Morris and Mrs. Harry Swinehart.

Welcome Wagon hear MacLaren

William G. Maclaren, executive director of Martin County Resources and Development Board will be the guest speaker at the Nov. 15 meeting of the M.C. Welcome Wagon Club.

The meeting will be held at 11:30 a.m. at the Anchorage Yacht Club.

Nurses plan dessert-card party

The 42nd District Nurses Association Scholarship Fund dessert-card party will be Saturday, Nov. 16, from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. The event will be held in the auditorium at Tierra Verde Condominium.

The association sponsors an annual scholarship for a student in nursing education and training.

November Camping

Camping in Ocala National Forest in the month of November, in a tent, is cold, especially at night, everyone kept telling us this, but we still went camping anyway this past week in Ocala National Forest. I guess the bugs believed them about the cold, we didn't see any bugs at all and only one snake was brave enough to venture out.

We fished in Sellers Lake, Lake Dorr, and Alexander Springs, but all I caught was a tree and some water plants. After my husband, Phil, climbed down from untangling my line from the trees, we tried some horseback riding. My daughter, Susan, jumped on the horse and she looked as if she was born to the saddle, but after a couple of trys, I decided I wasn't cut out for riding, so I waited, with the dogs and cats for her any my husband to come back from the ride. They said the trail through the Ocala Forest was beautiful.

After we left Ocala, we camped for a couple of days at the Jonathan Dickenson Park. They have a lot of brave, but nosey squirrels there. Food has to be kept put away or they will eat it. They even get on the table when you are eating.

The Brownie Scouts meet every Tuesday at 4:00 in the Lutheran Church on Prima Vista Blvd.

to see what they can beg or steal from you. They're so tame it's hard to scare them off.

All in all, we did have a good time and we are looking forward to our next camping trip. It is nice to be back home again and to be back to work. I hope to hear from all of you so I can get any news you may have put in our paper.

Cub Scouts need bottles

The Cub Scouts are requesting some help from the PSL residents. They are making Christmas gifts and are in need of some bottles of different sizes and shapes. Any type of bottle will do, even whiske) bottles.

They also need some small frozen orange juice cans, empty cardboard rollers from wax paper, foil, and such. These will be used in a castle-making project. If you have any old jewelery, this can also be used.

Just give Jewel Enich a call or drop the items off at her house at 161 Celeste Court, the boys will certainly appreciate your help.

County growth is factor in selecting nuclear plant site

According to Richard D. Hill, vice president of FP & L the economy and growth of St. Lucie County was a big factor in Florida Power and Light's decision to build a nuclear power plant there.

In addressing the Kiwanis Club of Ft. Pierce, Hill said the development would mean a lot to Ft. Pierce because: Personnel who run the plant will be above-average persons, mostly engineers. Because of the investment, the tax structure will be improved.

There will be improvements in recreation.

In deciding to erect its second nuclear power plant in Ft. Pierce, Hill said the FP&L took into consideration the "outstanding demand for service from the utility, the increase in population, tourists, and more industry."

Hill said that FP&L is spending $181 million this year in improvements; $80 million more than last year.

Col. Odom 30 of 40 acres will actually be used for the plant, he said, with the rest being left in its natural state, and used as a public park.

In Tuesday's weekly play, twenty-six Port St. Lucie women participated in a best ball of foursome, using full handicap. Winners were: Clara Belle Feig, Kay Scott, Beryl Redberg, and Kay Chylack with a 62, and Esther Wilcox, Marian Fralfoter, Trudy Trude, and Roelland Stilwell, with a 63.

John Chesney has been named resident manager and convention coordinator of St. Lucie Country Club, it was announced this week by Hans Rawe, general manager. Chesney has been associated with Tequesta Country Club, the Hollywood Beach Hotel, and most recently as manager of the Ramada Inn in Palm Beach.

Mrs. Stephanie Gavinson has been named executive housekeeper of St. Lucie Country Club, according to Hans Rawe, general manager. Mrs. Gavinson is from Leipzig, Germany. She came to the country club from a position as executive housekeeper at Howard Johnson Motor Lodge in Miami.

An election results party for Mrs. Eugene Cavanaugh was held in the Pub Side of St. Lucie Country Club Tuesday evening, Nov. 5. Ten couples helped Mrs. Cavanaugh celebrate the occasion, along with the members taking part in the election party under way at the time.

Mr. and Mrs. William S. Williams, from Memphis, Tennessee are now residents of St. Lucie at 1005 Peachbrooke Dr.

They enjoyed a short visit from friends Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph S. Harwell also from Memphis, Tennessee.

Members of the Veterans of World War One Harrison-Wood Auxiliary are requested to attend the meeting on Thursday, November 14, as the election of new officers will take place at that time.

District President, Mrs. Helene Marquess will be present for the elections, reports Mrs. Carolyn Peterson.

Dues are payable now, and in order to be in good standing with the Blood Bank, you must have your dues paid before December 31.

The bake sale on November 2 by the Dan McCarty Annex Future Homemakers of America Club was a great success. The girls made the trip to Vero Beach for the District meeting on Saturday, November 9 at the Vero Beach High School. About 550 people attended and twenty counties were represented at the meeting.

The FHA groups put on different skits, which everyone seemed to enjoy.

Brevard County girls won a prize for the best in basket.

There were guest speakers and the advisors from the different high schools spoke at the luncheon.

TOTEM POLES--The above totem poles were given to Jensen Beach Elementary School by Mrs. Walter Hanzig, who had received them as a gift from the Hoaks of Ocean Breeze Park. Surrounding the colorful poles are some of the sixth-grade pupils in Mrs. Bassi's class: Mark Specht, Jeff Lambie, Steve Ambrose, Rick Campbell, Eugene DeLancy, Gerald Mackey, Timmy Landis, Mickey DeLoach and Duke Fletcher.

Navitsky to recommend race track bond issue

A $1.5 million issue of race track bonds for construction of two new schools and improvement of an old facility will be recommended by Martin County Superintendent of Schools V. James Navitsky, he told the School Board at its November work session.

Navitsky recommends that the bonds be issued as soon possible so construction of the new Jensen Beach elementary school and Indiantown middle school can get under way.

Improvements are needed at Stuart Junior High School, he pointed out.

Murray Ninth lists honor roll

Kathy Kirkland, a student at Murray Ninth Grade School, Port Salerno, was an all "A" honor roll student for the first nine weeks period.

Listed on the "A and B" honor roll were: Barbara McClure, Harold Whalen, Vincent Balardi, Karen Bohner, Teresa Sattor, Robin Johnson.

Marion Klein, Tiffana Yingling, Arnolita Elliott, Terri Hurley, Laural Cartee and Deborah Lott.

Top four chosen for Homecoming

The top four in the Homecoming Queen contest at Martin County High School have been chosen.

Vying for the title are: Barbara Kanarek, Stuart, a junior; Lynn Nanni, Jensen Beach; Beth Lott, Indiantown, Alaine Gomes, Port Salerno, all seniors. They competed with 16 other candidates and were chosen by the balloting of classes.

Homecoming game will be Friday, Nov. 22, against Okeechobee.

Schools get three new buses

The three new school buses, set to arrive today, will be used on existing runs, according to assistant superintendent of Martin County schools Jack Sprouse. Old buses will be used as back-up transportation, he said.

School ruling is that pupils will not be transported by bus unless they live over two miles from school, or unless there is extreme safety hazard en route. Because of this ruling, school buses are crowded.

Sprouse will draw up an outline of hazard areas, to be submitted to the school board for review.

November Camping

Camping in Ocala National Forest in the month of November, in a tent, is cold, especially at night, everyone kept telling us this, but we still went camping anyway this past week in Ocala National Forest. I guess the bugs believed them about the cold, we didn't see any bugs at all and only one snake was brave enough to venture out.

We fished in Sellers Lake, Lake Dorr, and Alexander Springs, but all I caught was a tree and some water plants. After my husband, Phil, climbed down from untangling my line from the trees, we tried some horseback riding. My daughter, Susan, jumped on the horse and she looked as if she was born to the saddle, but after a couple of trys, I decided I wasn't cut out for riding, so I waited, with the dogs and cats for her and my husband to come back from the ride. They said the trail through the Ocala Forest was beautiful.

After we left Ocala, we camped for a couple of days at the Jonathan Dickenson Park. They have a lot of brave, but nosey squirrels there. Food has to be kept put away or they will eat it. They even get on the table when you are eating.

All in all, we did have a good time and we are looking forward to our next camping trip. It is nice to be back home again and to be back to work. I hope to hear from all of you so I can get any news you may have put in our paper.

Cub Scouts need bottles

The Cub Scouts are requesting some help from the PSL residents. They are making Christmas gifts and are in need of some bottles of different sizes and shapes. Any type of bottle will do, even whiskey bottles.

They also need some small frozen orange juice cans, empty cardboard rollers from wax paper, foil, and such. These will be used in a castle-making project. If you have any old jewelery, this can also be used.

Just give Jewel Enich a call or drop the items off at her house at 161 Celestia Court, the boys will certainly appreciate your help.

The Brownie Scouts meet every Tuesday at 4:00 in the Lutheran Church on Prima Vista Blvd.

In Tuesday's weekly play, twenty-six Port St. Lucie women participated in a best ball of foursome, using full handicap. Winners were: Clara Belle Feig, Kay Scott, Beryl Hedberg, and Kay Chylack with a 62, and Esther Wilcox, Marian Frelhofer, Trudy Trude and Rosland Stillwell, with a 63.

The bake sale on November 2 by the Dar McCarty Annex Future Homemakers of America Club was a great success. The girls made the trip to Vero Beach for the District meeting on Saturday, November 9 at the Vero Beach High School. About 550 people attended and twenty counties were represented at the meeting.

The FHA groups put on different skits, which everyone seemed to enjoy.

Broward County girls won a prize for the best in badges.

There were guest speakers and the advisors from the different high schools spoke at the luncheon.

BILL REDDITT SAYS.....

Discover how easily you can own the '69 Ford of your choice

USE THIS HANDY ARMCHAIR ESTIMATOR

Here are the simple steps to follow:
1. Write in the price of the 1969 Ford of your choice
2. Write in the total price of the options you want
3. Add 1 and 2. That gives the approximate model factory's suggested retail price of your car.
4. Now make a rough guess of the trade-in value of your present car. Of course your Ford Dealer will give you an exact appraisal.
5. Subtract Item 3. This gives you your Armchair Estimated Price for a '69 Ford with trade-in.
6. To figure monthly payments, begin with the price from No. 5 then multiply it by the appropriate factors listed below:
12 Months .089
18 Months .061
24 Months .047
30 Months .039
36 Months .033
7. Take this estimate to your Ford Dealer. Ask him for his figure. We think you'll be pleasantly surprised.

IMPORTANT NOTICE: From time to time, Ford Motor Company suggests retail prices for its cars. These prices are suggested only and are subject to change without notice. Dealers may sell at prices higher or lower than suggested prices. Prices may vary according to locality because of freight charges, state or local taxes, and the application of optional equipment and accessories. Dealers' delivery charges may also affect prices. Optional equipment and accessories may be changed without notice. Dealers may sell cars with optional equipment and accessories other than those described herein.

County growth is factor in selecting nuclear plant site

According to Richard D. Hill, vice president of FP & L the economy and growth of St. Lucie County was a big factor in Florida Power and Light's decision to build a nuclear power plant there.

In addressing the Kiwanis Club of Ft. Pierce, Hill said the development would mean a lot to Ft. Pierce because:

Personnel who run the plant will be above-average persons, mostly engineers.

Because of the investment, the tax structure will be improved.

There will be improvements in recreation.

In deciding to erect its second nuclear power plant in Ft. Pierce, Hill said the FP&L took into consideration the "outstanding demand for service from the utility, the increase in population, tourists, and more industry."

Hill said that FP&L is spending $18 million this year in improvements; $50 million more than last year.

Only about 30 or 40 acres will actually be used for the plant, he said, with the rest being left in its natural state, and used as a public park.

Methodist Church Bazaar Friday

A bazaar will be held on Friday, November 15, from 9:00 AM till 4:00 PM at the PSL Methodist Church.

There will be many tables from which you can shop for Christmas gifts. Among these will be a handwork table, a White Elephant table, and a country kitchen table. A baked goods table will be set up and many good things will be available.

A snack bar will open at 8:00 AM with many good things to eat.

The Friday Night Gang meets every Friday night to play Bingo at the Martinez. The admission is a 50¢ gift and there are door prizes.

Grien refuses to sell

Seeing that he had made an offer to sell land to the county for use as a dump, Grien tossed his hat in the ring for the Martin County commission, and commission chairman Elmer Fowler in particular, Tuesday morning at a special meeting of the commission.

The commission, which had planned to buy 100 acres from Grien at a price of $1,000, put off a decision after Grien said that Grien had three seven days to make it over.

Grien said he had had a verbal agreement to offer to purchase the land for a dump. The finance committee and county commissioners of the county had found a way to buy the land in two installments of $15,000 in December, 1968 and the balance in December, 1969.

Grien balked at the special committee meeting, saying it is the effect that the men had broken agreements in writing with him and he wasn't bound by any verbal agreement. Grien and Commissioner Bill Hussey, chairman of the garbage committee, exchanged sharp words in the discussion.

Grien noted that he had offered the land to the Rasmussen Nursery firm, and he had not taken it with them.

Powers said he has been working with Grien, of the Select for the land that is in the SR-714 northeast of Stuart.

The committee has been looking at the garbage collection and dump problem several months.

At an August meeting, the committee indicated it favored county-operated dumps with franchised garbage and trash collection.

At present, the county only has landfill in the Hobe Sound area, south of Stuart, and operates a dump in the Indiantown area in agreement with the Indiantown Company.

PRO-AM OFFICIALS--Morton W. Olman, executive co-chairman of the U.S. Pro-Am Invitational $30,000 golf tournament to be played at St. Lucie Country Club Dec. 12-14, at right above, toured Saints and Sinners courses at the club with golf director Chuck Anderson. Olman proclaimed the courses "great" and predicted the ninth annual tournament would be the best yet, with the greatest field. He came down from Cincinnati to check progress and make inspection.

Thanksgiving deadline

Merchants plan lighting, palms

Jensen Beach Merchants Association began to get long-planned Christmas projects under way in the next week, heading for a Thanksgiving Day deadline for lighting and palm trees.

Large steel-reinforced pots are being filled with palm trees to line the busy Commercial Street area. While the pots will be permanent fixtures, they are planned as a part of the yearly expansion of the street decoration, according to Mrs. Jim Stewart, chairman of the committee.

Also, street lighting for Commercial Street is getting under way, with hopes to have the streets lit by Thanksgiving Day, according to Leonard Smith, architect of the plan.

Strings of lights will swing across the street on guy wires. This will be the second year the lighting has been installed by Jensen Beach merchants.

Along with the palm trees and illumination of the street, Christmas carols will be played over a loudspeaker on the street. The sound system is being designed by Robert Smith. There are plans being made to tie the loudspeaker system in to the Community Center as its central point.

Plans are also under way to decorate the old firehouse, at the foot of Commercial Street, in a holiday manner to accentuate the street design.

"This will be our most active year of promotion," said Smith. "The merchants up and down Commercial Street are going to decorate their windows, and we should have a fine, festive, holiday charm about the street for the Christmas shopping season."

Radio Hams meet

Some of the Martin County Radio Amateur Operators met in Stuart on Tuesday. This was the second luncheon meeting, to what is hoped will become a regular weekly activity.

Present were: Stark Totman, W4YB; Bill Britton, WA4IHH; Frank Button, W-4TV; Charles Lundsten, W-4CHI; Merle Israelson, A-4ANL; Ted Kramer, W4NH; Ray Kramer, W4IRN; Vic Lindsay, WI4HVE; EdGolden, WI4KDR; and Walt Parker, 43BNN.

All radio amateurs, local or visiting, are invited to participate in these weekly Dutch-treat luncheon meetings. The group does not constitute a regular radio club and no dues or assessments are collected.

At St. Lucie

Sam Snead, Bob Murphy sign for US Pro-Amateur

Two of the brightest light in the professional golf world have signified their intention to play in the Ninth Annual U. S. Invitational Pro-Am Golf Championship to be played at St. Lucie Country Club Dec. 12, 13 and 14, it was announced this week by Chuck Ankrom, director of Golf for General Development Corp.

They are Slammin' Sam Snead, winner of more than 100 tournaments, who will team up with amateur Ed Tutwiler, and Bob Murphy, the hottest rookie ever to hit the PGA tour, who will team with Mike Estridge.

Snead, of Greenbriar Country Club, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., who won more tournaments than any other player in the world, will be playing with one of the finest amateurs in the country. Tutwiler plays out of Highland Golf & Country Club, Indianapolis, is a former member of the Walker Cup team.

Murphy and Bartow, teams up with Estridge, of the Lone Palm Golf Course at Lakeland. Murphy is the second player with winnings of more than $100,000 in the 1968 season (Dan Sikes, also entered in the Pro-Am, as an amateur earlier in the year, $106,866), to enter the tourney.

Murphy, well known at Port St. Lucie, has played here on a number of occasions. He is former U. S. Amateur champion, twice former Florida Amateur champion, former winner of the NCAA Golf Championship and the Florida State Open. He is a former member of Walker Cup and World Cup teams, and recently won the Philadelphia Golf Classic and the Thunderbird, and placed second at Westchester, to earn $73,300 in three weeks.

Other ew entries announced by Ankrom continue:

Al Balding, Markland Woods Country Club, Etobicoke, Ontario, Can., will team with amateur Eric Hanson, Markland Woods Club. Balding is a former Canadian PGA champion, former owner of the Miami Beach Open and the West Palm Beach Open and the Havana Invitational).

Randy Glover, Country Club of South Carolina, Florence, S.C., will team with Billy Womack of the same club. Glover is a PGA tour player, holder of the all-time PGA putting record for 1- putts on an 18-hole PGA competition round.

Joe Lopez, Sr., Burning Tree Country Club, Mt. Clemens, Mich., will team with Charles R. Byrne, Sr., Country Club of Miami, Hialeah. Lopez is former winner of the Ben Hogan Tournament, the Florida PGA Seniors, which he won four times; Mayfair Open, Florida PGA Match Play Championship and the Florida Open and is a former runner-up in the National PGA Championship.

William F. Bisdorf, of Grosse Ile Country Club, Grosse Ile, Mich., will team with Bob Bisdorf of the Country Club of Miami, Hialeah. Bisdorf, the pro, is a three-time winner of the Colorado Open, a six-time winner of the Colorado PGA and former winner of the Mile High Open and the Markham Cup plus the Wyoming Open.

Bob Brue, Ozaukee Country Club, Mequon, Wis., will play with Richard Sucher, same club. Brue is a former winner of the Wisconsin State PGA and a three-time winner of the Wisconsin State Open.

Gary Toulson, Cherokee Country Club, Knoxville, Tenn., will team with amateur Orvis Milner, same club, Toulson is a former runner-up in the Southeastern PGA and a member of the Tennessee Cup team.

Hillee Dorie, Green Hill Golf Club, Worcester, Mass., is a former winner of the New Hampshire Open, the Sherbrooke (Quebec) Open, the Gowan Brae Open (Canada), the Shelburn Open, and the Prince Edward Island Open. His amateur partner has not been announced.

Bill Kennedy, Port Malabar Country Club, Palm Bay, will play with Ray Whelahan, Biltmore Golf Club, Coral Gables. Kennedy was twice winner of the East Central PGA Chapter Championship.

Frank Cardi, the Rockaway Hunting Club, Cedarhurst, L.I., N.Y. He will team with Mickey Armitage, West Palm Beach Country Club, WPB. Cardi is a former runner-up in the Long Island PGA.

Howard Kramer, Host Farm Motel Resort, Lancaster, Pa., will team with George Griffin, Green Valley Country Club, Philadelphia, Pa. He is a former winner of the West Virginia Open.

Brien Charter, Arbor Hills Country Club, Jackson, Mich., will be with J. Lee Miller, Arbor Hills, and is a former winner of the Tri-State Open, the Michigan PGA and the Western Michigan PGA.

Tom Wagner, Ridgefield Country Club, Kingsport, Tenn., will team with Bill Greene of the same club.

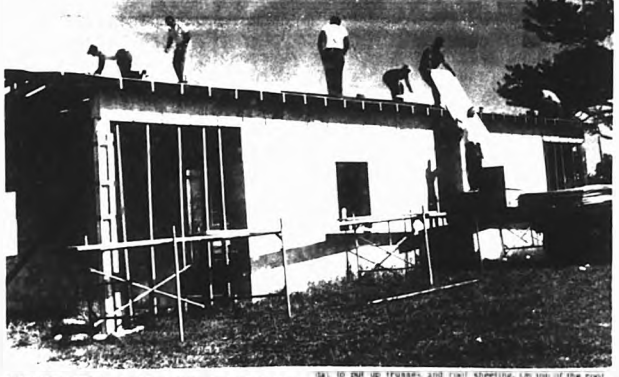
A purely local team is made up of Dwight Campbell, pro at Martin County Golf and Country Club. He will team with Dennis R. Rinaldi, same club, and Martin County chairman of the sponsoring group committee, Rinaldi, a dentist, lives in Jensen Beach.

Don Essig, III, Hillcrest Country Club, Indianapolis, will team with Walt Armstrong, University of Florida Golf Course, Gainesville, Essig is a former USGA Public Links Champion and winner of the Indiana Open.

Glenn Gilbert, Hillcrest Country Club, Hollywood, Fla., with amateur Joseph Mitchell, Tamarac Country Club, Ft. Lauderdale.

William H. Rowland, Lancaster Country Club, Lancaster, Pa., whose amateur partner will be Bob Huber, Hershey Country Club, Hershey, Pa.

Dick Schwartz, Shaker Heights Country Club, Shaker Heights, Ohio, with amateur Dick Guardiola of the same club.



NEW ROOF--The Langford Park recreation building, built entirely with volunteer labor and materials, received a new roof last Saturday as local engineers worked through the day to put up trusses and roof sheeting. On top of the roof, nailing down the 4 x 8' sheets of plywood are, left to right, Vince Boschini, Donald Allen, Bill Turpin, Frank Wachs, Bill Bradley, Hank Hokel and Steve Sabal.

Press Club at U. of Fla.

Three student members of the St. Joseph College press club were guests of Mirror editor Dick Campbell Monday as they attended the annual Journalism Day activities of the University of Florida in Gainesville.

Attending the day-long meeting were Margaret Griffin, Patricia Dwar and Dick Gregory.

Activities of the day included presentations on regional editions of Florida newspapers, challenges of newspaper work, the independence of chain newspapers, and data processing.

At a luncheon, Bill Anderson, city editor of the Chicago Tribune, spoke and then answered questions for over an hour from the audience, especially pertaining to the recent Democratic Convention coverage by newspapers.

The honest story

Landfill system provides economy and a sanitary method of disposal

Garbage, Refuse, Waste, Rubbish. Each American will probably generate more than five pounds of it today as a share of the half-billion national average.

Americans will produce 500,000 tons of refuse today. Some of it will be burned in smoky incinerators and open dumps; some of it will be heaped in filthy piles on city dumps and much of it will be neatly buried in sanitary landfills.

A "Florida Sanitary Landfill Seminar" was conducted at Daytona Beach, Fla., on Wednesday, November 13, or Wednesday, November 13. The Seminar included a presentation entitled, "Sanitary Landfill and the Credibility Gap," by M. Devon Regional Program Chief-Solid Wastes, Region IV, Public Health Service, Atlanta, Georgia. Also on the program was E. A. Phillen, Professional Engineer, Florida State Board of Health, discussing, "Existing Legislation in Florida" and Jarry Schmell, Market Engineer, Caterpillar Tractor Co., covering "Sanitary Landfill Methods and Machine Applications."

That afternoon, the participants left the hotel for a nearby site to see an actual machine and sanitary landfill methods demonstration. Attending the session were: County Commissioners, Frank Wachs and Bill Hussey, Sheriff Tom Leather.

The Seminar was on the fa- believe that meeting of the Florida Anti-Mosquito Association.

Few civic projects cause as much controversy as a proposed sanitary landfill. Uninformed but well-meaning citizens conjure up the specter of vermin infested dumps and demand that the site be placed as far as possible from their part of town. Yet these same citizens would very likely pass a landfill operation without recognizing it.

Properly conducted, there are no rats, flies or piles of exposed refuse in this method of refuse disposal. Blowing paper is controlled by high fences. The site resembles a construction area with earthmoving machines at work covering refuse with "clean" earth. Before closing the landfill in the afternoon, a layer of compacted earth six to eighteen inches deep is spread over the refuse site. Every available hour and rats and seagulls is scarce, burning is not permitted, although burning reduces the volume of combustible material, it creates obnoxious smoke and adds to intensify air pollution problems. Residential fires are quickly extinguished to cut down air pollution and other hazards.

When the operation is finished, the whole area is covered with at least three feet of clean compacted earth.

After completion, the reclaimed land is used for many purposes. Since most operations are conducted on low value land such as swamps or ravines, the new area has greater value than the original.

In downtown Chicago, a new condominium apartment complex is rising on a reclaimed landfill. In Memphis a ten story department store has been built on a similar site. Housing developments and industrial parks, LaGuardia Airport, the Forest New York World's Fair and a portion of the Pentagon have been built on land reclaimed in this manner.

Aside from reclaiming the land as base for permitting development of the land as wasteland, the increased value makes the only method of refuse disposal which begins to pay its own way.

Instead of selling the site, many municipalities retain the land for their own use as parks and recreation areas. In most areas recreation continues to be the most popular use.

Refuse burial sites have also been converted to agriculture. Cotton blooms and grows on one near Glendale, Arizona and a similar site near Peoria, Ill. produces corn. Several large eastern cities are planning to reclaim abandoned strip mines by filling them with refuse and earth.

Before World War II, about 90 percent of all refuse disposal in the U. S. was by open dumping and burning. Today half of all refuse is further reduction, landfilling. If current trends and if present plans are followed, by 1970 only 10 percent of refuse will be disposed of in open dumps.

Open dumping is not only unsightly but unhealthful. It is many states it is illegal. A dumping open dump presents not only an eyesore, but a serious health hazard to the community.

Composting the garbage was also at first given considerable attention but the method is expensive. The success of this method depends upon a market for the compost and several plants have closed because they can sell compost in competition with chemical fertilizers. The closing of these plants left the cities they served without a place to dispose of refuse on short notice.

Incineration of refuse is a popular method in Europe and in some U. S. cities, while it has the staggering expense of building and maintaining an incinerator, the municipality is still faced with the problem of disposing of the ash and residue. Although most incinerators are now air filled in densely populated areas, they still pollute their share of the air. Besides equipping incinerator stacks with cleaning devices such as electrostatic precipitators eliminates some of the air pollution, but adds significantly to the cost of the operation. Fort Worth, Texas recently closed its incinerators and went to an all-sanitary landfill operation after a study showed incineration costs to be $7.25 per ton. Refuse is now being buried at Fort Worth at a cost to the taxpayer at less than $1.00 per ton.

As the population increases and the amount of refuse grows with it, sanitary landfill will assume an even more important role in reclaiming wasteland and increasing the tax bases of municipalities.

Hollywood was ahead the first three minutes of the game, but then the green players kept getting them in after they heard the enthusiastic crowds yell, "we want another basket."

The highest scorer on St. Joe's team was Jeff Gallop with 20 points. The others were John McCarthy 19, Fran Carrol 14, Bob Ekkenberry 13, Tom Lavoiet 10 and Jim Pendergast 8.

John O'Connor, coach of the basketball team, did a fine job to lead these boys into their first victory.

Swim team to hold first competition

by Kathleen Robinson

The newly formed swim team of Saint Joseph College will compete in its first meet on Nov. 23 at Indian River Junior College. The team, organized in late September, is coached by Jon Hillen, also a professor of biology and chemistry) at the college.

Members of the team include: Tom Crimmons, John Carroll, Paul Farley, Patricia Heaney, Nancy Hugler, Bob Lawlor, Gay Lundy, Peggy McKinney, Carol Mitchell, Adele Trainor, Bill Walsh and Roger Woodard.

Coach Hillen is looking forward to a good showing(!) the members of the team at the meet. GOOD LUCK, TEAM!!!

Student Council

by Kathleen Owens

The second meeting of the Student Council was called to order last Thursday evening by council president Dave Brockwell. Those in attendance were council members and Sister M. Jane, members and Sister M. Jane S.S.J.

After the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting, old business was discussed. Inquiries were made about possible changes in mail distribution. The constitution, rules and regulations of St. Joseph College, Student Government was read. It was decided that certain revisions will be necessary. These revisions will, it is hoped, aid in more effective legislation of the council.

A suggestion was made that the students should choose names for the men's and women's dorms. Dave Brockwell appointed Tom Simpson and Carol Mitchell to arrange the selection of names for their respective dorms.

The meeting was adjourned after the next meeting was set for Monday, Nov. 18.

Study time discussed at assembly meeting

by Jack Fleming

At a recent general academic assembly, many important points were touched on. One important topic stressed by Robert Maher, was the budgeting of time. It was pointed out that during the course of a day before, after and between classes there is much study-time available. A visual aid, made by Maher, used a typical 17 credit student schedule. He also added that specific hours for study should be set aside and observed. Any conscientious student who wishes a personal schedule for study may see Maher in his office at any time.

Sister Mary Martha, S.S.J., President, spoke on the subject of grading systems. She went on to explain that our grading system has been slightly altered to make it more compatible with the senior institutions.

The meeting was brought to a close after Mrs. Herbert Glidden, Dean of Women, introduced the officers of the Freshmen and Sophomore classes and the officers of the Student Council.

Alard Quartet gives concert

The Saint Joseph College cultural series presented a concert by the Alard Quartet on Tuesday night, Nov. 12, in the college auditorium.

The quartet, presently in residence at Pennsylvania State University, presented a program of classical music. Some of the selections included in the concert were the works of Mozart, Schoenberg and Debussy.

The next attraction to be presented by the cultural series is a lecture by Rev. John Quinlan on "Can Modern Man Encounter His God?". The lecture is scheduled for Jan. 14 1969, at 7:30 p.m. in the college auditorium.

FOR ONLY $1,350.00 you can add a 15' x 15' CBS Florida room to your home. For information call Sam Rhodes, Bldg. Contractor. 287-0368 or 287-4710.

Rezoning asked for Hutchinson Island

The Martin County Planning and Zoning Board was asked to hold hearings on rezoning areas of Hutchinson Island to allow for more condominiums, at its recent meeting. Hearings will be held Dec. 19 at 7:30 p.m.

The rezoning requests came from William Dean, represented by James Littman, and Lloyd Dutcher, represented by Thomas Thurlow.

Dean is clearing land just south of Jensen public beach for construction of condominiums. He seeks rezoning of an undeveloped area on the river side where zoning calls for single-family residences.

Dutcher, who is building a complex of condominiums on the ocean side of Hutchinson Island just north of the Stuart beach, seeks rezoning of the river side area which is now zoned for single-family residences. He plans to build more condominiums in that location if zoning permits. The smallest unit in the complex would be 1,100 square feet of living area, he said. One, two and three-bedroom units are planned.

C. B. Arbogast, Jr., also presented plans for condominiums, to be constructed east of the Palm City Bridge.

The traditional Thanksgiving Day Service at The First Church of Christ, Scientist, will be Thursday, Nov. 28, at 11 a.m. The lesson-sermon will be read by First and Second Readers of the Church.

The Church is located on Ocean Blvd., Stuart. The public is invited.

Tigers topple Belle Glade 25-0

Led by fullback Al McIntyre, who scored three touchdowns, Martin County High Sebo Ik's Tigers downed the Belle Glade Rams 25-0 in Friday night's game.

Three times the Rams attempted thrusts toward pay dirt, each time to be turned away by the Tigers, losing on downs, an interception or a fumble.

McIntyre, a junior took off for 84 yards for one score, carried the ball from the one for another TD, and intercepted a pass on his 16 for the third score.

The Tigers' fourth touchdown was made by Wallace Rogers on a 13-yard run. The scores came in the first three quarters.

Friday night Martin County Tigers will meet Okeechobee here for the Homecoming game. Final game of the season will be Nov. 27 at Jupiter.

Women's Association plans surprise party

A surprise party for a "mystery guest" is being planned by the Jensen Beach Women's Association. The dessert-card party will be Nov. 25 at 1 p.m. at Hoag Hall of All Saints' Episcopal Church. The name of the "mystery guest" will be announced at the party.

Reservations may be made by calling 283-4372.

Seventy-nine members and two guests attended Monday's meeting. Hostesses were Irma Walters, Elizabeth Mutterback, Frieda Schlimm, Eva Ackstrom and Josephine Suturius. Special prize was won by Genevieve Sieteri, door prize by Marie Pina.

The special prize was won by Johanna Bruning at the recent card party and luncheon attended by 114 at Manatee Yacht Club Restaurant.

Supper planned

The Men's Club of Trinity United Methodist Church will hold a covered dish supper in Fellowship Hall of the church on Wednesday, Nov. 20, at 6 p.m.

At 7 p.m. a music program will be presented by a male quartet from Hobe Sound Bible College.

All women interested in sewing for cancer patients will meet in Fellowship Hall on Monday, Nov. 25, at 10 a.m.

License needed to sell fish

All aliens and non-resident fishermen must pay an annual license tax of $25.00 before engaging in commercial fishing from the waters of Florida, according to the Florida Board of Conservation.

Applications may be obtained from the conservation office, 4315 N. Congress Ave., West Palm Beach, or from any conservation officer, according to Patrol Lt. R. R. Purdon.

Nurses Association holds card party

The 42nd District Nurses Association Scholarship Fund dessert card party was held Nov. 16 at Tierre Verde Condominium auditorium.

Door prize winners were Mesdames Sara Timon, Arline French, Renne Wiggins, Mabel C. Willmore, Peggy Dryer, Betty Larsen, Martin Rice, Kathryn Kelly, Elizabeth Lux, Alda Cassidy, Leslie Towle, Mabel Facker, Anne Preston, Billie Back and Paula Saunders.

Jay Mans conducted a section of duplicate bridge.

Assisting in serving refreshments were: Chris Combs, Mary Ann Harmeier, Barbara Nourse, Simone Johns, Jane Irons and Jan Timon.

Nurses on the committee were Mesdames Janet Lavery, Helen Broberg, Alda Cassidy, Nina Rogers, Betty Johns, and Miss Myrtle Hunt, serving under Mrs. Timon, chairman.

First Aid Classes

Standard first aid classes will begin Tuesday, Nov. 26 at the Red Cross Chapter House. The course, to be continued for five weeks, will run from 7 to 9 p.m. each Tuesday.

Instructor will be John Grogan, a certified Red Cross first aid instructor. The public is invited to attend. Call Mrs. Newman at 287-2001 to register.

Inlet dredging started

Work has been started on the dredging of St. Lucie Inlet by the Prosperi Dredging Company of Lake Park.

A contract for $148,520 was awarded the firm by the U.S. Corps of Engineers. Sand will be pumped to the south shore in an attempt to replenish the eroding beach. The firm has 30 days in which to complete the work but expects to finish in a much shorter time if the weather continues good, according to Col. John McElhenny, district engineer.

Every effort is being made to have the job completed in time for the Stuart Sailfish Tournament scheduled for Dec. 10.

This is the fifth attempt by the engineers to clear the inlet of the sandy shoals and open the channel.

The boating public is reminded by the Florida Board of Conservation not to anchor under bridges or in channels, and not to operate boats in any manner which would interfere with another vessel. Traffic is heavy in local waters at this time of year, thus the reminder, says Jerry Rogers, conservation agent.

Further information may be obtained by calling local officer John Cooper in Stuart at 287-6867.

R. E. Woodruff stopped in the office of The Jensen Beach Mirror to change his address from New Jersey to 3105 St., Ocean Breeze Park. Sporting a cast on his left arm, autographed by friends and family, Woodruff explained to The Mirror that he was attending the sixth birthday of a grandson, had gone to the other end of the table to join in some home movies, and suddenly found himself on the floor with a broken thumb... and those chairs.

Friday, October 25, Pearl Wyse and Lillian Reid were hostesses to a surprise birthday tea party for Lorena Smith at their home. Guests were Rhea Woodbury, Lila Redinger, Dorothy Robinson, Minnie Taylor, [illegible] Randall, Jay Ehenger, Clara Pickard, Nattie Adrean, Lenora Viland, Cecile Harlow, Edith Jankunis, and Lela Keith. About two hours before the party it was discovered it was also Clara Pickards birthday, so Clara was hastily included in the surprise party much to the surprise of Clara.

Bill and Rita Quackenbush with their Avion Travel Trailer are all set up to spend the winter on Palm Road. It is plain to see they have taken many trips with the Avion Caravade when you see all the years they have been at the traveling game and the places they have been. The last long trip I believe was to Mexico in 1967. However, they have visited Ocean Breeze twice before. 2 1/2 months in 66 and a week last year, and they liked it very much, so now they say when it starts to get cold at their summer home in Royal Oak, Mich., they say, "It's time to take off for Ocean Breeze."

Mabel Spoerl returned to her home on Indian River Drive, Nov. 4. Mabel's summer home is in Appleton, Wisc., and for the most part she spent the summer there, but did take one long and interesting trip when she went to Omaha, Neb., to the National Square Dance Convention held Iowa. She said she had a good time. Mabel drove down to O. B. alone, and told us the fall colors were just beautiful, and she enjoyed her trip very much.

Mrs. Thelma Pozzelis and her Siamese cat, Sobi, from Needham, Mass. are visiting Thelma's mother, Mrs. Bea Barrit of Palm Road for three weeks.

Clara Diller of Lyndell, Pa. and Ocean Breeze Dr., Martha Winegard of Willow Grove, Pa., and George Hemley of Somer's Point, N. J., all arrived safely Nov. 5. The two ladies drove in one car and George followed in his car to see that all went well. Their many friends were so happy to see them all back that they must be very special folks in that neighborhood.

On Oct. 30, the Walter Scotts and the Fred Tylers had a most interesting and entertaining day when they visited the Collonades Beach Hotel and enjoyed the Buffet luncheon and then went to see the T. V. filming of "Treasure Isle." At the conclusion of the show there was a drawing for the door prize which Walter Scott was lucky enough to win. The prize was a pocket size transistor radio, he showed me and it is to use modern language "real neat," but that is not all. The group also had the pleasure of meeting the producer whose name they unfortunately did not get, and also the master of ceremonies, John Bartholomew Tucker of T. V. fame and Captain Pimo and the cast of some 45 persons in all who were responsible for putting on the show. They heartily recommend anyone wishing to have a real pleasand and different day to take this in.

Huffmans leave park

Charles and Eva Huffman have sold their home, on 9 NE 3rd St., to John and Alice Williams, from Decatur, Ill. Due to ill health the Huffmans are moving back to 7911 Conry Court, South Port, Ind. Their son and daughter-in-law, Charles and Alice Huffman, came Nov. 10, to drive them back to Indiana.

A farewell dinner was given by the members of the Jensen Beach Christian Church on Nov. 7 and a Thanksgiving dinner will trukey and all the trimmings was given the departing couple by Earl and Thelma Gordon on Nov. 12. Present were: Edna Stromingers, Evelyn Haring, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Reed, Mr. and Mrs. George Coover and the Huffman family.

Mr. and Mrs. Huffman have been residents of Ocean Breeze for many years and will be missed. Their friends attend their best wishes and hope they will be happy in their northern home.

'A good little town'

Ellis and Marion Shallenberger who live on West Rad Blvd. in the winter come from a small town with a population of about 350. This small town is Richfield, Pa., and is known as a "good little town" since it has seven churches, and Ellis says they are well attended. During the summer months, Ellis works with his brother in his feed mill, and many of us know what he and his wife do during the winter, they both are active at the Jensen Community Church, and Ellis helps around the Ambulance building, seeing it gets a daily airing, and is nearly always available to help with ambulance calls.

While talking to him he did say it is not kill did say it is not likely they will become permanent residents here though, as three generations of Shallenburgers have been born, lived, and died in Richfield. Since the family originally came from Switzerland years ago, and Richfield is home to him.

GET ACQUAINTED—Sheila Clinger entertained a group of neighbors and friends to a coffee klatch Nov. 12, in honor of Miss Cline who is one of our new-comers. Left to right the ladies are: front, Alice Cline, Esther Yost, Ruby Mitchell, Mildred Skinner; rear, Sheila Clinger, Marjorie Griffin, Alma Raisch, Helen Tokash, Mildred Alexander, Mary Tokash, Esther Lyon, Crystal Drummond and Gretchen Pohle.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Gaertner of Minasha, Wisconsin, spent the weekend of Nov. 15-17 with Mrs. Mabel Spoerl.

CLEANING FISH- Our picture is a common scene in late afternoon when our fishing parties arrive to clean their catch of the day. At the cleaning table are: Marion and Guy Hunley with 16 blues they caught in the surf near Randa; Victor Gray and his father, Charles Gray, who caught a lot of sheepshead, spots and channel bass in the Crossroads, Nov. 15.

Fishing

Nov. 10, Otto Chihasz and a party from Indianapolis were trolling in the north fork of the St. Lucie when they succeeded in boating a 15 lb. tarpon, 2 nice sized channel bass and two snook.

The night of Nov. 10, Elmer Mac Kenzie couldn't sleep so he went fishing. He did much better fishing than he did sleeping for he landed three nice sized snook but did not get the big one, it broke the line and got away.

Nov. 14, Richard and Jane Aumiller were casting in the surf and caught 10 blues.

Martin Van Vleet was out on the Eight Mile Reef and succeeded in bringing three grouper, and twelve snapper all big fish.

Walt Bang, just home from hospital told us his neighbor, Dick Hoke, hit the jackpot Nov. 15. He had a ball surf casting, and landed 54 blues and 5 mackerel.

Even our star fisherman, Steve Stephens, was proud of his catch of 4 snook, 2 trout totalling 8 1/2 pounds and an eight pound snapper, caught one morning this past week.

Harold and Rhea Woodbury accounted for 20 blues Tuesday and 46 Thursday near the inlet. They are getting them all smoked.

Nov. 15, Art Langto caught a 11 1/2 pound snook, 1 trout, and 1 sheepshead.

Elmer MacKenzie, Art Lewis, and Art Langto were fishing on the Roosevelt Bridge the night of Oct. 30 and succeeded in bringing home four nice snook.

A general meeting of the Mobile Home Owners Association will be held in the Ocean Breeze Clubhouse, November 21 at 1:30 p.m. Please come. A door prize will be given.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Park bought the Dickinson trailer last spring. They arrived Oct. 31 and are enjoying their new home. This trailer has the distinction of being on two streets. The front entrance is on 6th Ave., and the rear is on 7th. While Kansas City, Mo., is their home, they did not see much of it this summer for they were travelling most of the time, covering 20,000 miles. They attended several Airstream rallies and spent ten days with Leon and Ruth Eastman at Livingston Manor, N. Y. Milton and Bertie Sage and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bartle were there also with their trailers on Leon's spacious property, where they had a merry time together.

Vern and Donna Mahlitz are the new owners of the Blyth home on S. 6th. Vern was supervisor of pressure control for the Ottawa Gas Co., Ottawa, Canada, and Donna was clerk typist for the Canadian Mounted Police. They are both retired and expect to be spending their winters here in future.

Frank and Alma Shotwell arrived from Union Lake, Mich. which is only 12 miles from Pontiac. Frank says he has a boat but did not try fishing at all. The water-skiiers keep the lake churned up, which affects the fish spawning so it is claimed. Apparently there are very few fish in the lake anymore.

Jim Amburn also on Almond St. is also here. Frank and Jim live fairly close together in Michigan and on two occasions got together for a game of golf last summer.

Al and Cell Shields are also Almond St. residents. They arrived Nov. 13 from Rosemount, Minn. Their town is having a building boom. Al says the Blue Cross are building their main offices only two miles from their house. It is a $5,750,000 project. He also said they sold their house and half their farm for a good price.

Camera Club holds season's first meeting

The Camera Club got away to a good start Thursday, Nov. 14. The first meeting of the season is never expected to be large so when an attendance of 75 was counted, the committee was well pleased. President Cook announced Camera Club meeting will be held every Thursday all winter, with the exception of Thanksgiving Day, at 7:30 p.m.

Sorry to hear Mrs. Esther Gunn of No. 9 Bay Drive was admitted to Martin Memorial Hospital Sunday, Nov. 17. Esther is to have some skin grafting done on an injury she sustained in a fall in her trailer some time ago.

Walter and Margaret Thompson of 2 Bay Drive, spent three days visiting a friend, Mrs. Lucille Hole, in Lake Worth, and formerly of Silver Creek, N. Y. The Thompsons returned home Nov. 12.

He also asked members to submit up to five of their best slides and hand them in at him. Ten of the best of these will be selected to represent Ocean Breeze in the P. S. A. Circuit.

The 8 MM movies of England and Italy presented by Harry Bartle was well received and he had many compliments on his showing.

Next week Oscar and Evelyn Walquist will show slides depicting places of interest their trip to Sweden, Denmark and Holland, last summer.

Correction: In last week's Mirror we stated in connection with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Burbank's arrival as Earl having said it was thirteen years since they were here last. This should have read, Last year was the first year in thirteen that the Burbanks have missed coming here. Sorry, Earl. (T. C.)

DEVELOPMENT- Ira Hessler and Bill Von Gulliver, representatives of the Florida Development Commission, outlined the necessary steps to be taken for a local industry seeking group at a meeting of the Martin County Resources and Development Board Monday in Stuart. The board asked that a seven-point program of action be taken to seek and gain industry.

Reed makes move

Reconciliation is seen between county, island

by Dick Campbell

The possibility of a reconciliation between the Martin County Commission and officials of Jupiter Island was indicated in a letter to County Commissioner Frank Wacha this week from Nat Reed, a resident and political power on the exclusive Jupiter Island.

Reed, who is Governor Claude Kirk's advisor on conservation, had criticized the county when "mis-information" on the county actions at the last meeting of the board reached him. He wrote a letter outlining areas in which the county and the island people could be in accord.

"I have read the transcript of the meeting," Reed wrote, "and am pleased that I misunderstood your position."

In his letter, read to the commission by Wacha Tuesday, Reed wrote that the people of Jupiter Island were "sensitive" to discussions of opening a new park when the present park site needs "a well balanced program of development".

The county has been trying to get the State Parks Department to release and open to public use a 900' stretch of beach that was transferred to the parks department by the Coast Guard in exchange for Loran Station in Jonathan Dickinson State Park. The county has not been able to get the land opened for public use.

However, residents of Hobe Sound have complained that the present 300' long park at the head of Bridge Road in Jupiter does not have proper facilities, or a life guard, to handle the people who desire to use the south county bathing beaches. Reed intimated that the present park should be developed first in his letter.

Reed also tied the solving of the St. Lucie Inlet to the erosion control on Jupiter Island, the development of a large state park on the north end of the island, offering his opinion that the state favors the purchase of the lands, about three miles of beach, from private owners. He wrote that the owners of the land might make the property available at an attractive price, offering the county the possibility of future negotiations with the land owners.

Other actions mentioned by Reed included the dedication of the beach lands from high water to the foliage line of the dunes on Reed Wilderness Sanctuary and lands of the Hobe Sound Company to make it possible to lower the ratio of cost to the county in the final inlet solution. Reed mentioned "problems attached to such a gift", but did not enumerate them. He offered to discuss, with the county and the Florida Audubon Society, a "feasible" plan that would reduce the county share of inlet modification.

Reed did mention that the state should take up the cost of local interest in inlets and beaches, and wrote that legislation would be introduced in the next session of the legislature to take care of that responsibility. "Florida's inlets and beaches can no longer be considered local issues," Reed wrote, "they are among the most important assets of the State of Florida."

Lein wins contract on JBWA building

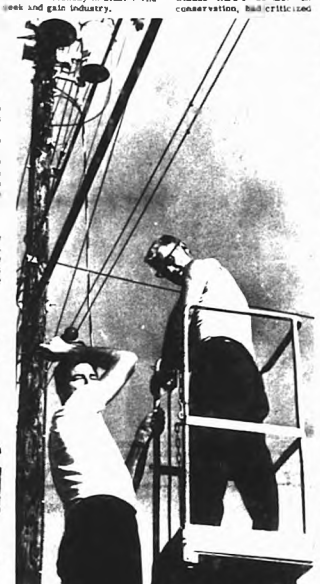
Ray Lein, contractor, was the low bidder on construction of the new Jensen Beach Women's Association clubhouse on Sugar Hill Road in Jensen Beach, according to information released by the women's club Tuesday. The low bid was $42,285.

The building will be under construction "in a few weeks", according to Mrs. Hazel Forsberg, president of the club. Staking is planned this Friday.

Planned is a 38' by 63' auditorium, with two wings, each 18' by 38'.

The land for the clubhouse, years in planning by the club, was a donation of the Kiplinger Trust Fund. It was formally filed in February, as being transferred to the women's association.

The clubhouse will be the newest meeting facility in Jensen Beach, with room for small conventions, large card parties, and for the cultural and educational development of the community. Ample parking area will be provided, according to Mrs. Marie Miller, trustee of the building fund. Over 100 cars will be able to park in the spacious parking lot.



HANG UP--Ransom Tilton and Leonard Smith had their hangup last Saturday afternoon, only it was hanging up the Christmas lights across Commercial Street in Jensen Beach. Using a palm tree trimmer, the two worked for four hours to hang twenty strands of lighting across the one block long business street.

Rinaldi—Rinker win flight championship

The team of Dr. Dennis Rinaldi and Laine Rinker won the championship flight event at Martin County Golf and Country Club over the weekend in the invitational Four Ball Tournament.

Second in the event were Paul Hardwick and Bob Bateer, third, Clyde McFarland and Dave Offner.

In the first flight, first place went to Arthur Colling and Mitchell, tied for second were the teams of Dr. Ron Allison, Bill Harius, and Maurice Trout, Al Cravatt.

Second flight, first place winners were Paul Bryant and Jack Scranton; second place, Earl Monroe and Wm. Wodtke; third, Amby Murray and Sam Morrie; Col. Nick Carter and Bill Drummond, and George Walter and Shelton Baker.

Third flight, first place, Col. Wm. Snowden and Jack Kuhlman; tied for second, Walter Wilmus and Ted Stilwell; Abbott and Ketchich, NEXT- Don Wilkie was one of the volunteers who sorted and hung lights across Commercial Street last Saturday. The Chamber of Commerce president handled the organization of numbered strands of lights.

Annual Perry Como tourney under way

This will be an exciting weekend of golf, and fun is in store for about 700 golfing enthusiasts at St. Lucie Country Club as the seventh annual Perry Como Golf Tournament gets under way.

On hand for the Como will be recording stars Chet Atkins, Boots Randolph, Archie Campbell and Floyd Cramer.

Defending champion Hobart Manley will be trying to duplicate his 1967 feat, as will 1966 champion Marlene Streit. Last year's women's champion Debbie Austin has switched to the professional ranks.

Special events during the five-day tournament will begin on Wednesday night as Perry Como hosts the reception in the convention hall. A buffet dinner will be served in the dining room and music will be played by The Carl Greco Trio.

On Thursday the first round of the tournament will begin at 8 a.m.

Local participants include Dr. Leo T. Chylack, Port St. Lucie; Ralph H. Connolly, Stuart; Francis J. Gormley, Port St. Lucie; Victor Hauser, Stuart; C. W. Justice, Stuart; Russell Miller, Port St. Lucie; Fred Reimers, Stuart; Theodore G. Rapp, St. Lucie Country Club; Fred C. Rhoades, Stuart; Dr. Dennis R. Rinaldi, Jensen Beach; Laine A. Rinker, Stuart; Bob Severson, St. Lucie Country Club; Richard C. Sharp, St. Lucie Country Club; Eldon Soetje, St. Lucie Country Club; Dr. Paul O. Thomas, Stuart; Bette Connolly, Stuart; Marsha Feig, St. Lucie Country Club; Irene Hauser, St. Lucie Country Club, and Dorsey Johnson, St. Lucie Country Club; Alice Reimers, Stuart; Ruth T. Rhoads, Stuart; Meredith and Tabitha Ross, St. Lucie Country Club; Rose Soetje, St. Lucie Country Club, and Paul Wisely, Jensen Beach.

On Thanksgiving Day, a traditional dinner will be served in the dining room, followed by dancing in the Saints and Sinners Lounge.

A golf clinic will be held Saturday at 4 p.m. by Chick Harbert at the Sinners Course.

The Perry Como banquet will be Saturday at 8 p.m. for contestants and spouses only. Entertainment will follow.

Perry Como will award prizes to the winners of the tournament on Sunday around 5:30 p.m. in Convention Hall.

Stuart election indicates runoff

Kenneth Stimmell and Charles Foster will join Harold Whalen and Ray Cooke in a runoff election on Dec. 10 to settle who will serve on the Stuart City Commission. A poor showing of 44% of the voter registration went to the polls in Stuart's election.

Stimmell had 230 votes to 248 for Foster. Eliminated in the group one race were Walter Robinson, 148, incumbent Dan McClure, 181, and George Huss, 37.

In group two, Whalen got 270 to 370 for incumbent Ray Cooke. Eliminated was former commissioner John Mann, 203.

Eight hundred seventy-two persons voted.

To protect inlet

County to lay slabs at jetty

Work will begin soon on the St. Lucie Inlet jetty, according to County Commissioner Frank A. Wacha. Wacha directed County Engineer Tom Slider to get the concrete slabs stored at the Elliott Museum down to the jetty "as soon as possible".

Slider said that the slabs would be trucked down to the end of the paved road on Hutchinson Island, and then will be dragged the rest of the way, presumably by beach buggy.

Asked if the Corps of Engineers had agreed to the decision to slow the flow of water through the jetty's many washed-out areas, Wacha said he had talked with Col. John F. McElhenny, district engineer of the corps, and had asked him about using the concrete slabs.

"Anything would be better than what you have there," McElhenny was reported to have said to Wacha.

Told of the proposed action by the county, Leonard Smith, chairman of St. Lucie Inlet Protestors, organized to plug the jetty so that dredging of the inlet would be more successful, said, "That is great".

Smith said he was "extremely pleased that the county has gone on with the project, and will get the jetty plugged". Smith's group feels that the siltation of sand running through the jetty at high tide is the reason for the rapid filling of the St. Lucie Inlet following a dredging. Over half a million dollars will have been spent on dredging in the past several years when the present dredging is completed.

Over five hundred signatures were collected in several days by a group of charter boat captains and members of SLIP. A petition asking that the jetty be plugged before any dredging was later reduced to just getting the jetty plugged, when local interests feared that the Corps of Engineers might cancel dredging due to the jetty group. Many conservation groups gave limited support to the movement, again fearing that the jetty was expendable to the dredging of the inlet for the annual Sailfish Tournament planned for December here.

HONORED- Gert Lennard, The Mirror's new classified advertising representative, graduated with honors recently from the Howard Parish School of Classified Advertising. Mrs. Lennard received high praise from the director of the school upon her completion of the course. Advertising manager Bill Britton presented the diploma from the school to Mrs. Lennard.

Thanksgiving Services

The annual Union Thanksgiving Day service will be held Thursday, Nov. 28, at 10 a.m. at First Baptist Church in Jensen Beach.

Participating will be Rev. Jack Fernandez, host pastor; Rev. Joseph Dudley, Jensen Beach Community Church; Rev. Milton Fronsoe, Jensen Beach Christian Church; and Rev. Neil M. Gunsalus, pastor of Trinity United Methodist Church.

Loyalty Dinner held

The annual Loyalty dinner for St. Andrews Lutheran Church was held on November 18. About 75 people attended. A review of the past and ideas were presented for the new year coming up.

On Wednesday, November 27, Thanksgiving Eve Services will be held. These services are held at this time so the families can all be together on Thanksgiving Day.

Advent Services will be held every Wednesday at 8:00 p.m. from now on until Christmas.

On Sunday, November 24, Mrs. Mildred Aderholdt of Stuart gave a report on the American Lutheran Church Southeastern Conference held in the Lucayan Beach Hotel in Freeport, Bahama. About 350 attended, all Pastors from Florida, Georgia, South Carolina and the Bahamas. Mrs. Aderholdt was the delegate from the PSL Lutheran Church. Mr. Aderholdt and Pastor and Mrs. Grotefend attended.

Every Tuesday at the Marina, the Beautiful Waters Homemakers Club meets and makes bandages for cancer patients. Now they are also making pretty things for the Holiday Season just ahead. The ladies would like for any interested ladies to attend.

Fred Smith heads USCG Auxiliary

Elections of officers was the main item of business at the November 21 meeting of the Coast Guard Auxiliary Flotilla #55. Fred Smith was elected to a second term as Commander, Vice Commander will be Fred Helmer. Installation will be on January 2, 1969.

Brady Hall was installed as a new member, he was a member previously so he's an old friend to the members of the Flotilla.

William Learned was named as the outstanding member for 1968 for doing the most for the Flotilla. Learned presented the Flotilla with a boat for the Sea Explorers to use. The Flotilla sponsors the Sea Explorer #498.

Reports were given and matters of business taken care of. All the members received the new 1968 Auxiliary Manual.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Helmer and Mrs. Goldsmith.

A very good size crowd was on hand for the annual auction by the Anglers Club on November 19. Everything was reasonably priced and many people were able to obtain the needed fishing items they wanted. Jim Harpold, president of the Anglers Club said the auction was longer than planned so they could not show the movie as planned. Refreshments were served after the auction.

Rotonda drainage hearing set

On Dec. 16 a public hearing on Rotonda's request for a permanent drainage permit to discharge water into the St. Lucie Canal will be heard in Stuart, according to Col. John F. McElhenny, district engineer of the U.S. Corps of Engineers. The meeting will be at 10 a.m.

All engineering plans for a permanent structure have been submitted to the Corps, according to Fred Bell, engineer for the Rotonda Drainage District and a vice president of Palm Beach Investment Properties, Inc., developers of the property in southwest Martin County.

Contracts in the amount of about $5 million for drainage canals, water control structures and settling basins are ready to be let, Bell said.

Martin County Commissioners, who voted against issuance of a temporary permit, said safeguards should be installed to insure against siltation if the Rotonda project is approved.

Chamber to sponsor STAR

Stuart Chamber of Commerce will sponsor the Student Teacher Achievement Recognition (STAR) program this year, the Chamber office has announced.

The local STAR program is for Martin County High School seniors. The student will be chosen on the basis of scores on senior tests, and will then select the teacher he feels contributed most to his success. The team will then compete on district and state levels in this state-wide project of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce.

All vehicles must be inspected

Approximately 2,000 vehicles in Martin County have not been inspected, according to county engineer Tom Slider. All must be inspected by the end of this month.

Starting in December, the second round of inspections begins at the county inspection station located on A-1-A south Stuart. Because of the delay in opening the station originally, vehicles bearing tags ending in 4 and 5, due for checking in June, were not inspected until July. Only 46 vehicles are slated for inspection in December, Slider said, however more than 3,000 are due in January.

Mobile Home meeting held

125 people attended the Mobile Home Meeting in the Clubhouse at Ocean Breeze Nov. 21. Mr. Ray Rosendahl, President of the Association presided at the meeting. During the business meeting guest speaker Pat Booth of St. Petersburg, talked on health insurance, and discussed the convention that will be held later in the season.

Trips which could be taken during the season by members of the association were discussed also, and those mentioned were Minute Maid Plant, and Cape Kennedy, which seemed to be the choice of members present at the meeting.

PERSIMMONS--We seldom see a persimmon tree in south Florida. This one at Clyde Redinger's has more fruit than the picture shows. The fruit is now ripe and tastes good.

Ocaan Breezers visit South Florida

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Olinger and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Malah spent three days recently in South Florida. Mrs. Malah, (Bernice) tells the story:

"While Fred and Roy attended the boat show, Stella and I spent our time shopping in Miami, on the Monday. The next day we went to Key West and enjoyed the trip down and around this most southernly city, sightseeing. The fishing boats which we always enjoy seeing come in were all docked on account of cold weather and the storm.

The third day we returned to the mainland and drove to Marco Island, near Naples, on the west coast, and looked all around at the new developing in process on the island. On our way home we stopped at Patricia Murphy's for dinner which made a fitting end to our three day trip."

MacKenzies revisit

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer MacKenzie, 28 SW 5th spent several days last week in Miami. The trip was a belated 40th wedding anniversary celebration. They stayed at the Waikiki Motel at which they had stayed several winters before coming to Ocean Breeze Jr. 1960. The motel has doubled in size since that time, but some of the same staff were still there very much to the Mac Kenzie's surprise.

Revisited among other places were the Fennel's Orchid Gardens from which Mrs. Mac Kenzie purchased all the orchids in her present collection in Keene, N. H. The collection is soon to be given to her son-in-law, Francis Hallows who with his wife, Maxine, the Mac Kenzie's only daughter, owns a florist business in Plymouth, N. H. Mr. Fellows is currently building a special greenhouse just to house this fine orchid collection. The reason for the collections transfer is that upon their return home in the spring, the Mac Kenzie's are moving from the Mac Kenzie farm becmstead to their Mobile home Park "Tanglewood Estates" and will live in a Holiday mobile home much like their present one on 5th only somewhat larger.

Walter Eichins entertain

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Donley of Amityville, L.I., are visiting her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Eichin of Jensen Beach for a month.

Thanksgiving Day will be a family day at the Eichin home, with Walter, Jr., returning from FSU for the holidays.

In addition to the Eichins and Donleys, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Clifton will join in the festivities. They are awaiting completion of their new home, being built by Frank Forsberg. The Donleys are the parents of Mrs. Clifton.

Library Tea is December 1

From 3 to 5 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 1, the Martin County Library Association will hold its Fall Tea and Open House at Martin County Public Library, E. Ocean Blvd., Stuart.

Guests of honor will be Ernest Lyons, author of "My Florida", and Jim Hutchinson, local artist, who has illustrated the 42-chapter book with more than 30 wilderness and wildlife illustrations.

Mrs. Wells A. Lippincott, chairman of the event, invites the public to attend.

Mrs. Hackbart to head VWW1 Auxiliary

Mrs. Natalie Hackbart will head the Ladies' Auxiliary, VWW1, Barracks 854 of Jensen Beach, as its president during the coming year, according to an announcement by Mrs. Marcella Delks, retiring president.

Other officers recently elected include Jonnie Crane, senior vice-president, Josephine Doring, junior vice-president; Icelle Harlow, treasurer; Bernice Webber, secretary; Hazel Houghton, chaplain; Elsanor Diffendal, conductress; Helen Ferguson, guard. Trustees are Marcella Lelks, 3 years; Laura Boyd, 2 years, Julia Clark, 1 year.

Barracks and Auxiliary officers will be installed in joint ceremonies at a dinner in Stuart Dec. 7. Reservations may be made by calling 287-5387 or 4362.

Ross Witham, project leader for the Florida Board of Conservation's spiny lobster program, was host to Dr. William Hazen, professor of biology at San Diego State College last Friday.

Dr. Hazen and Witham met at the House of Refuge to discuss local techniques used by Witham in the program.

Four-laning planned for '76

State Road Department officials in Fort Lauderdale have been asked by local officials to include a crossover in plans for four-laning SR 76 west of U.S. 1, according to acting city manager Ed Glasscock.

The crossover would allow traffic to turn into the shopping center from SR 76 instead of going on to U.S. 1, he said.

Plans are under way to four-lane SR 76 from U.S. 1 west to Martin County High School.

Fisherman's Village bazaar

The clubhouse at Fisherman's Village will be the scene of the Christmas Bazaar on Tuesday, Dec. 3, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The clubhouse is located on East Parkway, Stuart.

Sponsored by Fisherman's Village Sable Club, the Bazaar booths will include a boutique, home bakery items, snack bar, white elephant, and fortune telling from 10 a.m. to 12, and 2 to 4 p.m.

Chairman is Mrs. H. M. Johnson, with Mrs. W. B. Force on publicity.

Our used cars aren't "just like new." Just 100% guaranteed.

No used car can be just like new. It's impossible.

But we used cars can be in better shape than the ones listed below, either.

They've passed the Volkswagen 16-point Safety and Performance inspection. And we guarantee 100% the repair or replacement of all major mechanical parts for 30 days or 1000 miles.

What would you rather have? A car that's just like new? Or a car that's 100% guaranteed?

'65 Volkswagen 117 Sedan. Extra clean. One owner. Red exterior, white interior. 38,000 well-cared for miles. Original throughout.

'67 Volkswagen Karman Ghia. Radio and heater. Stereo tape. One owner. Exceptionally clean automobile. Yellow exterior, black leatherette interior. 24,000 actual miles.

'65 Buick Electra 225 Custom. Power steering, power brakes, power windows, power seats. Factory air-conditioning. In immaculate condition. This is a one-owner automobile. Looks and drives like new.

'64 Rambler American 4-Door sedan. Automatic transmission. Heater. White exterior, gray interior, combination of nylon and leatherette. This is a one-owner locally-owned especially clean automobile.

'64 Volkswagen Bus Extra clean, in fine mechanical condition. This nine-passenger vehicle doubles as a panel truck when the seats are removed. Green and white in color, with exceptionally good tires. Radio and heater.

'66 Volkswagen 113 Sedan. Radio and heater. Uni-vents. Exceptionally nice Volkswagen blue color. White leatherette interior with pop-out windows. This car is exceptionally clean and drives better than it looks.

'65 MG Midget White exterior, red leatherette interior. Radio and heater. Exceptionally nice car and very economical.

'68 Chrysler Newport convertible, 14,000 actual miles. Full power and factory air-conditioning. Exceptionally clean one-owner automobile with the balance of a 50,000 mile warranty.

'65 Corvair Monza 4-Door. Radio and heater. Automatic transmission. Factory air-conditioning. Exceptionally nice beige exterior color with white leatherette interior.

'67 Volkswagen Square-back sedan. Radio and heater. Exceptionally clean one-owner automobile. Fully maintained by our Service Department. Red exterior, black leatherette interior. This one-owner car has gone 19,000 miles.

by St. Josephs Press Club

COMPETITION--The freshmen of St. Joseph College in Jensen Beach won the football game against the sophomores 24-6 in competition held Nov. 10 at Langford Ball Park. Some of the action is seen above.

News tips

The American Cancer Society is holding a fund-raising party and bazaar Dec. 8. The event will be held at the ranch of William Matheson on Murphy Road in Palm City. Members of the Press Club were asked to lend a helping hand. Any other students of St. Joseph's who would like to volunteer their time and services for this worthy cause, please contact Kathy Owens or Kevin Thomas.

The students of the Freshman class would like to congratulate the Freshmen football players for their outstanding performance. The final game of the season was played on Nov. 24 at the college. The freshmen were the visitors, giving them an undefeated season against the Sophomore team.

The faculty and students of St. Joseph's would like to express their sympathy to John Hurley at the loss of his grandfather.

The faculty and administration of St. Joseph College would like to wish the students a happy and safe Thanksgiving Holiday.

Attends workshop

by Dennis Doyle

Sister Marie de Lourdes, SSJ, Associate Professor of English and Psychology at St. Joseph College, attended the Nineteenth Annual Workshop of Florida Personnel and Guidance Association on November 21, through the 23rd at the Desert Inn in Daytona Beach.

The theme of the workshop was Communication: The Key to Understanding.

There were committee meetings, demonstrations and interest group meetings on various aspects of Education and Business Personnel.

'Drivocator' planned for driver education

An $8,000 electronic "Drivocator" machine will probably be used next year for driver education and health courses in Martin County schools, according to Superintendent of Schools W. James Naulisky.

The machine synchronizes photographic slides, 16-millimeter movies, a sound track and grade computer. Other programs available for the machine include vocational subjects such as electronics and auto mechanics. At present school officials are previewing 13 health lessons available for the machine, approved by schools.

Local insurance agents have agreed to pay one-third the $2,100 cost for materials to be used with the machine for driver education. The machine will be paid for with funds from the educational improvement program set up early this year by the Florida Legislature.

The Drivocator has a system of sensors connected to an electronic console. It is possible to plug 40 stations into the console, one for each student in the course. Students can answer questions by pushing buttons, receiving grades from the machine.

There will be no religious classes for students on Nov. 30, Dec. 1, 7 and 8, due to the Thanksgiving vacation and Christmas Bazaar. Classes will resume Dec. 14 and 15 as usual.

Donations to the Bazaar may be left at the school any day this week.

While budget dollars shrink...

your electric dollars stretch!

The cost of nearly everything in your budget keeps going up. But one thing actually keeps coming down in price: electric service.

There have been 17 major rate reductions in the last 10 years. Today the average family served by Florida Power & Light Company enjoys more modern electric comforts and conveniences than ever before. But the average price paid per kilowatt hour is now much less than it was just 10 years ago. And today's cost is lower than the national average.

A bargain? You bet! And FPL continues to work and plan ahead to keep Sunshine Service the best buy in your family budget.

Stretch your dollars the all electric way.

Tigers trample 'Chobee

The Terrible Tigers of Martin County High School trounced all over the Brahmans of Okeechobee Friday night, downing the visiting team 38-0.

Performing well before the 2,500 homecoming fans, the Tigers rushed 329 yards and passed for 121 yards, winning their fifth in nine games.

First score came on a 66-yard pass from H. L. Bowling to John Thomas, followed by a 25-yard run by Al McIntyre. Neither conversion was made. In the third quarter, McIntyre carried the pigskin once again on a 55-yard romp, with Thomas going over from the one. The Tigers scored twice again in the final period. Wall) Rogers going from the one, and Willie Harris from the two.

clubs, was formed at a meeting Monday night. It was reported this week by Jerome Wood.

Wood said that the alliance would give conservation "one cohesive voice", and said that eight clubs had joined the group.

Included in the alliance are the Anglers Club, Sailfish Club, Isaac Walton League, Audubon Society, Women's Garden Club of Stuart, Woman's Club of Stuart, Organized Fishermen of Florida, and the Rivers Restoration League.

The alliance began, as its first action, by sending a letter to Robert Padrick, head of the Central and South Florida Flood Control District, a letter opposing any drainage into the St. Lucie River.

Donald Johnson accepts pastorate at JB Community

The Rev. Donald E. Johnson, pastor of the Union Church of Berea, Ky., has been called as the new pastor of the Jensen Beach Community Church on Skyline Drive. He has accepted the call and will be in the pulpit Sunday, Dec. 15, at the 9:30 and 11 a.m. services to start his new assignment.

The Rev. Johnson, 46, is married and has two children: a daughter, Karna, 17, and a son, Craig, 15. He has an AB degree from Butler University at Indianapolis, Ind., in 1948; a BD from Garrett Seminary, Evanston, Ill., and took U.S. Army Chaplains' courses.

Of the Methodist denomination, also Christian (Disciple), he was ordained in Hebron, Ind., June 13, 1947. He is interested in organization, young people's work and pastoral counseling. His hobbies include swimming, golf, tennis, stamps, reading, cars, photography, sounds and music.

Rev. Johnson is former vice-president of Milwaukee County Council of Churches, former president of Wisconsin Planned Parenthood Association, advisor and coordinator of pre-marriage clinic and worked as a voluntary counselor for the Sorrow Anonymous in Chicago, IL, during Seminary Training.

He was director of sound and continuity and narrator for World's Fair Jordon Government film, produced by U.S. Productions of New York City. He is a 32nd degree Mason.

He comes to the local church highly recommended by the National Council of Community Churches, according to the Pulpit Committee, headed by Mrs. Helen Richardson. Others on the committee are Mrs. Ray Meserve, Dr. Richard Fenton and Leonard Scott.

Mrs. Ingle Johnson is a former Director of Christian Education of Wilmette, Ill., and is a high school teacher of English and Spanish. She was State Committee Chairman for Church Women United.

Other types of work which Johnson has been available to, being a consultant, director, supervisor of tabulating departments, church related therapy groups, visiting professor Pastoral Counseling, Evangelical Seminary of Puerto Rico; Director Marriage & Family Living Institute; Day Care Center Director and trustee, community education for marriage clinics organized.

The Johnson family will reside at 107 Skyline Drive, Jensen Beach, following renovations. They will purchase the old parsonage.

The Rev. Johnson will replace Rev. Seaton M. Tennis, who has taken a pastorate in Blaine, Penn.

For surf casters

Park and fish park is boon to anglers

A seventy-two foot strip of land recently acquired by the county, being turned into a "park and fish park" by the county commission, The Hutchinson Island site will be utilized by the county as a place for surf fishermen to wet a line in comfort, according to County Commissioner Frank Watha, who originated the plan.

Watha said that there was work being done on the park, "but not enough yet to get a picture of it."

The eventual design of the park will allow about seventy cars to park along the sides of an access road up the middle to the beach. At the top of the dune line, Watha said, there are plans for a boardwalk about twelve feet wide, so that "wives could come and spend a relaxed day watching their husbands fish," Benches are planned for the boardwalk.

"The way we see it," Watha said, "the fishermen can drive right up to the beach, park his car in one of the parking places, and walk out on the beach to fish. If he wants to have a picnic, he can eat on the beach or on the boardwalk as he fishes."

The "park and fish park" name was contributed by Ernie Baker, a local fisherman who is active in many civic affairs, including the annual Chamber of Commerce Turtle watches along Jensen's beaches. Baker is one of the many avid surf fishermen in Jensen Beach.

While Watha would not say that fishers would not be welcome at the "park and fish park," he did indicate that the beach was being designed strictly for fishermen and sightseers.

"The beach will not be protected," Watha said. "There will not be a lifeguard, but lifeguards do not watch surf casters."

The seventy-foot beach will abut residential level of high A-1-A, with the first "park and fish park" in the county, and establishes a pattern for the future county parks system of strips of beachfront in the county.

Anglers hear Reed boost state park

The Martin County Anglers Club, meeting with invited directors and officers of other conservationist groups Monday night, heard Nathaniel Reed, successor Kirk's conservation advisor, praise the planned state park at Long Island, and announce that it had the support of the state cabinet.

Reed reportedly said that the park site is high on the list of purchases slated for the outdoor recreational committee. He said that the project's owners were interested in selling the land for the site, and at a reasonable price.

Reed discussed the St. Lucie Inlet, predicting that it would be improved by the U.S. Corps of Engineers by 1971, with the inlet safe and complete, the tallest by a mile of the St. Lucie River before the river is "ruined" and said that he would work to stop the destruction of the river from the Conservation Department.

Christmas in pictures edition is planned

Again this year, The Jensen Beach Mirror will have a special feature of Christmastime, the fifth annual Christmas Party edition.

Anyone planning a Christmas party is asked to call The Mirror office at 287-7144. We will register the party and have a photographer there to take a picture for the "Christmas Parties" edition.

The Christmas edition will be released December 24.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE--The Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce, active in all community and civic projects, took part in Saturday's Christmas parade sponsored by the Junior Woman's Club of Stuart. At right are J. Fred Silvers, vice-president of the Chamber, who entered his car, and Don Wilkie, president, who assisted with the decorations and rode in the parade. Also taking part is Donnie Wilkie, in the car, and Miss Rhesto, not pictured, who tossed chocolate kisses to the crowd.

Drive is January 6-11

United Fund sets $8,700 as goal

The Jensen Beach-Rio United Fund Drive got under way last week as the new officers and directors established the dates of the drive and the drive goal.

The goal of $8,700 was set after investigation of the requests of the eleven participating agencies were evaluated, according to Chris Kalb, president. Drive dates are set for January 6 through 11.

Kalb said that captains for each area to be covered in the drive were contacting workers to handle those areas. A complete list of United Fund workers will be released in the near future.

Participating in the drive, a one-for-all, all-for-one effort that has had eight successful campaigns in the Jensen Beach and Rio area, will be the following agencies:

Jensen Beach Samaritans Ambulance, Jensen Civic League, Mark Hill Community Center, Martin County Association for Mental Health, American Red Cross, Martin County Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Animal Rescue League of Martin County, Boy Scouts of America, Girl Scouts of America, Pioneer Georgraphical Center and Martin County Retarded Children's Association.

Kalb said that the workers would be making house to house in Jensen Beach, Rio, Walton and Idlewild for contributions to the United Fund on January 6, and that all volunteers would be properly identified, having door tags to leave when residents are not at home, and a work kit provided by the United Fund.

The United Fund utilizes volunteer workers and does not have a paid staff. "Our only expense is for printing costs," Kalb said. "All of our collections go to the participating agencies, and 95% of the funds collected stay right here at home in Martin County. We are not connected with a state or national organization," he added.

Persons desiring to donate by mail can send checks payable to the Jensen Beach-Rio United Fund, Jensen Beach, Florida.

Audubon Society visits Edenlawn

A field trip to Edenlawn Plantation and the natural area is planned by Martin County Audubon Society, Inc., for Saturday, Dec. 7. The field trip will start from Publix Market parking lot in Stuart at 9 a.m.

Members and nonmembers are welcome, according to Mrs. Harvey Jensen, president. The field trip chairman, Leader, will be Mrs. James Elmore.

Mrs. Harvey Jensen, Jensen Beach personal way presented with a completion accomplishment certificate and a "Girl Scout Out of Doors" emblem for his recent efforts in [illegible] Kaiser Jeep Van from destruction by fire. The awards were given by the Hospital Division of the Stuart Police Department, C. H. Gladden, through Nat Sanders, police commissioner. The truck caught fire while Harvey was delivering mail. Harvey used two fire extinguishers to put out the flame.

AUXILIARY ENTRY--Members of the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department's Auxiliary entered their own [illegible] in Saturday's Christmas parade of Saturday. The truck was decorated with a Christmas tree, [illegible] wreaths and Santa Claus holding a fire extinguisher. Riding in the truck were Mrs. Frank Watha, Mrs. Frank Wilkie and Mrs. Frank Wacha. The Ingersoll facility to the rear [illegible] along the route, standing are Mrs. Irene Oliver, [illegible] secretary of the auxiliary, and Mrs. Randolph Spencer, president. The vehicle is used to transport food and drink to the volunteers when they are fighting fires. The fire department also entered two trucks and the Fire Chief's car in the parade.

Tigers end season with 32-12 win over Jupiter

Martin County Tigers ended their football season Wednesday night with a 32-12 Suncoast Conference win over Jupiter's Warriors.

Wally Rogers led the parade of touchdowns with three dashes across the goal line of 28, 19 and 49 yards.

The first score was made by Albert McIntyre who went over from the three after 53 yards driving. Jim Thomas ran the extra point.

The Warriors scored on a 65 yard play and a 19-yard pass.

The Thanksgiving Eve game, played in Jupiter, was the Tigers' third straight win which boosted their season record to 6-4. Martin County is second in the league's Western Division, with Pahokee leading the park.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyn Sebright of Jensen Beach visited their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Francis White, in Laurel, Md., over Thanksgiving holidays. They were accompanied by the son, Jerry.

White is stationed at Ft. Meade in security.

Another son, AN John Sebright, stationed in the Navy at Kingsville, Texas, is expected home for Christmas, Mrs. Sebright told The Jensen Beach Mirror.

Planning under way for Sailfish Regatta

Early entries are being received for the second annual Stuart Sailfish Regatta to be held Jan. 18 and 19 off the Indian River Causeway east of Stuart. The event is sponsored by Stuart Chamber of Commerce.

Herman K. Kelly, registration chairman, said entries have been received by drivers from Fort Lauderdale, Baton Rouge, La.; Miami, Owensboro, Ky.; and Merritt Island.

Bleacher seats will be available, and Dick Crippin, sports director of WLCY-TV, St. Petersburg, will be the announcer.

Martin County Chapter of National Association for Retired Civil Employees is seeking new members. The group will meet Wednesday, Dec. 11 at 8 p.m. in Jensen Beach Community Center.

Our Airport Trip

by Linda Delamater

4th grade, J. B. School

We went up some stairs to room 4 which was the Weather Bureau. We saw a Weather Map. We saw some maps on the wall. We saw a thermometer. There were two lights they were green and red. The green light meant to take a 100 degree off. If there was a hurricane they would turn a switch. When they turned on the switch the red light goes on which means to add a 100 degrees. We saw a Raingauge. A raingauge tells how many inches deep the water is. At 10:00 December 2, 1968 the water was 1.5 inches deep.

We left the Weather Bureau and went to the lobby of the airport. We climbed the stairs from the lobby to the observation deck. We saw people buying tickets and make reservations and other people sitting down waiting for their plane to arrive. We saw the time of the planes to take off. We saw the gates and the flight engineers compartment. Then we left the plane and the airport and returned to school.

Field Trip

The fourth graders of Mrs. Crist's and Mrs. Butterfield's rooms at Jensen Beach Elementary School went on a field trip Monday.

The school bus took the group to West Palm Beach where the children toured the airport and weather bureau. The students had lunch and returned to school at 2 p.m.

School lunches

Thurs., Dec. 5, beef stew, onions, carrots, potatoes, cheese, orange Jello, with topping, milk.

Fri., Dec. 6, macaroni & cheese, buttered spinach, carrots, corn bread, sweet sliced cut pears, milk.

Mon., Dec. 9, school made roll, cottage cheese, potatoes, chips, peach halves, milk.

Lillian Tower passes

Deepest sympathy of the residents of Ocean Breeze goes out to Bill Tower in the death of his wife, Lillian, who passed away Tuesday evening Nov. 26 at the Martin Memorial Hospital where she had been a patient for the past few weeks. Lillian was loved and respected by all who knew her, and in turn was a friend to all. She has been a resident of Ocean Breeze since 1938, coming here from Atlanta, Ga., where her mother and an aunt still live. To those who she left to mourn her loss we would like to say, "We loved her too."

The funeral service was held at Yates Funeral Home, Jensen Beach, at 3 P.M., Nov. 29. The very large attendance was indicative of the high regard and affection the community felt for the deceased and her husband.

Funeral committee

In the event of a death in the park the Ocean Breeze committee which, if notified immediately, will have a representative at the home of the deceased to be of assistance in any capacity.

They will also have award and receptacle for flower donations placed at the park office and at Clement Hall.

The funeral committee members are Bill Krowarz, Marty Koltasch, Russell Speck, Mary Adreon and Nellie Cook.

Personals

Luther and Mary Weeks received news of the death of Luther's sister, Mattie Paul at 12 o'clock noon, Nov. 26, at Little Washington, N. C. Luther and Mary left early the next morning to attend the funeral.

We are informed that Clayton Graham of West Cocoa has been at his home in Mio, Mich., two weeks following a 30 day spell in the hospital due to a heart attack. They think he will be able to return to Ocean Breeze about Dec. 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lord entertained 15 friends at an afternoon party at their home on S. 5th, Friday, Nov. 29. The party was in honor of their granddaughter, Pamela Morin, who was married that day in Laconia, N. H.

Bridge fishing in the early days

Mr. Charles Morgan had his fishing friends Mr. Albitati of N. J. and Mr. Pickens of Long Island spend the week end with him. Jokingly he said they came to learn how to catch fish. I knew this was Mr. Morgan's first winter here as a permanent resident, so was surprised when he said he and his two friends had been coming here for many years and he told this story:

These friends made the first trip down in early May 1961 and fished off the old wooden bridge which many of us remeber so well. Coming down from New York that spring they ran into snow flurries and generally poor weather as they started out, but when they finally came to the Indian River Drive they thought it was the most beautiful place they had seen. Stopping at Jensen they replaced their heatweave suits for shorts, and proceeded to get out their fishing gear, and to try and absorb some of the lovely sunshine for an hour or so at a time. He says he well remembers the number of ladies who were fishing with bamboo poles, while sitting on folding seats which they attached to the bridge frame. Each of these ladies were attired in large straw hats which were tied on with scarves to make sure the wind did not take them off. To Mr. Morgan these ladies looked so brown and old from the sun and wind, and he said they all seemed to eye him and his companions with a degree of suspicion when they saw the new fishing gear they were using. Not one spoke until spoken to and then kept the conversation to the minimum. It was not long until the men began catching some good sized fish, and he being the first to land one, asked the lady nearest him if he could put his catch in her fish bag. That, he said, brought an affirmative reply, and the other ladies could not hide their interest at the strangers' generosity, and when all of these stangers began getting strikes, and taking turns putting their catches in the ladies fish bags, the whole atmosphere among the assorted fishermen began to be quite cordial.

Finally, he said, he and his companions had to leave, but as they left there was a chorus of "come back again, boys," and they did, each spring for quite a few years.

I tell this story because there are so many older residents who will remember the old wooden bridge, and those same ladies who were there fishing every day, hot, cold, rain or shine. (N. D. C.)

The Joe Reeds are happy in the desert

Marcia Morash received a letter from Joe and Ruth Reed who were married last summer while staying at Marland's Resort in Franklin, N. C. Friends of both these nice people will be interested in this letter written in their honor.

"Travel Trailer Village, Lot C42, 3020 East Main St., Mesa, Arizona, 85201.

Dear Marcia:

I'm ashamed that I've been so lax in my correspondence but moving around so much keeps me busy. Joe and I are very happy. Marcia, we both loved it at Marlands and hated to leave.

From there we went to visit Joe's folks in Arkansas. They had beautiful homes and took me into the family at once. They had thought so much of Joe's first wife, Edith, that I was nervous thinking they might not like me, but they couldn't be enough to please me.

We stayed there two weeks before moving on to Dallas to see one of my brother Joe's pals. After leaving there we travelled through New Mexico. I was so surprised at the desert. It didn't look as I thought a desert should look. Good roads all the way. Guess I got my idea from old movies of people trying to walk through loose sand.

We came on to Arizona and I was surprised that it is desert country too. The month spent at Apache Wells was pleasant. Coyotes, rabbits, quail and desert rats came to our back door. Sand cacti and tumble weed! I longed for a green lawn so Joe asked the owners if he could put one in for me, but they preferred cactus. (Natural). Each lawn space is sand with those darn things.

I like Joe's son, wife and two children. He's Mom Ruth and Grammie to them. We take three lessons a week in square dancing. I'm in the intermediate Group. Joe says I'm doing O.K. but I feel I should have started to learn much younger.

One of my friends from Hill (she and I were on the school board there) has a nice desert home near. She called today. My X-ray doctor is here and today I met Mrs. Myers, a friend of Bertie Sage, also Roy and Margaret McCammon.

Joe planted me a rose bush today and took me to see his desert home that he built for his first wife. It was beautiful with all new furniture. They lived there just a year when she took sick. Sincerely, Joe & Ruth

Art exhibit feature at St. Joseph's Bazaar

The annual Bazaar of St. Joseph Catholic Church will be Saturday, Dec. 7 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on the school grounds, S. 24th St., Stuart.

Something new this year will be an art exhibit by members of Martin County Art Association. Refreshments will also be served.

Coffee-tour planned

Stuart Chamber of Commerce will hold another open-house of member establishments on Thursday, Dec. 5, at 8:30 p.m. The tour will be at the Mayfair Theatre in Stuart, then will be Forest Nolan restaurant.

The program will include presentation of the new Ballyhoo Regatta Hostess for the Merchants Cup Race and U. S. Open.

The meeting is open to all members of Stuart Chamber of Commerce.

The Bazaar will feature booths of handicrafts, rummage, white elephants, Christmas gift items, plants and cakes, according to Mrs. E. Pelosi and Mrs. A. Garbutt, co-chairmen.

A talent show for children through age 12 will be held at 4:30 p.m., with food concessions, games and amusements for all ages.

Men's Garden Club plans Christmas party

The third annual informal Christmas party sponsored by the Men's Garden Club of Martin County will be held Thursday, Dec. 12, at the Elks Club in Stuart. The party is for members and wives only, according to Byron Hatfield, chairman.

Other committee members are J. Wesley Jenkins, Wally Harris, C. C. Evans, H. E. Patterson, Ike Reed and Charles Jean.

Mrs. Walker has visitor

Lorraine LaRochelle of Jamaica Plain, Mass., spent Thanksgiving holidays with Mrs. Emma Walker of Watrous. This was her first visit to Jensen Beach area and she said she enjoyed it very much.

On Thanksgiving Day, Mrs. Walker entertained her guest and Mrs. Ina Payne at Mariner Yacht Club Restaurant. They had lunch at Frances Langford's restaurant Wednesday and a dinner party at the Waterfront Wednesday.

Mrs. LaRochelle left for home on Saturday.

COMO PLAQUE—Mrs. Perry Como received a plaque on behalf of her husband at the ceremonies at St. Lucie Country Club during the windup of the Perry Como Golf Tournament last weekend. The plaque was given on behalf of fellow entertainers who have made an annual pilgrimage to participate in the tournament for fun and enjoyment. Included among them were, at the rear, pianist Floyd Cramer, guitarist Chet Atkins, and saxaphonist Boots Randolph.

Bond sales to be discussed at meet

A representative of Hough and Co., St. Petersburg, will attend Thursday night's workshop meeting of the Martin County School Board, to discuss plans for financing the proposed sale of race track tax bonds, according to V. James Navitsky, Superintendent of Schools.

The session will be held at Warfield School, Indiantown, at 7:30 p.m. The first such meeting was held last month in Hobe Sound.

The board employed the finance firm as its fiscal agent to plan for the sale of bonds to finance construction of two schools, Jensen Beach Elementary School and a middle school in Indiantown.

WITH THANKS—Scouting leader Frank Holt, district commissioner of the Gulfstream Council, Boy Scouts of America, presented a plaque to Jensen Beach Mirror publisher Dirk Campbell this week on behalf of the council. The plaque was "for service to scouting" presented Campbell for his efforts in organizing several troops and cub packs in Jensen Beach, and for service in the organizing of a new district for scouts in Martin County.

with a tournament-course record 278 Sunday in the seventh annual Perry Como Amateur Invitational golf tournament at the St. Lucie Country Club.

Fleisher, a 20-year old sophomore at Miami Dade North Junior College, put together four straight sub-par rounds, including a two-under-par 70 the final day at the Sinners course to leave defending titlist Herbert Manley, Jr., of Savannah, Ga., far behind.

The current national amateur and national junior college champion, playing with a five-stroke lead Sunday, insured his victory on the seventh hole after matching Manley stroke for stroke through six holes-- a birdie and five pars.

On the par-3, 235-yard seventh Manley hit his worst shot of the tournament, he said, hooking into a pond to the left off the tee and taking a double bogey five. Fleisher parred, led to seven and "felt pretty good. Of course, I felt pretty good all week. I always figured I had a good chance to win."

Winner of the women's division for the third time in four years was Marlene Streit of Toronto, Ontario, who had a 78 on the Sinners Sunday to go with her 71 on the 6,547-yard Saints course Friday. A distant runnerup was Marsha Feic of Port St. Lucie, 160.

Manley had a 73 Sunday, and was four over par on the Sinners for two rounds.

Claiming third, a stroke behind Manley at 287 was perennial contender Dennis Iden of Fort Lauderdale. Eighteen-year-old Tony Haderer, Miami Shores, birdied three of the last four holes to pull out a 75 and fourth with a 289.

VICTOR--Bruce Fleisher, U.S. Amateur Champion, won the 1968 Perry Como Tournament last week at St. Lucie Country Club with a record 278, good for an eight stroke victory over Hobart Manley. Dennis Iden was third, Marlene Streit led the women's division with a total of 149 for 36 holes.

Rotonda hearing set for Dec. 19th

A public hearing will be held by the Army Corps of Engineers on Dec. 19 at 10 a.m. on the application by Rotonda Drainage District for a permit to drain water into the St. Lucie Canal. The meeting will be held at the Women's Club house in Stuart.

The hearing had been set for Dec. 16.

Permission is being sought to build a permanent outfall canal on Rotonda's 24,000-acre property, and empty the surface water into the canal. Two "quiescent" basins would help eliminate silt from the water.

Several conservation organizations recommend that drainage follow the fall of the land, going southward, rather than into the canal from the area both to south.

Golf title

There are intangible awards in winning the National Amateur golf championship, says 20-year-old Bruce Fleisher, but the title also brings its problems.

"After you win the National Amateur, there is pressure in every tournament in which you play," says the 6-3, 190-pound Hialeah youngster. "You're always favored, you always have to show up well."

But Fleisher, who captured both the national junior college and National Amateur titles during the summer, seems to carry the honors well.

"I've got to go home and work on my game before I come back for the National Pro-Amateur (Dec. 12-14)," he said. "I've been spraying my drives to much."

"I really wasn't hitting the ball well. My putting has saved me all week."

Fleisher credited M. R. (Chick) Harbert, with a bit of help Sunday.

"He got my stance squared away where I was hitting the ball better from left to right."

There are others who claim Fleisher's game is pretty sound.

Says Dennis Iden, "Bruce is as close to Jack Nicklaus as anyone I've seen at a comparable age. He's better than Bob Murphy was when he won the National Amateur (1965)."

"He has a good, sound game and he can score on any golf course."

Bridge

The Arundel Shop Bridge will be closed Saturday and Sunday for emergency repairs, according to County Engineer Tom Elder and Cliff Ranlerson, who inspected the bridge Tuesday morning.

The repairs are temporary, they stressed, and will be good for only a limited time.

The county has contracted with Charles Smith, marine contractor, to do the work. The bridge, which they say is swaying badly, is pulling away at the east end (SR 76 side), and pilings must be installed.

Trucks are asked not to use the bridge after repairs are made. The county is seeking to obtain written permission from owners of rights-of-way on Citrus Blvd. so trucks can use that route. Oral permission has been granted, according to Slider.

One hundred and seventy members and guests attended the joint installation ceremonies.

It'll be a blast

Golf greats begin US ProAm Tourney

Over one hundred golfers teed off Wednesday in a practice round preceding the Thursday kickoff of the $10,000 Ninth Annual U.S. Invitational Pro-Am Golf Championship at St. Lucie Country Club this weekend. The tournament is the largest scratch pro-am tourney in the U.S. and has broken a record for the number of teams entered.

Prominent businessmen, bankers, even a judge, drew names out of a hat as a party for sponsors of the tourney, purpose was to determine who would drive what golf cart for participants in the tournament.

The local pro-am is the first of the major tourneys in which golf carts will be used to carry golf bags of the players. The players walk and each cart is being driven by local volunteers who are experts on golf etiquette, knowledge of rules of the game as well as golf players of some stature.

Preference was given in picking the list of volunteers to Gold and Silver local sponsors of the tournament.

Complete list of teams, starting times, on Pg. 20

A. T. Phillips of Vero Beach drew the team of Slammin' Sammy Snead and Ed Tutwiler; Fritz Mock of St. Lucie Country Club drew the team of Bruce Fleisher, National Amateur champ this year, and pro Bert Greene.

Ralph Connolly of Stuart drew Bob Murphy, who won over $100,000 as a rookie this year on the PGA tour. Murphy is playing with Mike Estridge.

Ed Coker of Jensen Beach drew Dow Finsterwald, former PGA champ who will be playing with Lanny Wadkins, and M. B. Dickerson, SLCC, will be driving for Julius Boros, current PGA champ, who will team with Bob Barbarossa.

Social events on the calendar for the hundreds of visitors to the Pro-Am include the following:

Wednesday, Dec. 11, 6:30 to 7:30 p.m., football party for sponsors and contestants. Informal modeling will feature the party.

The first round of the tourney gets under way on Thursday at 9 a.m., with 204 players. Luncheon will be at the 19th hole, dining room, snack bars and sandwich stands.

At noon an informal fashion show will be offered to the ladies and their gentlemen. Modeling will be outside on the putting green, swimming pool, clubhouse and scoreboard area.

A Bavarian Festival will climax Thursday's social events. Served in the ballroom from 6 to 10 p.m. will be a Bavarian menu. Dress will be informal for the 500 persons attending. Music will be by Carl Greco and his swing orchestra.

Friday, the entire day is free for visitors to tour local areas and enjoy the hospitality of the people of Martin and St. Lucie Counties. The second round of the tournament will be played on both courses.

Trophies will be awarded in the Convention Hall late Saturday afternoon, following the third and final round of the tourney. The Saints course will be open for normal play on Saturday.

A resident of Martin County is military service, entitled to Homestead Exemption on his home even though he may not be living there on January 1 for the year claim is made. The law considers this even if the home is rented. Further details may be obtained from the county tax assessor's office.

Christmas display set for Jensen Beach Causeway

Plans are being completed for the third annual presentation of "Christmas-on-The-Causeway" at Jensen Beach. The community Christmas program, which has proved so popular during the past two years, will feature choirs of various churches, Christmas carol group singing, and refreshments.

The night of caroling will be Friday, Dec. 21, at 7 p.m., according to Rev. Wm. O. Crawford, pastor of Tropical Farms Baptist Church. He is the outgoing president of Martin County Ministerial Association which is handling the program in cooperation with the Jensen Beach Fireworks Committee and Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce.

The program will be climaxed by a fireworks display floating on a barge in the Indian River, presented by the fireworks committee.

Ten small pavilions on the south side of the Jensen Beach Causeway, used during the year for picnicking, are being converted into settings of religious displays of the birth of Christ, each depicting a Christmas carol. These pavilions, with their life-size figures, lighted at night, draw about 18,000 cars during the season. Interested residents and visitors for miles around drive slowly across the causeway, ejoying the religious displays. More than 5,000 persons attended the festivities and heard the singing last year.

Master of ceremonies this year will be Rev. Harold Heidel, new president of the Ministerial Association. He is pastor of the Assembly of God Church of Palm City. Any church choirs interested in taking part may call Rev. Crawford at 287-6011.

Members of the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department and the Ministerial Association have been busy during the past week setting up the backdrops and figures on the pavilions. They will be ready for viewing this Friday, Dec. 13, according to Frank Wacha, originator of the "Christmas - on-the - Causeway" program.

Christmas in pictures edition is planned

Again this year, The Jensen Beach Mirror will have a special feature at Christmastime...the fifth annual Christmas Party edition.

Anyone planning a Christmas party is asked to call The Mirror office at 287-7333 or 287-7334. We will register the party and have a photographer there to take a picture for the "Christmas in Pictures" edition.

The Christmas edition will be released December 24.

County will repair jetty

The Martin County Commission voted Tuesday to drag an undetermined number of concrete slabs stored at Elliott Museum to the St. Lucie Inlet jetty, and plans immediate repairs to the jetty.

Commissioners directed county engineer Tom Slider to have the heavy slabs trucked to the end of the present road on Hutchinson Island and get them the final mile to the inlet. Slider plans to drag the slabs down the beach.

The commission action brought high praise from Leonard Smith, leader of SLIP, St. Lucie Inlet Protestors, an organization that protested the dredging of the inlet until the jetty, which was badly broken down and washed away in sections, was plugged.

"We are as ready to praise as we are to criticize," Smith said. He pointed to the "hard work and research" of County Commissioner Frank Wacha and Slider that led up to the decision to use the slabs to plug the ancient jetty.

"Everyone in Martin County who is interested in a safe and deep inlet should thank these two men, and the entire Martin County Commission for their work in getting the inlet jetty plugged," Smith said. "There is still a lot to do, but the job is being done, and we are proud as can be of the commission. The plugging of the jetty is, of course, temporary. But it will keep the inlet free from the tons of sand pouring through from the north, and may save thousands of dollars in tax money that might have been poured into dredging the inlet again and again due to the littoral drift of the sand through the jetty.

"Over half a million dollars has been wasted on dredging the inlet, only to have it fill in after a few storms. We feel that this one action can stop the greatest percentage of the filling, and the impoundment basin being cut into the inlet at present should take care of quite a bit more, plus reducing the area of dredging when it fills.

"We're happy and proud that this has come about. We look forward to the day when we can take a boat through the inlet and look over to see the jetty holding back the sand and water on the north," Smith concluded.

Wacha, in making the motion before the commission, said that the research of the engineer had been completed, and the slabs seemed the best temporary plug available. He added that a crane would place the slabs

GROUNDBREAKING CEREMONIES--Stalwart members of the Jensen Beach Men's Association braved the cool breezes Monday morning to take part in groundbreaking ceremonies for their new clubhouse. The new building, to be constructed by Ray Lien, foreground above, will be located on Sugar Mill Road, just north of the Cutoff Rd. (SR 707A), Jensen Beach, on land donated to the Association by Kiplinger Estate. Left to right, above, are: Polly Silander, Eva Beggs, Alice Millar, Lien holding blueprints of the clubhouse, Jean Pendleton, president; Hazel Forsberg, Gretchen Bobley, chairman of the building committee Mildred Skinner. Vera Wright, Margaret Thompson, trustee of the building fund Maris Miller, turning the first shovelful of dirt; Sylvia Rand, Mike Friedrichs, Geneva Siebert and Blanche Baker.

Anglers protest fish kill

Martin County Anglers Club members are asking Charles Carlton, state attorney, to assist in the investigation of the recent fish kill in the St. Lucie River. The kill is being investigated by the enforcement and fisheries divisions of the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

The request for Carlton's help came from Martin Beuvelmans, chairman of the Anglers Club pollution control committee.

The kill area was south of SR 76, where an irrigation ditch drains into the river. Analysis of fish and water from that area is still being conducted. The kill seems to be over as of the beginning of this week, according to Capt. Jim Jordan, of the Commission's West Palm Beach office.

It'll be a blast

Golf greats begin US ProAm Tourney

Over one hundred golfers teed off Wednesday in a practice round preceding the Thursday kickoff of the $30,000 Ninth Annual U.S. Invitational Pro-Am Golf Championship at St. Lucie Country Club this weekend. The tournament is the largest scratch pro-am tourney in the U.S. and has broken a record for the number of teams entered.

Prominent businessmen, bankers, even a judge, drew names out of a hat at a party for sponsors of the tourney. Purpose was to determine who would drive what golf cart for participants in the tournament.

The local pro-am is the first of the major tourneys in which golf carts will be used to carry golf bags of the players. The players walk and each cart is being driven by local volunteers who are experts on golf etiquette, knowledge of rules of the game as well as golf players of some stature.

Preference was given in picking the list of volunteers to Gold and Silver local sponsors of the tournament.

Complete list of teams, starting times, on Pg. 20

A. T. Phillips of Vero Beach drew the team of Slammin' Sammy Snead and Ed Tutwiler; Fritz Mock of St. Lucie Country Club drew the team of Bruce Fleisher, National Amateur champ this year, and pro Bert Greene.

Ralph Connolly of Stuart drew Bob Murphy, who won over $100,000 as a rookie this year on the PGA tour. Murphy is playing with Mike Ectridge.

Ed Coker of Jensen Beach drew Jaye Finsterwald, former PGA champ who will be playing with Lanny Watkins and M. H. Dickerson, SLCC, will be driving for Julius Boros, current PGA champ, who will team with Bob Barbarossa.

Social events on the calendar for the hundreds of visitors to the Pro-Am include the following:

Wednesday, Dec. 11, 6:30 to 7:30 p.m., for all participants for sponsors and contestants. Informal modeling will feature the party.

The first round of the tourney gets under way on Thursday at 9 a.m., with 204 players. Luncheon will be at the Club House, Ryder room, snack bars and sandwich stands.

At noon an informal fashion show will be offered for the ladies and their gentlemen. Modeling will be outside on the putting green, swimming pool, clubhouse and scoreboard area.

A Bavarian Festival will climax Thursday's social events, served in the ballroom from 6 to 10 p.m., will be a Bavarian menu. Dress will be informal for the 500 persons attending. Music will be by Carl Greer and his swing orchestra.

Friday, the entire day is free for visitors to tour local areas and enjoy the hospitality of the people of Martin and St. Lucie Counties. The second round of the tournament will be played on both courses.

Trophies will be awarded in the Convention Hall late Saturday afternoon, following the third and final round of the tourney. The Stuart course will be open for normal play on Saturday.

A resident of Martin County is in military service entitled to Homestead Exemption on his home even if he may not be living there. Tax Collector Ben Hill Haines reminds. The law applies this year. The home is rented. Further details [illegible] tax assessor.

Christmas display set for Jensen Beach Causeway

Plans are being completed for the third annual presentation of "Christmas-on-The-Causeway" at Jensen Beach. The community Christmas program, which has proved so popular during the past two years, will feature choirs of various churches, Christmas carol group singing, and refreshments.

The night of caroling will be Friday, Dec. 20, at 7 p.m., according to Rev. Wm. O. Crawford, pastor of Tropical Farms Baptist Church. He is the outgoing president of Martin County Ministerial Association, which is handling the program in cooperation with the Jensen Beach Fireworks Committee and Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce.

The program will be climaxed by a fireworks display floating on barges in the Indian River, presented by the fireworks committee.

The small pavilions on the south side of the Jensen Beach Causeway, used during the year for picnicking, are being converted into settings of religious displays of the birth of Christ, each depicting a Christmas carol. These pavilions, with their life-size figures, lighted at night, draw about 18,000 cars during the season. Interested residents and visitors for miles around drive slowly across the causeway, viewing the religious displays. More than 5,000 persons attended the festivities and heard the singing last year.

Master of ceremonies this year will be Rev. Harold Heidel, new president of the Ministerial Association. He is pastor of the Assembly of God Church of Palm City. Any church choirs interested in taking part may call Rev. Crawford at 287-6014.

Members of the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department and the Ministerial Association have been busy during the past week setting up the backdrops and figures on the pavilions. They will be ready for viewing this Friday, Dec. 13, according to Frank Warha, originator of the "Christmas-on-the-Causeway" program.

Christmas in pictures edition is planned

Again this year, The Jensen Beach Mirror will have a special feature at Christmastime...the fifth annual Christmas Party edition.

Anyone planning a Christmas party is asked to call The Mirror office at 287-7333 or 287-7334. We will register the party and have a photographer there to take a picture for the "Christmas in Pictures" edition.

The Christmas edition will be released December 24.

County will repair jetty

The Martin County Commission voted Tuesday to drag an undetermined number of concrete slabs stored at Elliott Museum to the St. Lucie Inlet jetty, and plans immediate repairs to the jetty.

Commissioners directed county engineer Tom Slider to drag the beach slabs trucked to the end of the present road on Hutchinson Island and get them the final mile to the inlet. Slider plans to drag the slabs down the beach.

The commission action brought high praise from the Leonard Smith, leader of SLIP, St. Lucie Inlet Protestors, an organization that protested the dredging of the inlet until the jetty, which was badly broken down and washed away in sections, was plugged.

"We are as ready to praise as we are to criticize," Smith said. He pointed to the "hard work and research" of County Commissioner Frank Warha and Slider that led up to the decision to use the slabs to plug the ancient jetty.

"Everyone in Martin County who is interested in a safe and deep inlet should thank these two men, and the entire Martin County Commission for their work in getting the inlet jetty plugged," Smith said. "There is still a lot to do, but the job is being done, and we are proud as can be of the commission." The plugging of the jetty is, of course, temporary. But it will keep the inlet free from the tons of sand pouring through from the north, and may save thousands of dollars in tax money that might have been poured into dredging the inlet again and again due to the natural drift of the sand through the jetty.

"Over half a million dollars has been wasted on dredging the inlet, only to have it fill in after a few storms. We feel that this new action will stop the present percentage of the filling, and the improvements taking place in the inlet at present should take care of quite a bit more, thus reducing the area of dredging after it fills.

"We're happy and proud that this has come about. We look forward to the day when we can take a boat through the inlet and look over to see the jetty holding back the sand and water on the north," Smith concluded.

Warha, in making the motion before the commission, said that the research of the engineers had been completed, and the slabs stored for the most temporary plug available, and added that a crane would place the slabs.

Anglers protest fish kill

Martin County Anglers Club members are asking Governor Kirk to order a full investigation of the recent fish kill in the St. Lucie Inlet. The kill is believed to be originated in the water control and fisheries divisions of the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

The request for Kirk's help came from Martin Beuvelmans, chairman of the Anglers club pollution control committee.

The kill area was south of SR 76, where an irrigation ditch drains into the river. Analysis of fish and water from that area is still being conducted. The kill seems to be one of the beginning of this week, according to Capt. Jim Jordan, of the Commission's West Palm Beach office.

Christmas Lighting Contest

A "Christmas Lighting Contest" will be sponsored again this season by the Jensen Beach Garden Club. The contest will be for residents of Jensen Beach area.

To enter the contest, call Mrs. Basil Vincent, 287-0096; Mrs. Gerald Preston, 287-4189 or Mrs. Richard Gideon, 287-1973.

Judges will view entries between Christmas and New Year's to determine the best three of the lighted grounds and or homes.

GROUNDBREAKING CEREMONIES- Stalwart members of the Jensen Beach Lions Association braved the cool breezes Monday morning to take part in groundbreaking ceremonies for their new clubhouse. The new building, now constructed by Ray Liles, foreground above, will be located on Sugar Road, just north of the Cutoff Rd. (SR 707A), Jensen Beach, on land donated to the Association by Kiplinger Estate. Left to right, above, are; Polli Sliander, Eva Beggs, Alice Millar, Lion holding blueprints of the clubhouse, Jean Pendlarge, president Hazel Forsberg, Gretchen Pohley, chairman of the building committee Mildred Skinner, Fern Wright, Margaret Thompson, trustee of the building fund Marie Miller, turning the first shovelful of dirt; Sylvia Rand, Mike Friedrichs, Geneva Siebert and Blanche Baker.

National Guard to inspect rifle range

An inspection of the new rifle range west of Port Salerno will be made in the near future, according to Capt. George M. Tracy, Hdq. Bat. 265th Artillery, Florida Army National Guard.

Martin County and the Guard signed a 10-year lease in November, 1967, on the 144-acre tract located six miles south of Stuart, according to County Commission Chairman Tiner Bowers, who received the notification from Capt. Tracy.

The National Guard will invest about $35,000 in the area, which originally came under county ownership thru a land swap several years ago. The county's part of the agreement in construction of access roads and other work including a firing line, has been completed.

There will be a rifle range, pistol range, bayonet course, obstacle course, range house, bivouac areas and a control tower. The lease will be held by the National Guard and will operate the range. However other military units in the state may use it.

The range will be used only during daylight hours, according to Col. Robert de Marcellus, commander of the 160th Transportation Battalion, West Palm Beach. The heaviest weapons to be used will be .45 calibre pistols and .30 calibre rifles, he said.

Sailfish Regatta has 14 entries

Fourteen entries have been reported in the Sailfish Regatta scheduled for Jan. 18-19, according to Jack Sadler, general chairman for the annual power boat races.

Committees are now complete, he said, with Herman Raitz and Jerry Travis as vice-chairmen.

Spoil to be used to build up park

Phipps Park will benefit from the maintenance dredging in the St. Lucie Canal.

Officials of Martin County have arranged with the Army Corps of Engineers and Flood Control District to use spoil from the dredging in the canal to build up the waterfront perimeter of the park.

HONORED—Sgt. Bruce A. Sandell, 4519th Combat Crew Training Squadron, recently was selected 23rd Tactical Fighter Wing Maintenance Man of the Month. Now stationed at McConnell AFB, Wichita, Kan., he was previously on duty at Takhli Royal AFB, Thailand. Sandell has received numerous awards during his service assignments.

Condominium law affects county

A provision in the new state constitution to allow homestead exemption on individual units of condominiums throughout the state will cut more than $1 million from Martin County's tax roll. The new ruling will go into effect in 1970. And by that time the figure could be much higher, depending upon how many condominium units are built here in the meantime.

A single exemption is allowed each condominium apartment building at present, no matte how many individual units there are. Homestead exemptions on the 19 condominium buildings now established or under way in the county, would amount to $95,000. However, there will be 212 units in these 19 buildings, bringing the homestead exemption total to $1,060,000 in 1970, covering only the 19 condominiums. Many more are planned in the interim.

Each condominium unit is expected to yield about $100 in county taxes, after homestead exemption.

Condominiums are popular in this area. Hobsser-Mark's Cedar Pointe in Stuart had 26 units last year; 78 are being built this year, and 36 will be constructed soon. Little Ocean Place on Hutchinson Island has 40 units under construction, with more planned. Tierra Verde built 16 units last year and is building 16 more at the Stuart site. Other condominiums are scheduled for construction at Jensen Beach on Hutchinson Island, and at Palm City.

James chairmans state delegation

State Rep. William James of Delray Beach has been named by the Palm Beach-Martin County House delegation as its chairman at a recent meeting.

James, Rep. Jack Poorbaugh, Boynton Beach, and Rep. Donald H. Reed, Jr., Boca Raton, served in the past session of the Legislature. They attended the meeting, held in West Palm Beach, as did newly-elected Rep. John Jordan, North Palm Beach.

Wacha elected to state committee

Martin County Commissioner Frank A. Wacha has been named vice-chairman of the Taxation and Revenue Committee of the State Association of County Commissioners for 1968-69.

Square Club

The Jensen Beach Square Club and Wimodausis will meet at the Jensen Beach Community Center Friday, Dec. 13 at 8 p.m. to observe Christmas.

Members are asked to bring a 50¢ gift marked for man or woman, to exchange. Refreshments will be served and Mrs. Keith will play the piano for Christmas singing.

Dump site offered

A 100-acre parcel of land, about 2,000 feet north of the dump being used by the Rastrelli Brothers, has been offered to Martin County Commissioners by Henry Grien of Port Salerno for $25,700. Grien, owner of the 330-acre dump off Martin Grade, made the offer last week at a meeting with the garbage and dump subcommittee.

The $20,000 county-built road to the present dump must be extended to the new site, Grien said, and the county would be expected to survey the land and fence the 100 acres. The commissioners indicated they would look further for a dump site for the county. When a new site is purchased, the zoning on the Grien dump will be changed from "public dump" to "agriculture". And the county-built road will probably be removed, according to County Commissioner Timer Powers.

At the meeting, the Rastrelli brothers offered to sell a dragline and an end-loader to the county for $7,500. The offer was not accepted.

Bridge

Stuart Duplicate Bridge Club is planning its Christmas party for Wednesday, Dec. 18, at Stuart Youth Center. All players are invited.

Pins available for servicemen's families

New service pins for families of U.S. servicemen have been approved by the U. S. Defense Department and are available without charge at First National Bank of Stuart.

The new Blue Star Service Pin, 3/16 by 3/8", may be worn by parents and wives of all military personnel serving in the Armed Forces in the states and overseas.

Free service flags are also available at the bank.

Brotherhood dinners start at Community Church

The first of a series of Men's Brotherhood dinners will be Friday, Dec. 13, at Jensen Beach Community Church. Sittings are at 4, 5 and 6 p.m., with special rate tickets available for the five dinners.

The combined Christmas party for all adult organizations of the church will be Friday, Dec. 20. Bring a covered dish, table service, toy for a child or money gift. Gifts will be distributed by WSTU through the Ministerial Association and Salvation Army.

M. Dustin wins first prize

Mrs. Marguerite Duston of Jensen Beach won first prize on a watercolor painting at the Lighthouse Gallery at Jupiter Tequesta.

The annual show, held recently, displayed more than a hundred paintings. Over fifty artists from Ft. Pierce to Boca Raton exhibited their works.

Clark-Snyder rites to be Sat.

The wedding of Mrs. Ann Clark and Henry Snyder will take place Saturday, Dec. 14, at 4 p.m. in the parsonage of Trinity United Methodist Church, Jensen Beach.

The Rev. Nell M. Gunsalus will officiate at the ceremony.

Both Mrs. Clark, 82, and Snyder, 77, are residents of Jensen Beach.

A small reception will be held at the home of the bride on Park Road from 5 to 7 p.m. following the ceremony.

Orchid Society installs officers

Installation of officers will highlight the Christmas party-covered dish dinner of the Martin County Orchid Society Saturday, Dec. 14. The dinner will get under way at 6 p.m. at the Levi M. Johnson Agricultural Center for members and their guests.

All are asked to bring an exchange present, according to Mrs. Dassori, chairman.

Levi Johnson will be installing officer, and Ed Clay will be master of ceremonies.

Homestead Exemption

Homestead exemption applications for 1969 are to be filed between Jan. 1 and Apr. 1 in order to be effective for next year's taxes, according to Joseph Phillip, Martin County tax assessor's office.

Applications may not be filed prior to Jan. 1, and must be filed before Apr. 1, he said.

Art Associates to meet Friday

The Art Associates of Martin County will journey with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stafford at a meeting Friday, Dec. 13. The Staffords will show pictures of a five-month trip across the country and through Mexico.

The 7:30 meeting will be in the community room of First National Bank Building. Refreshments will be served.

Presbyterians to go fishing

The Men's Council of First Presbyterian Church, North River Shores, will have a fishing party on Saturday, Dec. 14. Boats will meet at the north side of the Ten Cent Bridge at 8 a.m., and will return at 1 p.m. Bring your own rod and lures. Boat owners will provide cut bit. All men of the church are invited.

The Adult Choir will present its annual Advent Musicale on Thursday, Dec. 19, at 8 p.m. This event will be followed by a tea given by the United Presbyterian Women.

Thank you

My sincere thanks to all friends and neighbors for their cards, calls, gifts and kindnesses extended to me during my recent accident.

Their thoughtfulness is much appreciated.

Nell Sprott

Thank you

I wish to thank all friends and neighbors for their cards, flowers, and kind expressions of sympathy during my recent bereavement.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Edward Hastings.

Shuffleboard News

Thirty eight enthusiastic [illegible] attended the regular meeting of the Shuffleboard Club in Clement Hall, Monday, Dec. 2, Nae Calder presiding.

Sports category given by Sec. Work; district delegate, [illegible] Coslow, Indian River League representative Harry [illegible] Indian River League head Bill Krowars; and Round Robin manager Bob [illegible]. It was voted to have Round Robin winners again if they are needed to fill a court.

President Nae Calder expressed appreciation to those who cleaned the courts and surrounding area and to those who served refreshments at the I.R.L. match at Fort Pierce.

A discussion was held on the [illegible] that a beginner's class be held every Tuesday at 9:30 A.M. with Harvey Hill and Al Colby as instructors. A new class to begin each month. Advanced instruction will be given by Ernie Pfingsten and Harry Wilkie every Tuesday from 4 to 5 p.m.

Players were reminded to post the time before beginning to play with a limit of three games or one and a half hours, which comes first.

Manager Calder reported for the committee which chose the players for the Indian River League and explained the method used in their selection. He also announced that the Gala Day players would be chosen only from those who had participated in 50% of the games.

It was voted to have the following home tournaments: Ladies Singles, Mens Singles, the Duke Memorial, and Round Robin play off.

Calder appointed the following committee to make plans for a Christmas party: Harvey Hill, Gene Kislow, Avis Colby, Pete Hillman, and Bill Tourville.

The following volunteered to take charge of the December Round Robin play: Dec. 2, Bill Tourville, Dec. 9, Pete Hillman, Dec. 16, Frank Prosseus; Dec. 15, Fletch Gardner; Dec. 23, Clarence Bell; Dec. 22, Bob Robinson; Dec. 28, John Wall; Dec. 29, Lenore Vieland.

In it's second Indian River League match on Dec. 4, Ocean Breeze lost to Whispering Creek by a score of 6 to 4.

The Ocean Breeze Shuffleboard Club is proud of it's representation in the Central East Coast District with Dr. Thomas Moore, president; Betty McKay, secretary-treasurer; Fred Vieth, tournament director; and Charles Lord, assistant tournament director.

Emily Ewing's sister, Miranda Huffman, is staying with her this winter on S. 9th. They are both from Cape May, N.J.

Steve and Hattie Stephens had the pleasure of the company of their son and daughter in law over Thanksgiving for about a week. Friend, Fred Bassett came with them. Larry, Jr, flew down from Minneapolis to West Palm Beach in a six passenger plane to oversee the installing of new windows in the Washington Hotel which is being remodelled. Thanksgiving Day, Larry took them all to a popular restaurant in Stuart.

One day the men went fishing and were quite successful. Larry caught 2 snook and 1 trout. Fred landed 2 snook, and of course Steve Sr. had to keep his reputation by also bringing home 2 snook.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Rakes wish to thank their good neighbors and friends for cleaning their trailer and having it all ready to move into Sunday evening when they arrived. We surely do appreciate everything all of you have done, even the cake and coffee break to the trailer. Thank you many times over. Claude and Lee Dee.

We received a letter from Pat & Julia Wagner of California, Cook were popular resident of Ocean Breeze until a few years ago. Julia says she and Pat are entertaining a couple and six will join on Christmas Day and they wish all their old-time friends in the Park a Merry Christmas.

Luther Weeks tells us that when he and Mary left Savannah, Ga., Nov. 26, on their return trip from N. Carolina, the temperature was 40 degrees and Luther was enjoying the comfort of his long underwear. They drove through rain all the way to Jacksonville—cold rain, then—Bingo. Just like that they were in Florida with the sun caught in his "long johns". A roadside service station drew in sight and Luther got out the warm coat and returned with a cookie under his arm. The journey was completed in comfort.

The Warnes, Minnie and Lester, are home on Key Lime for the winter. They had an interesting summer, of course enjoying the kids and friends when they first returned to Milwaukee last spring, then later to Duluth and Angier. Then how about Lester, and a companion, went on a fishing trip to the Woodruff and Minocqua areas in Wis. After a month or six weeks at home, they again got the urge to take the camper, and went into upper Wisconsin around Grant Marais, where they met McCammons who used to reside here, then continued the trip around Lake Superior, and back through Sault Ste. Marie, speaking about the camper, Minnie said, "We just love the fool thing."

Gladys Adams writes to say her husband Lester is not too well. He has had several trips to the hospital since leaving us last spring. She writes, "Lester goes back to the hospital for a check up Dec. 12 and we will know more after that. If we do get to Florida it will not be before January. If we can't make it then we will rent our trailer for the balance of the season. Do you have Art Johnson's address? We think so much about him." With best wishes, Gladys and Lester.

Arthur Johnson's address is: # 2820 Broadway, Riviera Beach, Fla., 33404. Lester Adams' address is: 8422 Hamilton St., Detroit, Mich., 48202.

Dropped in at Honey Chase Dec. 5th at the Clubhouse to see what's new. Last week they were making flowers which were wrongly referred to as glass flowers rather than DEPITY GLASS FLOWERS. They are beautiful and come in a variety of colors. The fad for this week is knit dolls from the ends of colored yarn. Jane a Drummond boy will knit nifty uniform was real appealing and the little girl dolls were dainty and colorful. They will make lovely tree ornaments as well as gifts for little children.

Rainfall

We had lots of sunshine and not much rain for the past month of November. Two rains were recorded on 5th Ave., Nov.10, 1.29 inches and Nov. 29, .48 inches, making a total for November, 1968 of 1.77 inches, compared with 4.15 inches in October, 1967.

Rainfall to date this year was 71 inches. Rainfall to date last year was 62.70 inches.

Hoke's birthday celebrated

An extra large crowd estimated at 150, attended the Saturday night dinner of Dec. 7. These Saturday night dances are always popular but this one was special. It was Mayor Hoke's 82nd birthday. The steadystream of Ocean Breezers offering their congratulations was proof enough of Hoke's popularity.

Ice cream and home made cake were served throughout the evening by the refreshment committee headed by Ruth Hoke and assisted by Orlie Lekland, Estelle Kennedy and Marth Sheehy.

Camera Club

Our Thursday night Camera Club attendance is steadily increasing. 91 persons enjoyed the slide show by George Reeve. His sister Carole Chapman ran the projector while George did a good job of commenting. His slide show took us from Los Angeles to New Zealand and back by way of the South Pacific. His pictures of some of the South Sea Islands were exceptionally good.

Following immediately, the F.P.A. slide circuit slide were shown with taped commentary by the Ocean Breeze judging committee and the F.P.A. commentator. The latter person explained the strong points and the weak points of each slide and told how her opinion, each could be improved, with the exception of one, which she considered perfect.

Most seats were filled on 12/9, as Ruby Wren entertained with some of her piano solos and the audience joined in singing the choruses of several popular old time songs, her theme is Ruby, Navi Dorinda. Dec. 12 Carole Chapman will entertain us with some more violin solos on [illegible]. Don't forget. 7:30 p.m.

Orlo Spears recovered from illness

Orlo Spears [illegible] reached [illegible] home in Key Lime Park, [illegible] and is pleased to report that he is getting on well after [illegible] last night when he suffered a slight stroke and was a patient in Martin Memorial Hospital for some time. He was well enough to travel to their summer home by car on Dec. 4, accompanied by Mrs. Spears, Clifford, Edna, and Carol and followed with their car, the latter having recently the privilege was presented and the son drove the car all the way to Jacksonville as Orlie flew down that far and picked up the car for the rest of the trip.

Orlie Spears has had one slight fall an unusual record, having suffered three strokes, His final retirement was from Key Largo Post of Police and Fire Dept. after 19 years of service, and the final retirement was from three terms as State Representative of South Maine in 1966. He seems to be very busy around their trailer home getting it beautified for the season.

Earl Ehrman's sister thrilled with Florida

When Lila & Earl Ehrman returned to their trailer on Kumquat for the winter, Earl's sister Mrs. Pearl Harrison accompanied them, and stayed for a two week visit. Pearl who is 75 years young, comes from Clinton, Ind., and had never taken such a long trip before, and she had had been in Florida although she had never been that far south since it from her home and his wife. The trip down by car of course was most interesting to her, seeing the changing scenery as they passed through the different states. Arriving in Florida was a big thrill, and she immediately fell in love with our state, and certainly made good use of her while here.

Earl and Lila took her to Cape Kennedy for a day and took the very nice personally conducted tour four around the Cape. Over to Tampa to see the Busch Gardens; on a shopping trip to West Palm Beach, and to the Outrigger for dinner were among the outstanding events of her visit, but she also enjoyed the interesting things and recreations of the Park too, and found the Mahogany Buds so intriguing that she dried and nailed a few to take home to show her friends, took in bingo and just thoroughly enjoyed everything.

When it came time to leave she flew back to Terre Haute, Ind., where relatives met her and although she had not flown before, and her trip was re-scheduled showing a fine trip across Chicago, necessarily, she took it all in her stride, and what more can be said except, it is wonderful what some of our senior citizens do in this day and age.

Cooke - Foster win Stuart election

Incumbent city commissioner Ray Cooke was re-elected on Tuesday with 442 votes to Harold Whalen's 393 votes. Cooke will again hold Seat Two in Stuart.

In the Seat 1 Stuart City Commission race, Charles Foster obtained 453 votes to 348 for his opponent, Kenneth Stimmell.

Eight hundred sixty persons voted, for a poor showing of about 40 per cent.

Martin County Ladies Golf Association played odd holes with one-half handicap Tuesday. Winners were:

Class A, 1st, Jane Grant; 2nd, Frances King. Class B, 1st, Marian Riola; 2nd, Marge Baranek; Class C, tie for first, Edith Wiegand and Jessie Higbee; 2nd, Biddie Stafford.

Building permits in the amount of $273,815 were issued last month by the City of Stuart. This is the largest total in seven months, according to a report from the building inspector.

Permits for November of 1967 totaled $39,925.

Included in last month's figures were a new restaurant on U.S. 1, $50,000; a new church complex for Mt. Calvary Baptist Church in the amount of $48,000, and a new warehouse, $28,000. There were 27 permits issued.

School bond issue

No referendum would be necessary in Martin County on the proposed bond issue for new schools in Jensen Beach and a middle school in Indiantown, according to D. C. Huskey, representative of William R. Hough & Co., of St. Petersburg.

The school system can issue up to $2.15 million worth of bonds within about four months, he said, pledging its share of race track taxes and part of its share of state capital improvement funds to pay the principal and interest.

Two bond issue plans have been presented to the school board by Huskey, with bonds to be issued to cover a 30-year period. Under one plan, the board would issue $1.88 million worth of bonds with a pledge of race track revenue, and an additional $270,000 with a pledge of $23,000 annually from the state's annual allotment to the county for capital improvements.

This plan would net the county $1.85 million after deduction of a two per cent bond discount, capital reserve, capitalizing interest, legal and fiscal charges.

Under the other plan, only the race track revenue would be pledged. Bonds would total $1.88 million and would net $1,617 million for the county after deduction of discount, capital reserve, capitalizing interest, fiscal and legal charges.

Country Western theme

The barn doors are open, the cows are out, the chickens fed and all is ready for the 1969 Variety Show, which will feature a country-western theme for the production. Show dates are set for Jan. 31 and Feb. 1, at Martin County High School gymnatorium.

The show will be basically all new, according to Howard Haid, director. It will feature a lot of new local talent and will be fast-moving from start to finish. It is geared, he said, to keep the audience on the edge of their seats in anticipation of the next act.

Jack Scott will handle the emcee job for the upcoming show and will be backed by the able assistance of many of the area's top performers, Haid said. "This is one show no one will want to miss," say members of the production staff.

County establishes R2C

The establishment of R2C, a new zoning classification that will permit lots of 5,000 square feet (50' by 100') with homes of 600 square feet of living space if there is central water and sewage available, was accomplished by the Martin County Commission Tuesday.

The zoning classification was requested for the development of property in Booker Park by the Indiantown Company. Commission Chairman Elmer Powers spoke for the classification, saying that it was in line with federal suggestions for low-cost housing.

County Attorney Dean Tooker spoke on behalf of the new classification, saying that there were people in depressed economic straits who would benefit. He added that the category does not obligate the board to establish it, and the board could control or limit it to any area.

Jensen Beach Mirror editor spoke against the proposition, calling it "instant slums", and saying that when it was proposed for Jensen Beach nine years ago by developer Louis Davidson, the "people rose up against it, as they would if this were sent out to public meetings and explained".

Howard Haid, Indiantown Press editor and a member of the zoning board, said that he was against the category, that duplexes would suffice.

Commissioner Frank Wascha said that if the people of Booker Park were required to move out of the present dwellings and into the new it would be a good move. Other commissioners agreed.

The new category was passed by the commission.

Third annual celebration

Thousands due Saturday for Christmas on Causeway

WE THREE KINGS of Orient are, Bearing gifts we traverse afar, Field and fountain, moor and mountain following yonder star. Oh, star of wonder, star of night, Star with royal beauty bright, Westward leading, still proceeding, Guide us to the perfect light.

O, LITTLE TOWN OF BETHLEHEM, how still we see thee lie; above thy deep and dreamless sleep the silent stars go by. Yet in the dark streets shineth an everlasting light. The hopes and fears of all the years are met in Thee tonight.

THE FIRST NOEL the angel did say was to certain poor shepherds in fields as they lay; in fields where they watching their sheep, On a cold winter's night that was so deep. Noel, Noel, Noel, Noel, born is the King of Israel.

Christmas Services

By Dick Campbell

Thousands of visitors, tourists and local residents are expected to crowd Jensen Beach Causeway this Saturday for the third annual "Miracle on the Causeway," a social-religious event that has become a part of the Christmas season in Martin County.

Church, civic and service groups each year will fill the air with songs of Christmas as the Martin County Ministerial Association sponsors the event which brings forth the deep and meaning of Christmas, the happiness of a world celebrating the birth of Christ. Several church services scheduled to sing, including the Island of St. Joseph Church. Jensen Beach Elementary School will be present in front of the large platform "for the very elderly", said the Rev. William O. Crawford, pastor of Tropical Farms Baptist Church, an outgoing president of the Ministerial Association.

It will be a festive occasion, with a display of Christmas scenes that has received wide-wide acclaim. Each of the scenes is housed in one of the ten small pavilion along the Causeway lines. There are nativity scenes, floats and family, candlelight scenes and others.

The central theme in the Christmas display is the manger scene with life-size figures surrounding the tiny crib of the Christ-child. Other scenes depict the songs of Christmas, including a typical version of the little town of Bethlehem, shepherds with their sheep, the star that following the star, a group of angels and a scene of a church steeple bells.

One lucky person who purchases a Christmas tree and a family, another a group of carolers outside a home, and one last a chapel scene.

Also the opening night of festivities on the Causeway during January 3, Epiphany. There will be Christmas music played during the evening, when the big tree will be lighted. Last year 12,000 automobiles crossed the causeway to view the festival lights and holidays.

NEWLYWEDS--Mrs. Annie R. Clark and Henry M. Shyster were married Saturday, Dec. 14, at 2 p.m. at Trinity United Method ist Parsonage. The Rev. Neil M. Gunsalus, pastor, officiated at the ceremony. Standing up for the newlyweds, who have been neighbors in Jensen Beach, were Mr. and Mrs. Chester F. Horne of Sanbornville, N.H. A reception at the home of the bride, 13 Park Rd., followed the ceremony.

Tax case hearing is sought

Circuit Court Judge Wallace Sample will consider a petition for a rehearing on a tax assessment case brought by two Jupiter landowners, this week, Judge Sample has set Friday, Dec. 20, at 11 a.m. for the hearing at the courthouse in Stuart.

Property owners William H. Melvin and St. Lucie-Jupiter Co. protested an increase in the assessment of their property. Melvin's assessment went from $52,000 to $453,340; St. Lucie-Jupiter Co.'s increase was from $125,000 to $750,000.

The case had been heard by Judge Sample last June at which time he ruled against the county, saying it was conscientious in its assessment but was erroneously influenced by an appraisal of the property by Bill Burns of West Palm Beach.

Telephone cable is installed

A new submarine telephone cable has been installed across the South Fork of the St. Lucie River, according to W. R. Bursing, manager of Southern Bell's Stuart office. The new cable was necessary so work on the new Palm City Bridge could get under way.

Work is expected to begin early next year on the $1,210,827 bridge. The new bridge, to be constructed just north of the old span, will be built by Scott Construction Co. of Thomasville, Ga.

GOP cruising party Saturday

Members and friends of the Republican Club of Martin County will cruise the St. Lucie River this Saturday on the Starz. The group will leave St. Lucie Country Club docks at 7:30 p.m. on Dec. 21, according to Fred C. Meyer, chairman.

This will be a Christmas and appreciation party, Meyers said. Only 90 reservations will be accepted. Call Meyers, 287-1358, or Walter Weeks, 287-3089 for reservations.

Myrna Bruner heads Realtors

Mrs. Myrna Bruner was installed as president of the Stuart Board of Realtors on Friday, Dec. 6, at ceremonies held at St. Lucie Country Club.

Other officers also installed by Host C. Murphy, vice-president of the Third District of the Florida Association of Realtors, were Horace D'Ambrogio, vice-president; Carl Turner, secretary, and Ethel Walker, treasurer.

Edward Jenke was master of ceremonies at the hotel installation banquet held by Stuart and Ft. Pierce Board of Realtors.

FOR ONLY $1,200.00 you can add a 15' x 15' CBS Florida room to your home. For information call Sam Rhodes, Bldg. Contractor, 287-0366 or 287-7196.

Junior Women hear Rev. Clinton Marlowe

"Keeping Christ in Christmas" was the theme of the talk given by the Rev. Clinton Marlowe to the Junior Woman's Club of Stuart at their Christmas meeting, Monday evening, December 9th, at the clubhouse. The Christmas theme was also carried out in the table and room decorations. Members brought gifts to be sent to the children the club sponsors at Sunland and for the cottage the club sponsors at the Okeechobee Boys School.

Mrs. Thomas L. Fitch III was welcomed as a new member. Guests were: Mrs. Vincent Simson, Mrs. Robert McRoberts, Jr., and Mrs. Sharon DuPont.

Mrs. Kermit Tucker, chairman of the Fashion Show committee, announced that the tentative date for the show will be March 5th.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. James Bartlett and Mrs. Walden Pratt.

Miss Diane Wilson was program chairman, and Mrs. Robert Taylor led the devotions.

Mrs. Russell feted at coffee

Mrs. George Conover of Melba Drive, Jensen Beach, entertained friends at a coffee Thursday morning, in honor of her sister, Mrs. Hiram S. Russell.

The Russells have recently moved to this area from Kewanee, Ill. and will live in Hidden Harbor.

Guests included Dr. Ione Kral, Miss Helen Funnell, Miss Jean Koos, Mrs. Isabel Taylor, Mrs. Rod Aderholdt, Mrs. Manila Meyer, Mrs. Hilda Eldman, Mrs. Ernest Acarhold: and Mrs. Ruth Bowman.

CD staff has IRIS briefing

Martin County Civil Defense staff personnel met last week at Emergency Operations Control Headquarters for briefing on Increased Readiness Information System (IRIS). The group also had a work session on the preparation of IRIS reports, which are required by state and federal government in the event of any crisis.

CD director Al Keaton and John Gray, who represented the Martin County Board of Public Instruction as CD coordinator, attended the Florida State CD conference last week in Palm Beach.

Just a minute

Shut-in telephone service is offered

A service to shut-in patients and invalids is being offered by the Stuart Woman's Club, according to Mrs. John DeCapite and Mrs. Lucian Michael, co-chairwomen of the Community Improvement Program Project.

The service would be designed to make daily calls to people in the Stuart, Jensen Beach, Hobe Sound, Port Salerno and Palm City area. The callers would check to see if they are all right, and add a lift to those persons' day with a friendly voice saying "hello".

At present, there are 20 callers who will be handling the list. In order to get on the list, the shut-in would call 287-6455 or 287-2075. That person's name would be placed on the call sheet for daily calls from one of the many workers helping in the public service cause of the Stuart Woman's Club.

Persons serving on the committee include: Mrs. Russell Barbour, Mrs. Milton Basset, Mrs. W. P. Bishop, Mrs. John Carle, Mrs. H. M. Case, Mrs. Leo Fitch, Mrs. Fred Hawkins, Mrs. Everett Higgins, Mrs. John Kennedy, Mrs. Russell Livermore, Mrs. Josephine Migliore, Mrs. H. W. Newsom, Mrs. Clifford Prall, Mrs. Peter Steelman, Mrs. Karl Stark, Mrs. Ben Tooker, Mrs. Louis Villano, Mrs. Donald Warder, Mrs. Jack Williams and Mrs. George Wise.

The key slogan for the group is "Just a minute", meaning that a call a day for a minute would make the lives of so many safer and more enjoyable.

Cadet Langberg gets promotion

Cadet Joe Kurt Langberg, son of Mrs. Jonne Langberg of Riverside Village Trailer Park, Jensen Beach, has been promoted to petty officer second class, junior school, at Admiral Farragut Academy, St. Petersburg.

The promotion came for proficiency in naval science during the past month at the school which Langberg attends. This is a permanent appointment for the remainder of the school year.

So far 21 boats have entered the Regatta. Last year a total of 54 signed up.

Tigers smash John Carroll

The Martin County Tigers boosted their basketball record to 3-0 with an 81-22 thumping of the John Carrol High Rams in Fort Pierce last Tuesday.

The Tigers pounced on the Rams for a 37-2 lead after one quarter and continued to pull ahead throughout the game.

Five Tigers netted double figures with Willie Harris at 17, Robert Matheny at 16, Otis Johnson and Wallace Rogers 14, and Thad Howard 10 points.

The Rams suffered their third defeat in three starts. John Scotto and Mack topped the Fort Pierce team at six points each.

Witnesses subpeoned

Six persons are being subpoenaed as witnesses in the legislative audit of the City of Stuart. Subpoenas were issued Monday by the Circuit Court Clerk's office.

The six will appear at the courthouse in Stuart at 11 a.m. Wednesday (today) before State Attorney Charles T. Carlton and Legislative Auditor August Lutz of Ft. Lauderdale.

Being called for questioning, as having done business with the city, are David B. Irons, executive vice-president of First National Bank of Stuart; E. P. Kidd, Jr., Augustine city manager; Henry Lewis, Stuart, builder. Asked to bring business records when they appear are Harry Cambron, Cambron Construction Co. of Orlando; Samuel Brumbaught, of B-H Chemical sales, Orlando; and David Max Cohen, North Palm Beach, representative of Atlantic Chemical Manufacturers and Fort Pierce Chemical Co.

Following the hearing, Carlton and Lutz will report progress to the Martin County Grand Jury Wednesday night.

Four other witnesses were subpoenaed last week, all from H & H Chemical Co. of Miami.

Birdwatchers to keep count

Martin County birdwatchers are invited to take part in the annual Christmas bird count this Saturday. Birds may be reported by Dec. 22 to Mrs. Genevieve Trinter, chairman of the count for the Martin County Audubon Society. This is the 69th national bird count.

Editor to see Apollo

An invitation has been received by Richard E. Campbell, editor-publisher of The Jensen Beach Mirror, and president of Florida Press Association, to witness the launch of this nation's first manned lunar space flight from the John F. Kennedy Space Center on Saturday, Dec. 21.

The invitation came from the director of the Space Center, NASA.

Launch time for the Apollo 8 is set for 7:50 a.m.

Unlucky Friday?

Friday the 13th is considered unlucky, but this is not always so, as this little happening will tell.

There are three couples who play pinochle together once a week during the winter season. The Birchfields, Walter Scotts, and the Ralph Hallermands. Now comes the coincidence. Each of these boys celebrate their birthday December 13. This year the wives planned quite a surprise for them and took them to dinner that evening at the Manatee. After the main meal was finished, the waiters came in, each carrying a beautiful birthday cake decorated with three large pink roses, and in the center of each rose there sparkled a sparkler to signify there really were three birthday boys. Waiters and guests alike all joined in singing Happy Birthday.

FIRST MOBILE HOME ON RIVER-FRONT EXTENSION: The first mobile home to be spotted on the new river front extension is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tyler. The two 12 x 48 trailers will be bolted together to make a 24 x 48 home.

A close second was the mobile home owned by Gene and Ruth Hoke which occupies the corner lot to the south of this one.

Personals

"Smitty" and Elcia Hoyt have the pleasure of the company of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Lodges and family visiting them for ten days. Elcia is Jerry's mother. During their stay here they are enjoying the many popular attractions of S. Florida, such as the orange groves, the West Palm Beach Mall, and the Seaquarium, the helicopter ride, Cape Kennedy, Lion Country, etc. We asked what was the highlight of their visit and they immediately replied, "The helicopter ride." But they admitted all they had seen were very interesting and they were having the time of their lives.

Clyde and Lila Redinger received a letter from Vern and Alma Moorhead last week. The Moorheads had their trailer under the Mango tree at the shuffleboard for two or three years. The Moorheads tell of a freak accident they had recently. They were travelling down the Columbia gorge on their way to Yellowstone Park when a sudden gust of wind jack-knifed the trailer and broke it away from the car. The car was swung crossways on the road and ran into the guard rail while the trailer went running and skidding down the hill till it ran off the road. Both car and trailer suffered damage, but neither of the Moorheads were hurt.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Cline of Arborvitas had as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jefferson from New London, Conn., this week. The Jeffersons live next door to the Clines in their summer home. Clines will join their friends on the west coast for the Christmas holidays.

Virginia and J. M. (Jim) Bolton who have been living on the corner of Pepper and Ocean for the past few years are moving to N. 3rd where they recently bought the Wm. Gilbert cottage, and are really busy renovating it. They will be moving in as soon as the work is completed. Boltons are expecting guests over the holidays.

Camera Club

At Camera Club last Thursday, Dec. 12, George Reeve showed a collection of slides of Cape Town, S. Africa and the surrounding country.

Following the South African trip, 36 camera minded members remained to see the Ansco slides demonstrating the possible uses of the new "500" film which the Ansco people claim is the fastest color film in the world.

While this film has great possibilities to obtain pictures without using a flash under poorly lighted conditions, it is necessary to use a fairly good camera with a good lens, for best results. To use the same film in strong daylight, the camera should have an F16 stop and a shutter speed of one 500th of a second.

Next Thursday, Dec. 19, we are having an opportunity to see some outstanding slides made by Art Huhnke when Mr. and Mrs. Huhnke made their trip around the world last summer.

Come early and be sure of a seat.

Sturrocks describe life on an island

Dave and Jean Sturrock returned recently to their cottage on Nutty Alley, "Oh, pardon me! It is now Pine Lane," well anyway they live in a very interesting place during the summer, and described it like this:

Sturrock's live on Governor's Island, N. H. It really is an island and was originally a grant from King George the Third to Governor Wentworth, first Governor of the Colonies in 1768. The house where Sturrock's live was once the homestead to the Mansion House, which burned down five years before the occupancy of the Sturrocks, and was built approximately 175 years ago.

Dave and Jean have lived there for 31 years and their two daughters, Shirley and Jean grew up there. There was also a blacksmith's shop on the property built at the same time as the home. It was strongly built with three foot thick stone walls, and as children the girls played around it never dreaming that one day a house would be built on that sight using the old building as part of a large and modern house which was to become Jean's home when she married and where she and her husband and children are living now.

All the wild life is protected on Governor's island, so it is a common sight to see deer and their fawns roaming about the grounds in the summer. In the late fall when Dave and Jean leave to come here they have to put up a six foot fence to protect their arborvitae hedge from these friendly animals.

Governor's Island is now connected to the mainland by a permanent bridge, but at one time there was a draw bridge. When the Governor wanted privacy, he had the draw closed.

Another fact of interest is that beautiful island is situated in Lake Winnipesaukee, the largest lake in N. H., getting it's name from Indian lore which means the smile of the great spirit. In summer this is a great summer resort, and in winter a real playground for skaters and skiers, and it (Lake) was to see why the Sturrocks speak with pride when they mention their home on Governor's Island.

How to get a house painted

Leon Eastman tells us of his Ocean Breeze company last July. He has four acres of grass as well as his garden, so when his first visitors arrived, Milton & Barte Sage, and Milton became very interested in Leon's big mower. Leon didn't object one bit when he offered to try it out. During the period of about two days that the Sages were there, Leon had no worries about getting the grass cut.

One day Leon made the remark that his house was needing a coat of paint which he intended to do sometime. Milton said, "There is no time like the present." So they went to work. Just about then more visitors arrived accidentally, the Harry Barnes and the Milton Parks with their Airstreams. Seeing the painting job already started, naturally Harry and Milton put on their painting duds and each grabbed a brush.

Nobody worked too hard and they had fun--also Leon had a newly painted house.

Finally the day arrived when the visitors had to move on, then each grabbed a camera and a picture taking spree was on, the results of which we may see in our clubhouse this winter.

Leon and Ruth Eastman are home for the winter on 11th Street, now. They ran into a bit of trouble on the way down. They spent the first night at Warrington, Va., where they found a nice trailer park to spot their Airstream. The next morning they woke to find an 80 mile per hour gale raging and a blanket of four inches of wet snow on the ground.

As the gale moderated the temperature dropped and to make things more interesting, the power failed. The Eastman trailer is heated by electric, so they were without heat. Our travellers used every blanket they had but were still shivering in bed. In desperation they got up and dressed, then got into bed with all their clothes on and managed to sleep. Leon, always the clown, said to Ruth, " It is too bad we didn't bring our electric blanket."

Next morning the roads were opened up and the Eastmans were able to proceed without further incident to Ocean Breeze.

Louise Karn heads Auxiliary

W PRESIDENT--Newly installed president of VWW1 Auxiliary Barracks #2936, Louise Karn, right, accepts the gavel from installing officer May Kirse on Dec. 9. The installation was held at the Elks Lodge in Ft. Pierce.

Harold Pursell installed as WW1 Vet Commander

About 70 persons attended the installation dinner at Elks Lodge in Fort Pierce for the Veterans of World War 1, Barracks #2936, and its Auxiliary on Dec. 9. Guests from Fort Pierce, Jensen Beach and West Palm Beach were present.

Cedric Benz welcomed everyone and turned the meeting over to Ken Millard, quartermaster, who called for the Pledge of Allegiance. Chaplain William Pfau offered a prayer. A steak dinner followed.

Past commander Cedric Benz introduced the committee for the installation. He thanked them for a job well done. The committee included chairman Steve Hanley, Harold Pursell, Ken Millard, Clarence Peck and Louise Karn.

Some guests were introduced from West Palm Beach, commander Paul Cornelius, John Lombardi, Joe Greenbaum, and Al Ferguson of Jensen Beach.

Benz recited a humorous poem "The Shape I'm In". He then turned the meeting over to outgoing president Carolyn Peterson Morford. She in turn introduced Hazel Greenbaum and president, Natalie Hackbart of Martin County, and Catherine Courtney of West Palm Beach.

Installing officer, Second District president May Kirse gave a short speech and called the ladies who were to be installed to the head table.

The new officers will be: president Louise Karn, sr. vice-commander Olive Marshall, jr. vice-commander Olive Bryant, secty-treas. Mary Cox, chaplain Elizabeth McKay, conductress Louise Wagner, guard Helen Pursell, and Heidi Specht, three-year trustee.

Mrs. Kirse then turned the meeting over to the newly installed president Louise Karn. Mrs. Karn gave a short speech and presented a gift to Mrs. Kirse.

Benz presented past department commander Phil Kirse, who called the new officers of the Barracks forward. The new officers will be:

Commander Harold Pursell, sr. vice-commander Stephen Hanley, jr. vice-commander George Jones, quartermaster Kenneth Millard, chaplain William Pfau, judge advocate Cedric Benz, and three-year trustee Buddy Russell.

Chaplain Pfau offered a prayer for the departed Buddies. The flag was retired. Cdr. Pursell recited the poem "In Flanders Field". Benz recited "American's Creed", to conclude the installation.

Bridge winners

William Miller and Richard Barbagallo topped the North-South division of the St. Lucie Country Club Duplicate Bridge game with 153 points, second: Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hessler, 146 points, third: Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Taylor, 135 points, fourth: Dr. and Mrs. Roger Bellows, 134 1/2 points, fifth: Anna Saldadino, and Anne Kuhn 130 1/2 points.

In the East-West division Harold Willard and Rudi Mairer were first with 143 points, second: Mr. and Mrs. E. Gates 136 points, third: Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Snelling, 129 points, fourth: Bill and Mildred Traverton 128 points, fifth: Dr. F. Hendrickson and Al Haigh 127 points.

The next regular game will be played Monday, December 16th at 1:30 P.M. after a lecture at 1:00 P.M. by Jay Mans. You are assured of a partner if you come alone.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Robinson are houseguests of Pete and Ron Jorgensen of 105 E. Prima Vista Blvd. The Robinsons will be in Florida until April, and they will visit many Florida cities while here. They are looking for their ideal location and will then buy a home and settle there.

This is Mrs. Robinson's third trip to PSL, but the first for her husband. He enjoys fishing and hopes to get some of the big ones here.

Prior to coming to PSL, the Robinsons spent the summer in Wisconsin, and visited Hot Springs, Arkansas.

Laura McFadden of 122 Estrada Ave. won one of the 20 door prizes at the Telephone Pioneers Christmas party on Dec. 9. The party was held at Riviera Restaurant, Vero Beach.

Christmas songs were sung and a good time was had by all. Attending the party were many PSL couples, including Mr. and Mrs. Ben Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Koegel, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Menzel, Mr. and Mrs. William Kinkelin, Mr. and Mrs. Blake McFadden and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Edwards.

Church plans party Friday

The combined Christmas party for all members of various adult organizations of Jensen Beach Community Church will be held Friday, Dec. 20.

Bring a covered dish. The meat course, probably ham and turkey, will be provided by the Men's Brotherhood and the Church Aid Circle. Also bring table settings and a toy (cost 50¢ to $1) or donation of money. This will be turned over to WSTU for the Christmas toy drive for needy youngsters.

Conservation reminder

A reminder from the Florida Conservation Patrol that all daylight net fishing except common cast nets or tarpon seins, is to be suspended on the inside waters of Martin County as of Dec. 10 until April 1. Ron Purdom, local patrol supervisor, reminds all local and out of state fishermen to be sure and know the fishing laws and that copies of the Conservation Fishing laws can be obtained at local tackle shops or from any conservation officer.

NEW OFFICERS--New officers of Rio Civic Club were installed in ceremonies held recently at the club house. Seated is Mrs. H. Spencer, treasurer, and Mrs. G. Lassiter, president. Standing, Joe Foster, vice-president, and Mrs. A. Bartlett, secretary. At right is Mrs. Janet Hutchinson, installing officer.

Rio Civic Club installs new officers

Sixty-five members and friends attended the Christmas party on Sunday, Dec. 15, of the Rio Civic Club. Following the turkey dinner, Santa Claus presented each of the 22 children present with a bag of toys.

Master of ceremonies was Al Walker. Gifts were exchanged.

Mrs. Kathleen Spencer was chairman for the evening, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. David Ivey, Mrs. Van Manwaring, Mrs. Helen Bragg, Mrs. Fred Schlitt, Miss Kathleen Dalziel, George Halfpenny and Bernard Nettman.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Dollard prepared the children's treat and were assisted by Mrs. Frank Ramsdell and Jeri Hutchinson. Decorations were by Mr. and Mrs. George Martin.

Seventy members were present at the Dec. 12 business meeting and installation and officers of the evening were Mr. and Mrs. John Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Chappell, Mr. and Mrs. H. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. H. Wehrig, and A. A. Bartlett.

A donation of $50 was voted for the Ruach Boys Club.

The next meeting will be a covered dish supper at 6 p.m. at which ladies were in charge.

The Dec. 7 card party, held at the home of Mrs. Fred and Mary Nettman, was attended by 40 members and guests.

Hostesses were Mrs. Charles Palmer, Mrs. Jack Shomer, Mrs. Alex Wilson and Mrs. Virginia Wood.

The next card party will be Jan. 4 at 8 p.m.

Legion dedicate post colors

Harold Jones Post 262, American Legion, Stuart, held dedication services for post colors which were presented to the post by Cecil Johns and his son, Pfc. Bill Johns, of Jensen Beach.

Services were held at the post home. The color guard was 8 p.m.

Following the ceremony, membership in a general meeting was conducted by Lt. Eddie Bridges. Also present were Auxiliary Unit, Local Post #262, Miss Nellie, Illinois, [illegible] he is commander.

Audubon meet

Rep. Phil [illegible] speak at the next meeting of the Martin County Audubon Society [illegible] at 8 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 19.

The business portion of the meeting will begin at 12 p.m. Gifts will be exchanged.

'Christmas In' held at Trinity Methodist

"Christmas In" a Christmas program presented by the senior class of Trinity United Methodist Church, was held Sunday evening, Dec. 22, at the church.

Hosts were Jim Shipes and Vikie Townsend. Cast included Charlene Bright, Kim Richardson, Debbie Cruse, Gay Shipes, Joe Milner, Dana Rathgeber and Paula Lewis.

Readings were by Mary Ann Shire, Eugene Rathgeber and Lisa Cunningham.

Junior children, dressed in costumes of foreign lands, took part in "Christmas Around The World" where each sang a carol of the country.

Taking part in this part of the varied program were: Jan Walker, Scotch; Roger Rathgeber, German; Donna Rathgeber, German; Joyce Rathgeber, Swedish; Marsha Milner, Latin America; Bill Milner, India.

Also, Myron Gunsalus, Dutch; Lydia Gunsalus, Spanish; Kim Budd, Japanese; Bryan Richardson, Swiss; Bennett Richardson, Swiss; and Susan Rathgeber, Russian.

In the finale, Lisa Richardson was "Mary", Eugene Newsome was "Joseph" and Lisa Budd was the angel.

Pianist for the program was Mrs. R. Renton. Teachers included Mrs. C. E. Rathgeber, kindergarten department; Mrs. K. Bright, Juniors; Mrs. D. Milner, primary, and G. W. Shipes, senior department.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Shannon and two sons, of Syracuse, N.Y., are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Forsberg, Skyline Drive, Jensen Beach.

28 inch fresh water shrimp in savannas?

Agents from the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, floated to Jensen Beach last week in search of a fresh water shrimp that grows 28 inches long, has claws with pearly-white teeth, and has a great potential as a future commercial fisheries product. Read about it on page 3 this week in The Jensen Beach Mirror.

Causeway exhibit draws crowds

Crowds began flocking to the Jensen Beach Causeway to look at the tremendous scenes displayed on two small pavilions. They came by day and night throughout Florida, Georgia, Alabama, out-of-state tags, and the third annual Christmas on the Causeway last Saturday night opened the holiday season locally.

A crowd estimated at over a thousand viewed a Christmas spectacular fireworks display, drank coffee and munched doughnuts in a spirit of the season. The crowd was almost twice the size of last year's event.

"Wait until next year," said County Commissioner Frank Aacha, who originated and originated the Christmas on the Causeway event, "It will be twice as large."

The choir of St. Joseph's Church sang to the massed crowds, and local ministers spoke of Christmas and its meaning. Following the singing, the crowd moved across the causeway to see a fireworks show, climaxed by a fiery Christmas tree.

The fireworks tree was originated and designed in Jensen Beach by the Jensen Beach Fireworks Committee. It was constructed at the local firehouse under the direction of Bill Yurilla.

After the show, coffee and doughnuts, courtesy of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce, were served by Mrs. Marie Miller and her committee.

WELCOME--A public welcome was given to the Rev. Donald E. Johnson, above, pastor of Jensen Beach Community Church, newest member of the Martin County Ministerial Association. Rev. Johnson spoke briefly to the crowd attending Saturday night's "Christmas on the Causeway" annual program in Jensen Beach.

CLIMAX- Showers of gold phosphorous resembling tinsel streamed over the side of the Jensen Beach Causeway fishing pier as the climax of the "Christmas on the Causeway" fireworks display filled the air with sparkling, flashing lights from the Christmas tree, topped by a star of blinding light.

PROGRAM- The Rev. Neil M. Gunsalus, pastor of Trinity United Methodist Church of Jensen Beach, took part in the "Christmas on the Causeway" program by reading the Christmas story.

EMCEE- Master of ceremonies of the "Christmas on the Causeway" program was Rev. Harold Heidel, above, new president of the Martin County Ministerial Association.

Mirror requests, gets 'policy'

Cooke has support for open meetings in Stuart

by Dick Campbell

The City of Stuart will establish a policy for open meetings and complete free-dom of information matter to the press and the people, according to Ray Cooke, mayor. Cooke said that the policy, presently being prepared by Richard K. Campbell, editor of The Jensen Beach Mirror, and a member of the National Newspaper Association's Freedom of Information Committee, will be presented to the January 13 meeting of the city commission for discussion.

The Jensen Beach Mirror asked for, and won the cooperation of all five commissioners of the city, Cooke, vice-mayor Charles Foster, and commissioners Jack Hartman, Arthur Sims and Bill Todt, and all have informally agreed to the establishment of the policy.

The action came after it was learned that Cooke had been elected mayor, and Foster vice-mayor, a full four days before the official action was taken, in a secret meeting on Friday, December 13. Commissioner Bill Todt, who had not attended the secret meeting, shocked the regular commissioners meeting Monday night, saying that he opposed the secret meeting, but that he would support Cooke and Foster's election.

It was then learned that the election at a secret meeting was a regular process, and not unusual. In fact the past 6 months, according to the commissioners, the meeting was to "fill vacation of the newly-passed Florida Statute covering the sunshine" law, which prohibits secret meetings.

All meetings, according to the law must be held in public with the press and the press properly notified, and complete disclosure of actions of commissioners dealing with the city's business to the city.

"I want the press to be at every meeting, and in all deliberations," Cooke said. "We are going to start having workshops every third Tuesday in the month, and we will want the press present to write stories of those meetings and hold them open to the public."

Former mayor and eight-year commissioner Jack Hartman said that he was personally going to call up the newspapers if they did not show up at meetings.

He said he did not believe that what had been done in the past was wrong, adding that it was a policy of the board to settle the matter of mayor and vice-mayor in privacy, without "public argument."

"If this is now illegal, I want to go along with the open meeting idea. But this doesn't mean that we have to all the public and the press every time we go out for a cup of coffee. The county commission has been doing that for years. We are friends, and we shouldn't be forced to stop enjoying each other's company just because we are commissioners," Hartman said.

Arthur Sims, a veteran city and county commissioner, agreed. He said that there were times when the board had to meet to discuss various matters without the press present, but that he would agree to open those meetings.

"We are not trying to hide anything from anyone. It makes me feel like we aren't trusted if the commission can't meet without the public or press there," Sims said. He said that he would be happy to go along with the open meeting policy, but insisted that any dealings with personnel would have to be private.

"How can one person tell us what some is to be doing if the press is sitting there?" Sims asked.

Cooke said that he was in favor of anything to improve the image of the city, to be certain that everything was done correctly in the city and to let the people know that the city commission was working hard to make Stuart the best city in Florida.

"We didn't think of the meeting as being secret," Cooke said, "That would be the last thing we would want to do. Now that you point it out, a decision was made, and important city business was discussed at the meeting, so it should not have been held in private.

"We want the public and the press to have full access to all information in the city hall. In fact, I am going to ask that the press, all newspapers in the county that desire it, have a copy of our monthly report on the financial status of the various departments of the city," Cooke added.

When asked if the city would go on record, with a resolution, in favor of open meetings, Cooke said, "You write it up. Make it the way it should be so that the people know we want to cooperate with the press, personally and officially. I am in favor of it, and I am fairly certain that all commissioners will have the resolution. I will personally see that all commissioners get a copy, and we will discuss it and come up with a strong policy for the future.

"I believe that all our governments in Florida could use a set of guidelines that we might be able to follow. We know what we can and cannot do, and what would and what would not violate the government in the sunshine law, not only the letter, but the spirit of the law," Cooke said.

Newly elected commissioner Charles Foster, who had been in the audience meeting, said he felt that the matter of the vice-mayor should be left open to discussion. "If it is the wish of the commissioners to have the vice-mayor position rotate every year, I understand that the vice-mayor would automatically become mayor. I am not in favor of that. I feel that the vice-mayor should be elected by the commissioners, and that the mayor should be elected by the people. I am in favor of the mayor's position being a full time job, and that the mayor should be paid for his services

Lurking in the Jensen savannas

Biologist tracks shrimp as large as a lobster

by Dick Campbell

The rig on the boat looks like two outriggers are pointed in the wrong direction, off the bow of the boat. Chains four feet long hang down into the water, throwing 300 A/C voltage out in a fifteen-foot circle. Anything within the radius should be momentarily electrocuted and float up to the surface, to be netted and tagged.

Two biologists from the fresh water fishing commission handle the boat. One drives while the other leans off the bow, standing against a high railing, wielding the net. The netter has a foot pedal control that turns on or shuts off the power to the chains. If he should fall overboard, the power would cut off immediately, saving his life.

Usually used in counting and tagging fish, the rig was used on this trip for a special project of Phillippy, the search for an unusual fresh water shrimp, as large as the Florida lobster and just as succulent. The shrimp is known to have grown 26 inches long, has fearsome claws and a body 13 inches long. The girth of the big shrimp, a Macrobrachium Carcinus, measured eight inches.

Phillippy has been trying to find the tasty morsel, discover its reproduction habits and food and growth cycles, so that it might be a future commercial product for Florida's fishing industry. He has not been able to keep one alive longer than 21 days after hatching in an aquarium.

Phillippy arrived in Jensen Beach Wednesday with several other biologists to hunt for the elusive shrimp, coming here after he had learned that George G. Kelley, chairman of the division of science and mathematics of the University of Jacksonville, had found some of the shrimp in this area. He plans to join Kelley in July researching the project in Jensen Beach.

The biologists were working with Ralph Evinrude, chairman of the board of Outboard Marine Corporation, in trying to determine the fish population of the savannas, as well as find the home of the giant shrimp.

If anyone would like to question the purity of Jensen savannas water, he might ask the FGF WFC biologists. After an hour of trolling the electric current through the savannas off Mars Hill, only a few fish were found, all small.

"The water is just too soft, too pure," said Phillippy. "We can't get any conductivity." Three hundred volts of power should be enough to shock the big bass of Jensen Beach, but it wasn't. The fish refused to be electrocuted.

"If this water were a little harder, or brackish, we would have them up all over the place," he said.

Phillippy will try netting, and plans to experiment with direct current, rather than the alternating current presently being put out by the generator. He also plans to place a few traps around to see what he can pick up.

The 26-inch shrimp was the largest found in Florida. Others have been found, but not quite as large. The shrimp is found as far south as South America, and all along the Gulf of Mexico coastline. Some have even been found as far away as Thailand.

When the shrimp is located, its habits discovered, and a way to keep the shrimp alive is found, Florida may see the rebirth of fish farming, with fresh water ponds stocked with the shrimp, and a new taste treat of Florida seafood on the seafood shelves of local supermarkets.

BIG SHRIMP--This creature, a Macrobrachium Carcinus, is a large shrimp, headed for future dinner tables in Florida, if the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission efforts are successful. The measurements are: length, 26 inches; body, 13 inches; jointed tail, six inches; girth, eight inches; scissors, six inches long. There are pearly white ridges of teeth in the claws. Efforts to discover where and how the shrimp lives, its reproduction secrets, and feeding cycles are in research now. Biologists hope to make the shrimp a commercial project for Florida's fisheries. (G&FWFC Photo).

READY TO GO--Conservation agents from the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission prepared to leave the landing at Mars Hill in the Jense. Savannas, seeking the elusive giant shrimp. Included in the research party were Ralph Evinrude, his son, Tom, and seated on the tailgate of auto in the rear of the scene, Jim Langford. Also in the party was Jerry Smith.

JUST TWO--Due to the purity and softness of Jensen savannas water, the electrocution of fish did not work, and only a gar and chub were caught in an hour of electric trolling last week by members of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

DIPPING FISH--Having shocked one fish to the surface, the conservation agent drops it from the net to a bait well to keep the fish alive for tagging.

Christmas Day, 1968

...e magic of the Christmas season is ...g its hold upon the land. On city ...ets silver bells ring calling on us to ... help to those less fortunate. The tin... the lights, and decorations, the holly ...aths are going up and tens of millions ...ildren know that Santa Claus is coming ...wn. They hope that he will in some ...terious way visit their home in the ...mmering silence of the night before ...stmas.

...here is a time for children, and it is ...me too for all men and women in all ...e to remember the wonder of the Lord's birth on the first Christmas nearly 2,000 years ago. It is the power of this happening that puts magic in this season and lends the light of hope and understanding to all the world's people.

Let this Christmas be for children---may it bring them the warmth of a fire, the smell of a tree, the excitement of waiting for Santa's visit. Let it bring visions of sugar plums on Christmas eve, and above all as the hour approaches, let it bring the warmth of knowing that the babe born in Bethelem so long ago is very close to us all this night.

Stuart begins anew

...he City Commission of Stuart has taken ...ther step in the modernization of city ...vernment by agreeing to establish a policy ...open meetings, and open doors, with full ...losure of public information to the people ...the press.

...han it was learned last week that the ...commission had met, and had been meet... in past years, in secret, to decide who ...uld be the mayor, and who should be the ...mayor, (to avoid an embarrassment ...the regular meeting, according to one ...mmissioner) the people were shocked. ...hen asked by The Jensen Beach Mirror ...the commission would establish complete ...cy of information, with full compliance ...Florida's "government in the sunshine" ...each commissioner, contacted separate... agreed.

Mayor Ray Cooke asked The Mirror to write ...policy statement that could be used as a ...delline for the commission in its prepara... of a policy, which The Mirror is doing. ...itor Richard E. Campbell, a mem... of the Freedom of Information Committee ...the National Newspaper Association, is ...paring the suggested policy with the help of the Florida Freedom of Information Committee for future consideration by the city commission.

The Stuart City Commission is eager to improve the soiled image of the city in recent problems arising out of an audit not yet completed. New bookkeeping practices put an up-to-date financial report on every city department in the hands of the commissioners every month, and all departments of the city are getting needed modernization from the new city manager, Ed Glasscock.

We hope that the city of Stuart continues to sweep the cobwebs out of city hall, and establishes a sound policy of open meetings, open doors, and full disclosure to the press and the people so that everyone will know who is handling the broom.

The public's right to know what is going on cannot be stifled. Private meetings, dealings and conferences lead to suspicion. The public business is the business of the public.

We congratulate the commissioners of the City of Stuart for accepting the responsibility for establishing a policy of freedom of information and open meetings. The future in the city looks bright in the sunshine.

County is out of 'Crackers'

The urbanization of Florida, that is, the political structure of Florida, has begun to take its effect upon Martin County.

This has been shown in the recent cutbacks in funds available for the road program of the county, and anticipated cutbacks in the school funds being assigned to the county from the state level.

The system of county funds is beginning to look a little like the county had a case of Crackers."

Back in the good old days, when the state was smaller, and it was an accepted part of the small-county factor in the state legislature, it received along with other small counties, a great share of the state revenue. Some would say a disproportionate share of the revenue, based upon the population and area of Martin County, came here.

The urban areas to which Martin County was contiguous, complained bitterly, but the appropriations were based upon votes, and the small county of "Crackers" factor had the votes.

Reapportionment followed, and the urban delegations took over. The county fared in various ways has been cut, and there is probably more cutting to come.

The county can thank its lucky stars, Bill Scott, Bill Owens and Orlo Brones, that the split of Lake Okeechobee came about before reapportionment. Scott, and Owens, state representatives before Martin County was denied representation in the State and Congressional legislatures, jumped with Palm Beach county to form the needed bi-county area and power of belated freedom, one of the most powerful and respected statesmen in the Senate to get the lake levied up among all the county governments. That gave the county more revenue in the pipeline as revenue that comes back to the counties.

Senator Jack Mc Carty, an independent politician of conviction, and a veteran of the Reapportionment battles of a few years back said he was happy that they got what they did, and that Reapportionment was here at long last as it was so that every county could be served and built up on the basis of the people they represented.

Mc Carty is a middle-of-the-road Senator who has done much things for the part of Florida. While we have not agreed with him on several matters of conviction that does not keep us from recognizing him as a man of accomplishment and long service in the state and its people. He could be called a politician in the best sense of the word, a diplomat, all acting in the interest of the people, and in heart will always be with what he feels is in the best interests of Florida.

We can't agree with the good Senator, he has to all the odds in the book. The party is over, gentlemen. We have run out of Crackers. Now we must plan the years to the future.

Overreaction

The general aura of tolerance for the lawbreaker and of permissiveness toward intolerable public behavior has been an important factor precipitating what is now called a "crisis of law and order." The irony of it is that as government moves to satisfy public demand for rejuvenating the rule of law, the first steps, will in many cases, be toward restrictive legislation which will be felt most strongly by the law-abiding citizen, and most likely miss controlling the criminal element since they have no intention of obeying the laws anyway).

A case in point can be found in the matter of gun controls. Many new restrictions have been placed on the sale and ownership of firearms and ammunition in this session of Congress. New proposals including the registration and licensing of all firearms will probably be back again in the next session. It is estimated that there may be as many as 100 million guns owned by private citizens in the United States. It would take separate state agencies or another bureau of the federal government to handle the monumental task of registering all these firearms and licensing their owners. Two things would happen, either the whole operation would be allowed to run a major deficit and be supported by other tax revenue, or the cost of licensing to the gun owner would become prohibitive for many sportsmen and gun collectors owning a number of firearms. In any case, the means would be established to restrict or control, little or no, the ownership of firearms by the private citizens.

In the meanwhile, the criminal element would be left largely untouched as they would still register firearms they intended to use in the commission of a crime. Reestablishment of a national atmosphere of respect for the law and the society which it protects will not come from restriction of the many millions of law-abiding citizens who own guns and use them for the constructive and healthful sports of hunting and competitive shooting.

A word to the wise

Creeping capitalism in government has become a menace to the status quo in many countries of the world where government ownership of industry has proven to be something less than satisfactory. The publication "San Francisco Business" reports that the managers of state-owned enterprises in such countries as Britain, France, Austria and Italy "are beginning to understand the pitfalls of government ownership, and are starting to apply the principles of competitive private enterprise needed to operate in an atmosphere of common markets and free trade."

Political patronage and bureaucracy result in poor management, rigid policies, and slowness to adapt to change. This shouldn't be a surprise to anyone, and we should keep it in mind as political pressure mounts to turn more of the management and control of the economic affairs of the United States over to the growing federal bureaucracy.

Christmas in Jensen Beach

LIVE....and love it by Dick Campbell

The Christmas feeling

It is a wonderful feeling just to be living in this utterly fabulous place, Jensen Beach brings out the best in everyone, and Christmas time is the time for the best of everything.

Look around, isn't it something.

The streets are ablaze with light, a light that is more than decoration and window dressing. The light is a spirit of feeling, and a light that brings out the best in people, dispels darkness, and with the darkness, dispels dark thoughts and needs.

It is Christmas.

The homes of people are ablaze with trees and lights of bright beauty. With those lights comes the feeling of home, of living and enjoying the life we live and those with whom we live.

People do not tire of the words "love," "peace" and "brotherhood" at Christmastime. Perhaps we have a different type of feeling at this time of the year.

There are, of course, the Scrooges of the world who try, in every possible way, in their own fashion, and in their own small worlds of isolation, to dim the bright light of Christmas, but they are operating in the frustration of an individual without an audience, I say, "Pity upon them." It's Christmastime.

It is fun to put up a Christmas tree. It is enjoyable to place a wreath in a window. It is exciting to light the Christmas candles. Light! light, light... that the people, for a short time, may perceive the radiance and joy of innocence, can live and love life without embarrassment.

Of course, by Epiphany, the world goes back into that gray phase, woe is the spirit again becomes embarrassed to live openly. That is when people stop saying a cheery "Good morning," or a "Merry Christmas," or "Happy New Year."

But, then, life is not all apple pie and candy canes, and Christmas tree lights and brightness. If it was there would be no wars, and no one to get angry with, and no hate, or pique.

So, in the spirit of Christmas Day when a light shone in the sky, and a Child was born who changed the world, we can relish, lavish and enjoy love, peace and brotherhood. We can even like ourselves a little more for being so honest and so sure to everyone.

If I was to say I try to live that way all year long, and enjoy my life, my friends and my town, Mr. Scrooge would say, "Bah, humbug." And, at least during this Christmastime, no one would listen to him. And I would say, "He on you, Mr. Scrooge, go soak your..." but no, that wouldn't be right, would it.

Merry Christmas, everyone. And a Merry Christmas to my friends, my town, my county and my state, and my United States. Merry Christmas.

Freedoms limits

by Harvey A. Call;
Fort Lauderdale News

The Constitution doesn't say that any man should have a right to say anything he wishes, anywhere he wants to go," U.S. Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black declared recently in his much publicized television interview.

In making his statement, Justice Black was giving a common sense interpretation to one of the most controversial sections of the Bill of Rights.

Unfortunately, the Constitution's Bill of Rights has been subjected to too many interpretations which have had little common sense behind them and have led the 177-year-old Bill of Rights astray from its original purposes.

Mr. Black, however, has revived hope that the Bill of Rights may be facing a new era when the courts and judges will strive to put those rights in perspective.

This is the hope that prevails as we mark the anniversary of the adoption of the Bill of Rights on December 15, 1791.

Extreme latitude has been given the rights of free speech and peaceful assembly in recent years. As a result, rioters and demonstrators have been encouraged to disrupt society, government and other activities under the guise of using their rights where and how they please.

The rights have been used as an excuse for violating many laws and for infringing on the rights of others.

In fact, the United States Supreme Court went far afield from its once sound interpretation that there were common sense limitations on the right of free speech. The court once held, for example, that no one had the right to stand up in a crowded theater and yell "Fire," creating a possible panic.

And, free speech has never been intended to permit individuals to slander or lie about others.

Justice Black maintains there are ample means available for individuals to exercise their rights of free speech and peaceful assembly in private halls or other facilities without trespassing on the property of others or even disrupting society by demonstrating on public lands.

It is interesting to note that while interpretations of the First and Fifth Amendments, in particular, have been most liberal, there has not been a similar liberal application given to other amendments making up the Bill of Rights.

One of the most neglected has been the 10th Amendment which reads: "The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people."

States rights and the rights of the people have been infringed upon by intrusions of the federal government into the affairs of the states and the people.

Conservatives have denounced the increasingly liberal, expedient interpretations of the Bill of Rights and the Constitution itself, but little has been done to change the direction.

However, there have been signs, and even incidents of late, that show liberals are becoming aware of the encroachment on their rights.

People are well aware that present laws and interpretations of rights give a criminal more freedom than his victim.

In part this is due to the (over)- broad application of the Bill of Rights. They were enacted as specific prohibitions against possible tyranny by the federal government. Yet they have been extended to the point they are shields against state laws and weapons to be used in trampling upon the rights of individuals generally.

Long forgotten has been a sound principle of law that one's rights extend only to the point where they start infringing on the rights of another.

Free speech extends only to the point where it becomes the slander of someone else. The right to bear arms is accepted up to the point where those arms are used offensively to threaten or harm another.

The Bill of Rights was intended, properly, as an assurance that the people would not be subjected to the governmental intrusions that once prevailed in Europe under despotic leaders. The Bill of Rights was not intended as a license for individuals to do as they please without regard to the effect on others or the harm which might be done society.

As the 177th anniversary of the Bill of Rights is celebrated, it is to be hoped that we will be nearing a new direction for the benefit of all.

Notes and Comments by Bill Britton

Christmas is . . .

Christmas is that glorious time of the year in this, the most wonderful place in the world.

Christmas is the time when people in our town shop, wave and cry, "Merry Christmas," whether you know them or not.

Christmas is listening to the beautiful sound of the Christmas bells from the First National Bank, or the familiar sound of carols long remembered coming from the speakers in the Community Center on Commercial Street.

Christmas is the wonderment on the faces of the children, too soon to be replaced with the cynical look of those who try to grow up too fast.

Christmas is the memory of Christmasses Past when your children, now grown up and gone, would wake you at the early crack of dawn, to venture with them into the wonderland of what Santa had left around the Christmas tree. Cries of surprise and delight would greet the rising sun on those mornings, as the pile of tissue and wrapping paper grew ever higher.

Christmas is the memory of Christmasses even longer ago, as you remember childhood friends, now scattered around the country, and the excitement of your own youthful Christmas days with them. You wonder where they are now, and wish, somehow, that they could be with you again to share this day once more.

Christmas is the turkey roasting in the oven, filling the house with such a delightful aroma, and wheeting the appetite until it seems that you'll never be able to wait until it is done.

Christmas is going to church and hearing once again the ageless story of the miracle of a child born in a manger so long ago.

Christmas is the constant coming and going of friends and relatives, as your house echoes with the happy sound of children laughing and doors slamming, and somehow, at this time of the year, you don't mind at all.

Christmas is the holly and the tinsel and the lights and the tree. You look at them all and give thanks that you have seen yet another Christmas, and will carry yet another wonderous memory.

Christmas is here once again. May your joys and happiness be as shiny and bright as mine will be on this Christmas day.

Your Social Security

by James R. McCarty

Q. I have been unable to do any work at all since I was 24 years old. I filed one application with social security and was turned down because I had not worked long enough. Do I need to file another application now to have my claim considered under the 1967 amendment?

A. Yes, the changes for insured requirements of disabled workers is effective for applications filed after December, 1967.

Q. I am going to be 65 years old in November and my company will not allow me to work any more after my 65th birthday. I will have earned $7800 before I retire. Can I get my social security check for December?

A. Yes, you may get your social security check for any month in which you neither earn wages of $140 or render substantial service in self-employment.

Q. My doctor wrote a prescription for me while I was in the hospital. I am to get it filled when I go home. Will my Medicare pay for the medicine?

A. No, Medicare does not pay for prescription drugs that are not furnished by the hospital or extended care facility.

Q. When I tried to get a check cashed and showed my social security card for indentification, I was told that the social security office would not tell him if that was my number or not. Is this true?

A. Yes, your social security number is confidential.

Q. I am now receiving social security benefits as a full-time student. I will not go back to school after this semester is over until next September. I know that my checks will stop, but can I again draw next September?

A. Student benefits can be reinstated when a student is under 22, unmarried and enrolled in an accredited school as a full-time student. You will need to get in touch with the social security office to reinstate your benefits.

The Fort Pierce Social Security Office is open Monday through Friday, except on national holidays. The office hours are 8:30 A.M. to 4:30 P.M., and the phone number is 464-5700.

Mobile home zoning to be studied

Three requests for mobile home rezoning were deferred by the Martin County Planning and Zoning Board at its recent meeting, and one request was denied.

Members pointed to a need to study mobile homes and trailers and their affect on the county tax structure. It was also suggested that present available facilities be studied before any more mobile home areas are approved by the zoning group.

There are 32 mobile home parks and subdivisions in the Jensen Beach, Stuart and Palm City area with room available in them, according to Russell Yates.

The requests were tabled until the January meeting the board.

This weekend about 75 of Jehovah's Witnesses from this area will attend a seventy-annual circuit assembly in Lake Worth. The meeting will be Dec. 27 to 29.

Any of you folks who are interested in antiques would be most interested in seeing the meat chopper that Anna Nielsen brought back with her. It belonged to her grandmother and the date on it is May 20, 1865. Anna is giving this piece to the kitchen collection of the Elliott Museum.

Mr. and Mrs. Tyree left Dec. 20 for Miami, where they will spend a week with her niece, husband and family, Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Davis, Lisa 11 and Steve 6. The Davis' are from Charlton, Iowa, and will be returning home Dec. 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Fish, who came here from Booth Harbor, Maine, left for St. Petersburg Dec. 17 to visit friends for a week. From there they will drive to Ft. Lauderdale. On the trip down here, the Fishs had a visit with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Sullivan, at Camp Springs, Md. James, who is in the Air Force, and his wife have been stationed in Madrid, Spain, for the past five years and have just bought their first home in U.S.A.

John and Anna Nielsen of Lynn, Mass., were later than usual returning this year due to the death of Anna's brother, Vladomar Swanson. Vladomar, who was a chef, had planned to have Anna and John for a pre-Christmas dining dinner at his home. After waiting for some time for his call to say dinner was ready, Anna went to her brother's place and found him unconscious on the floor. He was taken to the hospital immediately, but died that same evening. He left a wife and two children. Vladomar was a chef in Boca Raton during the winter, returning to Lynn, Mass., for the summer season, and has been a guest of the Nielsens in Ocean Breeze.

Alice Anderson of Almond N. spent Thanksgiving with her son, Rev. Norquist, his wife and family. Later she went to Elizabeth, N.J., to visit with her daughter, Mrs. Richard Werges, who is also Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Werges' daughter-in-law, Jeannette. She and her mother returned to O.B. Dec. 15.

Louis and Hessie Klein expect their daughter and son-in-law, Ralph and Merfedes Lipps and their granddaughter, Marianne, from Aaron, O., Dec. 20 to stay over Christmas and New Years.

Cecile Harlow is having a Christmas bridge party Monday, Dec. 23. The party will consist of Peggy Burks, Connie Hileman, Hessie Klein, Jo Doring, Gladys Gilbert, and two guests Barbara Flower and Mercedes Lipps.

Cecile Harlow is expecting her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Flower, and their two daughters, Gaylin and Kathryn, Dec. 21, to spend the Christmas holidays with her.

Fred and Lenore Viland are spending Christmas Eve with their son, Mitch, and family at Ft. Pierce. On Christmas Day their daughter, Evelyn Wheeler, and two grandchildren, will be here spending the day with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Werges expect their son and daughter-in-law, Richard and Jeanette Werges, with their two daughters, Wendy and Cindy, also friend Donnon Larson, Dec. 20, 21. On Christmas Day the Werges senior will help their family dispose of the turkey and trimmings at Richard's new home on the Stuart Golf Course.

George and Betty Ryder, who have their trailer on the black-top, left Monday, Dec. 16, from WPB Airport to Marcellus, N.Y., where they will celebrate Christmas with their son-in-law and daughter, Garth and Jerry Snyder. The Snyders have a retail appliance business and George will help with the deliveries during the pre-Christmas rush.

Milton and Bertie Sage's son and daughter-in-law, Russell and Walda Sage, and two boys Stephen and Rusty, will be here on Christmas Eve for a week, returning Dec. 30.

Martha Miller had a telephone conversation with Gracie Allen's daughter, Ruth LaFave, last week. She has told that Fran Gordon, who had a heart attack about the end of November, is still in the Hurley Hospital in Flint, Mich. At that time she was having tests.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wells arrived at their home on Orth 7th, Dec. 13 for the winter season.

A number of OceanBreeze residents will be having a

Daniel and Zelda Jarvis have the first trailer on Lilbit Lane. Dan drives school buses for St. Joseph College and for Martin County, so they are here nine months of the year. Mrs. Jarvis recently had surgery in Martin Memorial Hospital but she is now at home and doing fine.

Mrs. Emma Saum from Caseville, Mich., also has her trailer on Lilbit Lane. She drove down from Michigan, alone, arriving here Nov. 20, and says it was a long drive. She knows the Clancys, who are also from her home town. Emma is taking in most of the recreations and is having fun.

George and Ethel Ariens also arrived Nov. 20 and are on Lilbit Lane, right beside the water. They are from Jefferson, Ind., and will be with us all winter.

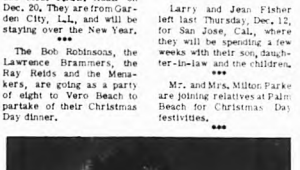
Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Smith will be going to Ft. Lauderdale on Christmas Eve to join their family gathering at Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Butterfield, Jr.'s home. The next day they will be partaking of the Christmas festivities at the home of the junior Butterfields, at Pompano. Their son, James, and his family will also be at these gatherings.

Elsie Werges celebrated her "39th" birthday Dec. 12. It was a complete surprise when a group of her neighbors came in carrying a birthday cake and singing "Happy Birthday".

Mr. and Mrs. Judge of Oak St. were transferred from Martin Memorial Hospital to Easter Manor Nursing Home in Ft. Pierce on Sunday, Dec. 15.

Fred and Helen Leacox are expecting Helen's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J.R.B. Adair on Dec. 20. They are from Garden City, L.I., and will be staying over the New Year.

The Bob Robinsons, the Lawrence Brammers, the Ray Reids and the Menakers, are going as a party of eight to Vero Beach to partake of their Christmas Day dinner.



Christmas Display.

Christmas dinner party at Holiday Inn Friday, Dec. 20. Between 50 and 60 are registered.

Mrs. Emily Ewing of N. 6th, received word of the death of her brother recently. She and her two sisters left next day for Cape May, N.J.

Al Innis and Dot's son, Richard, and his wife will be celebrating Christmas with them on Bermuda Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kerr expect their grandson and granddaughter on Christmas Day.

Dr. and Mrs. Wolfes and Everett and Tommie Garrett will spend this Christmas as they have spent the last eight other Christmases- together.

Christmas guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Bartlett will be their Aunt Mary Richardson and Betty Bowen. Mary Richardson is also expecting a holiday visit from her grandson and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. North, from Colorado and Ft. Sill, Ga.

Ted Chilton on 8th is busy preparing for visitors. His son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Chilton and three children of Monticello, Ind., will be here for two weeks. Chilton is coach for the Twin Lake School at Monticello.

A Christmas party will be held at Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Redinger's when all residents of the South Two will join in a pot luck dinner. Each couple will bring a covered dish and a humorous gift. Sounds like fun.

Mrs. Pauline Kaepner of Merritt Island recently returned to her home after visiting her sister, Mrs. Strayer, on Melaleuca. After visiting OBP, Mrs. Kaepner decided she would like to live here, so will sell her home and buy here when a suitable place becomes available.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Kelly of Brooksville, Ind., arrived Dec. 17 at their home on 8th Ave. Despite the cold weather they enjoyed a very interesting tour of Washington, D. C., and the historic East Coast. Also arriving by plane on the 18th to spend Christmas with them are their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. William Christopher and baby daughter, Ann, from Wolcott, Ind.

Stella Sorrell, who had an eye operation at St. Mary's Hospital, W.P.B., a month ago, is coming along fine. Her doctor expects to be able to fit her with glasses in about two weeks.

INVITATION

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Le Duc wish to give an Open House invitation to all their friends to attend their 50th wedding anniversary reception to be held at Haug Hall, All Saints' Episcopal Church in Jensen Beach on Sunday, Dec. 29 from 2 to 4 p.m.

Martha Miller received a letter Dec. 17 from Reva Brady telling the condition of Fran Gordon, a regular one-time resident of Ocean Breeze.

"Fran is out of the hospital. While she is better it will be a month before she can consider going to O.B. She is so anxious to go down this winter and plans to fly when she does go. Joyce will accompany her so she won't be alone. She sure has had a rough one-and-a-half years, healthwise, but she is now improving and looking forward to seeing friends some time early in January."

Best love, Reva Brady,

Martha says Reva Brady and Rqth LaFave will be down shortly after the New Year.

Park Offices are well illuminated in front. This is a favorite meeting place where guests can chat, and watch the passing traffic.

The officers, trustees and drivers of the ambulance are to be congratulated on the efficient job they made of their Every Trailer Canvass Monday morning Dec. 16. The park was divided into ten sections, and in just two hours the job was completed.

Mack and Gladys McLarty had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Dave Becker of Mansfield, Ohio, Dec. 15 and 16. While here the Mansfields stayed at the Rolling Motel.

Dec. 19, Edna Davis and Agnese Corliss left by plane from Melbourne, Fla., to fly to Phoenix, Ariz., where they will stay at the home of Edna's son, William Jordan, and his two sons, for the holidays. Early in January, William is to have major surgery, and the two ladies will stay with the boys while their father is hospitalized. Later Agnese will return here, and Edna will visit with her other son, Stanley Jordan, at Granada Hills, Calif.

Larry and Jean Fisher left last Thursday, Dec. 12, for San Jose, Cal., where they will be spending a few weeks with their son, daughter-in-law and the children.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Parke are joining relatives at Palm Beach for Christmas Day festivities.

Ann and Harry Bartle of Cypress left by car Dec. 17 for Philadelphia to spend two weeks with Ann's mother, Mrs. Anna Lee, who will celebrate her 88th birthday Dec. 28. The party to celebrate the occasion will be held New Years Eve, which is also the wedding anniversary of Harry's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Heigrs. The Bartles will be returning with a new light tan Plymouth, a gift to them from Santa Claus.

Betty and George Ryder will be spending the holidays with their two daughters in Jamaica, N.Y., for the first time in four years. Two plane tickets for the trip were their Christmas gift from the family. Ryders will return early in the New Year.

The Ted Sorensens of Melaleuca are spending the holidays with their son and his family in Ft. Lauderdale.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Glenty of Laconia, N.H., visited Charles and Flora Lord for a day Dec. 17. While here, Ted attended the Kiwanis meeting and dinner with Charlie.

Mrs. Ruth Miller of Pepper attended the funeral of her nephew, Newell Feictra, of Cocoa, Fla., Dec. 16.

Leaving here Dec. 10, Stella and Roy Olinger accompanied Fred and Bernice Malsh on a three-day trip to Clearwater, Naples and Fort Myers. They were especially pleased with the dinner they had at Kapok Inn, Clearwater, and Chalet Suzanne in Lake Wales. They did, unfortunately, pick up a bug and have been under the weather since their return.

The Koitsehs and Pohles went to Miami Dec. 10 and spent a wonderful few days there. They stayed at the Beach Comber on Miami Beach and from there they took a conducted tour of the Aquarium, Villa Vizcaya and Millionaires Row. They attended two night clubs, the Eden Roc and Fontainbleau and the ladies enjoyed shopping at the Mall. Warner said a trip like that is a good way to get rid of some money, but they sure had a good time.

Harry and Ethel Ackroyd, who for the past seven years have made their home on Cypress, are leaving Dec. 24 to live in the new 14-story high rise apartment, Trinity Towners, in Melbourne, Fla. They said they had been very happy here, the neighbors were swell, and the Hokes had been very kind to them, but since their daughter and son-in-law and four grandchildren have moved to Satellite Beach, they feel they would like to be near them. After the holidays, which they will spend with the family, their daughter and her husband will be taking a cruise, so they will baby-sit while they are gone. Ackroyds sold their trailer to Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hughson of Flint, Mich., who are expected down early in the new year.

Mabel and Clarence Bell of Arborvitae are expecting their daughter, son-in-law and three children of Nashua, N.H., to come Dec. 23 and spend the holidays with them. They are Bill and Ruth Burnett, Beth 12, Randy 11 and Linda 5.

Joe and Helen Crawley of Glenn Falls, N.Y., who usually spend the holidays with the La Bodas, are unable to come this year due to illness, so La Boda said he would miss them very much since he and Joe had fished together for the past eight years. This year the La Bodas plan to have their Christmas dinner at Manatee Yacht Club Restaurant.

Arnold and Nellie Lock, who just returned from Pelican Lake, Wis., were called home Dec. 17 due to the serious illness of Arnold's mother who is in a hospital in Madison. She is 96 years old, so they were quite worried when they left.

Sylvia and Bill Drummond, who bought the Charles Butts place last spring and relocated on Melaleuca, have just completed a 10 by 20' screened patio and added another new storage shed to their place.

The Reeves of Melaleuca just arrived back to Ocean Breeze Dec. 14. They left Akron Dec. 12 and said there was four inches of snow on the ground, and the temperature was about 20° when they left. Mr. and Mrs. Shrock, also of Akron, and Stuart, were visiting them when I called and were remarking that although it seemed very cool here, they felt they were lucky to be here rather than in Ohio at this time of year.

Orvil and Phyllis Lyon, who were here at the time of Jarvis's death, left Dec. 17 for Titusville to visit with their daughter and her family over the holidays. They intend to return here early in the new year.

Mrs. Luther Weeks' sister, Louise Benoit, spent the weekend of Dec. 15 with Luther and herself.

The many friends of Eva and Dave Donaldson will be pleased to know that Lou Tanner contacted them at their son's home by long distance phone the afternoon of Dec. 19, and that they arrived OK. Clara Seal took them to WPB Airport where they took a plane to Cleveland, Ohio. Their son lives at Mentor, Ohio, a suburb of Cleveland.

Martha Miller goes to Daytona for a family reunion, she left Dec. 22 and will be away two weeks.

Jack Kinker travels

Jack Kinker who has an apartment in Flint Mich., where he lives in the summer months, when he is not travelling, spends his winters on Arborvitae. Recently he told this story to your reporter about one of the three trips he took this year.

Early in August, Jack boarded a bus in Flint, Mich., and travelled to Toronto, Canada, where he transferred to a train bound for Winnipeg, Manitoba, in Winnipeg he grain transferred, this time to an Excursion Train which makes two trips each summer to Churchill, Man. A shipping port for Canadian wheat. The trip from Winnipeg to Churchill is 2200 railroad miles, which differs from miles as the crow flies due to the hilly, rocky terrain, and many lakes which the railroad skirts on its way north.

The train stopped at every little siding, and at the larger places the excursioners were greeted and entertained by the local organizations and church groups, who treated the travellers to ice cream, cake, cookies, tea and coffee. The train made some side trips, one being to Flin Flon, Man., where the Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Co. have very large holdings, and where all the houses are built on solid rocks, and the water mains and sewers are on top of the ground, and the temperature was about 30° when they left. Mr. and Mrs. Shrock, also of Akron, and Stuart, were visiting them when I called and were remarking that although it seemed very cool here, they felt they were lucky to be here rather than in Ohio at this time of year.

Orvil and Phyllis Lyon, who were here at the time of Jarvis's death, left Dec. 17 for Titusville to visit with their daughter and her family over the holidays. They intend to return here early in the new year.

line of the R. R. they stopped at the city of Thompson, Man. This is an entirely new city built and owned by International Nickel. Of course, it is the great mineral deposits, and the developing of mines and the smelter that brought this city into being. One interesting feature is that the company owns a trailer park of 600 trailers to house its unmarried male employees, but when one of these men marries he has to move into the housing development, also company owned. This is an unusual situation I believe, but the company must have some good reason for adopting this policy.

There were two foreign boats in the harbor when Jack and the party arrived, one Norwegian and a Russian. Each of these huge vessels had a capacity of 25,000 tons of wheat, and were being loaded with Canadian wheat. Jack described the loading process like this. Eight large heavy metal 4 foot pipes were lowered from the grain elevator into the hold of each vessel, and the wheat descended by gravity, so it was only necessary for each vessel to have a crew of about thirty men, and ten women. These, Jack thought, were cooks or housekeepers.

The tourists were allowed to go around the Norwegian ship pretty much as they wished in order to see how it was laid out, but on the Russian vessel they were restricted to certain areas.

Asking about the cargo which these boats brought from the country of origin, Jack said the Norwegian vessel carried a load of Volkswagons from Germany to U. S. A., and then travelled north to Canada for the load of wheat, while the Russian ship had unloaded a cargo of lumber on the western coast of the U.S.A., before going for its load of wheat.

Asked about the people at Churchill, Jack said they were all either Indians or Eskimos, and that both lived in poor shacks.

The terrain is very rocky around Churchill, and he said the huge rocks reminded him of turtle backs. The weather was 30 to 40 degrees in spite of the fact it was early August, and a picture he had taken of a group of children showed them with woolen caps, heavy sweaters, and some with what northern folks refer to as mackinaws, but they did look like healthy children. His pictures are colored and showed the vessels in the harbor. The name "Kazmoh" was very plain on the Russian boat, but we do not know the other.

He found this a most enjoyable trip although he did stress the need for heavy clothing both under and outer and said the food was very good.

Home Decorating Contest open to all PSL residents

Anyone living in PSL is eligible for the "Christmas Home Decorating Contest" sponsored by the GDC and the Rio Linda Garden Club. There will be three cash prizes awarded, the first prize will be $25.00, the second prize will be $15.00, and the third prize will be $10.00. Each winner will also receive an engraved silver bowl as a permanent trophy of the event.

So as to obtain an unbiased opinion, the judges will not be residents of PSL. They will be judging mostly on originality of the decorations. Good luck to all.

The Christmas luncheon of the Rio Lindo Garden Club was a huge success reports Mr. Monzel. The tables were beautifully decorated by Ona Natt.

A parody on the "Yard of the Month" was presented by Dora Edwards, Doris Dickinson, and Betty Ricketts.

Betty Brogan held an "Open House" at her home on 118 W. Prima Vista Blvd. She showed slides of Hawaii, Egypt, India, Greece, and Jeruselem. Refreshments were served and the proceeds went to the Rio Lindo Garden Club.

An "Open House" was held by Helen Quick of 325 Shady Lane, her home was decorated in the Christmas theme. Quite a few people came to view the decorations. All proceeds went to the Rio Linda Garden Club.

AT HOME--Home on leave from the Army is Chuck Curtis. Chuck will be going to Germany to serve with the 24th Brigade after he reports back to Fort Dix, New Jersey.

I would like to take this time to wish all PSL residents a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year from all of the family to all of you and family.

MILY PARTY--A family get-together was held Sunday, Dec. 22, at the home of Dr. and . Robert Sawusch, at right, Skyline Drive, Jensen Beach. They were joined by Mr. and . Ray Sawusch, left, Dwight, Leslie and Sharon Sawusch, Mrs. H. Sawusch of Chicago, and Mark Sawusch.

RED CROSS HELPERS-- The American Red Cross sewing group met Thursday, Dec. 19 at Legion Hall, Jensen Beach, for a Christmas covered-dish luncheon. Some of these busy ladies are pictured above, taking time out from their chores. They are: Esther Perdwyn, Mabel Earley, Billie Atwood, Mildred Beck, Pearl Gay, Alice Bragan, Ann Nova, Minnie Taylor, Mary Smouse, Ellen Failing, Florence Sokolski, Grace Buell, Jane Livermore, Dorothy Temple, Florence Combs, Anna Danforth, Ivy Wahl, Dorothy Mercer, Gertrude Bushnell, Willma Shaver, Bernice Mixon, Ione Steininger, Irene M. Lewis, Peggy Bean. At end of table at left are Mrs. Clara C. Vaught, serving her 27th year of Red Cross sewing, Mrs. Margaret Newman and Mrs. Velma Shepherd.

More condominiums will be built soon on Hutchinson Island. Approval was given by Martin County Planning and Zoning Board at its recent meeting for expansion of Little Ocean Place, first group of condominiums to be constructed on the island.

Also approved was the request of Dean Development Co. for construction of condominiums just south of the Jensen public beach.

Recognizing the trend toward condominium living, other developers are requesting permission to construct complexes on the fast-developing island. R. E. Gilmore asked for rezoning of his land to allow for condominium development.

Ransom R. Tilton, Jensen Beach Realtor, suggested rezoning the three-mile stretch of land between Jensen and Stuart to allow for condominium development.

100 attend VWW1 party

Over 100 persons attended the covered dish Christmas party held by VWW1 Barracks #854 and Auxiliary on Friday, Dec. 20. The annual event was at Jensen Beach Community Center.

Following the dinner, Christmas carols were sung and Santa Claus arrived with gifts for all.

The next meeting will be Friday, Jan. 3, at 7:30 p.m.

Island sewage plant will prevent pollution

According to R. W. Starr, regional engineer of the State Board of Health, the kind of sewage treatment plant being installed at Hutchinson Island are almost 100 per cent effective in preventing pollution, when they're working properly.

Nathaniel Reed of Jupiter Island, Gov. Claude Kirk's conservation aide expressed concern about pollution of rivers by human waste here recently.

However, Starr points out that the "activated sludge" treatment plants going in at the first condominium development on Hutchinson Island use a biological process to kill 90 per cent of the pollutants entering the plant.

A pond or a settling tank installed into the system removes another five per cent, he said.

A drain field takes care of the remaining five per cent.

The new sewage treatment outlets are allowed in the Indian River because of oyster beds, regardless of the effectiveness of the treatment, Starr stressed.

He noted also that no outlets into the ocean are allowed.

Jackson-Avery wedding held

The wedding of Barbara Marie Avery to Robert Willard Jackson took place at Trinity United Methodist Church, Jensen Beach, on Nov. 30. The Rev. Neil M. Gunsalus, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest C. McGinness, Alice Ave., Jensen Beach. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Jackson, 529 Indian River Drive, Jensen Beach.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Wearing a bouffant gown in colonial-hooped style of imported Chantilly lace, the bride's formal cathedral train was attached at the shoulders with self-fabric bows. The sabrina neckline and ruffled skirt were edged with rows of scalloped lace. A cloudlike veil of imported silk illusion was held by a pearl tiara featuring a heart motif, which was designed by the bride's mother. She carried a cascade bouquet of white fiji and pom poms, with two white fiji orchids tied in the bouquet.

Serving the bride as her maids were her sisters, Mrs. Rose McNeill and Mrs. Sandra Biehn; matron of honor was another sister, Mrs. Lynn Baskin. All were floor-length red taffeta dresses, red pillbox hats, and carried bouquets of pompoms with red net.

Ring-bearer was Johnny Biehn, carrying a heart-shaped pillow designed and made by the bride.

Best man was Richard Shearer. Ushers were John Biehn and Harry McNeill.

Flower girls, wearing green taffeta floor-length dresses and carrying flower baskets, were Dawn Minnix and Debra Baskin.

Mother of the bride was attired in a blue brocade suit, aqua hat and sand-colored accessories. Her corsage was of pom poms.

The groom's mother wore a blue suit-dress, navy accessories, and a white pom-pom corsage.

Church decorations were white pom poms in baskets on the altar, with white aisle runner and white nylon net bows on the chairs. Organ music was by Mrs. Elizabeth Bibbee, Soloist Mrs. Zetta Gunzalus sang The Lord's Prayer, O Perfect Love and Today, O Lord.

Serving at the reception were Mrs. Helen Miller on the guest book, Mrs. Edna Shearer, Miss Lynn Nanni, Miss Linda Gillespie, Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Vanco.

Following their wedding trip through Florida, the couple is residing in Stuart. The new Mrs. Jackson is employed at Pioneer Occupational Center. Jackson works at Domestic Air Conditioning.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Baskin and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. McNeill, the John Biehns, the Minnix family, all from N.J.; Mrs. M. June, Chester, Pa.; Cindy and Kathy Grau, Miami; Mrs. Viola Avery, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Avery, Mr. and Mrs. C. Avery, all of Cocoa; Mr. and Mrs. Levin, N.J.; Mr. and Mrs. Shearer, West Palm Beach, and Mr. and Mrs. Grau, Phila., Pa.

The bride's mother made the wedding cake, bride's veil and flower girl dresses.

BOWLERS OF THE WEEK Bill Kenney, bowling with Grumman's team, had a 607 series, 197 over his average, to take the Bowler of the Week award for men. Winning in the women's division was Antonette Rein, Martinette team, with a 481 series, 88 pins over her average. The contest is co-sponsored by The Jensen Beach Mirror and Jensen Lanes.

Martin area's top in salestax jump

During November sales tax collections in the state showed an increase of nearly 76 percent over the same month a year ago, according to figures from the office of State Comptroller Fred O. Dickinson, Jr.

Here in the four-county area, Martin County and Indian River County had increases of more than the state average, while St. Lucie and Okeechobee Counties showed increases of less than the state average.

Martin County was highest in the four-county area with an 88.35 per cent jump. Last month, collections were $97,610.74, compared with $51,821.76 a year ago. Collections during October were $90,436.50.

Dickinson's office reported that throughout the state collections last month totaled $42.7 million, about $18.4 million over collections a year ago during the same month.

Dickinson pointed out, "If the current trend continues, nearly one-half billion dollars will have been realized from the sales tax during 1968, an increase of nearly 50 per cent over 1967."

A total of $15,570,336.90 was brought in by gasoline sold throughout the state, it was reported. This was a 14.27 per cent increase over the $13,624,992.42 brought in during the same month last year.

'Scotch' society is planned here

A society of scotchmen may be formed in Stuart in the near future, according to Bill Maclaren of Jensen Beach. Maclaren said that the possibility of holding a Florida version of the Highland Games, favorite scotch athletics, and other scotch events would go along with the formation of the organization.

"It is fitting and proper that the town of Stuart, a good Scotch name, be the center of such activities in Florida," Maclaren said. It would be called the Caledonian Society, or the Society of St. Andrews, he added.

If there is any interest in the formation of the club, Maclaren plans a meeting in the near future, and the town of Stuart may soon be hearing the piping of the haggis, and a wee bit o' celebratin' on Burns night.

Kidnapper gassed his boat at SLCC

The kidnapper of millionaire heiress Barbara Mackle, Gary Steve Krist, 23, gassed up his boat, and, though injured, bought a ham sandwich and several bottles of a soft drink at St. Lucie Country Club last week before continuing his escape route across Florida to his eventual capture in the Everglades.

"Imagine," said SLCC dockmaster Stuart Babineau, "he had half a million dollars in that boat, and I didn't know it."

Babineau said that the kidnapper pulled his boat into the St. Lucie Country Club marina at about 4:20 p.m. last Friday. He asked for gasoline and directions.

Frank Ruff, a dock helper, filled the tank in the boat. It took $3.95 in gas. Then he and Babineau talked with the man.

The kidnapper said he was from West Palm Beach, was on his way to Fort Myers, and had lost his way. The country club is three miles up the north fork of the St. Lucie River; the route to Fort Myers is down the south fork of the St. Lucie. He also said he hadn't eaten since night that morning.

Babineau pointed to the country club and told the man he could get some food there. The kidnapper complained about his leg being injured, and Babineau drove him to the clubhouse. He left him there, saying he would be back in a few minutes.

The man, blood seeping through his trouser leg, returned to the marina, saying he had walked, rather than to wait for Babineau's return. He brought with him a sandwich and the soft drinks.

Babineau said he seemed disturbed that he was lost, but otherwise relaxed. He cleaned his windshield, saying he wanted to see where he was going, and Babineau helped him with a hose.

The dockmaster gave the kidnapper a map, charted his course across the Okeechobee Waterway, and wished him "good luck".

The kidnapper asked for and got assistance in shoving off from the dock, backed the boat up, turned around and drove out off sight. It was about 4:35 p.m.

"Imagine, half a million dollars," Babineau kept saying.

Christmas services are set

All Saints' Episcopal Church, Jensen Beach, Christmas Eve Eucharist, 8:30 p.m.; Midnight Eucharist, 11:30 p.m., Christmas Day, 10 a.m., Family Eucharist.
